GERMAN MONEY FOR DEPENDENTS BRITISH SEAMEN.

LONDON, Oct. 13. —(Associated Press).—J. Havelock Wilson, Member of Parliament, General president of the National Sailors' and Firemen's Union, has received official notification from the treasury that $5,000,000 pounds sterling of German reparation money has been finally earmarked for distribution among the dependents of 17,000 British seamen who were done to death by the German sink-at-sight submarine campaign.

[illegible] ar, merchant or unarmed ships did not rank for pensions or com[illegible] any naval conditions. Their work in manning food ships was accompanied with great loss of life, and the Prime Minister, through Mr. Wilson, gave an undertaking that in the event of victory the first payment from German reparation money should be for compensation to the dependents of this class of seamen.

BERLIN CURBS

derived from the lodgers who pay an average 10 per cent .of the room rent.

Quite apparently the government is concerned itself with the needs of the German family. Beyond providing for the collection of various taxes, it leaves the foreign visitor at the mercy of the pension and hotel keeper.

Apartments Needed.

But is is the shortage of furnished and unfurnished apartments which is most keenly felt. And it is the owners of these who suffer most under existing regulations. An apartment house is no longer an asset but a distinct liability.

Judge Robitzek found one landlord who owned a building erected in 1870 at a cost of 125,000 marks, which, by 1914, had depreciated in value by 70,000 marks. Recently the property was valued at 2,000,000 marks which, because of the present exchange rate makes it worth less than one-third what it was in 1914.

Why didn't he sell? Well, the 50 per cent. sales tax had something to do with the landlord's disinclination.

Meanwhile, the housing committee has filled the building with tenants paying rentals which total 6,000 marks a year. And the actual upkeep of the building is 8,000 marks annually.

Interesting is the law which permits the housing committee to move families into any building where they find a family occupying more than two rooms. This two-room quota is allowed a man and his wife with additional space allotted other members of the family at the discretion of the committee.

System Leads to Lying.

It is not at all an unusual occurrence for the committee to wait upon a widow immediately after her husband's demise, go thoroughly over the old family home and request her to prepare for the coming of one or more families of utter strangers at an early date. Of course, this system leads to much lying on the part of the good woman who hastens to assure the committee that a whole horde of relatives are on the point of making their home with her. Sometimes she is left in peace and more often the committee pays a second and more unexpected visit.

It is an axiom that there never was a law framed which couldn't be gotten around somehow. Just at present an American newspaperman is masquerading as a lunatic. It came about in this fashion: After many weary days of search for a comfortable lodging he at last came upon a clue and proceeded to follow it down. It took him to an "Erholungsheim," nominally, a conavlescent home, here a private asylum for the temporarily deranged. The founder and head of the institution had recently died, the patients were being gradually dismissed and the institution turned into private dwellings—without the knowledge of the housing committee. In order to obtain quarters, one must be able to exhibit a doctor's certificate testifying to "nervous" ailments.

The certificate is not difficult to obtain. And one has the rare opportunity of picking his own form of insanity, as he would a favorite dish from a menu, ranging from harmless hypocohndriasis to habitual hysteria.

Would Install Germans.

Were the committee notified of the change in the character of the institution, they could and would fill it with native Germans, marking down the present rental that it might come within the means of those families. The property would then become a dead loss, or represent a liability because of the tremendous cost of upkeep. Which is precisely what the present owners are seeking to avoid though they must run contrary to the law to accomplish their ends.

There is this to be said for the German government—it is looking out for the interests of the German people. The German families have preference in cases of vacancies. Which is most just. The fact that the foreigner pays an additional tax to the government of 45 per cent. of his rent, seems to make little difference in the matter of apartments. But then—it is also true that if the foreigner is driven to the hotels and pensions the government will collect, in addtion to this 45 per cent, a head tax amounting to 15 per cent. with a few other incidental taxes thrown in for good measure.

With this the present situation there is, of course, no inducement to build in order to meet the housing shortage. Those who have partment buildings must hold on to them without profit or dispose of them at a tremendous loss. The high cost of building material has long made construction prohibitive but even if this were not the case, the existing laws would check all such activity. In along day's drive through the outskirts of Berlin, where ground space should be easy to obtain the writer saw but a single-apartment building in course of erection. Bold spirits, the owners, whoever they were. It is to be hoped that this courageous display of optimism will not meet with what promises to be its inevitable reward.

Bright and cheerful throughout in its decorative scheme, and employing skilled chefs and attentive waiters, this establishment should attract a large and growing patronage from the first day of its inception. High class in every respect ,and catering to a discriminating public ,the new Sanitary Cafeteria has every confidence in meeting public approval as a popular, never-failing-to-please eating house.

A TOUCHING STORY

"My Ain Countrie" a Scotch song as sung by Louise Homer, the famous contralto, is available to everyone through the Victor Record, Number 87345, for $1.50, obtainable at the Victrola Parlors of Ye Olde Firme, Heintzman & Co., Ltd., Peterboro. The words of the song are most pathetic, written by a young woman on hearing the story of a Scotch couple who emigrated to this country but returned of homesickness less the woman should die. The melody, ofcourse is Scotch. It is a selection that should be added to your record library.

In France an airplane club has been organized with 104 members and 34 planes.

Fines are levied on persons who stay out after certain hours in Stuttgart, Germany.

FOR THE NOTEBOOK

An aerial cannot be placed across a street without permission.

Unnecessary apparatus should be avoided in the receiving set.

Grease, etc., should not be used on switches or contact to make them work easily. Oil and grease are poor conductors.

The surface of crystals can be cleaned with carbon bisulphide. Put the solution on a cloth and rub over the surface of the crystal.

The radio beginner should first start in with a simple receiving set. Do not buy or select a complicated one until further advanced.

The penalty for operating a transmitting station without license is $500 fine and confiscation of the apparatus—regardless of its power.

When installing radio apparatus, start from the air down, not from the ground up. The success of radio depends entirely upon the antenna, or areial.

STATE ACCIDENTS DROP BY HALF

By revoking the licenses of reckless drivers Massachusetts has caused a decline of 45 per cent in automobile accidents in one year!

This remarkable showing is due to a concerted effort on the part of the state police and highway officials to deal drastically with all those who showed any signs of carelessness and incompetency at the wheel. The result during 1921 was cancellation of road privileges of 4,899 motorists.

In 1920 the state counted 20.086 traffic accidents. The direct method of dealing with carless drivers brought this figure down the next year to 11,487. By the end of this year, it is believed, the total will be still lower.

In spite of the increase in the number of automobiles touring the highways and city streets.

REAL AND TANGIBLE

curves introduced and given superelevation to ensure safety at high speed. A special type of guard rail, he said, had been standardized by the department, where roads run on an embankment of over six feet in height. This rail, which was first tried in the state of Pennsylvania, consists of two strands of three-quarter inch wire cable, the lower strand being 8 inches from the ground and the upper 3 feet six inches. These strands were attached to wooden posts and securely anchored at the ends. This type of rail, Mr. Hogarth said had thus far proved "automobile-proof", while the rails hitherto used, even when of heavy timber had failed in many cases to stop cars which had strayed from their proper course. Another step toward safety was the construction of full width culverts, the old single-truck culverts having been the cause of many disastrous accidents.

Beautifying Roads

Beautification of the highways was accomplished by the planting of trees and trimming existing trees so that they would be sightly and not obscure the view of the country from the road. Many trees have been planted by the Department, he said, and they were planted in a manner to ensure their healthy growth. Maple trees, he said were planted at 60 foot centres, elms at 70 foot, and no trees less than 55 feet apart.

Regarding the dust nuisance, Mr. Hogarth said that he had experimented with almost all classes of oil suitable for the purpose, and his conclusion was that oil was not very successful as a palliative. The department was experimenting with calcuim chloride at present and that very encouraging results had been obtained. One hundred miles had been thus treated in this way and he said that all the gravel roads would be treated in this way next year. The cost of the calcium chloride, he said, was 2 cents per square yard applied.

Modern Methods

A very interesting series of motion pictures was shown illustrating modern methods and equipment for road construction. The improvements in this equipment were made so frequently, Mr. Hogarth said, that it was very difficult to get films right up to the minute.

The applause which greeted Mr. Hogarth at the close of his address was testimony of appreciation by the Peterborough Branch.

Amusing Feature

Through the courtesy of the Ontario Government Film Bureau several comic films were run before Mr. Hogarth arrived.

M. E. R. Shirley, chairman of the meetings and papers committee, in whose hands are the arrangements for the programmes of these meetings, hops to be able to announce a radio attraction in the near future. On this occasion the meeting will be addressed by an outside speaker on this very popular subject and will include a demonstration of apparatus.

Arrangements are under way for the annual banquet which is to be held on November 14th., and Mr. Shirley will shortly announce a meeting of the various committee.

WOMAN LIVED HAPPILY WITH TWO HUSBANDS

and he would look after us all. Pop chased him out but he always came back. I told Pop he was making love to me. Pop didn't like it. When we came back and told him we were married. Pop cried. George had us both frightened. But if Pop had told me not to marry George, I never would have done it"

"I should have shot him," said Kecke, standing in his disordered home with the remains of a cold meal on the kitchen table which he had prepared for himself and Willie. "That man made the fiercest love to my wife She told me so. ' She said, 'George makes fiercer love to me than any man ever has.' Three times I kicked him out. Every time he came back. I would come home from my work, and find him there with my wife. Once I went to the police next door ,and said, 'A man is in there making love to my wife. When the policeman came in the front door, George went out the back door.

"I thought she was the old man's housekeeper," said Razos, who moved his belongings to 76 Auburn avenue, Pontiac, when his wife showed too great a solicitation for Kecke. "Last Saturday when I was searching for three hours all over town looking for my wife to introduce her to my new brother-in-law, I found her in the moving picture theatre sitting with the old man. "I went up and took him by the shouder, and said, "Old man, what do you mean keeping my wife away from home all the afternoon while I am searching for her? Is there to be no supper?' They came home. I had given my wife about $115 since we were married. I asked her for some money. She did not answer. I opened her pocketbook. In it was a quarter. I said, 'I'll move from here? She refused to go with me. I went to the police. They found she was the old man's wife.

"I married that woman to have a wife for life. She kept saying, 'If I could find a good man like you, I'd marry him.' She told me hard luck stories. I felt serry for her. I thought she was good in her heart. I didn't know the old man was her husband. She said she was his housekeeper, that Willie was her brother. I told her when we moved I was willing to support Willie until he was able to earn his own living. But we had to get away from the old man. She wouldn't go. I didn't know whether I had a wife, or the old man had one."

"Mothers in Jail."

The Kecke-Razos trio present a study in contrasts Kecke is a slight built man of 60, with thin, wrinkled features, deep-set eyes and a long, scrawny neck, while his rival is but 32, a slender, vigorous man with compelling dark eyes expressing the fire of youth. Mrs. Kecke-Razos is plump, with baby blue eyes and glossy, black hair that coils in wavy clusters about her face.

The son, Willie, mature beyond his years in size and in mental equipment, looks wistfully through the open door and says to visitors, "My mother is in jail."

DARK DAYS FOR GERMANY

ous interest and was apparently delighted with several I contributed from the archives of the Creel Press bureau.

" 'Such nonsensical libels,' he said 'do not annoy me half as much as their authors probably think. Abuse of that sort goes with the trade I was born to. If Germany had won a sweeping victory I'd have got as crown prince far more than my fair share of the glory and applause. In defeat I receive, perhaps, rather more than a fair share of the blame end execration, both at home and abroad, but such are fortunes of war for commanding officers. I doubt that any sane American seriously believes to-day I was guilty of the fantastic crimes laid to me during the war. That madness must necessarily pass. Meanwhile it gives me no concern.'

Believes U.S. Must Aid

"Like most other Germans, the ex-prince believes the European situation will never be genuinely remedied until the United States takes a hand in it. 'It rather surprises me,' he said, 'that the United States as a nation shows little concern about the immediate future here. Things go steadily from bad to worse everywhere on the continent.'

" ' One-half of the civilized world sees its crops rotting in field and warehouses and the other half faces starvation. The underlying cause of all this disorganization and distress is the Versailles treaty. It was made in anger and in total disregard of the most elementary economic laws and common sense. To-day the fact that it is utterly unworkable is obvious to every one. It is doing almost as much damage in France, in fact, as to Germany and scarcely less to this other allies and the neutrals. The speech of Reginald McKenna, in New York, last week ought to be accepted by the whole world as a plain warning. McKenna knows the situation thoroughly and he told the simple truth.' "

Radio Brings Joy to Patient

For the last 10 years Anthony Modjeski of Grand Rapids, Mich., has ben confined to his bed. All this while, Modjeski says, he has never found time so enjoyable as to-day. Thanks to radio. An electrical company gave him the bedside set which keeps him in touch with the rest of the world. News, sports, concerts are all his as he lies in his hospital bed.

By Stuart P. West.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 13. — (Special.)—Announcement of the recapitulation plan of the Standard Oil of N. J. with its 400 p.c. stock dividend was the first consideration before the stock market today.

The discovery that the split up of the share capital would mean nothing extra, at least immediately, for shareholders, seemed to occasion a genuine disappointment. The Street probably drew the inference that fifty point advance in the stock within the previous two weeks had greatly overdone things, and there was a rush to sell which caused a ten point break right at the opening and a total drop of over 30 points later on.

Inasmuch as the incentive for a good deal of the recent speculation has laid the supposed stimulus of this and similar plans for capital readjustment, the collapse in Standard Oil shares furnished a pretty severe test for the markets as a whole. It did hit the oil shares hard, putting a stop to further attempts at speculation for the rose in this quarter. But it had surprisingly little disconcerting effect elsewhere. There was a half hour or so of uncertainty at the start, but then special buying operations were resumed, following the usual practice of singling out a dozen or so stocks and concentrating all efforts on these.

The day's highly irregular movement in the share list had little significance for the financial and business situation at large. All the individual advances were inspired by conditions in specific industries and the expectations of these leading to favorable dividend action. As the heavy over subscription to the new $500,000,000 Government loan had been clearly forehadowed all, along, the bond market was not responsive to the formal announcement of result. The deline in Liberty issues, all but the 3 1-2's quite likely meant that a certain amount of switching was going on from the old to the new, because of the longer term which the new bonds have to run.

With the Turkish question removed as an influence, the dealings in European Government bonds and in the exchanges were the most uninteresting of any day in some time. United Kingdom issues were unchange, while francs were up a trifle. As expected, last week's expansion in both English and French note circulation, being due to the temporary increase in demands over quarter day were promptly undone during the present week. News that arrangements had been made for the first $50,000,000 payment for interest and sinking fund on the British war debt to the United Staes had no effect, because the purchase of dollar credit involving the transaction had been completed nearly two months ago.

If to-day's testimony may be regarded as at all conclusive, the punitive measures adopted by the Berlin government to bring about improvement in the mark will not accomplish much. It is all very well to stop speculation and forbid the exchange of marks for foreign currency, but these have not been the primary causes forthe demoralization in the German paper money. The most drastic expedients will not avail with the volume of oustanding notes jumping the way it has been, more especially since the first of August. The latest Reisch Bank statement shows another increase of 27,000,000 marks in the circulation item, following the 25,000,000,000 increase of the week preceding.

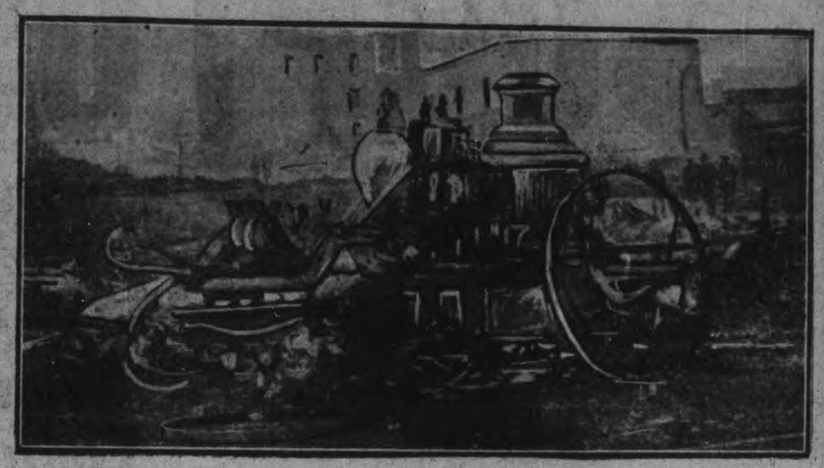
Fire Engine a Prey to Haileybury Fire



To fall victim to the fire fiend was the fate of the Haileybury fire engine. After the fire fighters had to abandon their apparatus when the water went off, the engine took fire and was found as shown above. The hose was burned, leaving the couplings on the ground, and all wooden parts of the apparatus were charred to a cinder.

EXPLODING BOMB STARTED FRACAS

Was Laid in Hope of Catching Free Staters.

DUBLIN, Oct .11. — (Canadian Press.)—This morning's disturbance here began when a bomb laid to catch the Free State troops in Drumcondra, exploded. The bomb was placed near the Mount Joy jail, where yesterdays' outbreak occurerd. At midnight a bomb was dropped from the railroad bridge as a motor truck full of troops was passing. The truck caught fire, its gasoline tank exploding and putting the vehicle out of commission. Rifle fire was opened on the Free State troops, who replied with machine guns and rifle shots, which dispersed the attackers.

Quiet reigns in Mount Joy jail since the failure of the prisoners in their attempt to escape. A medical student, named Cooney, who was reported to have led the revolt, signed a statement to-day in which he said:

"I accept full responsibility for everything that happened as a result of that attempt. That any lives were lost occasions my most sincere regret. I have absolutely no grivance against the guards. They simply did their duty."

RADIOGRAMS

Every State in the Union, except Wyoming, has one or more broadcasting stations.

Four large department stores in Philadelphia, Pa., broadcast concerts and new every day.

The First Presbyterian Church, Tacoma, Wash., has been issued a license for broadcasting.

Los Angeles, California, has the largest number of broadcasting stations of any city in the country.

A radio message can be sent from New York City to San Francisco, California, in one-sixty-second of a second.

It is estimated that one home in every six in Pittsburgh, Pa., is equipped with a wireless receiving apparatus.

St. Louis University, of St. Louis, Mo., claims the honor of having the first private radio receiving and broadcasting station in the United States.

Time signals are broadcasted by radio from the Naval Observatory in Washington, D.C., at 11.55 a.m. to noon, and from 9.55 p.m. to 10 p.m., eastern standard time.

Freedom of radio is far greater in this country than in Great Britain. The British amateur is forbidden to relay messages, and can use power up to only 10 watts, which means ordinarily a sending radius of 10 miles.

Is your factory a museum?

YOUR job as a manufacturer is to keep in touch with the buying public and to make it trust you. Otherwise, the buyer is indifferent to your product, and your factory becomes a museum for dead stock.

Your closest contact with your customers is your advertising in the Daily Newspapers. The people who buy this newspaper to-day did so yesterday and will do so tomorrow for one prime reason—to get the news. The shopping crowds at any department store prove how closely such news is read. Perfect your contact through the advertising space you rent for to-day and give them more news—to-day's news of your product, your prices, your service and your avenues of distribution.

If you tell the truth and do your job as well by the readers as the daily newspaper does by you in providing and retaining them, you will not need to advertise in any other way.

SIMPLIFIED FORM OF WORSHIP BEING TRIED IN RUSSIA.

Moscow People Wander Curiously From One Church to Another on Sundays.

MOSCOW, Oct 13—(Associated Press The people of Moscow are to-day wandering curiously from one church to another on Sundays, seeking to decide which brand of the two new kinds of simplified services pleases them the most. They have been accustomed by experience and ancestry to the elaborate rights of the orthodox church, which virtually monopolized religion throughout the country in the old days, and now that this has been taken away from them, they hardly know which way to turn.

As a result of the trials of churchmen for opposing the government's requisition of church treasures, Patriarch Tikhon was dethroned and the church reorganized. Thereupon, however, two new sects developed, Archbishop Antonin, leader of the movement to oust Tikhon and work in harmony with the Soviet regime, was elected as Metropolitan of Moscow by the "Life Church" conclave, but later he disagreed with others in his own organization and formed a new group pledged to work for the "Church of Regeneration."

Through government supervision a serious conflict was avoided and Metropolitan Antonin remains in office but, nevertheless, in his church an entirely different service is held than in the "New Life" churches. In the latter, only a few changes have been made from the old orthodox services, while Antonin has gone in for simplicity. He has dismissed his choirs, done away with the secret altars, and holds his services in the Russian tongue while standing in the middle of the church. The congregation does all the singing.

The Moscow churches to-day have larger congregations than for many years past. Hundreds of priests also have come to the capital from the provinces to learn what is really going on in the matter of church reform.

The Soviet government is understood to have taken the position that it does not care how many particular forms of worship develop, but that it will not permit a serious conflict in the governing body of the churches as a whole. Both groups are to have representatives upon the governing board.

BOY SHOT GRIZZLY

PENTICTON, B.C., Oct 13—(Canadian Press).—An eight-year-old Indian boy shot a full grown grizzly bear near the house of his father, Eneas Saule, nine miles from here, recently. The beast was approaching the house when the lad fired two shots into its lungs.

FIGHT WITH GRIZZLY

OMINECA, B.C., Oct 13—(Canadian Press).—A hand to hand encounter with a grizzly bear is described by the Usk, B.C., correspondent of the Omineca Herald. J. Edgar of Usk, was boasting in the Skeena when his attention was directed to two bears on the bulff large twenty feet above him. He shot one of the beasts inflicting only a slight wound. The bear jumped for the boat, missing it by a narrow margin. His gun empty, Edgar seized a pike pole and met Bruin, who was returning to attack, with a series of jabs. The sharp point of the weapon finally found a billet and the fight was over.

BEHOLD RHEIMS IN RENAISSANCE.

Almost Gay in New Grandeur, But Old Scars Stay, Mute Pleas For Retribution.

I saw Rheims a year after the armistice, when it was very much as it had been when the Germans retreated in October, 1918. There were shell-holes in the streets shattered skeletons of business blocks stood in the Rue Carnot and the Rue de Vesle, and hundreds of people who had fled during the continual bombardment of four years were returning to sift the wreckage, and in many cases to sell their land, together with their rights to damages; for though the war had been over more han a year there were no reparations, and the long preliminary work connected with the estimating of damage and the filing of claims was just beginning.

Early in December, 1920, I saw Rheims, again. There had been little change. The streets were full of frozen clay. The ruins were much as they had been the year before. Only there were scores of wooden shacks, in which business life had begun again; the banks were functioning in new buildings; and all over the city could be found the offices and yards of builders. The interior of the Cathedral had been partly cleared of debris, the broken roof had been patched, and a chapel had been opened on the north side which had been less seriously damagd than the rest.

Busy, Almost Gay.

And now, nearly two years later, Rheims is almost gay. It is tremendously busy, and it is showing an intense interest in itself. Money has come from the Government. At last, damages are being paid. True, they may not come from the Germans for many years, maybe not at all; but that does not alter the fact that the French Government has guaranteed the rebuilding of the devastated districts, and the money now is forthcoming.

The promenades in front of the railway station have been restored, and the flowerbeds make an imposing show. The pavements have been repaired. The street cars are running. A slightly better brand of taxicab has replaced the tremulous vehicle of the years immediately following the war. And everywhere, everywhere one sees new buildings.

They are not like the buildings which are marring Ypres—cheap brick stores like those of a backwoods town in America. They are built of light buff sandstone, huge blocks of which encumber the sidewalks and force the pedestrian to seek the gutter. Doubtless the quarrymen were proud of the size of these blocks, which patient workmen are engaged in sawing into their proper porportions for use in the building which they are erecting. And note, too, that it is Saturday afternoon, and everybody is working. Rheims is taking no half-holidays—not even Monday mornings. There is a deal waiting to be done, and labor has its hands full.

A New, Grander Rheims

It is not the public buildings that are going up first. The Hotel de Ville is still in ruins, and the city offices are located elsewhere. The ruins of the old Palais de Justice are much as they were two years ago. The Opera House is still a wreck, but a new and elaborate cinema is nearing completion not far away, which will be even larger than the Opera. Over on the corner of the Rue Talleyrand a huge department store has risen; the stone-work is finished to the fifth story and the cornice supports are in place. It will be something grander than Rheims has ever known. And there are smaller edifices all over the place, built in the latest fashion, all white stone and plate glass. Even now not more than a quarter or at most a third of the work has been done; but enough has been accomplished to make evident what the new Rheims will be like.

They are busy at the Cathedral. The tapestries which were taken down and hidden when the Germans entered the city on Sept. 4, 1914, and remained safely stowed away after the town was re-occupied by the French troops in the following week and wos thereafter submitted to bombardment, have been brought forth, and some of them decorate the chapel in which services are now held. The towers of the west front have been almost completely restored, except for the sculptures of the lower stories. Within, the main columns have been sanded, and the sculptured work within the big main entrance cunningly restored; but the similar frames of the doorways on either side have been left blackened by fire ond pitted and smashed by exploding shells, just as they were four years ago—so that the inner portal may tell the visitor what the Cathedral was in 1914, and what it suffered during the war.

Voices Mute Appeal

One may see, lined up on the France's argument in reparations, dimensions, dug out of the wreckage, and thick fragments of other shells responsible for the damage wrought on and within the pile. And all day long, save for an hour and a half at noon, the Cathedral receives visitors and pleads with them, mutely eloquent to hear France's argument for reparations.

The archbishop's palace remains unrestored, and will so remain, it is said, until the Cathedral itself has been finished and reconsecrated But the statue of Joan of Arc, which was removed from the square before the Cathedral to keep it from harm, has been restored to its pedestal, where, seven years hence, it will witness the celebration of the five hundredth anniversary of the crowning of Charles VII in this church, to which her leadership had brought him in victory. It will take nearly seven years, if reconstruction goes on at its present rate, to complete the restoration of the Cathedral and the rebuilding of Rheims.

Fismes Also Emerges

Members of the Thirty-second Division may remember Fismes, which they recaptured from the Germans in August, 1918, and where they were relieved by the Twenty-eighth Division. Fismes also is emerging from its ruins. A huge factory is going up along the railway; and though there are people who are still living in the hillsides, new buildings are springing up in all parts of the town.

But so far, in most of the devastated region, it is the commercial structure which is being restored, while the dwellings of the people still await money and materials. Those houses which could be repaired have been made habitable; but those which were reduced to mere shells for the most part, are still mere cellar-holes. The sites have been partially cleaned; the useful stone has been taken away, leaving pits and subterranean archways, with tunnels behind, in which perhaps the occupants of these former homes sought shelter during the bombardments. One has but to see these wrecks—which millions of Frenchmen have seen— to understand that not all the logic in the world ever will convince France that while there are cities undestroyed in Germany, Germans should be relieved from a single mark of the indemnity bill. It is easy to be coldly reasonable in economists' studies and newspaper offices hundreds of mile away; it is another matter to be severely logical face to face with these ruins. Woodrow Wilson found it impossible; so do the people of France.

Capitol Entertainment

A bright, joyous, combination of people and circumstances that would probably never occur in real life but that make a very interesting and likeable screen production, is "Glass Houses" at the Capitol Theatre for the last three days of this week. Viola Dana has the stellar role, one in which she enacts two roles, that of the madcap girl who rides and dances and frolics with gay abandon, and that of the studious, repressed young lady who volunteers to steer a dissipated young man along the path of rectitude and sobriety. When she and her sister have squandered all their money in gay hospitality, Viola, as Joy Duval, offers to go to work while the sister plays around and finally marries the man to whom she is engaged. Joy, with her hair primly arranged, a pair of big spectacles and the most antique of wearing apparel, catches the eye of Billy Norton's aunt, a lady intent on saving her nephew from a life of piffling ease and directing his thoughts towards higher things. Joy performs her duties with stern severity, but complications arise which identify her finally in Billy's mind with a noted crook, "Angel Face" Ann. The pair, Billy and his mentor, are both locked out on the same night, returning late from different errands, and both seek a resting place in the garage. The aunt jumps to the conclusion that they have eloped, and gives them her blessing. Their marriage results in a surprising transformaion in the prim girl, but Billy's firm belief that she is a criminal, complicated by his sudden illness, mix matters up in a series of hilarious scenes.

The revivalof Mary Pickford and King Baggot in a picture filmed twelve years ago is a revelation in the progress made in the movie drama, since that time. The harsh photography, the stiff, unreal acting, the peculiar effects achieved in those days of the beginning of the photoplay art, which have been long forgotten, are portayed in "Going Straight," with Mary rather ineffective as "Salvation Nell," King Baggot expressing emotion in ways never depicted now, and a real 'vamp' lady, with a marvellous and terrifying hat and jerky movements.

There is a jolly little short reel of 'feet' only that is amusing, some good colored scenic pictures, and a comedy with Paul Parrott in "A Bed of Roses," depicting the trials and misadventures of a movie star who retired to the farm in search of peace and rest.

The Capitol Concert orchestra is improving in tone. Careful ensemble work is the prime requisite with an aggregation of strings of this sort, and last night's music showed good progress along this line.

AT THE GRAND.

TONIGHT'S OPERA.

The Story, the Music and the Artists.

Tonight is the great night. We have opera in town, and real opera at that! The De Feo Grand Opera Company with principals from the best opera stages in the world will give us a performance of Lucia de Lamermoor the masterpiece of Donizetti.

We are to be congragulated that the opera chosen is Lucia; it has not been given in Canada for many years because it demands singers of extraordinary ability to go through this great performance without a hitch.

The story of this opera is based on Scott's novel, "The Bride of Lamermoor."

It is the tragic story of Lucy the sister of Sir Henry Ashton, who falls in love with Sir Edgar of Ravenswood, Ashtons enemy. By a forged letter Sir Ashton convinces Lucy that Edgar does not love her anymore and tricks her into marriage with Sir Athur Bucklaw. But her first love is stronger and the night of her wedding she kills her bridegroom, goes mad and finally takes her own life.

The music written on this story by Donizetti is the best ever written by any composer. The famous sextette of Lucia has been made popular in every town and hamlet by the gramophone records. The solo of Lucia in the mad scene has been immortalized by Tetrazzini, Madame Casselotti who will sing Lucia in Peterboro will do full justice to the difficult coloratura song of the mad scene. Her voice is very fresh, high and flexible. The part of Edgar will be interpreted by G. Diaz, whose tenor voice is known as one of the best among the young generation of singers.

Sir Ashton will be represented by L. Dalle Molle, a baritone voice of great depth and purity, while the basso L. Bozano is none other than the artist who was so successful at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York.

With artists like these the performance will be the best we ever had in Peterboro. We understand there are still seats left in the raGnd Opera House. We sincerely advise those who have not reserved their seats to telephone without delay to the theatre.

"SONYA."

Mr. Marc Klaw is sending to this city on Saturday, Oct. 14, at the Grand Theatre, his delightfully romantic comedy, "Sonya," which is limited to two performances, matinee and night.

The cast selected to portray "Sonya" is of unusual merit and the production is staged with careful attention to detail. The play had a long and successful run at the 48th Street Theatre, New York, last season.

"Sonya is not intended to be a problem play, nor will it give you a headache trying to follow its twists and turns. It is designed only for sprightly entertainment of the highest type, which it certainly succeeds in giving. The costuming is extremely decorative and brilliant over subscription to $500,000,000 savoring of swords, robes and hel-Prince with a morbid disinclination for the society of women. Rather he prefers his wholesome gymnastic activity. This is a matter of jest to his evil cousin, who for a drunken lark brings a beautiful dancing girl to the Prince's apartment. She is disguised as a boy and her discovery is intended to cause the young nobleman's downfall. The Prince learns her indentity but has fallen madly in love with the gentle peasant-girl. They play the game for the schemers, but in fact maintain a wholesome association. The old King dies and it seems inevitable that the Prince will ascend to the throne. In righteous strength, he renounces his kingdom if he can't have beautiful Sonya. The girl, being truly noble, makes an impassioned plea for him to face the situation, and thereby wins over the gruff old Uncle who gives them his blessing. The play has dramatic suspense and comedy situations galore. Many are the adventures of beautiful Sonya while present in the palace, and any audience following her capricious movements, can only feel highly entertained.

The assessed value of real estate in Philadelphia, Pa., subject to taxation in the year 1923, is $2,278,062,000.

FROM THE NEW YORK SUN:

"My Wild Irish Rose," the adaptation of Dion Boucicault's play, "The Shaughraun," at the Strand this week, is no so much wilder or distinct from other roses, but it will be enjoyed by those who like any kind of roses. It has been well directed by David Smith, and there is a freckled little boy in it whose popularity may lead Jackie Coogan to adopt freckles, too.

FROM THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE:

"My Wild Irish Rose" is unusually good entertainment.

At the Royal to-night, Mr. Arnold Everett and Mr. Asa Huycke will sing the song, "My Wild Irish Rose," as a duet.

SIKI MAY SOON PART COMPANY WITH MANAGER

Conqueror of Carpentier May Not Fight in America — Dempsey Invited to Fight in France.

A BIG PURSE.

PARIS, October 13. Canadian Press. — Prospects for the departure to the United States of Battling Siki (the Senegalese conqueror of Georges Carpentier, now appear removed as the boxer is said to be near the breaking point with his manager, M. Hellers, and to be intent on voiding whatever arrangements had been made previously.

The contract betwen Siki and Hellers will expire November 30, and it has become known that the former is not desirous of renewing it.

In the meantime French boxing promoters are manoeuvring to bring Jack Dempsey, the world's heavyweight champion, here for a battle with Siki in December. In sporting circles it is reported that the directors of the new Buffalo Velodrome, where Carpentier's eclipse occurred, have made overtures to Jack Kearns (Dempsey's manager) for such a contest.

Amounts varying between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000 francs have been mentioned at Dempsey's end of the purse. The seating capacity of the arena is 65,000 and the promoters believe that with the American as the attraction they may be bold enough to ask 400 francs each, for 1,000 ringside seats, and dispose of the lowest valued seats at 20 francs.

Heretofore no French promoter has dared to ask more than 200 francs for ringside seats and at the Carpentier-Siki battle thousands of seats were obtainable for as low as 7 francs.

If the bout is arranged for november it could be held in the open air as the promoters declare that weather reports show that December would be a much better month to engage in outdoor sports than November would be.

BALTIMORE WON ANOTHER GAME

Orioles Now Need But One Victory to Take the Minor League Championship Title.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Jack Ogden hurled superb ball for the Baltimore Orioles yesterday, letting St. Paul down with two hits and the International League champions climbed to within one victory of the Minor League Championship title, defeating the Saints 5 to 1.

Yesterday's victory gave the Orioles four games to the Saints' one in the Little World's Series. The sixth game is scheduled for Saturday, both teams wishing to take an off day on "Friday the 13th." A Baltimore win on Saturday will give them the series.

It was the first game of the series in St. Paul, the pervious contests having been played in Baltimore and the Saints lived up to the expectations of the home fans by starting like winners.

In the second inning, a walk and two singles gave the Saints the first run of the game. In the first of the third, however, the Birds routed the hopes of the Saints' fans by clouting Martin out of the box, while his uncertain support aided the Internationals to count five runs.

Ogden ran his strike-out mark up to 11. Martin struck out three and Sheehan fanned four.

The game was played while the mercury hovered around the 50 degree mark an dthe crowd shivered in overcoats. Score:

St. Paul .. ....010 000 000—1 2 5

OTTAWA RUGBY HAS ENTHUSIASTIC FANS.

OTTAWA, Oct. 13.—The splendid showing of the Ottawa Senators in Jungletown on Saturday last has let loose a wave of football enthusiasm in the capital that even the continued rain of the past few days has been unable to dampen. From a much criticized twelve that was tolerated only because they wore the red, white and black, the Ottawa Big Four aggregation has been hailed as a pennant possibility and capital football hopes generally have reached a higher plane. The sporting editor of the Ottawa Jornal Tuesday, writing under the caption "No more adventures in fumble land," accords the senior aggregation a heartening boost. His suggestion that Ottawa again assume the appellation "Rough Riders" in preference to the more stately name of "Senators" is everywhere finding favor. The team had a light workout Monday night, but was forced under cover by a continued rain Tuesday night.

In the other camp, St. Brigids are reported to be almost fully recovered from their strenuous battle against Parkdale. Touhey is still slightly under the weather as a result of a strained back and he may not figure in the mid-week practicing.

Meusel Came In But Was Doubled at Third

WHITE SOX AND CUBS ARE EVEN

American League Team Won Fourth Game of the Series For Championship of Chicago — Score Now Two to Two.

CHICAGO, Octob. 13. Canadian Press. — The White Sox evened up the series with the Cubs yesterday by taking a pitchers' battle 4 to 3. Each club now has won two games.

The veteran Alexander was opposed by the rookie, "Dixie" Leverette, and more than held his own until the sixth innings when he began to weaken.

The Sox then started their uphill fight and at the seventh had tied their rivals. Alexander then tightened up and it looked like extra innings until Hooper uncorked a line drive to right which was good for two bases. Collins out moved Hooper to third, and Sheely shot a hot grounder over third base which sent Hooper home with the winning run.

Leverette held his opponents to 7 hits, three of which were made by Statz, while the Sox touched Alexander for ten safeties, Hooper making three, and Collins and Sheely two each. Scores:

PHIL DOUGLAS NOW IN JAIL

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 13.—"Shufflin" Phil Douglas, erstwhile star pitcher for the New York Giants, who was banished recently from organized baseball, was placed in the city jail Wednesday on charges of disorderly conduct preferred by his wife, who called officers to their home, and, they said, declared Douglas had beaten her.

Arresting officers said the found Mrs. Douglas with both eyes blackened. Officers quoted her as saying she had been abused in the presence of her two children.

Douglas with his family arrived here, his former home, recently from Florida, where he was said to have completed the season with a semi-professional team.

SCHOONER ASHORE.

HALIFAX, Oct. 11. — (Canadian Press). — The schooner Marshal Foch, believed to hail from Gloucester, is reported ashore on Sable Island, according to information reaching here this morning. None of the crew were found on board, and it is believed they had taken to their dories before the ship was beached.

HENRY FORD WON THE FIRST RACE

Elizabeth Howard Put Out of the Running By a Broken Trestle After Taking a Commanding Lead.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 13.—(Canadian Press.)—The racing fishermen of the United States fleet, competing for selection as a challenger to meet the Canadian champion, Bluenose, had it out yesterday in the first installment of the elimination tests, and the Henry Ford, out of Gloucester won.

For a time in the early stages of the forty mile race it appeared that New York was in a fair way to gain the challengers' honors, when the Elizabeth Howard, hailing from the metropolis, shower her heels to the boats of Boston and of Gloucester. But a broken trestle tree, which unstepped the Howard's main topmast after she had led by six minutes to the first turn, caused her to withdraw to seek repairs.

To-night Gloucester men were divided in opinion and in allegiance. Some held that the Ford would win again and gain selection as America's hope against the Bluenose invasion. Others, because of the Elizabeth Howard's performance to-day and their faith in the racing mettle and skill of the Gloucester fishermen who man the New York boat, held that if she could be fixed up in time she would be out in front all the way to-morrow and make a third race on Saturday necessary for choice of the challenger.

FIREMEN WON FAST GAME FROM K. OF C.

A rally in the sixth netting five runs proved the turning point in the K. of C.—Firemen soft ball game last evening at the Armoury and gave the victory to the Fire Fighters. The Caseys took the lead in the early part of the game and though Chief Gimblett's managed to even the count on three occasions they did not take the lead till the sixth when the five runs scored gave them a four run lead. The Knights came back with three runs in the seventh but their rally came to an end before they became too dangerous.

The Smoke Eaters scored in every inning except the last and in that frame they were in a position to score but a snappy double play broke up their attack.

Chief Gimblett proved a pillar of strength with the willow getting five hits and scoring at least one man on every occasion. One of his wallops went for a circuit and two others were good for two bases. Dunkley in some heavy stick work for the Firemen getting four hits, one of them good for two sacks. Rose also collected four hits and was the batting star or the Knights.

Dunkley did the heaving for the winners and showed lots of smoke. He mixed in a slow one with the fast ones and fooled the Caseys with it, several times but he relied chiefly on the speedy ones. He did not walk a man in the whole nine innings.

Murphy, the moundsman of the K. of C. also used a fast ball but developed a slight wildness toward the end and altogther walked five men, three of whom scored.

The teams were:

Knight of Columbus—M. Sheehy, 1b; Primeau, ss; O'Hearn, c; Grady ,lf; Rose, ss; G. Rutherford, 2b; Murphy, p; R. Sheehy, 3b; J. Rutherford, rf; Wolfe, lf; Cronin, lf; Corkery, rf.

ELIGIBILITY RULES WILL BE ENFORCED

Both McGill and Toronto Want a More Strict Application of the Rule at Queen's.

MONTREAL ,Oct. 13.—It is well known that for the last week affairs have not been running smoothly in the intercollegiate, both McGill and University of Toronto rugby officials being unsatisfied with the present conditions in the union. While McGill was at Toronto last Saturday for the opening game of the seiries, a meeting was held between officials of the two football clubs and it is stated that all were unanimous that a stricter application of the rules regarding academic standing of the intercollegiate athletes was necessary.

The Queen's authorities are maintaining that everything is strictly all right, but local collegians are watching the situation closely and are keenly awaiting the announcement of the Queen's line-up for the opening game against McGill here tomorrow.

While troubles are being aired in committee, Coach Frank Shaughnessy and his candidate for the red and white intercollegiate squad are attending strictly to business in preparation for the local opening with Wednesday there was a full turnout the tri-color as their opponents. of available players and a fast workout was ordered. The backs were introduced to a novel training stunt for perfecting their catching. Coach Shaughnessy being determined to elminate fumbles in the back field as far as possible. Big Roscoe Wilson was sent up on the hill behind the stands at the stadium and from there booted the ball on the field below, the backs being spread out to chase the exceptional[illegible] kicked ball and catch it clean. The trick gave the half [illegible] plenty of worry, but they eventually were handling the majority of punts with precision.

Baker the University of Alberta half was used to replace Phillpott on the back division and showed to advantage. While not as strong a player as the injured letter man, Baker possesses fair qualities, and should fit in well. The line has been considerably shifted. Newton worked at flying wing in place of Eddie Crain, who is out with a wrenched ankle; Manson showed good form at right middle in place of Walsh, while Fife and Dyer, two university of Alberta wing men, were used on the outside berths and held down the ends well though a little weak in tackling. Don Foss was forced out of scrimmaging with an injured leg, but should be around in time to start against the Presbyterians.

WOOLENS TRIMMED BY BRAKE MAKERS

Raybestos Nine Went on a Batting Rampage and Piled Up Fifteen Runs Against Three.

The Raybestos nine swamped the Canadian Woolens 15 to 3 in the opening game in the Men's Soft Ball League last evening. The third, fourth and fifth innings were disastrous one for the Woolens for in these three frames the winners scored three, six and four runs. The Woolens tightened up at the end of the fifth inning and retired the opposing side with a snappy double play. From then till the end of the game, the Raybestos nine only got two men as far as first. The Raybestos boys held the Woolens with ease. One runs was allowed the third frame but with that exception the Woolens went scoreless till the eighth.

McLeod was on the mound for the winners and turned in a good snappy game. His team-mates gave him good support in the field and in the first five innings their heavy work with the bat brought in the runs.

Hopkins went the full distance on the rubber for the Woolens. He also turned in an exceptionally good game but he received very poor support in the critical periods, errors being responsible for many of the opposing runs.

The players were:

REG. NOBLE MAY PLAY IN OTTAWA.

Hockey rumors are stirring and pros. and amateurs are getting busy hunting for players. Ottawas have their nets laid for two or three new players. Among them is a well known amateur goalkeeper, not Herb. Rheaume who may be pinned to a contract before the end of the month. Tom Gorman thinks a lot of this boy and the latter shaped up well last year, though he didn't have by any means the best defence in the league in front of him.

They are also after an Ottawa defence star and if they land him will step into the National League race well fortified. There is still a chance that Senators will land Reg. Noble. The big Toronto boy is eager to come to Ottawa and a swap may be arranged at the next meeting of the league.

Pittsburgh Team Played Championship Ball During Latter Part of the Season and Fans Expect Them to Continue the Good Work All Next Summer.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—(Associated Press)—Despite the fact that the Pittsburgh Pirates failed to wrest the National league pennant from the New York Giants, local fandom is in a distinctly different mood than it was a year ago today.

In 1921, Manager Gibson's warriors came down the home stretch with a commanding lead—and then blew up with a report that was heard throughout organized baseball. Pennant hopes faded away with the Giants' rush, and local supporters gave vigorous vent to their disappointment.

Gibson got away poorly this year. A change of managers resulted. From the week that Bill McKechnie became skipper, distinct improvement was noted from the middle of July, Pittsburgh played like a championship team and records show that the Corsairs made the greatest record in the league from that turnin gpoint.

The Giants' lead was to much, however, and local fans must wait another year. And they are, seemingly, confident that 1923 will be the scene of triumphs such as were recorded at Forbes Field when Fred Clarke's men became champions of the world.

For the past six weeks, the Pirates have been leading the league in team hitting. The pitching has been superb, with shutout victories anything but rare. The fielding has been equally as spectacular.

McKechnie intends to start next season with his present line-up and pitching staff.

"Why break up a championship team" he asked. "Would you trade our outfield for any in the business or our pitching staff for any corps in either leagues? Is there a better catcher than Schmidt or a mightier infield—on offense or defense—than Grimm, Tierney, Maranville and Traynor.

Local writers and grandstand experts have advanced many theories for the remarkable change that came over the Pirates after McKechnie took charge. Some give the manager all the credit. Others insist that the pitching staff did it—after Catcher Schimdt was brought back to the fold and given charge of the hurlers.

Conservative followers of the Pirates have been willing to admit that the individuals referred to have all contributed their share, but they point out that it was McKechnie who patched up the Schmidt trouble and McKechnie who added Russel's 42 centimtere bat to the available artillery. Players themselves have aired their views.

"This psychology stuff may be called bunk by some, but I'm for it" said one of the veterans. "We looked like bums when McKechnie took hold. Then we start out and break the season's record for consecutive victories. How do you explain it? Easy—

"Schmitty comes back to take the kid catchers in hand and in a few days he has the pitchers believing they can't lose. Russell blows in and gets the home run bug. Tierney goes on a rampage and boosts his batting average to .370. Bigbee blows himself to a similar average. Max Carey and Rabbit Maranville, the two real cogs of the outfit, have their greatest season. Grimm and Traynor prove they are really wonderful fielders despite their hard luck with the bat.

"Then the pitchers go crazy. Morrison, Carlson, Adams and Glazner all turn in shutouts or [illegible] enemy to one or two runs. They get out there and sock 'em through, well knowing that they have a team that can go back and get 'em. Look over the records and you see how stingy they all have been with bases on balls. There is your psychology again. They took chances, but broke the old pill over the plate."

Fred Clarke, former manager, has been travelling with the team for a couple of weeks.

"Best vacation I could blow myself to," said the Kansan. Clarke like John McGraw, doesn't like to make predictions. He seldom talks before a crucial game or a world's series battle, but he did open up a bit here the other day.

"Yes, I think the Pirates will come through in 1923" he said. "A team needs five essentials to win a championship. These are: "Management, pitching, hitting, fielding and nerve.

"I think our pitching staff easily has it on the Giants. The Pirates are the hitting fools of the league. And I can endorse McKechnies' declarations regarding the fielding. Yes, they should cop."

One familiar figure may be missing next year. That's "Babe" Adams. The big right hander want to retire, but he may change his mind.

It is an open secret that Adams over-exerted himself this season. Past 40, he pitched shut-out ball when he had to, but like the Mighty Matty of the olden days, he tooks things easy when he could. His friends on the team told of the nights after hard battles, when Adam's arm was sore he could hardly lift it. His perfect control and his uncanny knowledge of batters were his aces.

The Pirates will try out the usual flock of "pormising youngsters" in the spring, but it will take a real phenom to oust a regular from his present berth.

WHY THE FOREST FIRE PLAGUE DEFIES CURE.

Forest fire protection is a question of public morals. People do not realize how much we depend upon the products of the forest for our comforts and necessities. We come in contact with these products every hour of the day and every day of our lives from the wooden cradle to the long wooden box. The forests are the very foundation of our industries. Next to agriculture no industry contributes so largely to our national and Provincial wealth. The lumber industry of Ontario gives employment to 17,000 men in the bush alone, with an annual payroll of $12,000,000. Pulp and paper mill of Ontario employ 8,000 people and pay wages $7,000,000 a year. The invested capital of two industries is nearly $150,000,000.

Nearly 500,000 acres of forest are burned every year in Ontario. We have not a supply large enough to stand this awful drain very much longer. If the forest fires continue at their present rate of destruction these industries which I have just mentioned will simply have to go out of business. We know approximately how much forest area we have. We know how much is burned. It is only a simple arithmetical problem to calculate the time of the crippling of some of our most important industries, if not the time of their actually going out of business.

Business of People.

I say forest fire protection is a question of public moral, there never will be adequate fire protection in northern Ontario or anywhere else until the people demand it. Over 95 per cent of all forest fires are due to human carelessness. You see, the responsibility rests almost entirely upon men themsleves, upon the managers of the railways, upon the tourist and the camper, upon the settlers and the lumbermen. All of these are residents or travellers in the North County. We will never have adequate fire protection until we can educate the fool with his match, or until we educate carelessness out of the human system.

It costs the Ontario Government over $3,000 a day in the summer time to look after the fool and the criminally careless who wander at liberty, or who work in our forests You and I may help pay for that. No forest fire fighting organization in the world can give adequate protection without the support of public opinion, and this support our Provincial fire protection service does not have in the North Country. It is very easy to criticize another, and especially easy to criticize the government organizations, but before we become too critical I think we ought to ask a few questions about conditions in the North Country.

Some Pointed Questions.

It is reported in the newspapers that the disastrous fire at Haileybury started with a settler burning his potato stalks. We ought to ask whether that settler made any attempt to put out his fire when he saw it getting beyond him. We ought to ask how many settlers passed by that fire without offering a hand to put it out. We ought to ask how many settlers evade the permit system of burning slash in operation in many sections of the North. We ought to ask to what degree this evasion is winked at, or even encouraged, by the leading citizens of those towns. We ought to ask even if the members of the Legislature for those districts do not sometimes petition the Government to let up on the enforcement of the forest protection regulations, on the basis that they are unpopular that, if the member espouses them, he will fail of re-election. Before we become too critical we ought to ask if there are not the lines of a big railway system running through the North Country that has been practically indifferent to the regulations in regard to the care of engines that throw off sparks along the right of way. The railways are responsible for over 40 per cent of the fires that occur in the North Country.

As I said in the beginning, forest fire protection is a question of public morals, and it will never be adequate until we have educated this carelessness and indifference with regard to the destruction of public property on which our welfare depends. We should protect the thing we value .

A THOUGHT.

GET MORE EGGS--BY RADIO

JOHN G. GASKILL.

Music has solved young Gaskill's problems and he says it will do likewise for other poultrymen. Charmed by the music of his piccolo, 30 hens laid 5.040 eggs in seven months, he declares. One of the eggs had three yolks!

The record gave this 16-year-old champion a victory over 59 competitors and made his total poultry prizes 39 in three years.

Music Does It.

"'Say it with music' is my motto," says Gaskill, explaining his success. "If you can't play, install a radio receiving set and get the broadcast concert music.

"Almost every day I played the piccolo, flute or trumpet to my hens. They enjoyed it and laid more eggs as a result. At first I started to play them a cornet solo, but they seemed to have an aversion for that instrument. I really believe this daily musical program was an important factor in my success.

'I believe the time will come when radio amplifiers will be attached to hen houses so the egg production may be increased by wireless telephone concerts from near and far."

Lectures Taboo.

Beware of broadcast lectures or singing! This, says this poultry raiser, will decrease egg production. The hens like instrumental music only. So, if the program calls for a song, tune out the station and search for a violin or orchestral selection from another broadcasting station.

"Any particular selection will do," says Gaskill. "In fact, I am not much of an artist on any of the instruments I play to my hens. Almost any old tune will put the flock in good humor."

For success in the poultry business Gaskill gives five principles:

Install electric lights in the hen-coops.

Furnish instrumental music to the hens.

Give them clear water often.

Guard against poultry disease.

Keep the coops immaculate.

TYPHOON WORST OF IT'S KIND YET IN CHINA

SWATOW, CHINA, Oct. 13—(Canadian Press).—The typhoon which struck Swatow and the surrounding region on August 3, resulted in the loss of more than 60,000 lives and without doubt was the worst of its kind on record in China.

The exact amount of damage probably will never be known, but estimates run to many millions of dollars. Scarcely a house in the entire city escaped damage. Scores are total wrecks.

The death toll is far in excess of first estimates. The most accurate figures available show that between three and four thousand bodies have been buried in Swatow alone. This does not account for the possible hundreds swept out to sea. Many villages, some small and some large, covering an area of about 75 square miles are totally wiped out. The most conservative estimates place the total number of dead at 60,000, but other estimates place the figure as high as 100,000.

A FANTASTIC CARGO

VICTORIA, B.C., Oct. 13—Canadian Press.—Seldom, if ever, in the history of this port has the sea carried a more fantastic cargo than came here recently, rolling in from the Straits shipped by a stiff south-western wind. Bobbing on the waves, approaching shore for miles along the water front came millions of wallnuts.

Word was quickly spread and crowds of people gathered with gunny sacks and boxes. Preparations to gather the nuts were completed when it was announced that a shipment of one thousand sacks of discolored walnuts had been refused entry at this port. The nuts had been brought from Seattle by the motor vessel Waskena, and are said to have been in storage in the sound city for some years.

DOG ADOPTS RACOONS

CALL CREEK, B.C., Oct. 13—(Canadian Press).—A cocker spaniel dog owned by C. Salmon, of this town, has adopted two baby racoons. She recently lost her pups and when the infant 'coons were brought in she took charge of them with every evidence of delight. The babies took to their new mother with equal fervor. It's a happy family.

VANDALISTIC HORSE

NANAIMO, B.C., Oct. 13—(Canadian Press).—A decrepid old horse is making life miserable for the poundmaster here. The wily animal, believed to be thirty-years of age, never appears in daylight, but comes to town at night and feasts upon the choicest lawns and flowers.

QUICK RESPONSE TO LOCAL APPEAL

People of North Country Appreciate Efforts Made Here.

The appended letter speaks for itself. Miss Ida Wesley of this city persuaded Dr. R. C. Blagrave to make the appeal on behalf of the sufferers in the North Country. Doctor Blagrave made the appeal in St. John's church on Sunday goods were packed on Monday and on Tuesday the people in the fire stricken zone were wearing them. The letter follows:—

Haileybury Relief Committee
Haileybury, Ont., Oct. 12, 1922.
Miss Shirley Wesley,
360 Stewart street,
Peterborough, Ontario.

Dear Miss Wesley:—Please extend to the people of Peterborough our sincere thanks for and deep appreciation of their generous donation of five cases of clothing for the fire sufferers. It came at a time when it was needed most and you can assure the kind donors that it is being distributed where the need is greatest.

Things are quite well organized now. No one has suffered for lack food, as far as we can learn, and the greatest problem is getting people clothed and housed. It is raining to-day and rather cold. Our lights are on now, and the water came on yesterday, so everything seems so much easier. What we need most now in case anyone should enquire from you, are the following: Mattresses, blankets, underwear for men, women and children, in fact everything in the way of warm clothing.

With our thanks to you and Mrs. Lockington personally and kind regards.

Yours sincerely,
Haileybury Relief Committee

TY. COBB JUMPS FOR NORTH WOODS.

Made For Canada as Soon as Ball Season Closed.

MONTREAL, Quebec, October 13 (Special to The Examiner). — Ty Cobb no sooner found himself free as a result of the ending of the baseball season than he jumped for the Canadian north woods, where fish, fowl, and fur called to his love of the out-of-doors.

All unexpectedly he turned up one morning last week at Metagama, Ontario, and after being outfitted, made his way up Spanish River to look up some mineral deposits in which he is interested.

Moose and deer are plentiful in that district this year, and Ty who is a hunter of wide experience, reports all kinds of possibilities for sport.

Several parties going into the woods from this point are looking forward to and getting their full quota of moose with little difficulty.

LLOYD GEORGE MAKES APPEAL FOR FAIR PLAY

"We Have Not Been War Mongers But Peace Makers," He Declares At Manchester.

A POLITICAL DRAMA

LONDON, October 14. Canadian Press. — Great Britain's political crisis approached a climax to-day with all attention centred on Manchester awainting Lloyd George's announcement of his intentions.

Superficially it is merely a speech before the Manchester Reform Club with the guests limited to 300, but actually it will be addressed to the entire nation, for the Premier's every utterance will be broadcasted with all possible haste by more than 40 newspaper and press association correspondents.

Lloyd George himself in an impromptu talk from his train during a halt from Stoke-on-Trent on his way to Manchester, told an enthusiastic crowd at the station—"I'm going straight to the British public to appeal for fair play."

CASE OF GOVERNMENT.

MANCHESTER, October 14. Canadian Press. — Prime Minister Lloyd George received an enthusiastic welcome when he reached the club here to-day for luncheon before delivering his eagerly awaited political speech. The huge crowd outside the building extended practically the whole length of the street, on which the club is situated, and the premier's appearance was the signal for a great burst burst of cheering.

When cries of "speech" were heard, Mr. Lloyd George paused a moment, and then, commanding silence with upraised hands, he said:

"I thank this great gathering for greeting me to this city, to put the case of the government in the efforts which they have made to establish European peace and prevent bloodshed from spreading throughout Eastern Europe."

THE CURTAIN RAISED.

In beginning his speech at the luncheon, and thus raising the curtain on a new act in the political drama which may mark a climax in the career of the striking central figure Lloyd George referred to the Near Eastern crisis, declaring that the people of this country must not believe that their government had endeavored to rush Great Britain into war.

"We have not been war mongers, but peace makers," he said.

The Premier arose amid a tense silence of expectancy on the part of his hearers, who were looking to him to begin the fight for his political life. A great array of journalists eagerly seized upon his words, and rushed them off to the four corners of the earth.

Continuing his defence of the government's policy regarding the Near East, Lloyd George said the negotiations had been conducted in a manner unprecedented in this country. The government, he declared, had been assailed with misrepresentations such as no government had ever been subjected to. The country would resent this, he declared, adding that "there were queer people let loose," in the press these days.

"My task has been made much easier by the speech which Mr. Chamberlain delivered yesterday," declared the Premier.

THREE-FOLD OBJECT.

"Our object in the action we took was three-fold — the freedom of the Straits, the prevention of war spreading into Europe, and prevention of a repetition in Constantinople and Thrace of the unutterable horrors of Asia Minor.

"The war of 1914 practically began in the Balkans. We had to act promptly, resolutely and firmly. Since 1914, the Turks, according to official testimony, have slaughtered in cold blood, 1,500,000 Armenians and 500,000 Turks without any provocation at all.

"I am sorry to see that the Liberals have been pleading that it was none of our business to intervene between the Turks and their victims. That was not the old Liberal doctrine. I maintain that the policy we adopted regarding Turkey was in accordance with the highest interests and traditions of this land, and we have reason to be proud that it succeeded."

At one point Mr. Lloyd George declared dramatically, with his head thrown back:

"As long as I have a sword in my

The Ducks Found Death in Young Bride's Cooking

I saw a piece in The Examiner the other day, saying that they are going to have a School for the young girls showing them how to cook. Good, I am glad of it. The Mail & Empire speaks of young couple getting married and the young Bride Bake some Buns — that there were heavy and hard. They were laying around the house for two or three days. At last she had to throw them out side. Duck came and swallow the heavy Buns. After a while the poor Ducks went down to the Pond and got drownd.

FIRE DESTROYS LUMBER LIMITS

Thirty Million Feet Go Up in Smoke—Covers a Wide Area.

EDMONTON, Oct. 14.— (Canadian Press.)—Thirty million feet of spruce timber has been destroyed by fire in the McArthur timber limits on the Athabasca river, according to Col. R. H. Palmer, head of the forest service for Northern Alberta, who returned yesterday after three weeks' oversight of fire fighting operations northwest of the city Fires are burning almost everywhere in the area he said. Twenty-five rangers have been fighting all summer to keep the fires under control, but owing to the dryness of the season the task has been a very difficult one, Col. Palmer said. No sooner is a fire extinguished in one place than it breaks out in another. Nothing but heavy snowfalls can cope with the situation.

THUGS REMOVE GLANDS FROM FIRST VICTIM

Operation Said to Have Been Performed by Expert Surgical Hands—Medical Circles Aroused

VICTIM CAME TO

CHICAGO, Ill., October 14 (Special to The Examiner). — The ever-increasing demand for youth-giving glands has led to the formation of a desperate gang of "gland thieves" here, the police declared to-day.

The gang claimed its first victim last night.

Joseph Wozniak, a labourer, was kidnapped and drugged while on his way home from a saloon. When he regained consciousness, he was lying in the street, and his glands had been removed.

Dr. A. Sampolinski, who was called on the case, declared the operation was performed by expert surgical hands.

Wozniak asserted he had no enemies.

The police declared that the gang may have been acting for some wealthy aged man who sought rejuvenation. They were searching for four men who Wozniak declared kidnapped him and threw a sack over his head Wazniak said he believed the sack contained a sponge saturated in chloroform.

Wozniak came to Chicago from Forestville, Wis., about a week ago. He is 34, married for twelve years, and has no children. Physicians said he would recover.

"Whoever did the work was able to avert the usual hemorrhage and infection,' Dr. Sampolinski said.

Chicago medical circles were aroused over the reports.

"Outrage is not strong enough to describe the action of the doctor who performed this operation," Dr. H. M. McKechnie, president of the Chicago Medical Society, said.

Surgeons believe the theft was performed by a doctor whose wealthy client desired a youth-revivifying operation.

"Our society will do everything possible to bring this man to justice. No surgon worthy of the name would have resorted to such disgraceful conduct," Dr. McKecknie said.

"Let him suffer a fate like that which his money mania caused him to inflict," Dr. Max Thorak, Associate Sarge Voronoff of Paris, declared.

Wozniak told his story to the police to-day. He said he was a World War veteran, and had also fought for Poland's independence.

"I was out of work and went out looking for a job," he said. "I met a man who listened to my story, loaned me $10.00, and bought me many drinks.

"Finally he ordered a taxi to drive me home. I got in and found there four men. Before I knew what had happened, a sack was thrown over my head, and I soon lost consciousness.

"When I came to, I was either in a vacant lot or on the street. My mind was befuddled. I did not know I had been operated on. I thought I had a hang-over. I had the taste of ether or chloroform in my mouth. I felt intense pain, and when I got home I called Dr. Sampolinski, who told me what had happened."

Wozniak said he could identify the men who were in the taxi.

PRUDENTIAL MEN HOLD CONFERENCE

Banquet Followed by a Trip to the Capitol Theatre Last Evening.

Last evening the local office and field staff, numbering about forty-five men, representing the Prudential Life Insurance Company, gathered at the White House, as guests of Mr. John I. Allen, district superintendent. This morning the entire staff held a conference at which subjects of interest and problems relating to the insurance business were discussed. This is an annual event in the history of the local district organization and is one of the contributing factors to the success of Mr Allen's ever growing staff of co-workers.

At last night's banquet the guests included Dr. A. W. McPherson, Dr. H. B. Mann and Dr. N. H. Sutton, local medical examiners for the company. In a brief speech each of them referred to the progress made by the Prudential in this city and district and Mr. Allen's ability to select and direct such a large and efficient body of men. At the conclusion of the banquet the entire company adjourned to the Capitol Theatre as guests of Mr. Allen.

A PRETTY HAT IN ITALY COSTS WEARER JUST $80

Prices for Clothing Are Still Mounting Until One Wonders Where the Money Comes From For All the Charming Frocks and Hats in Evidence

ROME, Oct. 14.—(Associated Press).—Italian women are complaining that, while prices for food and clothing are steadily if slowly decreasing in other countries, in Italy they are still going up till it is a wonder where the money comes from for all the charming frocks and hats one sees.

In the good old days a pretty hat could be bought in any of the large towns of Italy for from 25 to 75 lire; now anything from 120 to 400 lire is cheap. Woollen stuffs that used to cost 6 lire a yard, now cannot be bought for less than from 40 to 60 lire a yard. and the quality is questoinable at that. Of old a good pair of walking shoes could be bought for 25 lire, now from 140 to 250 lire are asked.

A good suit of clothes for a man could be bought before the war for from 75 to 100 lire; a pair of good shoes for from 25 to 30 lire; a hat for 8 lire; and a shirt for from 6 to 10 line. Today the buyer would need from 400 to 750 lire for the suit; 100 to 200 lire for the shoes; 45 to 150 lire for the hat; and from 35 to 60 lire for each shirt. These prices are bringing forth much protest.

Articles of common food also have increased in price four, five or even six times what they were before the war. Olive oil, which used to cost under one lire a quart, cannot now be obtained for less than 10 lire; wine, which cost 40 centimes a quart, is now 4.20 lire; eggs, which cost from one to two soldi each, now cost from 60 to 70 centimes; milk has advanced from 40 centimes to 1.50 lire a quart, and butter, once 1.50 a pound, has risen to 10 lire.

MRS. R. V. COPPING MORTGAGED HOME FOR HUSBAND'S BUSINESS

Is Plaintiff in Action to Recover $4,000 From Norman Miller Promoter of Motor Car Distributing Company.

OTONABEE FARM CASE

Ex-Alderman Russell V. Copping is named as co-defendant in an action entered by his wife, Mrs. Hattie Iona Copping, in the Fall Assizes of the Supreme Court of Ontario, which opens here next Tuesday with Mr. Justice Middleton presiding.

The other defendant is Norman St. Clair Miller of Toronto and formerly of Peterborough. This action is for the recovery of $4,000 loaned by Mrs. Copping to the company known as "Motor Car Distributors Limited" which, it is alleged, was promoted by Mr. Miller, and in which Mr. Copping invested $33,000.

Previous to Nov. 13, 1920, Miller promoted a company known as the "Motor Car Distributors Limited," and induced the co-defendant to invest in it approximately $33,000, according to plaintiff's statement of claim. Previous to Nov. 13, 1920, another company was incorporated, known as "Lemieux-Copping," which took over part of the assets of the first mentioned company, which was insolvent, to the knowledge of Miller.

The defendant, Miller, drew upon Copping for large sums of money for the company and finally Miller induced Copping to apply to the plaintiff for further financial assistance, according to Mrs. Copping's allegation.

Was Dominating.

The statement says: "The plaintiff had no ready funds to assist these ventures of the defendant, and refused to give any financial assistance to them, but the defendant, Miller, who was dominating, influencing and controlling the co-defendant, Copping, by frequently urging, persuasion and threats, induced the co-defendant, Copping, to repeat again and again his demands upon the plaintiff, his wife, for an advance to be made of $4,000 to be paid to Miller.

The defendant, Miller, obtained the efforts of his relatives to interview plaintiff and to influence her on many occasions to encumber her separate estate for the purpose of advancing this sum to satisfy the demands of the defendant, Miller."

Mortgaged Her Home.

Finally, Mrs. Copping mortgaged her property and home for $4,000, and alleges that the defendants represented to her that the money would be returned in a few months, and that she would suffer no loss, and that the business was profitable and solvent.

Representations Untrue.

"The defendants and their agents well knew," continues the statement of claim, "that these representations were untrue, and that the money was being taken for the use and benefit of the defendant, Miller, and was used and applied by him for his own private purposes.

The defendant, Miller, through his agents, did repay to the plaintiff certain instalments of interest upon the mortgage as they fell due, and promised to pay the said mortgage, but has refused and still refuses to carry out his promises and to repay to plaintiff the said sum of $4,000."

The rate of interest was 3 per cent. per month.

Plaintiff claims the sum of $4,000 and interest at 5 per cent. per annum from Nov. 13, 1920; also a

Better Natured Teachers Wanted in High Schools

ELMIRA, October 14 (Canadian Press).—Local High School students are in the throes of a party election, and feeling is running high.

The aspirants for office are making th usual political promises, and some of the popular planks are: Shorter hours, longer holidays, fewer lessons, and better-natured teachers, longer hours for lunch and shorter hours for study, more shade in summer and more sunshine in winter, and frequent picnics enlivened by ice-cream supplied by the School Board.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 14.—Subscribing close to $300, the office overseers and employeesof the Waterloo, NY., Woollen Manufacturing Company purchased a mahogany roll top desk with chair to match, floor lamp and travelling kit, and presented them to Levi H. Curtis Brothers Claim Payment For Bricks From the Contractor John E. Hayes.

One of the cases on the non-jury list of the assizes is an action brought by Curtis Brothers, brickmakers, against John E. Hayes, for the sum of $3,609.01 for bricks used in the construction of the Red Arrow Tires building. Mr. Hayes denies liability and declares that he was not the purchaser. Peck, Kerr and McElderry for the plantiffs, and Gordon and O'Brien for the defendant.

An application for garnishee is made by A. E. Dixon on behalf of Mr. Bigelow against the compensation of $1,709.80 paid the Austin Estate by the city as damages to the property on the north side of Hunter street, immediately west of the new bridge. Bigelow claims that his security in the property has been depreciated as a result of the building of the new bridge and asks that this money be paid to him under the mortgage.

BARNARDO HOME AS SANITARIUM

Proposal to Mr. Tooms Who Expressed a Readiness to Do Anything He Can to Promote It.

A casual suggestion that the Barnardo Home property in Peterborough, know nas "Hazel Brae" would be a suitable site for a tuberculosis sanitarium has reached Mr. Thomas Tooms, M.L.A., who told the Examiner that he would be glad to do anything within his power to promote any movement in that direction He said he would be glad to meet the Medical Association at any time and receive any representations which they might make, and further that he would co-operate with them or any other organization interested in thi smatter.

THE COTTAGERS FAVOR HIGHWAY

The Stoney Lake and the Kawartha Park Cottagers' Associations held a meeting last evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, at which a resolution was passed in favor of having the Provincial Highway extended to the Kawartha Lakes The proposed route is up the west side of the Otonabee river from Peterborough to Nassau, across the river at Nassau and up the east shore to Young's Point, where it again crosses the river and continues up the west shore to Burleigh This will make the first part of the proposed extension of the Highway to the Algonquin Park. This is also the most picturesque, least hilly and the easiest constructed road there is for the Highway. The proposed Highway will have an extensive trade from the thousands who will visit the Kawartha Lakes.

A committee also was appointed to join with others to meet the Hon. F. F. Biggs who intends to visit the city at an early date, to travel over the propsed highway and decide upon the extension.

During the meeting the expressions of appreciation of the motorists present were given for good work of Mr. Duncan MacFarlane on the county roads under his jurisdiction.

Mr .H. L. Beal was Chairman of the meeting.

SAYS THE RULING OF CONFERENCE IS ABSURD

What Shall We Do With Almighty God Who Gave Tobacco? Asks Mr. Burnham.

Mr. J. H. Burnham ex-M.P., has sent the following telegram to the Methodist conference in session in Toronto. "Now that you have condemned the users of tobacco what shall we do with the Almighty God who gave it to the world.

Commenting on this to-day, Mr. Burnham, said "Surely the climax of absurdity has been reached when the Methodist Conference would have to refuse on account of connection with tobacco, Almighty God, admission to the Methodist ministry."

LATEST CRIMES AROUSE LISBON

Portugese, Tired of Political Murders, Demand Action by Government

LIBSON, Portugal, Oct. 14.—(Associated Press)—Two recent political assassinations in the streets of Libson have aroused the people of this turbulent city. The authorities are accused of failing to afford protection to individuals, and the newspapers are calling upon the government to do something, else Lisbon will become more and more isolated from the province, where already the city is regarded as a dangerous center of disorder.

The latest crimes took place within three days of each other, and in the heart of the city. Neither victim is expected to live. One was a leading civil revolutionist known under the nickname of "Avante." He is accused of having denounced some of his former comrades who advocated very extreme measures. He was crossing the street at night, near the docks, when an automobile suddenly stopped near him. Two men jumped out, one stabbed him with a dagger, and the both fled in the car.

The other victim is Sergio Principe, a Lisbon merchant, who is accused of forsaking his old ideals in favor of the working classes, and who is said to be to-day the secretary of the Patronal Association, an organization strongly opposed to the Syndicates and the Unions. Principe also was stabbed while walking on the street in front of his store, and his assailant escaped. Both men had received letters of warning, written in blood, and signed "The Red Legion."

CHAMBERLAIN IS WARMLY ENDORSED

Press Agrees With His Warning Against Menace of Labor.

LONDON, Oct. 14.— (Canadian Press.)— Austen Chamberlain's address of yesterday and the editorial comments thereon fill many col? umns in this morning's papers. The points most discussed are the probable effect of the speech on the ranks of the Conservative party, the question of the alleged inevitableness of some form of coalition in the next Parliament and the Conservative leaders' references to Labor.

The leading editorial of the Ministerial Daily Chronicle is mainly a panegyric of the present coalition. The Daily Telegraph, also a staunch supporter of the Government, warmly endorsed Mr. Chamberlain's utterances throughout, making the point that his description of the Laborites as a party of revolution is "their own constant description of themselves," and declaring their principles predatory and destructive.

The Times says his speech will perhaps help the Conservative party to decide that a leader who is "so blind to the realities, or so contemptuous thereof, can hardly be a safe guide during the present crisis of its fortunes."

GRAPES FOR SALE

The market, upstairs and down, was thronged this morning with a busy crowd that circulated briskly from cart to cart, and from basket to basket above stairs. There was plenty of garden stuff, the late roots cheek by jowl with little green onions. Potatoes were very plentiful, selling at $1, 90 cents and 85 cents per bag. There were lots of apples, too, Baxters at $1.25 per bag, Alexandras 35 cents a peck and Wealthies at $1 a bag. White onions were 40 cents a peck, the smaller variety selling at 50 cents for a basket, little beets were 60 cents a basket, and squash in white, green and yellow at 20 cents apiece. Small round watermelons were 10 and 15 cents, Brussels sprouts 20 cents a peck, and citron 5 cents apiece. Cauliflower was much in evidence, with celery at 3 bunches for a quarter, red cabbage and dried garden herbs

Pork on Market.

Pork was a newcomer to the open market this morning, at 18 and 20 cents a pound. Clover honey was selling at 85 and $1.50, in five and ten-pound pails. Little pink piglets in crates were $14 for a pair, and a couple of lordly Plymouth Rocks were priced at $1.25 apiece. Pears were 70 cents a basket, and one man had a novelty in butternuts at 25 cents for the small basket. Grapes were selling at 20 cents a measure and tomatoes at 50 cents a basket.

Upstairs, the tables were loaded with fowl. They were there, dressed and undressed, white, yellow and mottled, with webbed feet and with and without heads. They were on all sides, and the large crowd of buyers had plenty of dealers' wares to choose from. Price fluctuated. Chickens ranged from 33 cents a pound for drawn birds to 28 and 25 cents, with one lady, who was "in a hurry," offering her lot for 20 cents a pound. Geese were from 30 cents a pound to a little over 26 cents for one large bird, and duck varied from 35 to 28 cents a pound

Eggs and butter were plentiful also ,eggs going anywhere from 40 to 43 cents a dozen, and butter ranging from 40 to 35 cents a pound. Honey was offered in pint sealers at 35 cents, quarts at 65 cents, and head cheese was 15 cents a pound. White beans were 25 cents a quart.

Downstairs, there was on sale the first and second prize models at the Ottawa Fair for Indian canoes, beautifully executed little miniatures, complete with paddles, the smaller one selling for $2.50.

DOUBTING THOMAS

In speaking to one of our representatives of the article in last week's Examiner entitled, "Hard to Believe," a certain party said he had so little faith in its truthfulness that he did not read it all. Our Agent gave him the name and address ,told him to send the "clipping" and if he did not receive word back that the article was true in every particular, he would buy him the best suit of clothes in the city.

Realizing that there may be other doubting Thomases I wish to state over my own personal signature that the said article is true in every particular. The only reason the names and address is not published is that the great majority of people shrink from the notoriety ensuing from the publication of such a testimonial in a local paper over their own signature, but they are most willing to answer any private enquiries.

I will not only supply any one with the name and address of this party but will at the same time give the names and addresses of numerous persons in this city and vicinity who have been just as wonderfully helped by the use of Gallagher's Blood Purifier and the Kidney Remedy.

WHEREABOUTS OF BLUENOSE STILL SHROUDED IN MYSTERY

Canadian Defender of the Fishermen's Cup Lost Her Escort During a Fog and Is Expected to Make Her Way to Gloucester.

A RACE TO-DAY.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., October 14. — Canadian Press. — Speculation over the whereabouts of the Canadian schooner Bluenose, bound here to defend the international fishing vessel championship cup, which she won last year, has divided interest among Gloucestermen yesterday with their own schooners contending in the elimination series shall be selected as the United States challenger.

The Canadian cruiser Patriot, which took the Bluenose in tow out of Halifax, only to lose her in a fog and half gale off Cape Sable Wednesday, arrived here as the vanguard of the Canadian expedition in defence of the cup but without word of the missing defender. Captain Jones of the Patriot, however, said he felt no concern for her safety with Capt. Angus Walters and a seagoing crew in charge.

Gloucester became more a centre of sport than of fishing yesterday. Between race days for the schooners contending for selection as as challenger, the city and its fishing interests lent every effort to the work of repairing the Elizabeth Howard, which was crippled while leading in the race on Thursday, went down to the wharf to see and admire the Henry Ford, Thursday's winner, greeted the vanguard of Canada's expedition to defend the trophy, accepted custody of the cup itself, and prepared with banners and electric lights the wharf at which the missing Bluenose had been expected to be berthed by last night.

The Howard's men were still working last night to step the topmast again and were fairly certain that she would be in shape to meet the Henry Ford, the Yankee and the L. A. Dunton to-day.

The Patriot, through her commander, Captain Jones, brought details of the Bluenose's disappearance. That occurred, Captain Jones said, about 2 o'clock on Thursady morning, 15 miles south of Brazil Rock, in wind that was half a gale, and fog that shut off sight of the lights of the schooner a few hundred yards astern. It was not until daybreak that the Patriot knew that her tow was gone. Then Captain Jones said, he cruised Brown's Banks for several hours without finding her and then proceeded to Gloucester, confident that the Bluenose had already set out on her own hook. He announced that he was leaving port with the Patriot at seven this morning to meet the Bluenose again it no word of her came in the meantime. With the Patriot as a passenger was Leslie A. Davison, of Shelburne, N. S., a member of the International Cup Committee.

Fishermen here, and the Patriot's officers alike, said that they expected to see the Bluenose slip in some time to-day, probably while the United States schooners are racing off Cape Ann to decide which shall meet her. Under the weather conditions of yesterday the Bluenose had a hard beat down the coast but last night the wind tacked to make it more of a sea. For the race to-day indications were for a southwest wind of only moderate strength, lacking much of the action that the racing fishermen hoped to have in their contest. Just to show his faith in the ability of the Elizabeth Howard to win over the Henry Ford and others, Captain Ben Pine had her painted again, had sails retouched, and other alterations made, while carpenters and blacksmiths worked on her disabled top pieces.

The Henry Ford will go into to-day's race with a sail or two re-cut. The Yankee, under Captain Mike Brophy, and the L. A. Dunton, skippered by Captain Felix Hogan, will take up their fight against the bigger boat much the same as Thursday, although each did a little fixing up and shifting of ballast yesterday.

The race yesterday will be over a course of 40 miles again, with the directions dependent on the weather conditions.

First Snow Fell on The Lakes Thursday

DETROIT, Oct. 14.— (Canadian Press.) — Snow flurries were general over central and northern Lake Michigan Thursday, the storm in the far north approaching blizzard proportions, and delaying lake shipping. A forty-mile gale raged over Lake Superior.

The snowfall was reported from as far south as Port Huron. In Ogemaw County, snow, driven by a cold wind continued for an hour.

Some potato growers, who have not finished their harvest, expressed fears for their crops

JOHNSON APPEALS.

REGINA, Oct. 14. — (Canadian Press.)—Notice of appeal from the judgment unseating him from the Dominion House of Commons was lodged yesterday by counsel for R. M. Johnston, who was elected for Moose Jaw constituency at the last federal election. The appeal will be heard at the next sitting of the Supreme Court of Canada which will sit in February.

PETERBORO' COUNTY TEACHERS IN SESSION

Programme For Annual Meeting Unusually Attractive and Instructive — A Talk on London (Eng.) Schools.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The teachers of Peterboro county met in Annual Convention in the Normal School, there being present about one hundred from the different parts of the County.

After the customary opening exercises and routine business had been transacted a very instructive and helpful report of the O.E.A. at Toronto was given by Mrs. H. B. Jackson. In her report Mrs. Jackson brought out many of the points discussed at the meeting regarding the school curriculum and the readers and these points were again discussed freely and energetically by the county teachers.

The afternoon proved very interesting and profitable as it had been arranged to visit the local plants of the Quaker Oats and DeLaval Companies. For this purpose it was necessary to divide the teachers into two groups of fifty each, the groups each visiting the plants at different hours. The teachers were shown through the various factories by members of the staff, who were untiring in their efforts to explain the many different parts and operations seen. The men were also very courteous and took all means possible of showing how each plant operated. The visits were greatly interesting and educational and the teachers appreciate the courtesy and efforts of the members of the staff and also the employees who did so much to make their visit interesting and instructive.

Evening Session.

The evening session took the form of a musical program in which Dr. Park of the P.N.S. delighted his audience by his violin selection. Rev. Hughes and Mrs. Hughes of Young's Point were very pleasing in their numbers, while Miss Hunter proved interesting and helpful on "Her Trip to Rome." The Misses Gardiner and Miss Simpson favored with piano instrumentals which were well rendered in their usual pleasing manner. After the program a dainty luncheon was served by Mr. T. H. Hooper and a social hour was profitably spent.

Teachers Personality.

The President, Miss Jennie Barrie opened the Friday session by a splendid address on "The Personality of the Teacher." The confidence, inspiration, courage, co-operation, tact and appreciation. Personality is that which distinguishes one person from another. A good teacher puts all she has into her work and is not afraid to do a little extra. We should work with our pupils and not give too many orders. Have courage enough to do right no matter what your sacriifce and you will find it easy to get pupils to work if you get them to think they are helping. Above all, learn to appreciate the child's work. no matter how simple it may be and in return the child will learn to appreciate what the teacher does for him.

London Schools.

This address was followed by a very splendid and well-given account o fthe school of London, England by Miss Verda Watt, one of the Overseas teachers in her excellent address on "A Canadian Teacher in England."

In London we find schools for the physically defective and abnormal children. On the whole they are small and crowded and heated by fire-places. Each one is equipped with a fine assembly hall. There is no special syllabus but the work is left with the head-masters. Parents are frequent visitors and the general neatness of conditions is very noticeable. In literature, dramatization is very important and poetry has a prominent place. Physical culture, dancing, swimming are specially stressed and many schools have orchestras of their own. Scripture memorization is also very important. Miss Watt also took us for a delightful imaginary trip through France, Switzerland and Italy in which she described in choice and intensely vivid language the very beautiful and picturesque scenes of those different countries. In all these travels overseas the teachers are unanimous in their appreciation of the many kindnesses, both collective and individual, shown them by the citizens of the Motherland.

Literature Lesson.

Dr. Radcliffe, principal of the Toronto Normal School followed with a "Literature lesson with a Fouth Class." The lesson chosen was "The Torch of Life" and was first pictured by the scholars. By a series of questions the main points were brought out and the intense interest of the calss showed how well the lesson was appreciated. If the teachers could get their pupils to appreciate a lesson as did Dr. Radcliffe our literature lesson would surely inculcate the spirit indicated in this selection of "Play up and Play the Game"

Miss McKee, demonstrator of Columbia grafonolas next showed how a victrola may be used very profitably in writing lessons in a capable and pleasing manner.

Talk On Poetry.

On Friday afternoon Dr. Radcliffe gave an excellent address on "Imagery in Poetry" All our pictures and buildings have a certain form and have a great thought behind them. Poetry has rythmn. Our modern way of studying poetry is not true. The old Wandering Minstrels brought true pleasure into our lives. People do not read poetry aloud enough.

You cannot read it over too often. The idea does not matter, it is the music that counts. Imagery will call up all kinds of feelings and it is those who can image well get the most out of it. The majority of people have experienced a great many of the things we read about, and if you can recall these things to your minds in reading poetry you will get real joy out of it. The nicest thin ga teacher can do in school is to have a little nature study lesson in the morning an picture all the things seen on the way to school. When we do this we lay a splendid foundation for poetry. When a mother tells little stories to the children she creates in them a love for poetry of which sh is unaware. As we grow older and get more matter of fact we lose much of those things.

Athletic Association.

Dr. Frank explained the working of the Ontario Athletic Association and Capt .Adams, representing the Navy League made an excellent appeal for help. The following resolution was then passed:

To the Quaker Oats and DeLaval Companies: The members of the Peterboro County Teachers' Institute, in convention do hereby express to the Quaker Oats and DeLaval Companies their heartiest appreciation of the courtesy shown them in their visit to their plants on Thursday afternoon

(Signed)—President, Miss Barrie, Secretary, Mrs. Stilson.

The meeting then closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

President—Mr. K. S. Wadell.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. H. B. Jackson.
Sec. Treas.—Mrs. Stelson.
Corres.-Sec.—Inspector Lees.
Executive Committee—Miss Jennie Barrie, Miss I. Daff, Mr. Wendt, Mr. E. R. Frost.
Auditors — Miss Grieves, Miss Knox.
Delegate to O.E.A.—E. R. Frost.
Press Committee—Mr. S. Hutchinson, Mr. E. R. Frost.

Chamberlain Launches An Attack on the Labor Party

Strong Lloyd George Follower Says It Would Be Dangerous to Allow a Labor Government to Assume Power—Radicals Would Prevail and Industry Would Be Ruined.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—(Associated Press).—Curiosity and speculation last night revolved upon whether the speech delivered yesterday at Birmingham by Austen Chamberlain, Government leader in the House of Commons, which reveals Mr. Chamberlain as still a convinced and devoted Coalitionist and loyally attached to Premier Lloyd George, may be taken as an indication of the line the Premier will assume in his address to-day at Manchester.

Political circles consider that perhaps the most notable point in Mr. Chamberlain's speech was the plain intimation to his party of the danger of allowing a Labor Government to come into power accompanied by the dark shadow of direct action, a capital levy and other similar planks in his platform. His allusion to the Laborites is regarded as susceptible of being interpreted in two ways, first as the line of policy for the Coalition in the event of an appeal to the country, and, second, as a mere hint to Mr. Chamberlain's own party, which is now declared to be danger ously split into supporters and antagonists of Mr. Lloyd George and a warning to them to close their ranks and still support the Coalition.

The Premier, on previous occasions when confronted with difficulty has represented the Labor Party as a Bolshevist organization against which the country must take a firm stand; but critics declare he also has seemed to realize this as a rather risky policy and generally has drawn back from pursuing it to its logical conclusions. His hesitancy, it is asserted, was motived by plain evidence, affording times without number, that the British Labor Party repudiates Communism, and also by the fact that many highly respected economists and financiers have advocated a capital levy as the only effective means through which to deal with the nation's colossal war debt.

Seemingly the general belief here is that the Premier will not seize the present occasion to affront the Labor Party. There still is enormous unemployment and a constant scaling down in wages. The Labor Party attributes the country's bad trade and industry to Mr. Lloyd George's foreign policy, which it is contended keeps Europe in turmoil The party advocates a policy of appeasement with both Germany and Russia.

In the most recent by-elections the Labor Party has had big majorities over the Coalition candidates, which is taken to show that the Labor interest is very strong in the country, especially in the northern industrial districts. By-elections are considered by the politicians as not always a reliable index of what will happen in general elections, because party feeling in these isolated contests is not excited to a high pitch; but they express certainty that in the event of an appeal to the country under present conditions of trade and industry the Labor Party would have a strong position.

For these reasons the balance of political opinion lies in the idea that Mr. Chamberlain's allusions to the danger of Labor were intended rather to give pause to the rebellious die-hards of his own party than as a line of policy in a possible appeal to the country.

If Labor obtained a majority, said Mr. Chamberlain, heavy would be the responsibility of those who could not take a national view in times of national danger. It would not be the moderates of that party who would prevail. Even if the moderates should prevail conditions would be serious. One serious result would be a levy on capital which would ruin industry. He desired to say with all the earnestness of a great conviction that any influence which he was entitled to exert by his experience and, might he add, by his services, would be given towards preserving that union in the face of the common foe. It would be criminal to allow narrow party jealousies to betray the great causes which, as a party, they had maintained and which must be maintained by any other party intrusted with government. If his advisers were not absolutely wrong there would be no possibility in the new parliament that any government could be formed save by a coalition. Government should not be handed over for an experiment to a subservisive if not revolutionary type.

Touching on the Near East situation Mr. Chamberlain declared that the policy of the government, as between the Greeks and the Turks had been neutral but had two great objects. They had been ready to recognize the results of the Greek defeat in Asia Minor as they had been ready in March last to restore Constinople to the Turks on the signing of a definite peace with the allies.

"We have been ready", he continued, to secure, with our allies, a peaceful and orderly transference of Eastern Thrace to the Turks but have been determined, as far as in us lies, to prevail the war which has devastated Asia Minor from being carried into Europe; to save Constantinople with its cosmopolitan population from the fate of Smyrna and to preserve that freedom of the narrow Straits which was our primary object in the recent war with Turkey and which is the chief fruit of our victory.

"I do not speak with careless optimism or two great confidence but I believe our policy has been successful."

Mr. Chamberlain paid a tribute to the patience and dignity exercised by Lord Curson in his successful Paris negotiations for a Near East settlement and added: "But it will not be because of any help we received from the opposition leaders. On the contrary they used language the only effect of which was to weaken government authority, encourage the Kemalists in their protensions and to present Great Britain to France, not as an ally and an equal but as a humble satellite in an orbit of French policy, bound to exercise no independent judgment and take no independent action."

The speaker continued: "We are heirs to the policy initiated by H. H. Asquith and Viscount Grey and the end of that skilled diplomacy was a great war. Although I do not say that war could have been avoided I do say that a firmer declaration of British policy before that time and the knowledge by Germany of how far they could go and where they must stop, might have greatly influenced events."

SASKATOON, Oct 14.—(Canadian Press.)—His clothing saturated with coal oil and set on fire by his mother just before she ended her own life, Willie Fafonoff, aged ten years, was saved from being burned to death by a farm hand. The tragedy was enacted in a farm house ten miles north of Pelly, Sask., on Thursday evening Scant details of it were received at Saskatchewan Provincial Police headquarters yesterday. Detective Sergeant Dunnet has gone to Pelly to investigate the case.

From the meagre information available yesterday, it appears Mrs. Fafonoff suffered an attack of temporary insanity, and while in that state endeavored to end the life of her ten year old son and then suicided. She was found dead in her home when farm hands reported the matter. The boy ran from the house screaming, with his clothing in flames and before the flames were extinguished by the farm hand he sustained severe burns, but is expected to recover.

HINDERS FOREIGN TRADE

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—(Associated Press)—German trade pamphlets and catalogues which are issued for foreign consumption have been found to contain so many rhetorical and grammatical errors that they have become a target for criticism in the Berlin press.

It is pointed out that such circulars not only lower the prestige of German foreign trade, but also serve their promoters detrimentally. Price lists of technical, chemical, and photographic supplies circulated abroad in poorly-written French are cited, as well as some pamphlets in which the German language is "handled roughly." The critics urge action by Germany's official representatives abroad, looking toward the production of circulars that are "at least readable."

MEXICAN BULL FIGHTERS EXPECT GOOD SEASON

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 14.—(Associated Press)— Bullfighting in Mexico City during the coming season is going to be on a bigger and better scale than ever, according to the impresarios who are to handle the arena events.

Throughout the past summer there has been much newspaper agitation against the high salaries paid the fighters, which has resulted in almost exorbitant prices being demanded for tickets As a result the matadors will receive slightly less this fall and winter, but even Gaona will collect some 15,000 pesos every afternoon he appears in the ring, with the privilege of a benefit performance which is always good for an additional 100,000 pesos The season opens October 15.

Opening Guns of One of England's Biggest Political Campaigns Will Be Fired To-Day at Club Luncheon.

ONLY 300 GUESTS.

MANCHESTER, England, Oct. 14.—(Associated Press.)—The political limelight will shine on Manchester to-day as it has not shone before since the memorable day when President Wilson visited this northern metropolis, which prides itself upon being both the centre of industry and culture.

David Lloyd George, the Prime Minister, has chosen the home of his friends in which to launch his platform. The Manchester Reform Club, where the Premier will deliver an address at a luncheon, has stood behind the Premier, while the National Liberal Club of London was taking down his portrait from the library, and hanging it in the basement.

To-day's function will be a local rather than a national affair.

The Reform Club can accommodate only three hundred luncheon guests, and forty-three of these will be newspapermen, because the broadcasting of the features of the function will be of the greatest importance.

Coalition Liberals will have nearly all the other seats aside from those occupied by members of the Premier's family and his staff.

Great efforts were being made among the Manchester Liberals yesterday to be among the elect at the luncheon There was gossip that anyone with a ticket for the luncheon which was transferable might easily obtain $100 for it. One newspaper correspondent was asked by a wealthy Londoner to name his own price for his seat

Mr. Lloyd George last night was the gluest of local Liberals at Mohberly Hall, nine miles outside Manchester. This morning, accompanied by his party, the Premier will motor through nine different Lancashire towns to Manchester, arriving at the Reform Club at noon, where a reception will precede the luncheon.

Sir Edward Rhodes will preside and propose a toast to the Prime Minister, whose address is expected to begin at two o'clock in the afternoon.

FRANCE IMPORTS LABOR.

Demand for Workers Exceed Supply, Paris Labor Bureau Reports.

PARIS, Oct. 14. — Associated Press)—Prosperity smiles in France according to the official figures issued by the French Labor Department which showed that there were but 3,350 unemployed persons throughout the republic on Sept. 1.

The fact is in most categories of labor there is a greater demand for workmen than the supply. The French authorities have recently given their consent for the importation of laborers from abroad. Thousands of Italians and Poles have answered the call and these are arriving in increasing numbers every month.

ARMISTICE DAY.

The Great War Veterans of Peterborough, The Examiner is glad to be able to announce, are planning a worth-while celebration of Armistice Day in Peterborough, and the co-operation of the public in making the occasion a success is urged.

The programme includes a memorial service on the Sunday preceding Armistice Day, in memory of those who gave up their lives in the Empire's cause. The Grand Opera House has been secured for this occasion, and it is hoped to have Rev. Canon Scott, of Quebec, as the orator for the service.

On the Saturday before the second annual Poppy Day will be held. Poppies made by the widows and children of French soldiers who lost their lives in the war will be sold on the streets by local veterans, and in this way the public will be given a chance, not only to wear a poppy in respect to the memory of the unreturning brace, but at the same time to help the work of the Great War Veterans' Association and to assist those among the French people who are most in need of aid.

No one in Peterborough should be without a poppy on Armistice Day.

QUICK ACTION WANTED.

The intimation that the Canadian General Electric Company is contemplating the removal of its large plants in Toronto to some other location is of prime importance to Peterborough.

If the company is seeking a new site for these works there does not seem any logical reason why this city should not be selected.

The Canadian General Electric Company's principal electrical works are already located here. There is ample property upon which to build the necessary additions adjacent to the local plant, and the company has a surplus of power at its own power-house.

Here is a chance to secure additions to the city's industrial establishments that in normal times in Toronto employ some 4,000 hands—a prize that should not be allowed to slip away.

The location in Peterborough of the Edison Company, from which the present Canadian General Electric Company was developed, imparted a tremendous impetus to the progress of this city, and if the Toronto plant of the company could be secured the effect upon local conditions would be immediate and striking.

There is no time to be lost for the announcement of the intention of the company to transfer its Toronto works elsewhere will result in a rush on the part of other cities to secure this rich industrial plum.

Peterborough should act quickly and in a business-like fashion investigate this opening.

MORE LIGHT NEEDED.

Newspapers in Quebec are agitating for a change in the regulations which will make necessary for all horse vehicles to carry lights.

"Both auto and farmer's cart are vehicles," points out the Montreal Star, "and there should be no discrimination between them. There is only one way in which to deal with vehicular traffic and that ss to place it all on the same basis. The automobile driver and owner are certainly entitled to fair play just as much as the farmer or the driver or owner of any other vehicular traffic. They get it in England. Why not in Quebec also?"

And why not in Ontario?

Conditions on the highways at night are such as to make accidents easy.

The motorist who is careless about his lights and takes chances on breaking the speed limit is generally condemned.

On the other hand, not half enough has been said about the horse vehicles without lights, which render travelling at night unsafe.

The hostility of Farmer members of the Legislature towards any attempt to enact legislation that will correct this condition of affairs has so far succeeded in blocking this much-needed amendment.

Sooner or later, however, the folly of opposing a measure that is directly in the interest of the farming community will be appreciated.

UNLICENSED INSURANCE COMPANIES.

The Department has received during the past few months many complaints from persons insured in companies unlicensed in Canada as to the failure of these companies to pay losses incurred under their policies.

These policies have been in most cases effected as the result of solicitation and correspondence by mail and the insured in many cases are inclined to criticise the regulations which permit the mails to be used for this purpose by insurers whose protection has been found to be unreliable.

The Department thinks it desirable therefore that the public should be warned that there is nothing in the statutes preventing unlicensed insurance companies from communicating with persons in Canada by mail for the solicitation of business or the collection of premiums or otherwise in connection with insurance. It should also be carefully noted that in respect of this insurance no protection is given to the insured by way of Canadian deposits.

In several of the cases recently brought to the Department's attention it has been found on enquiry that the companies have been placed in liquidation and the liquidators take the position that action must be instituted by Canadian claimants in the courts of the companies' native state. This attitude has also been taken by some companies still carrying on business.

In all these cases this Department is unable to enforce the claims of Canadian policyholders by reason of the fact that the companies do not maintain assets in Canada for their protection.

Persons desiring information as to the status of insurers soliciting their business can obtain the same promptly by communicating with the Department.

G. D. FINLAYSON,
Superintendent of Insurance.

A LONG FORWARD STRIDE.

An abundant harvest is reported from coast to coast. This is resulting in an enormous distribution of cash or credits throughout the length of Canada. Our grain crops alone will equal, if not surpass, our previous records. The marketing of grain and other agricultural products will set in motion this year a golden stream estimated at, approximately, two billion dollars.

Internationally, Canada's financial standing is an enviable one. Canada, of all the nations of the world, ws the first to have her money reach par with the United States. With United States funds at a discount, to-day, Canadian money commands a premium in all countries of the world. Such a position has its foundation, to a large extent, on high production in our fundamental industries and in our manufactures and the resulting trade and commerce.

The material prosperity and purchasing power of the nation is measured by its production. Production of the proportions indicated by this year's preliminary reports must inevitably result in a marked stimulus in every line of commercial endeavor. Coming after a series of lean years, the present results are more than ordinarily welcome. Better times are undoubtedly in store for every portion of our economic fabric. The betterment is bound to affect in turn the producer, the retailer, wholesaler, manufacturer, and likewise our railroads and national enterprises. This year's abundant agricultural production is a long stride forward towards prosperity.

PARTY CAMPAIGN FUNDS.

Since it was a revolt against old political abuses such as the party campaign fund that helped to bring about the progressive movement in this country it is a satisfaction to see the leading Liberal journal of Eastern Canada now advocating the adoption of the plan used by the Progressives for raising party funds, viz., by small contributions from all supporters of the party or as many as are willing to pay. The Toronto Globe says:

"The providing of campaign funds is source of constant anxiety, and sometimes of scandal. Charges have been made that these funds were provided by large contributions from interested parties, such as contractors for public works, railway companies and protected manufacturers. The natural inference is that these contributors expect to be repaid by class legislation and Government favors. Sometimes the fund is so large as to provide not only for legitimate expenses, but for the direct bribery of voters.

"But even if we suppose that the contributors have no direct pecuniary interest in the result of the election and that the expenditure is legitimate, the present system is wrong. The funds are provided by a few persons. The great body of the electors do not contribute, and do not feel under any obligation to contribute, for election expenses. That is all wrong. It is undemocratic. The man who desires the election of a certain political party, or the assertion of certain principles, or victory for a cause, ought to be willing to contribute to those ends according to his means, and ought to be too proud to allow the work to be done at the expense of a few.

"A politician the other day made a shrewd remark about the new system. People who used to be paid for their votes, he said, are now paying out money in that connection."

The Ottawa Journal, Conservative, does not like the references that have appeared in the British press to elections and campaign funds in Canada and it quotes Lord Birkenhead's speech in the honors debate in the House of Lords to show that campaign funds are raised in England by methods somewhat similar to those that have been in vogue in the past in Canada. The Journal intimates that it can at least commend the "honesty and candor" of Lord Birkenhead's argument in favor of contributions from the recipients of honors or from others, but it adds that this honesty and candor "is more than can be said for the declarations of many who profess themselves horrified at the thought of party funds."

No one suggests that there should not be a party fund or that it should not be made up of contributions of supporters of the party. But under the system adopted by the Progressives a candidate does not need to be a wealthy man able to foot his own campaign expenses, nor, if he is a man of modest means, does he need to draw on a central party fund and thereby surrender a large part of his political independence. His campaign is financed by the supporters of the party in the constituency and no one contributes enough to entitle him to favors from the party if it comes into power.

Now, the Ottawa Journal, located at the political centre of the Dominion and knowing as well as it does the inside story of political life in this country for decades back, must surely recognize the vast difference between the old party fund and the new plan of party financing, and it must admit that the latter makes for cleaner politics and fairer legislation and administration by the Government. The Liberal and Conservative parties can adopt the new plan if they wish to do so. As long as they keep to the old system they will never be free from the suspicion of being bought in some way or other by large contributors to their campaign funds. Large contributions could be made from honest and even patriotic motives, but they could also be made self-seeking schemes and they are more apt to be thus made.—Manitoba Free Press Evening Bulletin.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

FORGIVE THE FRENCH DEBTS

London Daily News: If the reparations problem is to be solved, and Central Europe saved from disruption, there must be a prolonged moratorium to enable Germany to emerge from her financial perils, the amounts due must be drastically scaled down to a sum that it is worth her while to try to pay, and the provocation threats which are for ever on the lips of French statesmen must finally cease. The part for Great Britain to play in bringing France to the proper frame of mind for making this solution possible is to forgive the French debt to us. Peace will not be dearly bought at the price.

SAVING THE DAYLIGHT

Providence Journal: Daylight saving is making steady progress according to the National Daylight Saving Association. Cities and towns in increasing numbers are voluntarily adopting summer time again after having dropped it following the repeal of the daylight saving law. It is believed that next year daylight saving territory will be even larger than it was this year. The great majority of people are not troubled by the necessity where it exists of occasionally converting daylight saving into standard time and vice versa. When they have tried municipal daylight saving and found it good they are determined to keep it.

The Gateway to Opportunity

To-day not all young people are aware of the value of a savings account as the foundation of future security and prosperity.

A savings account not only provides for the proverbial "rainy day," but very often it is the open gate to an opportunity to get into business, to buy a home or to make a lucrative investment.

No other provision for the future is so sure of results in security and contentment as a savings account.

DISCRETION

"Her fever's gone"

"You sure?"

"Feel"

Violet twisted uncomfortably as rough, calloused hand rested upon her forehead for a moment. Then she opened her eyes and glanced about with a sort of dull comprehension.

A gentle swaying motion somehow soothed her and revealed to her the fact that she lay on her back in the bottom of a boat of some sort. Overhead, the sky, flawless of cloud or scampering wisp of vapor, was crystal blue. At times there intruded the towering overhanging tops of trees, passing slowly across the dome of the heavens, now and the interlacing from two sides to form a natural arch. The passing of this foliage above told her that the boat was in motion.

Hanging from the branches she saw twining growths of vines and mosses, and forest parasites, so that sometimes the sky was shut out from her altogether. Then she sensed a feeling of deep oppression. It seemed cool and dank, as though some great marsh or swamp were about. Only occasionally was there a glimpse of bird or living creature. One speck, away in the azure heights, given a flashing coat of gold by the sun as it twirled about speculatively, swooped down and hovered over her, disclosed dark and ugly and menacing against the blue, a buzzard. Principally, however, life was represented by the insects.

Untold myriads of tiny flying creatures swarmed everywhere. Dragon flies darted back and forth like so many airplanes, often forming miniature battle squadrons and performing all the evolutions of modern war. In her ears was the constant hum and buzz of the little universe about her, with its faint graduations of tone not unlike an organ, suggesting perhaps an organ whose organist was sleepy as he toyed with his stops.

Her acute discomfort came to her very gradually. First the flies and gnats bothered her the most. As she raised a hand to brush them off she realized her weakness; then as she saw her own palm and fingers, her eyes widened in sheer disbelief. Though she was burned nearly black, the settled tan of long exposure in the open, her hand was emanciated, her fingers gaunt and wholly fleshless. She felt of her arms, her face, her body. She was skin and bones.

With an effort she turned on her side; she raised her head to look about her. The river was narrow and obviously tropical. The dense bending grasses and the gnarled and tangled underbrush were unmistakable. Here and there concentric circles forming and spreading on the scummed surface of stagnant pools near the shore told of the swarming life beneath the water. Stretched at ease in a sunny open space was an alligator. In one of the darkened arched reaches of the stream the shrill shriek of some living thing was carried to her from the somber depths of the trees. Yet the air was crisp and sharp, for all its sultriness. Though this was unquestionably an equatorial section the altitude was high. This was near the headwaters of some great river of the torrid zone.

In the vessel besides herself was Evil Eye, idle, slouched in the stern, shrouded as always in his robes; the Strangler, close by Evil Eye, guiding the course and helping propel the boat with an oar; and Vera and Renard, each swinging paddles in the forward part of the craft. All were burnt black, and were appreciably thinned and hardened. Vera had sacrificed her hair, which was cropped short, and had donned men's garments, a tattered sailor suit. Her feet were bare and calloused, as though feminine shoes had been useless to her, and had been discarded long before. Her blouse hung partly open in front, revealing the development of huge muscles across her shoulders. There was little about her to indicate her sex. Renard, similarly dressed and coarsened, differed alone in the possession of the torn remains of his shoes. The Strangler, stripped to the waist, was the luxurious physical specimen of the five. Evil Eye's bare knee, protruding through a rent in his cassock, showed him to be as emaciated as Violet, as ill-suited for the trip as she had been.

Vast Oil Reservoir Located in Central Ontario

This public announcement of a discovery which for months has been a topic of discussion in Central Ontario is not based on hope or optimism.

Months ago we could have made this announcement. But we waited—waited until we knew definitely, positively, the existence of this vast reservoir.

Today We Know

Facts—not only geology; not only the opinions of geologists, who are authorities on Central Ontario; but oil strikes and gas flows—facts, to which no one can shut his eyes, prove beyond all question, beyond all doubt, the existence here in Ontario of one of the mightiest oil reservoirs in North America.

Great Arctic Oil River Flows Through Ontario

We know that two branches of this river—the mother of all oil reservoirs, off the course of which no oil in paying quantities has ever been located—flow through central and lower Ontario. Geology proves it. Wells sunk—tests made—oil found—gas struck at Mariposa, Lakefield, Belleville, Indian River, Rice Lake, Port Hope, Colborne, Kerwood, prove it.

And because of what we've seen and know we've leased along these two branches of the Arctic Oil River more than 8,000 acres of land, richer in oil and gas than Cobalt, Porcupine and Gowganda are in silver and gold.

Years of field work—exploring, testing, drilling and proving—costing thousands of dollars have taxed the financial resources of the promoters.

To profit by the results of this work—purchase our own drilling equipment—take advantage of the discoveries made—sink wells where we know oil is—to tap the millions in liquid gold lying there waiting to be tapped and marketed, a small block of stock—50,000 shares—is being offered to the public at $2.00 a share through the Cowain Securities Corporation, fiscal agents for the Central Ontario Oil Fields, Limited.

Already—and we've hardly started—orders are coming in. That the whole block will be quickly oversubscribed is certain, for seldom has any oil company been organized with such painstaking thoroughness, such wonderful prospects of huge profits, and by men so well known and of such unquestionable integrity as the Central Ontario Oil Fields, Limited.

All orders for stock will be allotted in the order received, and the right is reserved to limit or refuse any orders received.

The books, affidavits and geological reports of the Central Ontario Oil Fields, Limited, and their properties, are at the office of the Cowain Securities Corporation and will gladly be shown at any time on request.

THE TORTURE OF INDIGESTION

Thousands Made Miserable By This Trouble

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Relieves It

What is Indigestion and what causes it? As you know, solid food must be changed into a liquid by the stomach before it can be taken up as nourishment by the blood.

The stomach acts as a churn. It is covered by a strong, muscular coat and lined with a soft, delicate membrane which secretes the Gastric Juice which digests or dissolves solid food.

When food enters the stomach, the muscular coat squeezes and presses the food from end to end, or churns it, with the gastric juice to dissolve or digest it.

But—if the stomach muscles are weak—or if the dissolving fluid is poor or insufficient—then food cannot be digested properly and you have Indigestion.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" is the most wonderful medicine in the world for strengthening the stomach muscles and providing an abundance of pure, full-strength dissolving fluid to completely digest every meal. "FRUIT-A-TIVES" does this because it keeps the kidneys active, the bowels regular and the blood pure, which insures pure Gastric Juice.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" will correct your Indigestion or Dyspepsia and enable you to enjoy every meal. Try it.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Business and Social Gathering of the Methodist Women—S. H. Lancashire Won Championship Cup.

NEWS PARAGRAPHS

MILLBROOK, Oct. 14. — The Women's Missionary Auxiliary of the Methodist Church met on Wednesday at the home of Miss Alice Stewart, the attendance being exceptionally good. The chair was taken by the President, Mrs. (Rev.) S. T. Tucker, Mrs. B. R. Raper read the Scripture lesson, Psalm 34, and Misses A. Hampton and Estelle Hetherington led in the opening prayer. After the reading of the minutes by the secretary, Mrs. C. W. Richard, the treasurer reported total receipts from the convention recently held here of $47.90, a donation of $2 was received, and a number of members paid their dues; one new member, Mrs. M. Sutton, was added to the roll. Heralds reported for the Watch Tower, and Miss P. Byam, in her usual clear and concise manner, gave an interesting and helpful synopsis of the first chapter of the new study book, "World Friendship, Inc." The President then brought up the question of whether or not the Auxiliary should continue to meet in the homes during the winter months, while everyone is delighted that the attendance each month has grown so large, it means rather too much for one member to entertain the gathering, the requires a large room for their accommodation. It was finally decided that two or three in one section of the town would unite in preparing for the meeting, either in the church parlors, or at one of the homes, whichever was deemed most advisable. Mrs. Mullen invited the Auxiliary to meet at her home for November, and Mrs. Lowes wished to have them in December; assistants were also arranged for. The annual Rest Fund offering will be taken up next month, $10 being the objective usually set as being a fair share to be raised here.

Miss Stewart served refreshments and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed at the close. After a hearty vote of thanks to the hostess for her hospitality, the meeting adjourned. Those present included: Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. W. H. Byam, Miss P. Byam, Mrs. W. Mullen, Mrs. A. J. Brown, Mrs. P. Stinson, Mrs. H. Johnston, Mrs. Luxon, Mrs. M. Byers, Mrs. B. R. Raper, Mrs. W. Larmer, Mrs. O. Williamson, Miss A. Hampton, Miss Trembeth, Miss Krieger, Mrs. Lowes, Mrs. M. Sutton, Mrs. T. Douglas, Mrs. Elmer, Miss M. E. Hetherington, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. E. Earle, Mrs. J. Weatherup, Miss E. Hetherington, Mrs. Bradley, Miss Burnham.

The many friends of Mr. Wilfrid Elson, 4th Line, Cavan, will be glad to learn that he is recovering, though slowly, from his recent severe illness.

Amongst those from here who motored to Peterborough on Friday to take in the ball game between Belleville and Hillcrests were: Mr. and Mrs. Russell Howe, Mrs. G. E. Burnham, Mrs. E. McConnell, Mrs. H. Nattrass, Mrs. R. H. Edmunds, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sayles, Mrs. Kenyon, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ball, Messrs. H. W. Johnston, H. Nattrass, C. Larmer and Ross Edmunds.

The Late S. Bateson.

The late Simeon Bateson, whose death occurred in Toronto last week after an illness extending over several months, was born in Millbrook sixty-three years ago, and was the sixth son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Bateson, being one of a family of twelve children, only four of whom still survive. His wife, who was Miss Maggie Sing, also of Millbrook, predeceased her husband about six years ago while with relatives in Detroit. For some years the late Mr. Bateson carried on a harness business here, removing about twenty-five years ago to Barrie where he had secured a position as travelling salesman with the Barrie Carriage Co., but for the past twelve years he had made his home with his nephew, Mr. Will Bateson, in Toronto; the latter was killed in action at the battle of Paschendaele during the Great War. Two years ago deceased was severely injured in an automobile accident, his right ankle being broken, and he has suffered with nervous trouble ever since, his death being probably directly attributable to the nervous shock sustained at that time.

The immediate surviving relatives are three sisters, Mrs. T. H. Bradley of Millbrook, Mrs. E. Bateson of Huntsville, and Mrs. Jane Davey of Cando, North Dakota, and one brother, the youngest of the family, James Bateson, of Ludington, Michigan. The pall-bearers included two former Millbrook friends, Messrs. J. D. Fair and C. Needler, a nephew, George Bateson, and three other friends, Messrs. King, Campbell and Williams, all of Toronto. Interment took place at Prospect Cemetery.

News Paragraphs.

Mrs. Dr. Greer, of Peterborough, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Smith on Thursday. Mrs. Smith returned with Mrs. Greer for a brief visit.

Miss Helena Needler, of Lindsay, who has been visiting her cousins, Mr. A. A. and Miss Etta Needler, here, for the past two weeks, returned home on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Byers of Atherly were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Luxon this week, Mrs. Byers remaining for a more extended visit, her husband returning on Tuesday.

Miss Trembeth, of Port Britain, was the guest of Dr. E. Gillott this week.

Miss Lillian Dallimore of Toronto is remaining for some time with her aunt, Mrs. J. Weatherup, and attending school here. Mrs. Weatherup has recently been visiting her sisters, Mrs. W. Scott, of Stratford, and Mrs. E. Dallimore, of Toronto.

Through a regrettable error in the prize list for the Millbrook Fair, which the secretary wishes to have corrected, George McKnight should have been listed as winning first prize in the special for boy drivers the name "Murney" having been mistakenly handed into the secretary instead of McKnight. The same error occurred in the special for pacers, the winner of second place being Mr. R. J. McKnight, though again "Murney" was the name given.

Mrs. N. Dunford, and two children, Robert and Norma, of Oshawa are visiting her sister, Mrs. Fred Smith, coming out on Fair Day and remaining over for a further visit this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Berry of Cavan, announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Helen Marie to Mr. J. Chester Fisher, son of the late Mr. Robert and Mrs. Fisher, of South Monaghan, the marriage to take place the latter part of October.

The next meeting of the Epworth League of the Methodist church will be held at the home of the social vice-president, Mrs. P. Stinson, on Monday, October 16th at 7.45 p.m. The programme will be a study of the life and works of James Whitcombe Riley, and a social good time will follow. Mrs. Stinson extends a cordial invitation to all Leaguers to be present on Monday evening.

There will be a general regret felt that Mrs. A. G. E. Westmacott, who has been absent since last spring visiting her sisters in the West, finds her health still so unsatisfactory that she will be unable to return to her home here this fall as had been anticipated. Mrs. Westmacott is at present with her sister, Mrs. Fowler, in Victoria, and will remain there for the winter months. Misses Rose and Jean Macnamara, with their cousin, Miss Olive Grant, of Orillia, spent a few days here this week making all necessary arrangements for the care of the house during the time it is to remain vacant. Miss Dixon, of Toronto, who has many friends here through her frequent visit with Mrs. Westmacott, is spending the winter in California.

At the 14th annual Field Day of the Port Hope High School, held last week, G. H. Lancashire won the boys' championship senior cup, with five firsts in shot put, hop step, and jump, standing broad jump half mile and 100 yard races, while William Needler was second with two firsts, running broad jump and pole vault, and two seconds, half mile and 100 yard races. Millbrook boys bring honor to their home town in the sports' line, and will doubtless do so in their studies as well; this is their first year in attendance at the Port Hope school.

Married—in Toronto, at St. Ann's church, on Saturday, September 30th by the Rev. Canon Skey, Florence M. Clarke to Walter D. Harkness both of Millbrook. At present Mr. and Mrs. Harkness are residing in Bowmanville.

THE UNITED STATES MUST SHORTLY TAKE A HAND.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).—The participation of the United States in an economic conference at some immediate future date seemed to be foreshadowed by utterances and reticences of officials here yesterday. The impression grows that the United States will not long be able to avoid taking part in some manner of international consideration of questions that have to do with the rehabilitation of the world. The hope is that in the settlement of the Near East question, European Powers will see their way to rectify some of the errors of the Sevres Treaty with which the United States has never been in sympathy, and that out of that new arrangement will come a condition that will make it possible for Washington to take part in a less hurried and more comprehensive session later.

STREET CARS FOR HOUSING

Being Despatched From Toronto to North Ontario Fire Sufferers.

TORONTO, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—The Northern Ontario situation yesterday continued to absorb not only the attention of various relief bodies that are so energetically working, but also much of the deliberation of the Ontario Cabinet Council while the former organizations were busy in the work of despatching to the north the old trailers and cars of the Toronto Railway Company for housing purposes. The latter body met in conference upon the situation.

As a result of its conclave it was announced that Ontario Fire Marshal E P. Seaton had been instructed to conduct a thorough investigation into the causes of the blaze that wrought such devastation.

The Fire Marshal has not as yet completed his arrangements for a probe, but it is undertsood that sittings will begin soon. It will be held at some central place in the north country, to which it will be convenient for all settlers to reach and volunteer evidence.

To Abolish Death by Banishing Fear

IT is man's primitive emotion of fear that shortens his life, according to the results of recent investigations in the realm of physiology. Banish fear, be brave and you may add an indefinite number of years to your short span of life. Such is the assertion of Arthur D. Reese, a biologist of Philadelphia.

Another investigator in the mysteries of the emotions is Prof. Walter B. Cannon of the department of physiology at Harvard University. This scientist says in a contribution to Harper's Magazine that "it was early recognized that there are states which we have in common with subhuman beings. Strong emotional outbursts seem to come from we know not where, and in times of terror or intense anger there is a surging up within us of forces of which in days of calm and comfortable living we have been quite unaware."

The reason for this, Prof. Cannon says, is that the source of the strong emotions in man and animals lies in a primitive part of the brain, independent of consciousness. Automatic responses from these can be regarded as racial and not individual habits, being handed down from parent to offspring and ingrained in the nervous system.

The close connection between this ancient portion of the brain and various organs of the body is maintained by the so-called "sympathetic" system, which governs the actions of these organs.

Dr. Gregory Stragnell of New York City says that everyone should want to live an unusually long life because one has greater mental gifts to offer the world as one grows older. But those offerings will be dimmed and tarnished, if they are not destroyed altogether, by fear.

"Fear shortens life, eventually results in lowered resistance and paves the way for infectious processes of all kinds," Dr. Stragnell says. "Fear lessens our abilities. When we fear we can't go ahead. We doubt ourselves and others."

But back in the prehistoric experiences of the human race fear must have had its origin in a high regard for the saving of one's own skin. Even now, according to Dr. Stragnell, "it is a protective reaction manifest in all forms of life."

Reproduction of a Mediaeval Engraving Picturing St. Anthony in a Single-Handed Combat with the Spirit of Death.

There are several curious aspects of this ancient dread that fastens on the human minds to halt and harry.

"There are five different ways in which fear affects the person it dominates," explains Dr. Stragnell.

"First, it takes the form of flight.

"Next is the fear shown by immobility—'rooted to the spot'—as people say.

"Circumvention, or avoidance, of the dreaded thing is another aspect of fear, and then there is a form that, in the late war, was called 'shell-shock.' That is the complete disintegration caused by terror. Not the 'frozen' fear that causes immobility, but a breaking down of the organism. That used to be called 'going to pieces' and existed long before the war.

"Combat is one of the most interesting phases of fear. It is a compensation to the inferior, and can be seen in the undersized contentious man who is over-aggressive and still so cowardly.

"After all, the most damaging element of fear is that it is the result of a conflict which continues 24 hours a day and which in turn causes lack of decision.

"Fear, too, leaves impressions. For instance, in the case of a child who had a 'scare' in early life, and later had an experience of similar pattern—he would have the same fright again, but the second attack of fear would be greater than the first. He would carry over the emotional qualities of the first shock, although he might have no actual memories of it.

"You see, the fear was an accumulated thing in this case, though the child's conscious memory had no record of the first unpleasant experience. Yet its content of emotion was automatically called to the surface.

"While the later fear might be out of all proportion to the stimulus that evoked it, in reality, the cause was not that stimulus alone, but all stimuli of a similar nature.

"Now the fears called up by certain stimuli, in turn, are able of their own accord to act as a stimulus to the thyroid, adrenal and other glands. These secretions cause mental conflict and tension in the cells, and thus lower resistance on the part of the fear-racked individual.

"I want to stress the fact that we are able now, by tracing back, to make the fear fit the situation. Terrors are often out of proportion to the thing at hand that 'caused' them. For the sake of self-preservation we have got to do this. We must free our emotions and be rid of fears.

"Too many people think of their existence on earth as a 'lease of life.' Don't regard it as a lease that is going to run out at a certain year. And don't feel reconciled to giving up life at a certain age."

In the opinion of Arthur D. Reese, the biologist, death is a matter of psychology and mentality and is simply a fear carried into effect.

"We are told," says this authority, "that we will probably die when we attain an age of somewhere between 50 and 70 years. We believe this and look forward all our lives to dying at that age. As we think, so we are. To live forever we must conquer the tendencies that destroy life."

Prof. Jean Finot of Berlin, who holds much the same opinion as Prof. Reese, says:

"One of the chief reasons why men die before reaching the age of 100 is the erroneous idea that 50 or 90 years is the extreme limit of longevity.

"Man must believe that he is a creation of nature, and in order to grow old, very old, must firmly believe in his own possibilities of longevity."

Prof. Finot claims, and bases his claims upon a scientific thesis, that it is possible for a man to reach the age of 150, and retain all his physiological and mental capacities.

The Blood of Animals Is Now Transfused Into Human Veins

WHEN, during the 17th century, the attention of the medical profession was first being directed to the possibility of blood transfusion, animals were invariably used as blood donors. The accounts written by these early experimenters contain clear descriptions of the symptoms produced in human beings by the transfusion of an incompatible blood, even the attendant haemogloginuria being noted. These untoward symptoms afterward led to the discrediting of transfusion as a therapeutic measure. During the 19th century, when the proceeding was being revived, further attention was given to the use of animals' blood, but only with the result that it was again discredited.

Recent advances in knowledge of the technique of blood transfusion has resulted in its more general use, but no attempt was made to revive the use of animals' blood with the addition of an anti-coagulant until the present year, when experiments were carried out at Bordeaux by Prof. Cruchet, who recorded them at the recent medical congress of the Royal Institute of Public Health at Plymouth. Prof. Cruchet first transfused small quantities of the blood of one kind of animal into the veins of another, transferences such as ox to rabbit, dog to rabbit, ox to dog, sheep to dog, and so on, being made. In about half of 13 such experiments, according to The London Lancet, the receiving animals suffered from symptoms, more or less severe, of shock resembling anaphylaxis, and five of the animals died. Nevertheless, Prof. Cruchet was encouraged by his results to suppose that animals' blood might safely be transfused into human beings. He accordingly administered sheep's blood to six of his patients, and he obtained exactly the same results as were recorded by his predecessors in the 17th century. He was content to give comparatively small quantities of blood, but sufficient to provoke the usual symptoms of poisoning which attend the introduction of a foreign protein into the circulation.

Prof. Cruchet records also the occurrence of haemoglobinuria in two patients and severe urticaria in one. In view of these results, Prof. Cruchet is, in the opinion of the Lancet, perhaps, somewhat bold in claiming that animals' blood may be safely substituted for human blood in transfusions. The transfusion of sheep's blood in a quantity such as is used in the treatment of hemorrhage and shock would undoubtedly result in the death of the patient.

Prof. Cruchet has, indeed, shown that some benefit, such as a rise in the number of red blood cells, may sometimes be noted in a debilitated patient who has been subjected to "protein shock" by the injection of animal's blood, but it may be questioned whether this form of shock has any advantage over that produced by the intravenous injection of peptone solution, as practised for some time by Dr. A. E. Gow.

In any case the dangers of the proceeding can scarcely be exaggerated, and the therapeutic use of animals' blood should only be practised with great circumspection. Modern refinements of knowledge concerning incompatible bloods and blood groups are apparently ignored by Prof. Cruchet when he advocates a return to the crude methods of three centuries ago.

Why You Should Not Cross Your Legs

ACCORDING to experts, your general health as well as your state of mind are influenced largely by the way you use your legs. Persons with irritable tendencies invariably acquire the habit of crossing the legs. For them to keep the legs parallel is to invite a feeling of uneasiness.

Brain-workers, too, find it easy to fall into the habit of crossing the legs. When overwhelmed with work, this is the favorite attitude. Engross them with important problems requiring initiative, and the legs unfold. This is because the best train of thought happens when the legs are thrust straight out.

Sitting with the legs crossed is also a frequent cause of obesity. If you wish to remain slim and possess a good figure, don't cross the legs. Instead, copy your cat, and stretch all you can.

Habitual "leg crossing" may interfere with one's sleep. Instead of lying at full length in bed, there is a marked tendency to huddle.

Then it is that the internal organs become cramped and their action retarded. Sound, refreshing sleep is checked, and you lie awake half the night. When it is time to arise, you feel you could sleep.

How Mountain SICKNESS Is Caused

INTEREST in mountain sickness has been recently stimulated by the discussions in the press regarding the recent expedition which attempted to reach the summit of Mount Everest, the highest peak of the Himalaya Range. It is a well-known fact that travelers ascending to high altitudes from a series of symptoms, varying in different individuals, but generally comprising shortness of breath, palpitation, prostration, and a disinclination for exertion; at still greater heights the symptoms may be more severe, and may include loss of appetite, nausea or vomiting, cramps, drowsiness, giddiness, a throbbing headache, loss of mental power, and great bodily exhaustion; occasionally there are hemorrhages from the nose, eyes, or mouth. All these symptoms, the London Lancet explains, are aggravated if the ascent be made in stormy weather, or when the air is saturated with moisture.

The causes of mountain sickness have been variously attributed to diminished barometric pressure, deprivation of oxygen, heart failure, or undue fatigue. A combination of these causes may operate at times, but most authorities are now agreed that the chief of these causes is deprivation of oxygen.

Considerable light has latelly been thrown upon the subject by Capt. R. W. G. Hingston, I. M. S., who, while attached to an expedition dispatched by the Survey of India to the Western Himalayas and the Pamir Plateau, made a series of careful and detailed observations, the result of which he has published in the Indian Journal of Medical Research under the title of "Physiological Changes at High Altitudes and Their Relation to Mountain Sickness."

This malady affects people in different ways and at different altitudes, but a person ascending from a low altitude to a high one can become acclimatized to the requirements of the greater height. Nature comes to the rescue by developing an increased number of red corpuscles to provide the body with additional oxygen-carriers to meet the altered circumstances of the rarefied air.

Mountain sickness, therefore, is associated with an insufficiency in the number of red blood corpuscles which are necessary at higher altitudes to convey oxygen to the tissues. When the ascent is slow and gradual there is a rapid manufacture of the corpuscles. At sea-level an ordinary person has, in round numbers, about five millions of these corpuscles in every cubic millimetre of his blood, and this number is sufficient to deal with the available oxygen, which at that level is about one-fifth of the air breathed. When, however, the traveler ascends to 7000 feet, the barometric pressure is reduced by about one-quarter, and the oxygen available is only three-quarters of the amount that was available at sea-level. When a height of 18,500 feet is reached, the available oxygen is halved, and it is calculated by Capt. Hingston that anyone arriving at the top of Mount Everest, which is 29,000 feet high, would only have at his disposal a third of the oxygen to which he had been accustomed at sea-level.

Are SNAKES Really Charmed by MUSIC?

THERE is no foundation in fact for the common belief that a snake can be "charmed" with music, according to Allen S. Williams, director of the Reptile Study Society of America. Mr. Williams bases his opinion on a series of experiments extending over a period of nearly 25 years.

"I have tried every sort of music," says Mr. Williams, as quoted in the Scientific American, "from a tin whistle with note holes in it to a symphony orchestra, and have used as subjects nearly every variety of snake, but have yet to note any response on the part of the reptile.

"Once with a very beautiful panther snake, which because of his red robe we called Richelieu, I thought I saw signs of response, so I laid him on top of the piano while I played. He looked at me steadily for a moment and then slipped off the piano and started for a mouse hole which had once yielded him prey."

In another experiment, Mr. Williams surrounded a violinist with more than 200 snakes. He noted no response to the music from any of them. The belief that snakes are responsive to music probably originated, Mr. Williams believes, from the East Indian fakirs.

These men play on a peculiar reed whistle, swaying their bodies as they play. A snake, usually a hooded cobra, erects its head from a basket before the player and sways with the rhythm of the music. The explanation, Mr. Williams says, is not in the music but in the swaying of the musician's body.

"The vision of all snakes," he says, "is very defective. It has been said that the boa constrictor cannot see as far as his own length. I believe that is an exaggeration, but my own experiments have shown me that the snake sees very little of form or color. The thing which most attracts him is motion. I have seen snakes violently startled by the flapping of a window curtain.

"In the case of the Hindu fakir, the snake follows the motion of the man's body trying to see what is before it, either because it fears the thing might harm it or may prove to be something good to eat.

"I have obtained about the same result with other snakes, with and without music, but the hooded cobra makes an especially good subject for this trick because it has the habit of 'sitting up' about one-third of its length.

"In fact the snake, if it had any emotions, would find them hard to express. A dog can wag his tail and actually laugh when he feels like it, but a snake cannot wink an eye for it has no eyelids. More intelligence is usually attributed to a snake, too, than it actually possesses. I believe it to have the least intelligence of the reptiles, both lizards and turtles being above it."

When Knees Become Ears

MANY of the "shrimps" that one sees in shops are prawns. You can tell one from the other by looking at the head. The prawn has a long sharp-pointed horn edged with teeth like those of a saw. The shrimp's horn is small and smooth. Prawns turn pink when they are boiled, but shrimps become brown in color.

The eyes of a shrimp are easy to see since they stand out on stalks, but you might search for some time if you wished to discover his ears, for he keeps them in a very odd place. They are in his knees! At the first joint of his first pair of legs, which by the way, are not used for walking, is a little bag which contains a minute drop of water, and this water-filled bag acts as an eardrum.

Are shrimps insects? The question is often asked by those who see these active little creatures alive for the first time. Insects have six legs, but the shrimp has no fewer than 24. He is a crustacean—first cousin of the crab, the lobster and the crayfish.

WHY the BOOMERANG RETURNS to the THROWER

WHY the boomerang returns to the thrower has long been a mystery even to scientific men, yet it is capable of very simple explanation when one has grasped the general principles of its remarkable flight. Nearly everyone has seen the conjuror on the stage flip cards out over the heads of the audience and make them return to him. Occasionally he does the same with Panama hats. The cards and the hats come back to the stage for precisely the same reason that the boomerang returns to the thrower.

Gyroscopic action is the underlying principle of the boomerang's return to the thrower, according to the explanation made by P. A. Vaile, writing in The Illustrated World. Every spinning thing, from a ball to a flywheel, strives hard to remain in the plane of its rotation.

The cards are sent away from the stage spinning, roughly speaking, in a plane at an angle of 45 degrees inclined upwardly. When they reach the apex of their flight, they would fall into the audience, were it not that they were spinning. They would, however, not fall straight down, for they are not heavy enough in proportion to their friction-producing surface. Therefore, they would, without spin, zig-zag down (Fig. 3), even as cards distributed from an airplane or coins dropped in water.

But the spin prevents them from zig-zagging, for it holds them in the one plane. As they are too light to fall straight downward, especially with the friction of the spin and movement on the lower side, there is nothing left for them to do but to slide back down the "bank" of compressed air underneath them, to the stage.

"The boomerang is sent away with very rapid rotation," says Mr. Vaile. "This converts it practically into a circular plaque of wood, of a diameter equal to the length between the two ends, as shown in Fig. 4.

"Now if one were to macerate a boomerang into wood pulp and convert the material into a wooden plaque, it would be useless as a missile, for its friction-producing surface would have been multiplied enormously in relation to its weight; but the rapid rotation makes the boomerang, in effect, similar to a card in its power of sustentation.

"Thus we see that the rapid rotation converts the curved piece of wood into what is actually a circular airplane.

"Obeying the usual laws of moving planes in the air, it rises to the apex of its flight when the engine power, that is, the force of the throw, is exhausted.

"The curve at the end of the flight is produced according to the general rules of swerve applicable to all moving circular bodies, namely, that the missile edges away from the side where the motions of progression and revolution conspire, or agree, toward the side where they differ, and therefore offer less friction to the flying body.

"The engine power has now been shut off and the plane has turned toward the thrower. There is obviously nothing left for it to do but to volplane back to the thrower in exactly the same manner as an airplane with a dead engine does. This, on account of the rapid rotation making it, in effect, a plane, it is enabled to do. Were the rotation to fail at the end of the flight it would be impossible for the boomerang to return and it would fall to the ground."

Fig. 1—Various Designs of Boomerangs. Fig. 2—Air Rushing Into the Vacuum Behind the Boomerang Causes the Missile to Rise. Fig. 3—Flight of a Revolving Card Which Strikes an Object, Causing It to Zig-zag to the Ground. Fig. 4—How the Rapid Rotation of a Boomerang Converts It Practically Into a Circular Plaque of Wood.

In the hands of an expert a boomerang can be thrown around a corner and will return to the spot from which it was thrown, so that the attacked party is unable to locate the assailant. But this boomerang is used solely for sport and amusement and not for fighting, as is generally supposed.

Such tales as the one which says that a boomerang can be made to sail into a flock of birds, chase them, kill a dozen, then return to the hands of the thrower, are absolutely erroneous, avers a London writer.

Stories of the necessity of the thrower turning his back to his target also are wrong. But the boomerang described, capable of such surprising twists and quirks, cannot be used in warfare.

The war boomerang, according to this English authority, is a totally different instrument. It is not so curved as the other. It is thrown directly at its target and it flies, hopping and skipping like a hoop, directly straight forward without curving or raising in the air. When it hits its mark, its terrific force is great enough either to kill or severely wound, but the boomerang does not then return. Having collided with its target it loses its motion and falls to the ground.

A Life-Giving Gourd

A LIFE-GIVING GOURD which grows in Madeira was described by Dr. Michael Grabham at a recent lecture in London. During the war, when German submarines cut off the food supply, Dr. Grabham induced the Madeirans to eat the pepinella, as they call this gourd, the scientific name of which is Sechium edule, and "saw on several occasions the sullen apathy of incipient starvation awaken into reviving animation under this potent influence."

"The Sechium," said Dr. Grabham, "is propagated by planting the one-seeded fruit entire, the whole gourd enlarging into a persistent superennial rhizome a foot or more in diameter and sending up annually, when well-established, 100 or more shoots to cover a trellis of enormous extent from whence hangs the small fruit in myriads. I know of no other such transmutation of the nutrient surrounding matter of a seed into the permanent tissue growth of the new plant."

In Madeira the pepinella is boiled as a favorite vegetable in the winter months, and has an agreeable nutty flavor, together with a great power of combining with fats.

MONTREAL, Oct. 14. — (Canadian Press.) — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday: Demand 4.4282. Cables 4.4307.

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.— (Canadian Press.)— The feature of the cash grain market yesterday was the strength in American corn and there was also some demand for Canadain western oats and barley. There was no change in the flour market. Trade in Manitoba bran with United States buyers yesterday was quieter owing to the lower prices being bid. Domestic trade was fair with prices unchanged. The rolled oats market was firm

In sympathy with weakness in foreign markets, the local market for baled hay was off, with prices down one dollar a ton.

The potato market was unchanged. Prices were down a further quarter cent to 3-4 cents per pound for butter. The undertone to the cheese market continues firm.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA,-Oct. 14.— (Canadian Press.) — Writing under date of September 30, an English importer states that "the political troubles in the south of Europe are no doubt affecting exports from those countries, because at present no export is allowed from Roumania and a reduced quantity is coming both from Poland and the Balkan States. It was expected by the trade generally that large shipments of eggs would be available from those parts and at low prices. The present position however, is a strong demand for Canadian eggs which is likely to continue, at any rate, for a few weeks further. After that everything will depend upon circumstances, so that it is difficult to give any correct estimates of what will take place. The main fact is that the present is a very good time for shipment of Canadian eggs. On today's market Canadian firsts sell at 20s to 21s Liverpool."

Toronto very firm, specials 50 to 55, extras fresh 45, extras storage 39 to 40, firsts 36 to 37, seconds 30.

Montreal specials higher, jobbing 52 to 53, retailing 60.

FAIR AT ROSENEATH LARGELY ATTENDED

BRIGHT MIDWAY

ROSENEATH, Oct. 14. — Between 1800 and 2000 people attended the Roseneath Fair yesterday, with a fine bright day that merged later into a frosty late afternoon. The enlarged grounds make a fine situation for the Agricultural Society's anual event, giving plenty of accommodation for stock exhibits and Midway, with a good wide half mile track.

The cattle showing as usual here, was very good, the long picket-fenced field enclosing over 150 entries, with Holsteins in the majority, and Herefords a close second. Above the average was the exhibits of horses, the agricultural class predominating, while sheep were fair, and hogs, though few in number, were good in quality. A tent held the poultry some 500 birds, with Curtis of Warkworth and Dr. Yea of Colborne, the largest exhibitor.

There was particularly fine fancy work on view in the hall devoted to women's exhibits, the embroidered articles in particular being exceptionally well done.

Intricate pieces in drawn work, in crochet, in shadow embroidery, in colored silks or linen, alternated with excellent specimens of piece-work quilts, with oil and water colors, hand-painted china and examples of pen painting. There were dainty beaded and silk bags, knitted sweaters, rag mats and home made cooking, in bread, pastry and canned fruit, and vegetables, with several beautifully dressed fowl.

An open sided section at the rear of this building held grains and vegetables, with monstrous onions, pumpkins and potatoes. A raised stand at one end held flowers, ferns and foliage.

Bright Little Midway.

There were a dozen or more booths and shows on the bright little midway, where the Women's Institute of Roseneath, which also served hot meals in the village hall for the occasion had a booth for sale examplesc urtainodoj -1 of fancy and useful articles, Sparling and Reesor of Cobourg, had a good showing of Ford cars, and D. McMillan of Roseneath was showing De Laval milkers and separators.

Baby Show

A baby show was in progress in a large tent, Dr. J. A. McDonald of Hastings, acting as judge. The same two babies that tied for first place at Norwood fair on Wednesday met here with the same result, the babies of Mrs. B. McNeely of Norwood and of Mrs. W. A. Shearer of R. R. No. 2, Hastings, dividing first honors, a result which led to a great deal of speculation as to the fair and equitable division of the first and second prizes for babies under nine months of age; a child's Chinese rocker worth $8.50 and $5 in cash. The baby of Mrs. Will Linton won third prize. For babies of over nine and under fifteen months, the prize went to little Helen Kellog.

The Dog Show

A novelty which attracted a good deal of attention was the dog show comprising half a dozen hounds and three setter pups and six or seven collies. The hounds were pronounced extra good specimens of their kind.

The child of the district schools gave a very pretty drill in the afternoon, the little girls in white dresses with pink paper rosettes in one section, with green and yellow bandoliers in the other, the little boys with decorations of red, white and blue.

The Alderville band and the Indian band from Chemong, the former in bright red uniforms, the latter in dark blue suits with brass buttons dispensed excellent music during the afternoon. Accompanying them were a number in full Indian regalia of feathered head-dresses and tufted trousers.

Races in the different classe resulted as follows:—Class A, ($50, $35, $25 won by Hazel H. owned by E. Jones, Peterboro, with Sunny Jim, —George Caldwell, Port Hope, second and Polly Stout, —R. Elmhirst, Indian River, third. Dr. Johnston's gray horse, Roy Mack, tied with Polly Stout at the end of the third heat.

In Class B, ($40 $25, $15), Darky Tod, owned by M. Storey of Peterboro won with Harry H.—Dr. Johnston, Port Hope second and Lloyd George—E. Jones Peterboro third. Frank McCarrahan, owned by C. Fife, of Keene, also ran.

Class C ($25, $15, $10), was won by Sy Winger, owned by R. Elmhirst of Keene, against City Princess —W. Elmhirst, Keene, second, and Kitty Wilkes-Lloyd Hess, Hastings, third. A. L. Patchen owned by J. McIntosh Cobourg also ran.

The judges were Messrs. J. Thomas of Colborne and Chas. Moyes of Port Hope. F. M. Slade, Roseneath, starter and B. Blodgett Roseneath, timer.

The prizes of (1) 100 lbs. Reindeer flour, (2) 50 lbs flour, (3) 25 lbs. flour, offered by the Peterboro Cereal Company for the best loaf of bread and dozen buns, were won by Mrs. W. Blodgett, Mrs. Baxter, and Mrs. Bruce Spears of Roseneath

The Peterboro Cereal's Company's prize of 50 lbs Delight pastry flour for best collection of cakes baked from this flour went to Mrs. J. A. Brown of Roseneath.

Avoid Heart Trouble

A large percentage of the people suffering from heart troubles have themselves to blame. When the kidneys are in a healthy condition they will quickly remove any impurities and other poisons from the system. When the kidneys become clogged or irritated in any way these poisons which should have been carried away remain in the circulation, and in passing through the valves and chambers of the heart frequently cause valvular trouble and other ailments. Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills will remove this trouble and keep the kidneys in a healthy condition and improve the system in general.

GREEKS UNWILLING TO OPPOSE ALLIED TROOPS

ADRIANOPLE, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Evacuation of Greek troops from Eastern Thrace under terms of the armistice signed by the Allied Powers and Turkish Naationalists at Mudania was due to begin to-day in accordance with a formal order issued by Greek military headquarters here. The Greek officers are making an effort to maintain discipline among their troops, so as to carry out the evacuation without disturbing incidents. The sentiment in favor of resistance has been largely modified by the announcement of the pending arrival of 5,000 allied troops, as the Greeks are unwilling to oppose the allies, although they might have made a determined stand against Turkish soldiers.

NEW FLOOD OF REFUGEES EXPECTED NEXT WEEK

MITYLENE, Oct 14. — (Canadian Press.)—A new flood of refugees is expected early next week from the cities of Southern Anatole. This district was controlled by Turkish Nationalists throughout their war with the Greeks, and Christian and Moslem populations lived in close proximity without serious friction. Now however, all women, children andold men have been given seven days to leave the country, while men of military age are to be taken into the interior by the Turks. Adalia and Makri are the most important coast towns affected

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.— (Canadian Press.)— Active buying which appeared to be largely for seaboard account had much to do yesterday with bringing about higher prices for wheat. The market closed firm at 1-4 to 1 cent net advance with December 1.09 5-8 to 1.09 3-4, and May 1.10 5-8 to 1.10 3-4. Corn gained one to 1 3-8 cents, oats 3-4 to 7-8 to 1 1-8. In provisions there was a net decline of twenty to twenty-five.

The Only Asphalt Shingle That Is Tapered

Winthrop Tapered Shingles are the only tapered asphalt shingles manufactured. They have three outstanding features that make them a perfect roofing:

1—They are the big butt shingles—the only asphalt shingle that gives a shadow line, which so improves the appearance of a roof—something architects have long wanted in Asphalt Shingles.

2—They are scientifically constructed. They are tapered. Being thicker at one end than the other, the butt of the shingle overlapping lies flat on the upper part of the shingle in the row below. No rain or snow can accumulate underneath—wind cannot get under them and blow them off.

3—Being tapered extra thickness and weight are distributed where extra thickness and weight are needed—in the part exposed to the weather.

We have obtained a special license to manufacture these shingles under the brand

Brantford Winthrop Tapered Asphalt Slates

Quality of materials and production methods are of the usual high Brantford Roofing standard.

Brantford Winthrop Tapered Asphalt Slates are made from carefully selected Felt saturated and coated with a special blend of asphalts. Real quarried, crushed slate, in its natural colors (red or green or blue black) is embedded into and encrusted on them while the asphalt is hot. They are unaffected by climate. The colors are permanent, and never need staining. They are highly fire-resistant and they are tapered.

Distributed under Brantford Roofing trade marks, through Brantford Roofing Dealers. Stock carried, information furnished, service rendered by our dealer in your district.

Write for our valuable history of roofing "Shelter." On every page is a photograph of a different kind of a roof, in a different part of the world. It will be mailed free to responsible parties.

Crime in the Dominion

By DR. J. G. SHEARER

Statistics of crime are always of widespread public interest. They are of special interest at the present time in Canada by reason of their bearing on the question of the effects of prohibition and of Government sale of liquor. Extremists on both sides are liable to quote what suits them, and reject the others. A representative of "Social Welfare" has had access to the statistical abstract now on file at the Judicial Branch of the Bureau of Statistics. The full Blue Book will not be off the press for some time.

Canada's returns for 1921 show an increase in both indictable and non-indictable offences. There is an increase of 953 or 5.3% in indictable offences over 1920. In non-indictable offences the increase is 13,459 or 9.5%. The increase is due in considerable measure to new laws, creating new offenses. It is well, therefore, to look at the figures in more detail.

The whole group of indictable offenses against the person, i.e., serious crimes such as murder, manslaughter, rape, assault, bigamy, procuring for immoral purposes, etc., show a decided decrease in occurrence, though an increase in convictions was also secured—a healthy condition. Of certain crimes in this whole group, charges for non-support of family show a decrease of practically 20%, while murder, rape, and manslaughter, particularly murder and rape show considerable increase. Burglary, banditry, robbery and like crimes, also show a considerable increase in volume. This no doubt, is due in considerable measure to the extensive and heavy unemployment and business depression.

A similar increase is shown in crimes without violence against property such as theft, embezzlement, false pretenses, doubtless due to the causes above cited, but malicious offences against property are marked by a slight decrease. There is a slight increase in forgery and offenses against the currency. Illicit still shows a decrease though comparatively small both in offenses charged and in convictions, so that the people who speak of wholesale prevalence of moonshine in Canada must face the disquieting figure of only 2.7 illicit stills for every 100,000 of population in 1921.

Convictions for drunkenness decreased 5,407 or approximately 14%—the total convictions for drunkenness for the year being 34,562 or 4 per 1,000 of population, as compared with 1911 when there were 41,379 or a rate of 6 per 1,000 population. Offences against liquor, prohibition and temperance acts show an increase of only 213 in a total of 10,460, which total is 1.5 per 1,00 of population.

Charges of general outlawry, disrespect for laws and waves of crime cannot survive beside the columns of Canada's official records of offenses against her laws. As has been seen, the offenses against liquor laws have shown a slight increase. Those against her Vehicles Acts and her Income Tax regulations show a considerable increase due to new laws having come into operation. The whole volume of offenses in 1921 arising from drunkenness, violation of liquor laws, etc., amounts to 5 per 1,000 of population, the rate for 1911 being 6.4 per 1,000. The entire volume of crimes for all offenses for the year was 182,647 or roughly, 21 per 1,000 of population, and as we have seen, of these 5 per 1,000 were for offenses relating to drunkenness and non-observance of liquor laws.

This, impartial readers will admit, is not abnormal. The corresponding figure for 1911 are 17.5 per 1,000 and 6.4 respectively. The increase from 1901-11 was 7%. That for 1911-21, 3½%.

Offenses against motor regulations total 33,641, or 3.8 per 1,000 of population, as compared with 34,362 breaches of liquor laws.

These statistics show also that the claim that the going into effect of prohibition as compared with licence or government sale results in the people taking to the use of drugs, is not well founded. Offenses against the drug laws after decisive strengthening of the laws themselves, and more vigorous enforcement hereof, totalled 1443, an increase of only 13 or less than 1%. These offenses represent roughly 16 per 100,000 of population. British Columbia always heads the list in this column which is in considerable measure doubtless due to her large proportionate Oriental population. The figures supplied by the Federal Department of Health for the year ending September 30th, 1921, by Provinces, are as follows:

Nova Scotia, 2; New Brunswick, 29; Quebec, 352; Ontario, 312; Manitoba, 36; Saskatchewan, 170; Alberta, 162; British Columbia, 801.

Oriental population can hardly explain Quebec's record as contrasted with Ontario with over half a million more of population. In any case, the opponents of prohibition in the face of the official figures cannot defend the statement that the prohibition of liquor results in increase of the use of drugs.

Offenses against the law regarding the keeping and patronizing of houses of ill fame total 4,158, or 47 per 100,000 which shows a decrease from the year 1911 with a rate of 108 per 10,000 when very high figures in this group were reached.

One gratifying fact of the returns is a decrease of 1.6% in the volume of offenders under sixteen years of age, which suggests that the allegation of a "wave of juvenile delinquency" has been exaggerated.

We may have a further report to make when the full returns are received and studied.

DECORATING A HOME

FAMED EXPERT BARES HER SECRETS

By MARIAN HALE.

Many women have demonstrated their abilities as interior decorators, but Mrs. Emott Buel has gone a step further and is now designing stage rooms.

Her latest efforts in this direction are shown in "Fools Errant," a Broadway production. The interiors she desgned have so much character with so little apparent effort, and such balance and simplicity, that one's first impulse is to ask: Why can't we get such effects in our homes?

So I went to see Mrs. Buel, in her studio full of antiques and bits of loveliness gathered all over the world, and put the question to her.

"It is much easier to get beautiful effects in a home than on the stage," she assured me. "It is not what you spend, but how you spend it that makes a successful room.

Study Rooms First.

"In decorating I always study the rooms carefully and form a mental picture of how the place should look as a whole and build it as a whole. I keep my values right and eliminate when necessary. That's my system.

"The first thing to consider is the exposure of the rooms—dark rooms or those facing on a court, need to be decorated in bright colors—deep yellows, bright blues, or that Italian yellow-pink. Sunny rooms need to be softened with neutral colors.

"Plain walls are by far the easiest to work with, paneled ones should not be attempted without being most carefully planned. Unless one particularly wants the effect of a low ceiling, one should avoid drop ceilings, wide moldings and wainscots that break the lines and take away from the simple dignity.

MRS. EMOTT BUEL.

"If a house has these defects they may be remedied by keeping the same tone woodwork, wall and molding all the

"If one has very ugly furniture—and sometimes we do have—this fact may be rendered less obvious, by doing the walls in a very lovely color or in a figured pattern that will draw attention to its own beauty and keep one's eyes away from the badly designed chairs.

"In a room where much figured material is being used and where there are many colorful objects to be used, the walls should be of an inconspcuous color and the hangings subdued.

"Many rooms are ruined by a bad floor treatment. Conspicuously new hardwood floors, yellow and shiny, often throw a whole room out of key. They should be mellowed down to a dark, inconspicuous tone.

"Windows are most important. Some of the most effective curtains, however, are also the cheapest. One of the most beautiful homes on Long Island has a fascinating room in which a yellow figure, bound with brght blue glazed chintz.

Sateen Curtains.

"Plain sateen makes beautiful curtains and so does plain tarleton. Two shades of tarleton give changeable effect that is charming.

"If the pictures do not harmonize with a room it is better to eliminate them entirely. If you have the courage to keep out of a room the things that do not harmonize, even if they are beautiful in themselves, you have the material from which a successful decorator is made.

"Brackets with ivy or flowers are as effective as pictures—and that brings me to flowers. No room is perfect to me without them—it is like a woman without a smile. Flowers add simplicity to a formal room and lend a grace to a simple one.

DOCTORS AMAZED AT WONDERS DONE BY NEW MEDICINE

Your complexion is not clear, you have pains between the shoulder blades, yo nare constipated, have no energy, no appetite, headaches, rheumatism, indigestion, etc. These are all the well-known signs that your liver is out of order and is not excreting bile into the bowels, thereby causing all these pains and aches.

Doctors will tell you that 90 per cent. of the people who come to them for treatment have trouble due directly to the Liver. It is simple when you stop to think about it. When your Liver becomes inactive and fails to pour Bile into the intestines, your system is unable to excrete the waste, then the blood begins to distribute this waste throughout the whole system, striking at the weakest organ. Until this Liver trouble is overcome, you cannot expect to have perfect health, and life to you will be a drudgery.

Doctors recommend that you take one Tanol Calomel about fifteen minutes before each meal, and you will wake up the next morning feeling tip-top. No seidlitz, salts or castor oil are necessary to eliminate the Calomel, as it is self-eliminating.

Tanol Calomel is quickly assimilated by the system, and begins to act soon after taking. It has no bad effects, as nausea, sick headaches, griping, etc., but acts very mild and smoothly, causing a natural elimination of the waste poison, making you look and feel bright, alert, vigorous, and vivacious again.

Tanol Calomel is sold by F. C. Weber, Charlotte Street.

RUSSIAN REFUGEES BACK TO HOMELAND.

Fled Abroad From Bolshevism, Now Returning Home.

SEBESCH, RUSSIA, Oct. 14—(Associated Press).—Russians who fled abroad from Bolshevism in the early days of the revolution and who have since found life in the refugee colonies of Paris, Berlin, London and Prague, a constant struggle to keep their heads above the water in uncongenial foreign surroundings, are returning home in constnatly increasing numbers.

At the same time, the Soviet regime is banishing other Russians from the country, for one reason or another, and the two streams of humanity meet daily at this Russian-Latvian frontier station. Approximately 150 college professors, publicists and other intellectuals, have lately been sent out of Russia charged with underground secret political activity against the Soviet government, or they were unable to reconcile themselves to the development of the Communistic system and were, therefore, of no assistance to Russia. Often the returning exile and the new exile have a few moments here to recite experiences or express hopes for the future.

Much as they may rant against the present government, many of these latest exiles, when ordered out of the country, have displayed the greatest emotion and expressed the hope that they would be allowed to stay.

The returning Russians generally seem happier than those going out. Some of them have seen that life abroad has become increasingly difficult for Russians recently, and they much prefer again to cope with the hardships at home than to continue the struggle in foreign lands where governments are not sympathetic.

Among the most recent of the returning Russians were several who had occupied important diplomatic posts abroad during the Czaristic and Kerensky regime. The Russians now being exiled abroad cannot return home for three years, according to the provisions of the new banishment decree.

Homesickness for their native steppes is the reason advanced for the efforts of some thirty thousand Don Cossacks, now refugees in Czechoslovakia and elsewhere, who are seeking permission to return to Russia. They have sent General Gniloryboff, who was a member of the government of the Don Cossack republic which fought the Soviet power, to Moscow to negotiate conditions for their return. They fled from Russia during the civil war.

SEVEN DEATHS FROM FEUD

GUANAJAY, CUBA, Oct. 14—(Associated Press).—Seven killings in three years have marked the Sanchez-Carache feud which the authorities have announced must be ended if it require the imprisonment of every remaining member of the two families. The latest fatalities from the feud occurred when Felix Carache shot Batilde Sanchez—and then himself. The shooting was the outgrowth of a duel last February in which Juan Sanchez, Batilde's brother, killed Felix' brother, Luis.

BERLIN PAPER THIEVES STRIP CITY OF POSTERS

BERLIN, Oct. 14—(Associated Press) Bill-board strippers constitute a new type of thief on Berlin's police blotter. Due to the increased value of waste-paper, the plundering of street advertisements has set in.

The thieves work at night, and so far have confined their activities mainly to the round poster pillars which dot the city's thoroughfares, adorned with varicolored bills advertising theatres, restaurants, dance halls, etcetera. One young man was found to have torn down 50 kilograms of old paper and stored it at home for future sale.

SOVIETS CONCERNED AT LIBERAL GROWTH.

Campaign to Crush Bourgeoisie Psychology.

MOSCOW, Oct. 14—(Associated Press The Soviet regime is now waging a campaign to crush what it terms "bourgeoisie psychology," or the ideas of individual wealth and freedom from state interference. These have again sprung up in Russia as result of development of the new economic policy.

This psychology, speakers at the recent Communist party conference declared, is the most dangerous enemy of the ultimate success of Communism in Russia. It was pointed out that, since a measure of freedom of trade was restored, many Russians came to the conclusion that bourgeoisie and democratic ideals were again about to reign in Russia.

The Communists are determined that such ideals shall not be allowed to grow, and declare that the present leeway allowed to capitalism in Russia is merely a temporary step, opportunely utilized by the Bolshevik regime in the direction of the goal of communism to be reached in years to come.

This insistence on stamping out "bourgeoisie psychology" led recently to the exile of more than 150 Russian intellectuals who, while not actively opposing the Communist regime, nevertheless were unable to think along Communistic lines.

One Moscow university professor, exiled abroad, declared the Communists now are endeavoring to force a monopoly on thought, as well as a political monopoly upon Russia.

ELEVATORS ARE NOT CONGESTED

REGINA, October 14 (Canadian Press). — While the country elevators on the Canadian Pacific Railway lines in the three Western provinces have a total of 70,000,000 bushels, they only contain between 21,000,000 and 22,000,000 bushels at the present time, said Charles Murphy, of Winnipeg, general manager of the Western lines, last night.

Mr. Murphy quoted these up to the minute figures in support of his statement that the country elevators are not congested with grain.

Continuous Dividends ensure more Telephones

To-day, 7,500 Bell Telephone stockholders receive our cheques for their regular quarterly dividend.

For over 36 years without interruption these cheques for dividends on our stock at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum have gone regularly to our shareholders.

We must pay our shareholders for the use of the capital they entrust to us, just as we pay employees for their labor.

Why stress this point about the regularity of the dividend?

New capital for extension of our system can be attracted only by an assured and adequate return. Our continuous outlay of this new capital is the only means by which applicants for new telephones can get the service they need.

For the first eight months of 1922 we have provided the facilities—buildings, switchboards, poles, wire, cable, instruments—that have enabled us to install more than 52,000 telephones. We are making every effort to overtake and anticipate demand.

Ireland Training Women Political Leaders For World, Says Rebel Nurse

By MARIAN HALE.

We may look to Ireland to supply the women who will carry on the feminist movement and lead women in politics.

This is the opinion of Linda Kearns, nurse, soldier, hunger striker, escaped prisoner and loyal Irish Republican, who is now in America with Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney, widow of the late mayor of Cork.

These two women plan to cover this country soliciting funds for the widows and orphans of the Irish Republicans.

"Irish women will take an interest in politics because Irish politics these days makes everyone take an issue. It makes people think," she explained.

"In Dublin today there are 3,000 men in jail and their dependents have nothing. Their wives and children are doing some pretty desperate thinking.

Girls Do Men's Work.

"Women realize the necessity of being able to take care of themselves. Girls are forced, and have been for the last few years, to do what was regularly considered a man's work.

"Our girls are learning to drive cars and handle machinery as well as cook and sew. In self-defense they must know what is going on and what is likely to happen. They must know how to exercise their wits, too.

"This sort of schooling is hard, but it gets results. It's going to make leaders and patriots and thinkers of our women."

Miss Kearns' experiences sound like an exciting chapter from the life of a feminist soldier of fortune. For the last six years she has lived a life of danger and thrills that have not in the least daunted her Irish spirits or put any damper on her infectious laughter.

LINDA KEARNS.

Nursing Too Tame.

She trained to be a nurse, but that was quite too tame for her. From 1916 to 1920 she served with the Flying Column until she was taken a prisoner by the Black and Tans.

Sentenced to 10 years in jail, she began a hunger strike with cat and mouse tactics—that is, stayed in jail without food until she became so weak she was taken to a hospital, then recovered sufficiently to be taken back to jail.

This went on for about seven months, then she escaped from jail by scaling a 35-foot wall. Hhree thousand pounds was offered as a reward for her capture.

Is Dispatch Carrier.

She joined the Republicans and acted as dispatch carrier between Michael Collins and the west of Ireland. Of Collins she says he never once missed an appointment, nor was he ever late.

Carrying guns and messages to the Republicans gave her some thrilling escapes. Once when her machine was loaded with guns she had difficulty fixing it and some English soldiers came along and repaired the damage.

MRS. MURIEL MacSWINEY.

"So I just sat on the seat, under which the guns were stored, and amused them while they worked on the car," she explained.

With Mrs. MacSwiney, Miss Kearns plans to lecture and speak throughout the country in behalf of De Valera and the Republicans.

DON'T WASTE STALE BREAD

By Bertha E. Shapleigh.

The war taught us many things, perhaps the one most needed in the home was not to waste bread.

Bread is surely the staff of life and every people on earth has some kind of bread. To the highly civilized man, "white" bread is a necessity.

In cities, comparatively few house keepers bake their own bread. Much is left over from the bought loaf, and it is the left-over bread which we are to consider.

There is the "soft stale" bread, which later becomes hard and dry. The first is, of course, used largely for toast, which may be buttered or creamed.

Cut It In Strips.

The slices may be cut in strips or cubes after toasting, and be served with soup. Tiny dice of bread may be fried with onions and fat, and cooked with milk and water for an excellent soup.

Often the toast is used for a garnish. Cut a slice of toast across cornerwise and dip the points in melted butter and chopped parsley.

Bread Pudding.

Then there are the bread puddings! Sometimes they are so poorly made one dreads to suggest a bread pudding, lest one recalls a poor desert by that name and refuse to try another.

But a bread pudding well made is one of the best desserts. First, there is the "bread and butter" pudding—then the plain pudding made with crumbs.

This is varied by adding raisins and currants, stewed fruit, or by caramelizing the sugar used in it, or by adding melted chocolate or cocoa.

Then a more elaborate dessert is called queen's pudding or cold cabinet pudding. The first has the top of the baked head pudding covered with jelly and a meringue. The second is combined with fruit, canned or fresh, and often has stale cake in its makeup.

How to Use Crumbs.

Stale bread crumbs are used in preparing all kinds of scalloped dishes, and as a top covering in dishes "au gratin." Bread crumbs are used in nearly all stuffings, either alone with seasonings or combined with meat.

Dried, rolled and sifted, they are used for coating croquettes, meat and fish alone with seasonings or sauted.

Soft, stale crumbs are used for thickening purposes and become, when cooked in milk or stock, the foundation for timbales and souffles.

The dark brown crust would best be removed from the slice, leaving the bread white to take a golden color when baked, toasted or fried.

This dark brown crust need not be thrown away, but used with other crumbs for making a chocolate or special pudding where the color will not show.

Soft bread crumbs may be used for thickening sauces, one-fourth cup taking the place of one tablespoon of flour.

After the sauce has cooked and thickened, strain it, rubbing all the bread through the sieve.

THE BLACK SHEEP FAILED TO QUALIFY.

English Substitute Cause of Jockey Losing Race.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—(Associated Press). Gaurisankar, three-year old son of Sardanapale, Grand Prix winner in 1914, who made the journey from Maisons-Laffitte to Doncaster and started in the St. Leger, is a social thoroughbred who dislikes to be alone even when travelling.

His favorite companion is a jet black sheep, and the latter went off with the son of Sardanapale on his trip to England Arriving at Boulonge, Wallace Davis, Gaurisankar's American trainer, was informed that owing to the embargo against the importation of sheep into England, the thoroughbred's pet could not land at Dover.

Davis thereupon sent the following cable to his agent at Dover: "Buy black sheep at once, meet us at pier with him." While entertaining some doubts as to his employer's sanity, the agent went out to look for a black sheep, succeeded in locating one, and met the party at the boat.

Gaurisankar immediately took a fancy to the English black sheep, all black sheep looking alike to him, whether British or French. The sympathy was not mutual, however, and the patriotic English sheep did not show any inclination to pal with this French invader coming with the intention of capturing one of the classics of the English turf. He was surly and noisy. He got on Gaurisankar's nerves, and the animal was in a high state of excitement when unloaded at Doncaster.

Winkfield, the American negro jockey from Kentucky, brought his mount through the stretch with a rush after a poor start, finishing fourth.

"Tis all due to that blasted, bleating English sheep," he said, "Had we had our regular mascot we might have won the race."

MILD WEATHER RETARDS TRADE

Movement in Ladies' and Men's Wear Slow—Very Few Business Failures

WINNIPEG, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).—The weekly trade report issued by the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association, Limited, is summarized as follows:

In the Maritime Provinces, wholesale trade continues to be about the same, and there is little improvement in retail business. Collections improving.

In Montreal, wholesale trade is improving steadily, especially hardware; manufacturing trade is also a little better than formerly. Retail business is improving rapidly. Collections somewhat better but there is much yet to be desired.

Toronto reports conditions in the wholesale and manufacturing trades to be much the same. In retail trade the weather has not been conducive to quick movement of ladies' and men's wear, and this, of course, has had some effect on the manufacturers of that particular line, more especially with respect to winter styles. Boot and shoe trade quiet. Building hardware shows a good deal of activity; no real improvement in collections.

Winnipeg: Wholesale trade about the same. Dry goods report fair orders coming in; hardware steady; boots and shoes fairly active; groceries good. In the retail trade, however, conditions are far from being satisfactory, principaliy accounted for by the continued fine weather. Collections have not yet really started.

Regina: Wholesale trade here is brisk, but retail trade is still slow, though prospects much better. Collections are just beginning to come in.

Saskatoon: Wholesale and retail trade is only fair and collections are just starting; in the meantime are none too good.

British Columbia: Wholesale dry goods report a fair volume of business; hardware sales keep up well. Boots and shoes about the same as last week. Groceries seem affected by uncertainty as to marketing of apple crop, and low prices being offered for cattle is slowing down country business. In the retail, dry goods are quiet; groceries fair; hardware quiet in city but improving in country; boots and shoes only fair. Collections reported just about fair. The logging business shows signs of improvement.

Business failures for this week have been the fewest for the year.

LLOYD GEORGE

hand and God gives me strength to use it I will do so."

SIR CHARLES' WARNING.

Continuing his dealing with the Near Eastern situation, the Prime Minister said:

"Sir Charles Harington warned us that there were from 15,000 to 20,000 armed Turks inside Constantinople."

The premier told of the steps that had been taken to control the situation around Constantinople.

"We received a message from the French Government," he said, "that if either the Greeks or the Turks invaded the neutral zone they would have to be resisted by force of the allies. We accepted htat. We thought that they meant it.

NO USE BLUFFING.

"It's no use trying to bluff a first-rate fighting animal," continued Mr. Lloyd George. "It's always a mistake to threaten unless you mean it. The Turks knew we meant it; and that is why we have peace."

At one point in his speech Lloyd George declared:

"There has been speech after speech to intolerable abuse, and I am told to bear it like a Christian. But there are too many people about the world who think it is the business of Christians to be massacred by Turks or pro-Turks. I'm not that sort of Christian."

HE LOVES FREEDOM.

A little further on the Prime Minister said:

"If there is to be a change, there is no man who would welcome it more than I. I have had a long spell and a very hard one. I love freedom. There are a lot of things I want to say."

"No one knows better than Lord Grey,' the Prime Minister went on, that in international affairs there are factors over which you have no control. It is better, therefore, to be charitable to others. It's no use throwing stones at people who are doing their best to work through difficulties. I didn't improvise the policy. I inherited it. The agreements were entered into before ever I became Prime Minister. I am not blaming anybody for anything in which I do not take part myself.

"We have had to recast our policy. We have made the best of it and we have succeeded"

This statement by the Premier was after he had turned to home policies, a subject on which the whole Empire was awaiting his pronouncement He asserted there were "die-hards," (the ultra Conservatives) on both sides. "There are some who would like to make me a die-hard, and soon."

After expressing his love of freedom and saying no one would welcome a change more than he, the Prime Minister added: "Three years ago I was anxious to go out and begged Mr. Bonar Law to take the office. He declined. I never sought the position. I never wished to retain it, but I will serve my country in any capacity."

"It will be an experiment," to see the work of others. That is one of the joys I have in store. I have many friends among the Conservatives and Liberals and I cast myself on the people whose cause I have never betrayed during thirty-two years of public life."

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED.

You are careful to see that your dining table is always well appointed. The silver should always be carefully polished, the glasseware shining and the linen spotless.

It is much easier to give a successful dinne ror luncheon, if one is sure that all the appointments are attended to, so that one may devote one's attention entirely to the guests and their pleasure.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE.

Among Bulgarian brides the trousseau is most important. A girl is not considered eligible for matrimony until she has a "hope chest" well filled.

All the articles must be handmade, and the linens and materials should be hand-woven. There is a superstition against machine work of any sort. It is supposed to bring sorrow.

Snowy white without boiling

THAT dull, grey, streaky look that you always had to boil out of your clothes is never there when you use Rinso. It soaks the dirt, softens it, loosens it so thoroughly that it all runs away in the rinsing, leaving the clothes sweet, snowy-white and fresh as new.

It's because Rinso is the new, modern scientific washing preparation that works in an entirely new way. It washes by soaking. It is altogether different from ordinary soaps and washing powders. So, it should be used differently. Do not pour Rinso itself into the tub. Make your Rinso liquid first, as per directions.

IF YOU USE A WASHING MACHINE

Soak your clothes in the Rinso suds as usual—for one hour, two hours, overnight, or whatever time is convenient. Then add more Rinso solution and work the machine. Rinse and dry—you'll have a clean, sweet, snow-white wash.

CHOICE OPTIONS OF FALL BULBS.

All ladies in the city will be particularly pleased to know that the Horticultural Society has orranged for a choice of specially attractive options of fall bulbs for those who wish to become members of the society at the present time.

The society has now a membership of 492, and it is particularly anxious to secure at least the remaining 8 to make the membership 500.

The options referred to above will entitle anyone joining the society at the present time at a membership of one dollar to a choice of the following:

2 dozen tulips, single bedding, named all shades.
2 dozen Darwin tulips, select named varieties.
2 dozen double tulips, named all shades.
2 dozen jonquils.
4 dozen crocus.
2 dozen poeticus narcissus.
1 dozen single daffodils, named varieties.
1 dozen double daffodils.
1 dozen narcissus, paper white.
2 peonies.
4 dozen iris, assorted.
4 dozen snowdrops.

The society explained the generosity in supplying these options to the fact that in buying in fair quantities a cheaper rate can be secured; al that the Provincial Government grant is given according to the membership of the society.

All those therefore desirous of becoming members can feel that they will secure full value for their one dollar.

A TOUCH OF HUMOR EVEN IN DISASTER.

The touch of humour that lives in most things and situations was not lacking in several of the minor occurrences noted in the Haileybury disaster. A survivor of the fire relates the experience of a neighbor who was watching her home burning. This neighbor, a day or so previous, had purchased a little sport hat for which she paid $10.50, just after having bought a rather expensive dress hat. She grabbed the sport hat when she left her house for the last time, but a whiff from the strong gale took it later from her head and sent it spinning out on the icy waters. With tears running down her cheeks, the poor woman surveyed her purchase on its last journey, and sobbed out, "I knew I was extravagant when I bought it."

A baby that went through the eventful night unharmed except for a slight cold, had a birthday on the day following, and the spirit of the people who went through such fearful experiences is perhaps illustrated well in the mock birthday party which they staged for the little mite. In one of the houses saved from the conflagration, it had found a refuge with its mother, and here it received numerous little gifts, most of them with a tragic history of destruction behind it—a piece of bright crepe de chine from one, a battered spoon rescued from the debris from another.

Then there was the family of the undertaker who rode to a safe place in the hearse. Probably they would shudder at the thought of such a use in better times, but the roomy vehicle must have provided a welcome refuge in such need.

WOMAN HERSELF NOW PROHIBITED.

Dear Jeannette,—

Let all women join in the last assault upon the stronghold of masculine prejudice—the pulpit. The further consideration of woman's admission to the pulpit is thrown over for four years. Let us make sure of it next time. We who joined in the great work of prohibiting others are now ourselves prohibited. It is a great injustice. It is worse, sisters. It is an insult. Why were w. kept so long without the vote? Because men said it was not good for us. Now they say we are not fit for the pulpit. But the divinely appointed man is fit. If man is better than woman, then are we undone and must get back to the backseats where we belong? But I call upon all women to rise in their might. Just think of it! Some men throw whole pieces of the Bible into the waste when it suits them, and when it suits them to say that women are inferior to men in the sight of God they quote the very Scriptures that they abuse. Arise, and smash this prejudice! We must.

MANY TROUBLES COME THROUGH THE BLOOD

If Kept Rich and Red Good Health Will be Yours

Nearly all the common diseases are caused by bad blood, weak, watery blood poisoned by impurities. Bad blood is the cause of headaches and backaches, lumbago and rheumatism debility and indigestion, neuralgia, sciatica and other nerve troubles. It is bad blood that causes disfiguring skin diseases like eczema, and salt rheum, pimples and eruptions. The severity of the trouble indicates how impure the blood is, and it goes always from bad to worse unless steps are promptly taken to enrich and purify the blood. There is no use trying a different medicine for each trouble for they all come through the one cause—bad blood. In conditions of this kind Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been found very beneficial, as they have a direct action on the blood enriching and purifying it. That is why this medicine is so often successful, after other remedies have failed—they reach the root of the trouble in the blood. Mr. Albert E. Gigin, Mount Pleasant, P.E.I., tells what these pills did for him. He says:—"Some months ago I was in a badly run-down condition. My blood was poor, I had no appetite and my work left me completely tired out. I fell off in weight, was altogether in a miserable condition. I was taking medicine, but it was not doing me any good. At this stage a friend who had used Dr. Williams Pink Pills with beneficial results, advised me to take them, and acting on his advice I did so. The result can be summed up in a few words: I took the pills for a little more than a month, when I can honestly say I never felt better in my life. I can now eat a hearty meal, do my work with comparative ease, and have gained in weight. I advise weak, run-down people to give these pills a fair trial."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

THE STORY OF THE BIBLE

V.—Curious Bibles.

In due time the Bible came to be translated into our own language. Before recounting the story of this it is interesting to notice that on the way towards our present standard versions, errors in translation and transcriptions have produced some curious results which have stamped their names upon certain versions.

Miles Coverdale's Bible, issued in 1535, is sometimes called the Treacle Bible from its translation of Jer. 8:22, "Is there no treacle in Gilead?" It also receives the name of the Bug Bible from its curious rendering of Psalm 91:5, "Afraid of bugs by night," instead of "terror." Among other quaint readings it contains are: Josh. 2:11, "Our heart had fayled us, neither is there good stomacke in any manne," and Judg. 9.53, "Cast a pece of mylestone upon Abimelech's head and break his brainpanne."

The Geneva version has been called the Breeches Bible because it has "breeches" for "aprons" in Gen. 3:7; or the Whig Bible, because one edition has in Matt. 5:9, "Blessed are the place makers," for "peacemakers."

Among others that may be mentioned are the Printers' Bible which has in Psalm 119:161, "Printers have persecuted me without a cause," instead of "princes;" the Vinegar Bible which has "the parable of the vinegar" instead of "the parable of the vineyard;" the Murderers' Bible which has "murderers" for "murmurers" in Jude; the Discharge Bible, in which 1 Tim. 5:21 reads, "I discharge thee before God," and the Wicked Bible, in which "not" is omitted from the seventh commandment. For this last mistake the printer was fined £300. The edition was speedily called in, and but one copy is now known to exist. The same error is said to have occurred in a German Bible published in 1731.

In view of the multitude of copyists, printers, etc., who have been transmitting the Scriptures over such a lengthy period, the wonder is that there have been so few changes rather than so many, as anyone can convince himself by making a simple test of copying. Two "chain" post cards were recently received by the writer about three months apart; but they had been so transformed by frequent copying that the same original parentage could scarcely be recognized.

One read: "A National League is being formed against the cigarette habit. The league will cover the entire country. Every woman is asked to sign a name with petitions prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to minors. Write four (4) post cards like this to your women friends. Do not fail or the chain will be broken and the object defeated. Please be prompt."

The reading of the other was: "A National League is being formed against the cigarette habit. Every woman is being asked to send her name to be used in a mammoth petition to Congress asking for a national law to prohibit the sale of cigarettes to minors. Write four cards like this to as many friends so that this chain may not be broken. No money is requested. Please be prompt."

The differences between the two copies are at once manifest. Probably both differ materially from the original. The present writer thought he was copying both cards carefully, but found that on his first transcription he had written in the former, "Every woman is being asked," corresponding to the phraseology of the second. Though we have no such wide variety in the work of the Biblical scribes, yet the above instance may serve to give an exaggerated idea of the situation affecting the various readings in our Bibles.

THE "KEWPIE" IS WITH US ALWAYS.

What is the attraction of the kewpie? There must be something in these little painted ladies that explains their universal and unfailing attraction for so many classes of people. Other things may come and go, Fashion's fickle touch may obliterate the favorite of other years from our midst, but the kewpie we still have with us. From the time when a certain artistic young American woman went to Germany and brought back with her the first little kewpie, a paunchy little lad with tilted eyebrows, down to the present, when baby vamps with drawn-up knees and sophisticated expressions meet the eye on every side, the kewpie has been popular. The first little things were ". . . cunning mites, well rounded in the tumty-tum,

The kewpies bright stay out o'nights
All gaily singing rumty-ty-tum,"

but now we have them of many different varieties—blonde and brunette, big and little, pensive and bold, with downcast eyes and real glittering orbs, with marcelled tresses veiled and unveiled. At the country fairs they dominate half of the booths, and one observes young and old submitting to their lure.

Grave men and women as well as giggling youths and maidens walk around with kewpies on their arms, in plaster and pink paint, with and without the bright little tinsel-spangled dresses of gay colors. One wonders what form they will assume when the flapper variety has passed into the discard, and the promised demure maiden of the next year or so takes its place.

FUR LININGS.

Fur linings for cloth wraps are greatly liked. A very voluminous, circular cape of black velvet with elaborate beading is lined with ermine. The wide collar is also of this fur.

Cloth Coats So Alluring That They Rival Furs

TWO STUNNING WINTER OUTFITS. AT THE LEFT, ONE OF THE NEW COATS OF BROWN WOOL, BANDED WITH BEAVER, AND A WINTER SUIT, ALSO OF BROWN, EMBROIDERED AND FUR TRIMMED.

By MARIAN HALE.

Now that you have done your fur coat shopping early and probably spent your dress income for several months ahead, along come the alluring cloth coats and suits.

They are so very attractive they are sure to give you anxious moments and make you wonder if, after all, you bought wisely.

You will find much to delight you in the new suits and wraps. They have a suppleness of texture, richness of coloring and a variety of treatment that is amazing and appealing.

They achieve a general effect of grace and softness that makes them universally becoming.

Short Model Coats.

In coats there are many new short models of the sport variety, as well as the long straight-line coat and the flaring model.

Much has been predicted for the flaring coat, and since it presents a new silhouette many women will favor it for its novelty.

But the straight coat has been given so many decidedly novel features it will undoubtedly hold its own. We find it embroidered, stitched and combined with contrasting silks and velvets.

Frequently it is belted and slightly bloused and has the one-sided cabuchon fastening, the newest feature.

Very wide fur collars and cuffs are used on these wraps, and frequently fancy and unusual sleeves add an odd touch.

The flaring coat is usually banded at the bottom with fur and cut with a narrow shoulder line.

Few Gay Linings.

One sees few gay linings this season. Usually they are of crepe de chine, matching the color of the coat. Plain rather than figured material is chosen.

Kolinsky, beaver, mole, caracul and Persian lamb, as well as the various foxes, are the pelts most frequently used in combination with cloth.

Suits are to be more popular this year than they have been since the reign of the one-piece frock.

One reason for the revival of interest to the suit is the new blouses. They are made of the most gorgeous materials, embroidered and beaded, and are so elaborate that they form a costume when worn with a suit skirt.

On the whole, you are facing one of the most decorative seasons of history.

FASHION FANCIES.

BROWN LINGERIE.

The craze for brown is now reflected in lingerie. Brown satin combination outfits trimmed with brown lace are the latest novelties. Brown embroidery is used effectively on pongee and ecru-colored undergarments.

ERMINE AND VELVET.

No trimming is more effective or stylish at the moment for black velvet than narrow bands of ermine or rabbit fur. Sometimes the fur is arranged in a large rosette and worn after the fashion of a corsage bouquet.

COSTUME SLIPS.

Costume slips are a part of the fall wardrobe, and are most often developed in crepe de chine or very supple satin. They are straight and unfitted, but they give the necessary foundation for the new frocks.

YELLOW AND ORANGE.

Yellow and orange are used in combination with brown very frequently in the fall blouses and costume suits. Several smart hats have been developed in this stunning color scheme.

BEADED SILVER LACE.

Beaded silver lace makes one of the most beautiful evening costumes yet shown for the coming season. The beads are in green and silver, and occasionally a few lull orange ones are added to increase the interest.

ONE-SIDED EFFECTS.

The one-sided effect is frequently seen in evening frocks, that is, one partly draped shoulder and the other one strapless. The one sleeve effect is also noticed in some of the latest Paris importations.

PICTURESQUE GOWN.

If you wish to look picturesque try wearing a gown of silver cloth with wide flowing sleeves of black chiffon, embroidered in gay peasant embroidery. Add an embroidered crepe girdle, tied low on the hips, and some long pendant earrings. Doesn't it sound attractive?

Business Woman Gives Girls Rules For Success

HELEN FRANCIS THOMPSON

By Marian Hale

Though a librarian by profession Helen Frances Thompson of Yonkers, N.Y., finds it much more interesting to study people than books.

Her favorite character in real life is the business woman. Under the pen name "Jean Rich" she has written an interesting little volume, "Do's and Don't's for Business Women," based on her observations and convictions.

"You see, women are really in earnest about their work these days", she explains, "and they are looking forward to executive positions just as men are.

"The growing demand for women executives proves women's ability to fill such positions."

When asked to name a few qualifications for the executive, she replied.

How to Climb

"To be a successful executive, a woman must know her job thoroughly. The woman who has worked her way from the bottom of the business ladder, working in each department of the business, makes the best type of leader.

"The executive must also have a keen understanding of human nature. Her sympathies must be keen. She must be able to get the other person's point of view. She must show absolute impartiality and never play personal favorites.

Radiate Enthusiasm

"She must be able to inspire confidence and respect in those under her, which is only possible if she always plays fair with her subordinates.

"She must radiate enthusiasm in her work and have a good sense of proportion. She must not overemphasize details at the expense of more important matters.

"She should know a little more, do a little more, and think quite a little more than the average, and keep herself above the crowd.

"Keep a clear conscience and a clean desk."

Fashion Hints

ORIENTAL EMBROIDERY.

Hindu and Chinese prints and embroideries are greatly in demand for smart millinery. Very clever copies of old designs are being turned out by American silk mills.

BUNNY ERMINE.

"Bunny Ermine" is the name given the new white rabbit fur which is so frequently combined with chiffon and silk in the new winter styles. This is usually white, but is sometimes dyed in delicate tones of pink, grey and blue.

CARACUL SUITS.

Entire suits are being made of caracul with wide, circular skirts and short box coats. Caracul sleeves are seen in some of the smart new black cloth coats.

IVORY COMB.

Carved ivory makes one of the largest and loveliest high Spanish combs yet seen. It shows up to best advantage on jet black hair, pulled back tightly from the face or meekly parted in the middle and drawn plainly down over the ears.

FOR CHILDREN.

Very snappy raincoats are on the market for small children. They are of transparent rainproof material in bright colors or in the heavier weight cravanet. The child's umbrella now comes in small copies of the most fashionable ones for grown-ups. Some have animals carved on the handles.

INDIA PRINTS.

India prints are popular as wall hangings. Some of the best have patterns very similar to an Oriental rug and give the effect of a rug when applied to the wall.

PEARL AND JET.

Pearl and jet are being combined this season very successfully. A very attractive necklace is made of alternate beads of jet and pearl, graduated in size, and reaching to waistline in length.

BLOUSED COAT.

Bloused coats are very smart with the band low on the hips. Contrary to what one would expect, these are very becoming to the slightly stout figure and give an illusion of slenderness.

TELLS SECRET OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

By MARIAN HALE.

With a formula for hair tonic she knew was reliable and enough money to pay a month's rent, Jessica Ogilvie left San Francisco and came to New York, modestly hoping to make favorable terms with Fortune.

That was 12 years ago.

Today she manages large establishments for treating the hair in New York, Washington and Boston and has recently sent a sister to Paris to open a branch there!

During these dozen years she has assembled many formulae. She has learned all the little habits and peculiarities of the head and scalp—and many of the Titian beauties of Broadway would still be blondes and brunets if she hadn't been so handy with henna.

She built up her business on the theory that all hair may fall, but it is never so badly down and out that it won't come back if you give it a chance.

"Ten Minutes a Day."

"Ten minutes a day for a month will start your hair on the road to health," she says.

"Beautiful hair is only healthy hair. There is no such thing as one cure-all for all scalps. Serious difficulties call for individual treatment. But, in general, every woman can improve her hair by following a regular program.

"I advise use of the right tonic for cleansing the hair, thus doing away with the too-frequent shampooing from which many hair difficulties may arise.

"Massage is of the greatest benefit. Begin at the nape of the neck and press the thumbs well into the fleshy tissues at the base of the skull and work carefully around the neck to the ears.

"This stimulates circulation through the blood vessels and sinews. The scalp should be lifted and loosened with the palms of the hands on the side of the head until a pink color proves the restoration of a lively circulation.

Brush Necessary Tool.

"The most necessary accessory for the care of the hair is the brush. For polishing and cleaning, a brush with long, flexible bristles is needed. This gives a high lustre and stimulates without breaking or pulling.

"The comb, too, must be selected carefully, for it must not break or pull the hair. Whether you use a fine tooth or a coarse comb, or both, see that the teeth are well rounded and blunt at the ends.

"The front of the hair is usually badly abused and needs special care. Be careful to avoid breakage and add nourishment to the new, weak hair, that is trying so hard to frame your face softly.

"Remember that when the hair is shampooed too frequently the oil glands expand and leak and issue their lubrication upon the scalp instead of the hair roots. The scalp is greatly injured by this.

"The way to correct an oily scalp is not by frequent washings, but by a tonic which will correct the condition which creates the oil. If the hair is kept brushed and free from dust it requires washing only at long intervals.",

This is one way to get pleasure from the hair you have and from the remains of what might have been.

JESSICA OGILVIE.

NEW CLOTHES FOR SCHOOL

When the regulation Peter Tom begins to pall on the spirits and all usual clothes become a snare and a delusion it is time for the modern young woman to speak to her mother seriously about new dresses

Then she finds such practical little dresses as these to lift the montony of lessons. They are as sensible as need be and as attractive as one could desire.

Wool, jersey, serge, flannel are the materials used for them and they may be trimmed with colored wool embroidery, bright silk pipings or yokes or appliqued designs.

VELVET AND LACE.

A striking dinner gown has a top of chiffon velvet in black and the skirt is composed entirely of ruffles of chantilly lace, making three tiers. The waistline is long and is outlined with a velvet sash with long ends.

FEATHER HAT.

Coq feathers are popular with milliners and are used on large and small hats. A large hat, recently seen on the stage, was composed entirely of the feathers laid on perfectly flat and giving a certain iridescent effect.

CONTRASTING MATERIAL.

Combination frocks are the mode this season, except in the very tailored frocks, the bodice is usually of a different material from the skirt, or the coat contrasts with the dress. The contrast is more frequently of material than of color.

EYELET EMBROIDERY.

English eyelet embroidery is again very popular. It is quite probable that we will find lace collars and frills appearing more frequently on our frocks this coming season than they have for many past ones.

FLEXIBLE BRACELETS.

The newest bracelets are flexible ones with round and oval stones mounted on metal and combined with carving. These are most effective when worn with costumes that match in color.

Household Hints

OF HUNTER'S GREEN

There's something reminiscent of the Alpine hunter in a green felt hat with a tiny rolling brim outlined with black velvet and three quills shading from gunmetal to pearl gray, placed at one side of the crown

CHENILLE FLOWERS

Chenille flowers trim many of the smartest frocks and hats. Some times these are embroidered directly on the fabric or they may be appliqued. The more brilliant the colors, the better.

UNUSUAL FROCK

PAINTED DECORATIONS

A gown of white chiffon, designed for a young girl, is made with a close bodice and a very full skirt. About the waist and hemlines are painted designs in blue and pink, beaded in silver.

THE HELLO GIRL.

The first "hello girl" is now 69 years old—unless, indeed, she has given us the wrong number.—Boston Transcript.

FLAPPER DEMURE

No longer dashing, but demure, the flapper dons long skirts, Puritan collars, long sleeves.

Will she abandon rouge, rolled down stockings, bobbed hair and the other insignia of her emancipation? Of course she will if the new styles demand it. And they seem to do so.

Here is her new fall silhouette with its essential changes. Watch for her. She'll begin to dot the streets in a few weeks and after that she'll grow more and more until her name is legion There's one basic article to her creed, "As well be out of the world as out of fashion."

MOTHER!

Open Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels, and gives you a well, playful child again

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on the bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

There's a hint of WINTER in the crisp October Air! Are you ready to withstand the Cold?

SUMMER heat has left your blood thin. It always does.

But winter is coming! You must fortify your body against cold weather and winter ailments, by eating substantial food that will enrich your blood and help you resist the cold.

First to be considered is breakfast—the most important meal of the day. And first for everybody's breakfast should come oatmeal.

Oats are a simple, basic food, easily digested. They give more nourishment than any other cereal, supplying vital energy for grown-ups and brawn and bone-building elements for children.

Because Oatmeal is the most wholesome breakfast, it should be made so appetizing that everyone will desire it. The flavour depends on the quality of the oats. Use Quaker Oats and you get the best in the world,—best quality, best flavour, best food value.

In milling Quaker Oats, only the rich, plump, flavoury queen grains are used, puny or imperfect grains being discarded. Packed in sealed cartons, all the original freshness of the oats is preserved.

Quaker Oats is also the most economical of all foods. It costs less than one cent per dish. Think what this means in housekeeping expenses!

When you order groceries today, put Quaker Oats on your list. The whole family will enjoy it.

NAPOLEON'S CHARM.

Napoleon carried with him as a charm a seal of carnelian, which he is said to have picked up during his campaign in Egypt. It was octagonal, about the diameter of a quarter, and carried the inscription, "The slave Abraham relying upon the Merciful."

It was worn as a watch charm by Napoleon's nephew, Napoleon III., of the second French Empire, but after his death was lost.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED—

You remember an unmarried woman pays the first call of the season on a married woman. Also, it is customary for the younger matrons to call first upon the older ones.

Brides usually wait to receive first calls and it is usual for neighbors and friends to call and leave cards immediately upon the return from the honeymoon.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a 16-oz. bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

Very Short Coat Makes Appearance

Like all fashions, a bad penny, and the cat—the short coat has come back. Not quite as it was before, perhaps, but so much the better.

It is a bloused short coat now and has a tight band about the hips. It has a high collar which is frequently covered with fur and it has wide sleeves, also fur-edged. It is often heavily embroidered.

It is made of heavy soft fabrics, frequently metalasse. It may be part of a three-piece costume, but it may equally as well be sufficient to itself and have nothing to do either in material or color with the skirt that shows below it.

COLORFUL BRACELETS.

With sleeveless frocks the bracelet worn above the elbow is the correct bit of jewelry. These are adding width and color as the fad advances. Old silver bracelets, with large colored stones, are very much sought after.

EVENING FROCKS.

A stunning evening gown is of white crepe, with an elaborate design worked out in green beads, and has a low girdle of sable.

SOCIAL HALF HOUR.

At the rally of the Women's Missionary Society of George Street Church, held this week, a goodly number of ladies were present, Mrs. E. W. Coon led in prayer and Mrs. W. Poyne gave a Bible reading, followed by an interesting address on missions by Mrs. J. F. Chapman. Prayer by Rev. H. W. Young closed the business session, the meeting concluding with a pleasant social half hour.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE.

In arranging the wedding guests the Dutch try always to place an unmarried man or woman between a married couple at the wedding feast.

This is because of an old superstition that this will bring about the wedding of the unmarried one during the year.

The omen is said to be even more favorable if the seating arrangement is inadvertent, rather than planned.

Reader Takes Newer Form of Iron—Feels Years Younger

"Six weeks ago I saw a special offer in the paper telling how thousands of people grow old in looks and energy long before they are really old in years, because, as examinations by physicians have shown, an enormous number of people do not have enough iron in their blood. I have been taking Nuxated Iron for two weeks: the results are simply astounding. The roses have come back in my lips and cheeks, and I can conscientiously say that I feel ten years younger."

The above is a typical hypothetical case showing the results that have been achieved by a great many people since we started this "satisfaction or money back" offer on Nuxated Iron. We will make you the same guarantee. If, after taking the two week's treatment of Nuxated Iron, you do not feel and look years younger, we will promptly refund your money.

(By Stuart P. West)

NEW YORK, October 14 (Special to The Examiner). — To-day's brief trading on the stock exchange was the liveliest of the week, the market, too, showing a greater strength and broader inclination to advance. It was plain that back of each individual advance lay a special explanation. The favourable note struck in the week-end reviews of the mercantile agencies had an effect upon sentiment. They helped bear out the Wall Street views that the country's industries, taken as a whole, are slowly but surely gaining, and that 1923, while it may not witness any trade boom, will be a year of satisfactory profits.

The stocks favoured in to-day's buying belong for the most part to companies which are in a position to distribute part of their surplus for the benefit of shareholders, or else to companies which are earning enough to inaugurate or increase dividend payments. The Street began to take more thought of th U. S. steel situation with its enormous treasury accumulation and the new high record made by Steel Common reflected a very genuine belief that a stock dividend in its case was by no means unlikely.

American Can., Continental Can., Freeport Texas, and Industrial Alcohol were all instances where the buying was based upon dividend possibilities.

Rubber stocks continued to feel the favourable effect of the rise in crude rubber prices following measures taken to restrict the production in the Far East.

Most of the other markets shared moderately the strength in stocks.

ENTRANCE CERTIFICATES PRESENTED TO PUPILS

Pleasant Evening Spent at King George School

A very well attended open meeting of the King George Home and School Association took place last evening in the school hall, which was prettily decorated for the occasion with cut flowers. Mr. A. A. Fowler occupied the chair, and in his opening remarks eulogized the work of the Home and School Association and the efficiency of its officers. He also spoke in terms of praise of the wonderful value of the Association's gift to the school of the entire set of the Book of Knowledge.

Mrs. W. R. Morris also paid a tribute to the work of the society and to the good influence of the late principal, Mr. M. H. Park, on his pupils. Mrs. Morris spoke of the immediate need of more room at the Collegiate Institute, and quoted Mr. Rogers, school inspector, who, on a late visit, emphasized the necessity of more space and accommodation for vocal training.

A pleasing musical programme included vocal solos by Mrs. Ford Turner and Mr. M. H. Park, with an instrumental selection by Mr. Leslie Unitt. The pupils from Mr. Park's old room gave two numbers, "Men of Harleck" and "Home, Sweet Home" in fine voice. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the musicians, the Home and School Association and Mrs. Morris by Mr. George Record.

ROOM FOR JAPAN'S COOLIES.

Dr. Egi Says 7,000,000 Could Find It in Korea and at Home

TOKIO, Oct. 14.— While more than 600,000 Japanese, including those in Manchuria, have settled abroad, many in countries where they are not wanted, there is still room in Japan proper and Korea for 7,000,000 of them, according to Dr. Tasuka Egi, one of the leaders of the Kenseikai, or Opposition Party.

In criticizing the Government's plan to introduce a bill in the next session of the Diet to encourage Japanese emigration abroad, Dr. Egi said there was still much uncultivated land in the Hokaido, the granary of Japan, and in Northern Kyushu, while there had been little response to the call for settlers in Korea, where there was still plenty of virgin land.

Even Manchuria, one of the richest agricultural countries in the world, he said, did not seem to be popular with Japanese emigrants.

A Japanese economist who has made a study of the question declares that the Japanese are not good colonists and that unless they go to a country such as California or Hawaii, where the climate is equable, they soon grow dissatisfied.

About Books

(By F. M. DelaFosse).

Of the making of books there is no end, but it often strikes me as peculiar that no matter how much interest any book may create, so little usually is asked regarding the author.

Considerably more is known about The Pilgrim's Progress than about Bunyan; Don Quixote is a classic familiar to all the world, but how many people could tell you anything about Cervantes? Even the facts about Defoe, author of probably the most popular boy's book in the language, are little known by nine tenths of those who have found his work such delightful reading.

Yet the lives of these men were full of interest, and the details regarding them can be easily procured in the library.

If one walks along our biographical section one cannot but be struck by the fact that the books seem in splendid condition, mute evidence of the fact that they are very seldom resorted to by those for whom they have been procured. All this goes to show that the public at large is not attentive enough to its own literary interests. If it were it would see that whilst the most influential books and the truest in their influence, are works of fiction, as Robert Louis Stevenson long ago pointed out, they cannot extend to us all the lessons of life, nor can they possibly prove such exemplars or warnings to us as the life stories of those whose successes or failures have been placed on record.

One can take up almost any book of fiction and by glancing at its card note how often it has been taken out. There are some books that have been borrowed nearly 80 times. Compare this record with the books in the biographical section and mark the difference. Sir Oliver Mowat has been borrowed five times; Gladstone six; Cartier once; Will Adams (the first Englishman in Japan) never; Agassiz twice; Disraeli six; Lyman Abbott five; Croker's correspondence and diaries, dealing with a most interesting time in recent history, not once.

Against these must be placed a record of 40 times for the memoir of Mary Slessor of Calabar, and of 26 times for Mrs. Asquith's reminiscences.

Only a small portion of the biographies that the library possesses has been touched on, but the same average would extend throughout the long array of really valuable books that this section offers to our readers. It is not going too far to say that they are absolutely wasting away, dying slowly of dry rot, in much the same way that a man or woman sometimes insensibly languish for the lack of the touch of a friendly hand, or a word of sympathy.

There are some people in this world, in fact, very many, who lift up their hands in horror at the sight of a frayed or soiled book. They would not touch it on any account for fear of infection or taint of some sort.

Well, we all have our particular idiosyncrasies. For my own part I am inclined to look upon an old and worn book in much the same way that one should regard an old and shabby man or woman, with veneration and respect.

It has seen its day and has been through the mill of experience. Doubtless to many homes it has brought comfort and happiness and in the bringing has worn out its own vitality. It is a pleasant sight to see a library of well bound books in excellent preservation, but it is a far pleasanter sight to see an army of well worn veterans on the shelves—for one knows that one is in the presence of a company that has done service and fulfilled its obligations.

It would be a great step in the right direction if patrons of the library would determine to discriminate a little more carefully in their reading. Fiction is a good thing to read but it is a bad thing when indulged in to the exclusion of every other class of literature.

The Book of Days compiled by Chambers, is one of the most interesting works that we possess in the Library. It is the first book on the first shelf in our Reference Library. It is full of prints of old engravings, and contains a fund of information on all sorts of subjects. Consult it, and if it arouses your interest carry your researches along further lines, and go carefully over the whole Reference Department. You will be well repaid for the time expended. — F. M. D.

AN APPEAL

10,000 sufferers in the fire scourged North appeal to you now for immediate relief.

10,000 men, women and little children who have lost their homes, their employment, their clothing, their property, must be fed every day, must be clothed against the rigorous cold, must be temporarily sheltered—to give them a fighting chance to get on their feet again.

The Northern Ontario Fire Relief Committee

has been put in charge of this relief work by the Ontario Government, and appeals to all Ontario to extend immediate assistance. Will Ontario's City Councils, Town Councils; all governing bodies, please take this matter under consideration at once and vote liberal grants for relief? Will all the members of liberal hearted Ontario business firms, and men, women and children, make immediate contributions to help their stricken North Country fellow-citizens.

The staggering completeness of this fire calamity baffles description. The fire fiend worked well nigh complete destruction over an area of about 1,600 square miles. Over 1,500 homes were destroyed, and the property loss will probably reach eight to ten million dollars. Ten thousand people are practically destitute, in need of daily sustenance, in need of clothing, and at least temporary shelter, and all this on the verge of a Northern winter.

A Train Load of Supplies Every Day

The Northern Ontario Fire Relief Committee was at work within two hours after receipt of the terrible news of the holocaust. Within 24 hours the first relief train from Toronto was in Cobalt—ready with food, clothing, tents, etc., for the sufferers, and every day since then a fully loaded train of supplies has been speeded north, for distribution at Cobalt by a committee under the direction of Mr. A. J. Young, of North Bay.

Only "Temporary Relief" Is Asked For

The Northern Relief Fire Committee does not rebuild homes, nor restock stores, nor erect public buildings. It simply feeds hungry children and men and women from day to day. It hopes to clothe the destitute adequately against the stark northern cold. It hopes to provide some kind of temporary shelter amidst the blackened ruins, to give the helpless fire sufferers at least a fighting chance to re-establish themselves.

From Prosperity to Ruin—Will You Help

The Dominion Government and the Ontario Government have each made initial contributions of $100,000 to assist the fire sufferers. Scores of municipalities and public-spirited business houses and individuals throughout Ontario are asking an opportunity to assist. The opportunity is here and now.

The Red Cross Are Co-operating With the Committee

Contributions of clothing, household equipment, etc., made in Toronto, may be sent to the Toronto Red Cross Emergency Depot at 94 Adelaide Street West, Toronto.

Similar contributions from points outside Toronto may be made to the local Red Cross depots, or consigned direct to the Red Cross Commission at Cobalt, Ontario.

Money Contribution to the Committee

All money contributions should be sent to the Northern Ontario Fire Relief Committee, Royal Bank Building, Toronto.

What Is the Northern Ontario Relief Committee?

It is a group of representative public and business men appointed by the Ontario Government to handle the relief work in connection with the terrible fires in the North Country in 1916. The Committee was authorised to continue to function by the Supreme Court of Ontario, and now has been asked by the Ontario Government to handle the present relief campaign. Over 110,000 pounds of groceries, 123,000 pounds of provisions, and great quantities of bedding and clothing have already been forwarded.

Belleville Defeated Hillcrests - Score Was 5 to 4 - Other Sport

BELLEVILLE NOSE OUT FAMOUS HILLCRESTS CENTRAL LEAGUE CHAMPS VICTORIOUS 5-4

Williams' Sweeping Curve Stands Dwan Tribe on Their Heads, the Indian Star Holding Hillcrests to Five Hits and One Earned Run—Billy Mills Drives Winning Counter in in the Ninth.

Thanks to the superb pitching of Jack Williams and the timely hitting of "Peenie" Mills, the Belleville crew, Central League champions, knocked the celebrated Toronto Hillcrests out of the O.B.A.A. running at Riverside Park yesterday, nosing out the Dwan aggregation 5 to 4 in the rubber game.

Belleville won out in the ninth innings when with the score tied, two out, and Ross on first, Billy Mills drove a long hit just inside the right field foul line on which Ross, running desperately, scored the winning counter. The play at the plate was very close, and Hillcrests will howl all winter that they were robbed by Umpire Alex. Kay's decision in calling Ross safe.

If they can get any consolation out of that, they are welcome to the alibi.

As a matter of fact, the throw from the out field beat Ross to the plate, and the runner would have been out beyond argument if Hennessey had made the play properly.

Instead of completely blocking the rubber, as he hod plenty of time to do, he dropped on his knees in front of the plate, and Ross had room to slide in behind him and hook the rubber.

It was an eyelash decision, and Hennessey made it so by the way he handled the throw.

Had Belleville made us of a sacrifice in that inning and moved Ross over to second with a bunt, Hillcrests only alibi would have been lost, for he could have jogged in from the middle station on Mills' hit.

Hillcrests need look no further than the box score for the reason for their defeat. They lost because Indian Jack Williams curved them to death. His sweeping hook had the T.A.B.A. winners lashed to the mast, and the so-called hardest hitting team in amateur ball could only collect five meosly hits, one of them very scratchy off the southpaw's delivery. Outside of Scott, who had three hits to his credit, the only Toronto players to hit safely were Walker and Pete Irwin, each of whom got a single. Hennessey, looking like a fish on a curve ball, struck out four times, Samuels failed to see first base at all, and Waldron and Lancaster, reputed sluggers, hit worse than Babe Ruth in the World's Series. The mighty Conacher, used as a pinch hitter, nearly broke his back going after a wide curve, and then rolled weakly to second. The Hillcrests managed to bunch two hits in the first inning, and for the rest of the game could only collect three scattered safeties, while nine of them were retired by the strik-out route.

It was a fine exhibition of pitching, made more notable by the fact that in the early stage the Belleville team threatened to crack wide open, their misplays figuring materially in the scoring. Williams had but one earned run against him, Hillcrests's second counter coming as result of a muffed throw by Harry Mills, their third on wild throws by W. Mills and Weir, and the last one on Hagerman's miss of Waldron's fly. Allowing but one earned run and five hits against a crew like the Hillcrests entitled the Indian to a prominent niche in the hall of fame.

Cannonball Ed. Scott, on the rubber for Hillcrests, was outpitched by a wide margin. Belleville got to him for seven hits and earned four of their counters, while Scott passed six men and slipped in two costly wild pitches. Outside of a throw that got away from Samuels and enabled Belleville to score a counter in the fourth and a wild toss by Waldron that did no harm, Scott got brilliant support from his teammates, faring much better than Williams in this respect.

It was an exciting game of ball. Hillcrests got two in the first and Belleville one. The Toronto crew made it 3 to 1 in the third, only to have Belleville come back with one in the fourth. A cheap register in the sixth put Hillcrests again two counters to the good, but Belleville bunched three hits with a wild pitch in the seventh to tie the score, and then won out in the ninth. Williams was going stronger at the end than in the early stages, and only one Hillcrest player reached first base in the last three frames, while five of them fanned.

There was some smart fielding plays that enthused the fans. Harry Samuels, the Hillcrest first baseman, contributed the feature when he ran over to the right field fence for Hagerman's high foul, crashing into the fence, but holding on to the ball. Waldron at short for the losers had a big day. For Belleville Ross and Hagerman cashed in with nice catches in the outfield, and Weir atoned for two errors by several sparkling plays.

The crowd was large and representative, the whole Central Ontario League territory contributing quotas of fans, all of whom, along with the Peterborough crowd, rooted lustily for Belleville. A special train carried 125 fans from Belleville, while Hillcrests had a few enthusiastic supporters, who lost all of their enthusiasm and most of their money. Among the baseball celebrities present were President Pat Kennedy, of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association, and Knotty Lee, the Toronto scout.

The defeat was a terrible shock to Hillcrests. They had been murdering all the pitchers they had met, and they expected to do the same with Williams, overlooking the fact that they had not been up against a good lefthander.

They got away to a good start. With two strikes and no balls on Walker, the first man up, Williams made the mistake of grooving the next one and Walker shot a single over second. Hennessey promptly sacrificed. Pete Irwin slammed a single to centre, Walker pulling up at third, from which station he scored on Samuel's long fly to left, which Hagerman grabbed nicely. Irwin, who had stolen second, ran over to third after the catch, and scored the second run of the game, when Lancaster hit to the box and Harry Mills dropped Williams' throw. Lancaster stole second and went to third on Mills' wild throw, but Bert Irwin struck out.

Belleville got one back in their half. Ross drew a pass and was sacrificed to second by Weir. Ross went to third on a wild pitch. W. Mills walked on four wide ones. H. Mills grounded to Waldron, Ross scoring on the play. J. K. Williams' roller to B. Irwin retired the side.

Hillcrests registered a soft run in the third to increase their lead. With one down, Pete Irwin walked. Samuels went out on a long fly to Ross. Irwin stole second and broke for third on Mills' low throw. When Weir recovered the ball, he threw past third, letting Irwin romp home. The next batter, Bert Irwin, fanned.

Belleville closed the gap in the fourth. Harry Mills, first up, cracked a hot one, which Scott knocked down. The pitcher's throw beat Mills to first ,but Samuels lost the toss, and Mills was safe. He remained on first while J. K. Williams fanned, and Meagher popped to Waldron and then stole second. Casey lined one over Waldron's head to centre, Ross easily scoring from second. Hagerman flied to Pete Irwin, winding up the innings.

A muff by Hagerman blossomed out into the last Hillcrest run in the sixth. The Belleville left fielder dropped a high one from Waldron's bat, the Hillcrest shortstop reaching second. Scrutton sacrificed neatly, and Scott helped his own cause along by singling cleanly over second to send the run in. Williams picked Scott off first and Weir tossed out Walker.

The seventh was the big session for Belleville. After Casey had flied out to Scrutton, Hagerman cracked a long single to centre. J. H. Williams slammed a double down the right field foul line, sending Hagerman to third. Scott struck out Ross, but could not get the ball over for Weir, who drew a pass, the fourth ball being a wild pitch on which Hagerman registered and Williams went to third. Billy Mills cracked a hot single off Scott's foot to score Williams with the tieing run. The ball caromed over to Waldron, who tried for a force play at second, but Weir beat the toss. Harry Mills' fly to Walker ended the fun.

There was nothing more doing until the ninth, when Belleville staged the rally that won the game. With one down Ross walked. The logical move would have been for Weir to have sacrificed him to second, but the Belleville shortstop elected to hit, and lined out to centre, leaving Ross still on first. With two out, it was up to Billy Mills, and the hard-hitting catcher made good with the drive toi right that sent the winning run in.

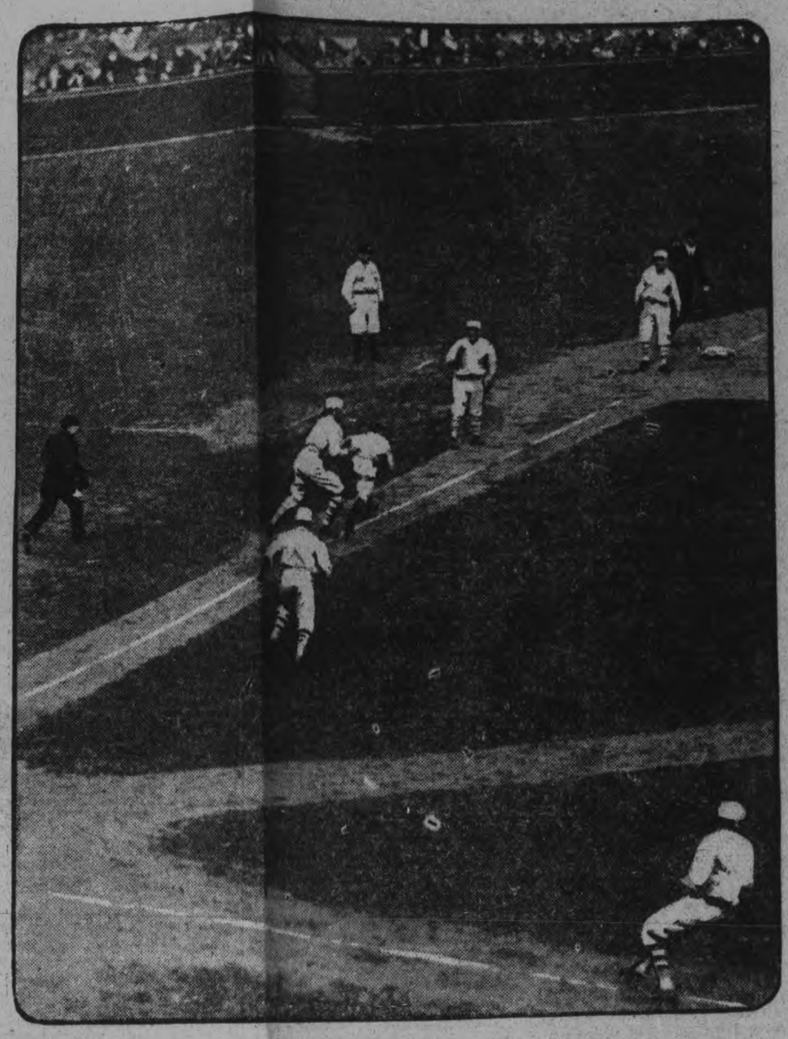
Yankees Might Have Scored Two



HERE'S WHERE YANKS LOST A RUNThe Yankees might have scored two runs instead of one in the sixth frame of the first game, har not Oscar Witt taken too long a chance. With one down, Witt poled out a triple ,then dashed for the plate on Dugan's easy grounder to short and was trapped. Picture showe Hank Synder, Giant catcher, touching Witt out and Nefh, Giant pitcher, is running to back up Snyder. Heinie Groh and Dave Bancroft, McGraw third baseman and shortstop, respectively, are shown between Witt and third base. Right after Nefh's out, Babe Ruth hit a long single and Dugan scored the first world series run from second base.

Joe Is Temperamental But He Knows Exactly How to Play Baseball

By BILLY EVANS.

The trade that brought Dugan from the Boston Red Sox to New York patched up the one weak spot in the Yankee machine

Frank Baker can hit 'em, but Baker's weak underpinning slowed up his fielding and made him unfit for regular duty Mike McNally did a good job in the field, but left something to be desired as to hitting.

Yet, third base was the weak spot in the machine. The coming of Joe Dugan supplied the much needed strengthening .

Dugan was dug up by Connie Mack at Holy Cross. The tall leader of the Athletics developed him. Joe showed great natural ability from the star, but was inclined to be temperamental. When things didn't suit him, Joe would grab a rattler for that dear old home town which, in his case, happens to be New Haven. Conn.

During the winter Mack gave up trying to cure Joe's temperament and sold him to the Boston Red Sox. Then followed the deal which brought him to New York, just before the time limit expired on the sale or trading of players .

At Philadelphia there was little to inspire Joe, as playing with a tailender offered no alluring inducements. For a time the trade to Boston seemed to be a big improvement over the drab surroundings in Philadelphia. Then, just to discourage Joe further, Boston insisted on holding the last place instead of the Athletics, who has had a mortage on the position for seven years.

The trade to New York has made a different ball player out of Dugan.

Always a great ball player he began to show his real worth when placed in the lineup of a club with a fine chance to win the American League pennant, which they did.

Dugan was ill in the spring, which made it impossible for him to go on the training trip. This seriously handicapped his playing at the start of the season.

Last year Joe batted .295. This year, until he joined the Yankees his average was about 50 points below last season's mark. The day he was dropped into the Yankee lineup he started to play brilliantly and hit consistently.

His fielding since he joined New York has been sensational. I know of at least four games he has saved because of some marvelous fielding play. At the bat he has been a timely hitter.

Some idea of his improvement at bat can be gathered from the fact that he has boosted his average about 50 points since becoming a Yank.

Unquestionably Joe Dugan has supplied the very punch that the Yankees needed to win the pennant.

Dugan started his career as a Yank in St. Louis in the first game played on the last western trip. The Yankees won 11 and lost only four on that trip, one of the best invasions a New York American League club has ever made in the west.

JACKIE NORMAN IS SHOWING UP WELL.

Although all the New York papers gave glowing accounts of the great battle made by Floyd Johnson against Bob Martin at Madison Square Garden last Friday night, the real bout of the evening was the one between Jackie Norman, the little red-headed featherweight from Brooklyn, but formerly from Toronto, who defeated Red Cap Wilson, the boy who has emulated the record of K. O. Chaney around New York, having knocked out Johnny Murray twice and Ned Fitzgerald, lightweight champion of Australia, Norman accomplished no small feat in defeating the slugging terror. Norman, although a legitimate 122 pound boy, has fought and more than held his own with Andy Chaney, Billy DeFoe, Sammy Sieger, Danny Frush, Pepper Martin and Billy Murphy, and his manager, Eddie Harvey would like nothing better than a match with Jack Sharkey, Jack Wolfe, Carl Tremain, Andy Chaney, or any boy in the world from 122 to 126 pounds.

SIKI CONTRACTED TO FIGHT IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—They are making more talk to keep Senegalese Siki in the forefront.

That was the way Frank Flournoy characterized cable announcements yesterday that Siki and his manager, whose contract expires on Novembr 30 ,are near the breaking point, and that Siki, recalitrant, may refuse to keep his date to fight here on November 30. Tex Rickard, who had closed with Siki to come here to fight next month, yestrday agreed with Flournoy that whether Siki and M. Hellers, his manager, separated or not does not affect the French provincial's contract to fight here.

Rickard said he isn't a bit sore about the stories from France, since it shows, he said, that Siki has a good press agent on the job, who is keeping Siki and Siki's doings before the public.

He went right ahead yesterday completing preparations for the Siki fight, probably with Kid Norfolk, on November 30.

CUBS LEAD SERIES BY MARGIN OF ONE GAME

CHICAGO, Oct. 14. Canadian Press. — The Chicago Nationals batted Ted Blankenship off the mound yesterday and took the edge in the city series, 3 games to 2, by defeating the American Leaguers 7 to 2. Blankenship allowed only 2 scratch hits until the Cubs launch-their heavy attack against him in the sixth. Aldridge was backed up by some sterling support in the pinches. Score:
Americans .. ..000101000—2 7 2
Nationals .. ..20000500x—7 9 3
Blankenship, Duff and Schalk; Aldridge and O'Farrell.

SPORT GOSSIP

Friday the thirteenth evidently has no terrors for Belleville .

If this is Hillcrests what are the Oslers?

The last play was close but Hennessey did not make the play correctly and allowed Ross to come in from behind him.

FREE HAND FOR HUGGINS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—Miller Huggins, whose re-engagement as manager of the New York Yankees for 1923 has been announced will have a free hand in organizing the team for next year, according to the owners of the baseball club. The selection of Huggins for another year at the helm of the American League champions set at rest reports that he was to be deposed because of the club's poor showing against the Giants in the world series

SOME SIDELIGHTS ON THE BIG GAME

Random Remarks by One of the Fans—Has Knotty Lee Made an Offer for Jack Williams, or Will Gallagher Be Enough from the Central League for This Year?

"Spike" Hennessey is still kicking himself for his slow work on Ross in the ninth, when the runner "beat him to it" and put the Hillcrests out of the race. Fans who were not "on top" of the play figured that Ross was out. But it was a neat piece of work by Ross and Hennessey admitted after the game that he failed to stop the play.

Right on the heels of the Belleville victory came the report that Knotty Lee, scout for Toronto Leafs, who was a spectator at the game, had offered Jack Williams a berth with the Leafs. Tagged to the offer was a salary of $350 per month. But Knotty already has Gallagher from Kingston and Oshawa,and the big southpaw has probably told his new boss that no other hurling help need apply

Lionel Connacher must be ailing from the effects of Jack Dempsey's punches. The Toronto athlete went on for an exhibition bout with Dempsey the other night He sailed into the champion, and it is also reported that he sailed back. As Conny looked very bad against Williams' pitching the alibi is accepted.

Bert Irwin and Scrutton appeared on the Hillcrest line-up in place of Connacher and Lang because the latter two players are left handed batters and Nip Dwan thought to fool the mighty Indian with his right-handers.

Belleville play Galt, the western winnersin Galt next Wednesday and at home next Saturday, for the senior honors of Ontario. In the junior ranks, Welland, who stopped the Adanacs ,play Guelph in Guelph today The date of the second game has not been set Canadian Generals should land the big end of the score in their sudden death game with St. Aiden's at Toronto this afternoon, and pass into the finals. The Generals might as well make a clean-up, and finish the job. Hillcrests are in the discard, ditto McCormicks, ditto Royce card, ditto [illegible] the juveniles from Ath-Avs. True, [illegible] town won their series, ol P. And that was not all. Somebody in the Leafs camp threw a senior ball into the fray.

The senior ball episode was a good one, the visitors being the victim of their scorer. The Toronto scribe proved to be the owner of the ball that got into the play. After the umps had thrown the pellet to the Leafs dugout, the T. S. made a spurt in the same direction and applied for his property. As the Leafs had only a stock of junior balls, there was no dispute as to the ownership of the spaulding.

FIRE INSURANCE ON AUTOMOBILES.

Automobile fire insurance companies, last year, paid out nearly $9,500,000 for motor cars that went up in smoke!

That does not include the insurance paid out by mutual and specialty companies, which fire insurance agents estimate would add another $1,000,000 to their figure.

Neither does this sum include the loss incurred by that inestimable number of car owners who failed to insure themselves against fire.

Yet fire, say insurance men, is one danger toward which automobile owners look lightly. Fire? There's hardly a chance for their machine to go up. They take special pains, they say, with lights and such when they are near their cars.

Carelessness.

But they don't refute the insurance authorities. Carelessness, they say, is just what starts 80 per cent. of the automobile fires. Not so much lighting a match to see how much gas there is left in the tank, as snooping around the gasoline line with a lighted cigar—unconsciously—in one hand.

That is a direct sort of carelessness which should be guarded against. But there is an indirect kind which causes most trouble. This is the kind of carelessness which allows the valves to get leaky and the fuel line to get loose-jointed; where exhaust connections are neglected and wire insultation is rubbed off, and wherein engine pan and crankcase become so oil-soaked that the only way they can be cleaned is by burning, through spontaneous combustion.

Short circuits start fires. Batteries have been known to explode when the hydrogen they generated mixed with the oxygen of the air and became so inflammable as to cause a fire.

Precautions.

To avoid such an occurrence there is just one guide. That is careful attention to all parts of the car. The engine, wiring and fuel systems should be kept in good shape at all times. Flames should be kept away and no chance should be given for a spark to form an inflammable vapor.

Backfiring should be avoided. All wiring should be examined regularly. Gasoline should not be spilled carelessly. The motor should be allowed to cool beore being cleaned.
to cool before being cleaned.
use water to extinguish it. Water will only scatter burning gasoline. The gasoline supply should be shut off and the fire should be smothered with a lap robe, or with sand or soil.

EAT VEGETABLES IF KIDNEYS HURT YOU

Take a Glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder Bothers

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat often too much red meat and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, make a delightful effervescent lithia water beverage and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

GERMAN WOMAN WINS A CONTEST IN TELEGRAPHING.

Secures Championship By Sending 2,888 Words An Hour on Siemens Printer.

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—(Associated Press)—Sending 2,888 words an hour on a Siemens printer, Erna Bansemer, of Breslau, won the speed championship of an international telegraphic competion held recently The second prize also went to a German woman.

Of seventy-two prizes offered, German contestants captured more than a third. The chief awards fell to competitors of the various nationalities as follows: To Italians for the Morse apparatus; to Germans for the Hughes, the Siemens, and for radio; to Spanish for the Baudot, and to Danish for the Wheatstone. Oskar Schindler, of Vienna, won the master-telegraphist trophy for being a prize-winner on three different types of apparatus. The award consisted of a large silver urn offered by the president of Germany.

The contests were held under the auspices of the German postal administration. State Secretary Bredow, addressing the assembly gathered to witness the award of prizes eulogized Henrich von Stephan Germany's first postmaster-general as founder of the world postal union. Doctor Bredow also declared it was Germany who aroused world-wide interest in wireless telegraphy by summoning the first international convention in Berlin in 1903.

BRILLIANT PLAY OF FAR NORTH IS "THE SIREN CALL"

Dorothy Dalton Featured Player in New Irwin Willat Production.

A brilliant play of the far North is promised by Manager Abbey of the Capitol theatre Monday in Irwin Willat's production for Paramount, "The Siren Call," by J. E. Nash, which presents Dorothy Dalton as the leading player with a strong cast. The cast includes several players who have already established themselves in roles of similar type. Miss Dalton gave an unforgettable characterization in "The Fame of the Yukon," which will be recalled by most film fans.

There is Mitchell Lewis, mushing into the scene with his dog team—typical adventurer of the white silences. He will be remembered for his work in "The Barrier," "The Code of the Yukon" and other Alaskan pictures. Also he appeared not long ago in Betty Compson's Paramount picture "At the End of the World."

David Powell plays the leading male role, that of a young miner. Mr. Powell, so to speak, escaped from "Her Gilded Cage" in time to answer "The Siren Call," having just completed the leading male role in the former picture, a Sam Wood production starring Gloria Swanson.

Leigh Wyant, who played an important part in William deMille's "Bought and Paid For"; Edward J. Brady, Will R. Walling, Lucien Littlefield and Guy Oliver are also included.

The scenario of this production was prepared by the author and Philip Hurn. It is said that the picture is vibrant with drama and real heart appeal.

AT THE GRAND. OF UNUSUAL MERIT.

Theatregoers of this city will have an opportunity of witnessing Marc Klaw's production of "Sonya" which comes to the Grand Theatre, tomorrow, October 14, and is limited to two performances.

The cast of actors, Mr. Klaw says, is of unusual merit, and he has staged the production exactly as it appeared in the 48th street Theatre, New York City, where it had a long and successful run last season.

The action of this delightfully romantic comedy is laid in a small kingdom in Eastern Europe. It has to do with the young Prince, heir apparent to the throne and a beautiful young dancing girl. She has been brought to the Palace by a scheming cousin of the Prince who has eyes on the throne himself. Disguised as a boy, she is to teach the bored young nobleman gymnastics and her immediate job is to lure him into an entanglement of sorts with her. The Prince discovers her identity, however, and her winsome, wholesome charm win his devotion. They pretend to carry out the cousin's scheme, but in fact, their association is most platonic. The Prince learns the beauty of simple life and becomes aware of his people's true need. He gains a manly strength and even denounces the throne if he can't have beautiful Sonya. This affords plenty of action, suspense and interest, which are only terminated with the fall of the last curtain. Throughout it is brilliant and colorful, and the delightful comedy vein has not lagged at any time. It may be guessed, that the ending is happy and King Love is left to rule peacefully.

"THE DUMBELLS.

The "Dumbells" are coming back to the Grand Theatre next Friday and Saturday, October 20 and 21 in a blaze of glory. Their latest offering, "The Dumbells Revue of 1922" was inaugurated in Victoria on March first and is is said to be fully fifty per cent more elaborate and entertaining than anything the Dumbells have given us thus far, which is some claim, as the Dumbells have been their own criterion for the past three years in the theatrical field in Canada.

That the boys' ambition to outdo themselves in this, their latest offering, has met with deserved success is the pride of every Canadian, and that we in Canada are to have the pleasure of seeing the new revue before it goes into the States is a mattr of congratulation. Among the song hits in the new show are Ross Hamilton's "Widows Are Wonderful" and "Say, You'll Not Forget," Albert Plunkett's "Kiss Me Again" and "Coal Black Mammy of Mine", "Red" Newman's Coster Characterizations and "I'm A Daddy, and Arthur Holland's "Something Doing Over the Way". The big spectacular numbers are "The Dumbell Fashion Parade", "Girl of My Dreams", Incense" and "Mandalay." The six comedians of the company, "Red" Newman, Jimmie Goode, Bill Tennent, Ted Charter, Charles McLean and Jerry Brayford, have been supplied with a wealth of new material, both in songs and sketches. The Quartette has a budget of new songs and Freddie Fenwick has a knock-out number in "Joshua."

THE DE FEO COMPANY

The visit to Peterboro last night of the De Feo Grand Opera Company which gave a superb performance of Donezetti's masterpiece Lucia Di Lammermoor at the Grand will rank as one of the biggest musical events in several seasons. The De Feo company is probably the most finished and complete opera organization that has been heard here and the production of Lucia the first time the Donizette opera has been sung in Peterboro was a revelation to the music lovers who were fortunate enough to be present.

While the music of Lucia is best known by reason of the famous sextette and the mad scene so successfully sung by Madame Tetrazzini, it contains other numbers that are on a level in merit with these two gems and the magnificent cast of the De Feo company took every advantage of the opportunities offered them.

Chief honours were perhaps carried off by Madame Casselotti whose singing of the wonderful music of the mad scene and full justice to the possibilities of the part Madame Casselotti's voice possesses the sonority and flexibility that this number demands and in addition she displayed the histrionic ability required for a realistic portrayal of the mental suffering of the unhappy Lucia.

Signor Diaz, the Edgar of last night's cast justified his selection for this important role by his splendid work, his rich voice being heard perhaps to the best advantage in the striking number in the(last act "Fra poco a me ricovero" (Farewell to Earth).

L. Dallemolle, the possessor of a resonnant and pure baritone was most successful in the role of Sir Henry Ashton and the basso work of L. Bozzano contributed much to the effectiveness of the performance.

The immortal sextette "Chi mi frena" (What Restrains me) was given a rendition worthy of the all round excellence of the production.

Any reference to the programme that did not pay tribute to the excellent orchestra would be an injustice for the band which accompanied the opera had a large space in the honours of the evening. The flute obligato furnished for the mad scene was a master-piece and the harpist scored heavily in the prelude preceeding "Regnava nel Silenzio".

Peterboro music lovers have the De Feo Opera Company to thank for a most enjoyable evening.

GREY HEADED BUT A GREAT PLAYER

Jimmy Austin, Hard on 40, Joins Browns as a Sub. and Swings a Wicked Bat.

By BILLY EVANS.

On his way to his fortieth birthday and still soaking doubles and triples in the American League—James P .Austin!

And they say youth must be served

How many athletes can boast of such a record? When most of them turn the page of the book to the 30-year mark they are fading and bound for the minor league ash-heap.

But thre is an athlete with gray hairs hanging behind his ears, of course not as spry as he was 10 years ago, but still useful enough to handle the job without disgracing himself or his team.

Austin's return to the third corner fo rthe St. Louis Browns occurred several weeks ago. Of course, it was just a temporary assignment due to an injury to Frank Ellerbe.

Austin arrived at third base with cheers from the fans ringing in his ears. In his first game he was against the Washington Senators. The pitcher was Walter Johnson and Walt is still fast enough to buzz them past the eyes and the swings of the batters.

At the start of the eighth inning the score was a tie, 6-6.

Early in the scrap Johnson had fanner Sisler and Williams, mighty sons of swat. Jacobson had failed to get the ball out of the infield and Johnny Tobin had been stopped on two fouls to the first baseman.

The Browns were up in their eighth.

With two out, Williams walked.

Jimmy Austin was the batter. He gritted his teeth, jerked cap and belt, as he is known to do, and saw the smoke-ball burning the air from Johnston's palm to the plate. Austin saw it and swung. He sent a line drive against the right field fence for a double, winning the game for the Browns.

Some debut for a 40-year-old substitute!

Austin has passed out as a regular performer, but he is valued high enough by the Browns to be retained.

During the past two years he has received at least a dozen offers to manage minor league clubs but the Browns have refused to part with him. They know his value as a peppery coach and a chap to keep everybody moving, for there isn't a dull moment in a game with Jimmy Aupstin around.

Austin was born Dec. 8, 1882, at Swansea, Wales. He started his career with Dayton, in the Central League in 1904. He moved to Omaha in 1907 and showing a record of 97 stolen bases in 1908, was sold to the New York Yankees. He joined St. Louis in 1911, in a trade for Roy Hartzell and has been with the Browns ever since.

TWO OLD TIMERS TAKE THE COUNT.

Shades of the old timers! Frank Moran beaten by Joe Beckett! Frank must be ready for the pugilistic grave when he is beaten by the sometimes calld champion heavyweight canvas-kisser. More complete cable reports to-day regarding the Moran-Beckett battle in London Thursday night said that Moran was beaten worse than his seconds thought when the referee stopped the bout in the seventh round.

The story told of Moran's debacle, also stated "Jack Bloomfield stopped one Bombardier Wells, also of England, in the sixth round." Let's see— Bombardier Wells, also of England—yes, there used to be a fighter by that name. They are certainly easily pleased over in London when they pay real money to see the old gentlemen scrap.

SCHIMDT MAY GO.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—Barney Dreyfuss, president o tthe Pittsburg National League Baseball Club, intimated yesterday that Walter Schmidt the catcher may not be with the Pirates next season.

"No contract has been offered Schmidt," said Dreyfuss. "When I said good bye to him nothing was mentioned about terms for next year."

There have been rumors that Schimdt may be sold or traded. He and Dreyfuss have been loggerheads for two season, chiefly because of Schmidt's salary demands.

The signed contract of Reb Russell, the outfielder, has been received .

GAMES POSTPONED.

KINGSTON, Oct. 14.—The Rugby double-header scheduled for today between R.M.C. and Queen's in the intermediate and junior sections of the C.I.R.F.U. has been postponed. The dates for the games have not yet been announced, but it is likely that they will be played some Wednesday in the near future. The return games ccheduled for this coming Wednesday will probably be the first instead of the second.

GET READY FOR THE CHASE.

Special Train For Hunters.

The open season for hunting deer and moose in Northern Ontario is rapidly approaching. South of the French and Mattawa Rivers, Nov. 5th to Nov. 20th inclusive; north and west of these rivers, Oct. 25th to No. 30th inclusive. North of the Transcontinental Railway Line the season is from Sept. 15th to Nov. 15th inclusive.

The Canadian National Railways traverse the finest hunting territory in this country. This fact with their special and regular train service makes "The National Way" the premier line for the hunter. The hunting grounds are so vast there is game for everyone.

The selection of grounds is a most important matter and one which requires careful study. The territory reached by the Canadian National lines north of Parry Sound is already a favorite one, but the new country east and west of Capreol is as yet comparatively little known to the hunter and should, therefore, be highly attractive to the follower of the deer and moose.

The Canadian National Railways are providing special train service, which, with regular trains, will meet all demands. Special trains will be operated as follows: Leave Toronto Union Station 11.15 p.m. Oct. 31st for Capreol and intermediate points, and 11.15 p.m. Nov. 2nd, 3rd and 4th for Key Jct. and intermediate points. The usual ample accommodation of sleeping cars, baggage cars and coaches will be provided.

The Annual Hunters' Leaflet issued by the Canadian National Railways is now ready for distribution, and may be obtained on application to any agent of the Company, or write General Passenger Department, Room 607, Royal Bank Bldg., Toronto. 6d-14-18-21-25-28-30

Miller's Statement.

In his statement of defense Norman Miller says that on Nov. 8, 1920, he agreed at the request of Mr. Copping to sell all his interest in and claims against Motor Car Distributors Limited for $13,385.54, and Copping agreed to purchase the total interest of Miller for $4,000 in four days and the balance in two months. Copping paid the sum of $5,000 on or about Nov. 16.

Motor Car Distributors Limited sold to Lemieux & Copping, Motor Distributors, Limited, a Quebec company, on Nov. 22, 1920, all the assets of Motor Car Distributors for $35,000, to be paid by the issue and allotment of 350 fully paid shares in the Quebec company. At the time of this agreement Copping owned almost all the capital stock of Motor Car Distributors Limited and was one of the promoters of the purchasing company, Lemieux & Copping. Mr. Miller denies ever having dealings direct or indirect with Mrs. Copping, or through any agent or other person, and denies all liability to her whatever. This case is in the non-jury list.

Mrs. Edith Stewart vs. Cecil W. Starke.

Both parties in this action live in Otonabee. Plaintiff desired to purchase a farm, and in April, 1922, her husband visited defendant's farm in Otonabee. It is alleged that Starke told plaintiff's husband that the lower part of the farm were well drained and that he had spent $2,000 in laying tile drains; that in 1921 he had raised and sold 800 bushels and had 300 bushels of mixed grain and 50 bushels of buckwheat left after selling 800 bushels of grain from the farm; also that he had sold 75 bushels of alsike and 50 bushels of sweet clover, and fed 32 head of cattle last winter. Starke is also alleged to have said that a creek on the place was a never-failing stream, when, as a matter of fact, it dries up in summer; also that 13 Holstein cattle were registered, whereas not one was registered.

Other representations were made and Mrs. Stewart bought the farm, stock and chattels for $11,500, paying $500 on deposit, and lost $2,000 by selling her own stock in a dull market in order to enter on the farm. She paid $2,500 altogether on the purchase and gave a chattel mortgage for the balance. In her claim she asks that the mortgage be declared null and void; also for the $2,500 paid, and $3,000 damages with costs.

Defendant denies having given wrong information and asks that the action be dismissed. Mr. Starke says that prior to the execution of the agreement he offered to sell his stock and chattels to make room for those of plaintiff, but at her option she decided to sell her own effects.

Defendant says Mr. Stewart examined the farm and knew or could have ascertained all the facts himself, and that after the purchase plaintiff insured the farm for $10,000.

Gordon & O'Brien for plaintiff, Hall & Hall for defendant. This also is a non-jury case.

Shortly after she was bitten her cheek began to swell and the swelling spread over her face.

FIGHTING HAS BROKEN OUT AGAIN AT FIUMEE

An Ancona message states that Italian destroyers have been dispatched to prevent the departure of Fascisti forces from Zara for Fiume.

MODERN BUILDINGS GOING UP IN LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 14.—(Associated Press).—Nearing completion on the crest of Tower Hill, its own tower rivalling in height the dome of St. Paul's, is the most impressive, the most palatial, the best lighted and probably the most conveniently arranged group of business buildings ever erected in London.

It is the new palace of the Port of London Authority, the future home of the administration and staff that control all the docks, the wharves and the commercial life of the Thames. The buildings cost $10,000,000, and are acclaimed by architects as one of the structural treasures of London.

In the English Renaissance style, and rich in sculptural reliefs, it is a building of five stories. Each of the four sides faces directly a cardinal point of the compass. There is a frontal portico supported by corinthian columns carried up through three stories.

HINDENBURG WILLING.

BERLIN, Oct. 14. — (Canadian Press).—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg has expressed his willingness to offer himself as a candidate for election to the German Presidency, the Vossische Zeitung stated yesterday. The Field Marshal's acceptance, it declares, was at the request of the German National People's Party.

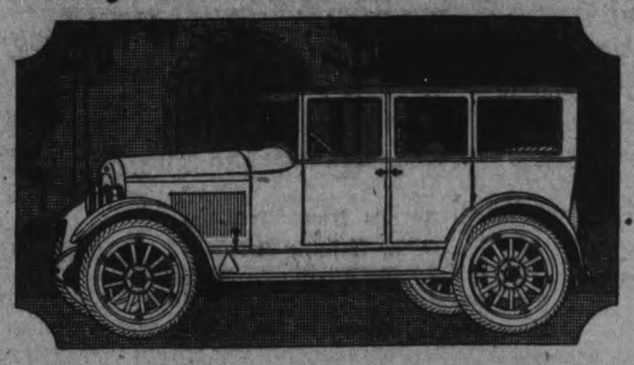
A Roomy Sedan of Sturdy Strength



6 Cylinders—50 Horsepower—5 Passenger

The price of the Jewett Sedan is so astonishingly low that unless one has personal knowledge of the character and quality of this car of amazing value, a false classification is not an unnatural impression.

The Jewett is not a "light six" Sedan. It is a roomy, powerful, five-passenger enclosed car of distinction. It is powered with a six cylinder, 3¼ x 5 inch motor installed in a husky chassis in which every unit is built for excess strength.

Here is a Sedan that can be matched only by enclosed cars selling for at least $500 more than the Jewett. This is a statement certainly worth investigating. You can prove its validity by a demonstration which will be arranged to suit your convenience.

FAITH IN PETERBORO'S FUTURE IS EXEMPLIFIED BY LOCAL FIRM

D. Belleghem & Sons Complete Extensive Alterations and Improvements to Their Hunter Street Building—One of the Show Places of the City—Not Equalled Anywhere in Canada.

No greater faith can be manifested in the future of a city than the willingness of its business men and merchants to expend large sums of money in an effort to provide equipment and service in keeping with the times and on a scale with that is to be found only in the larger cities. An example of this spirit of progressiveness is strongly evident in the firm of D. Belleghem & Sons, who this summer made extensive alterations to their Hunter street building. To-day it stands as one of the show places of Peterborough business section and is a striking tribute to the energy and foresight of this old established firm.

Forty-four years ago the business was founded by Daniel Belleghem and carried on until his death in May, 1920. He was succeeded by his sons, Walter T. Belleghem and Arthur W. Belleghem. Since taking over the business the building has been completely reconstructed and it is no exaggeration to say that the results cannot be equalled anywhere in the Dominion of Canada.

Furniture Building.

The east half of the building known as 188 Hunter street, comprises the furniture department and consists of three floors completely stocked with furnishings of all kinds for both home and office. The front of the building is of Gothic design and includes a copper front in keeping with the majestic appearance of the building. The interior finish is ivory and has a beautiful sidelight effect. At the rear of this building is a four storey modern storage building for the storage of furniture and surplus stock.

The west half of the building, known as 190 Hunter street, is given over to the Funeral Home. The imposing front of this building has to be seen to be appreciated. It is of chapel design and includes besides the vestibule and office, two private rooms, a show room equipped with the latest panelled wall cabinets, also another room devoted to the work which is finished in white enamel. The right hand side of the vestibule leads to the apartments above, occupuied by the owners. The left hand side leads to the office on the left, two private rooms with doors opening into the chapel which may be used for immediate friends, also a side entrance. The chapel itself is a large room 20 x 30 feet, with beamed ceiling and stucco finish, suitably lighted. The woodwork is British Columbia fir, golden wax finish and hardwood floors throughout. In the rear of this building is the garage containing complete motor and horse driven equipment including the ambulance service to which special attention is given by the firm The entire building is equipped with an inter-communicating telephone service On the outisde of the building are two wall lights which add a dignified touch to the handsome Gothic exterior.

The Contractors.

Those responsible for the successful completion of this work are as follows:

W. H. Barry, architect, who carried the work out in accordance with the original plan and who made several trips to other places in Canada and the United States with a view of securing the latest equipment and construction ideas for this work.

The general contract was let to McIntyre Bros, contractors of this city who carried out their contract in a most efficient manner.

The hot water system was installed by Archibald and Richmond, the brick work by William Mein, the stone word and tiling by M. Halliday, the electrical work by Grant and Thorpe, the painting and decorating by Ferguson and O'Connor, the plastering by William Saxby and Sons, tinsmith work by W. R. Turner and Sons, plumbing by R. G. Sturgeon, flooring by the Peterborough Lumber Company, interior trim by A. McDonald and B. B. Morden, glass by Peterborough Hardware, hardware by Kingan Hardware Company, purchased through Peterborough Lock Co.

So far as it was possible the work was awarded to local contractors and all supplies purchased in the city.

The entire building has a 66 foot frontage and 450 feet deep and represents one of the most modern combined furniture and undertaking establishments in Canada.

CARS COLLIDED ON GRAVEL ROAD

Toronto Bound Automobile Reported to Have Skidded on Loose Gravel

While motoring west on the Gravel Road on Friday afternoon about two o'clock, S. J. Massey, of Toronto, collided with a car driven by J. W. Rorabeck, of Cobourg, who was on his way to the Hillcrest-Belleville ball game in Peterborough.

It was reported by Provincial Constable George Cookman, who happened to be in the vicinity of the accident at the time that Mr. Massey's car apparently slewed in the gravel on the outside of the road and swung across toward the opposite side, striking the Cobourg car, which was considerably damaged, while Mr. Massey's came out of the collision with a bent axle and one wheel off.

AN OPEN SESSION OF ASSOCIATION

An open meeting of the Prince of Wales Home and School Association took place last evening in the school hall, Mr. J. F. Morrison in the chair.

"O Canada" opened the musical programme, which was composed of vocal solos by Miss Black and Mr. John Anderson, with an instrumental selection by Miss Isabel Donnelly, who also played, with Miss Edna M. Allin, the accompaniments for the vocalists.

Short addresses were made by the chairman the president of the Association, Mrs. P. H. Neville, and by Mr. A. Mowat, who gave an interesting talk on the recent visit of the teachers to Rochester.

Mr. Leon Frazer was the speaker of the evening. He encouraged the children in their pursuit of knowledge, and said that honesty and truthfulness were keynotes in success in life.

At the close of the business session, dainty refreshments were served by the ladies of the Home and School Association.

Entrance certificates were presented by the principal, Mr. K. S. Wightman, to the following successful pupils:

Robert Allin, Vernon Beavis, Marjorie Byers, R. Calmer, Stanley Chambers, Norman Curtin, Olive Dixon. Ruby Evans, Winnifred Evans, Isabel Fry, Max Freeman, Allan Gray, Reginald Green, Mabel Hughes, Helen Hollingsworth, Jack Kingdon, Lily Kay, Donald Lord, Jack McClellan, Harry Northrop, Beulah Neville Belford Nelson, Chas. Nixon, Beatrice Pogue, Marguerite Rome, Gerald Routley, Mary Staples, Mark Swanger, Jack Thomas, Betty Robertson, and Lila Deyell.

DOUGHNUTS.

(By. Bertha E. Shapleigh, of Columbia University).

One and three-quarter cups sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 eggs, 1 cup sweet milk, 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 2 teaspoons cream tartar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon nutmeg.

Beat together the sugar, butter and eggs. Add milk and flour sifted with soda, cream of tartar, salt, and nutmeg.

Mix thoroughly, and add from one-half to one cup flour or sufficient flour to make a stiff dough which will drop from the spoon.

Place in ice box or in a cold place over night or for several hours.

Roll, cut, and fry.

Many cooks find it difficult to make doughnuts which, if they keep their shape when cut, are too stiff.

The housekeeper who gives this recipe makes the best tasting and the best keeping doughnuts the writer has ever eaten. She attributes her success to the small amount of flour used and the standing fo ra long enough time to make it possible to handle a soft dough.

Mud Will Bring Bloom of Youth Back to Any Face

By MARGARET ROHE.

Is your complexion sallow, dear?
Have you big pores? Is your face queer?
If so, I pray you, shed no tear,
Just spread on clay from ear to ear.
Just make a mud pie in your face
And give it 30 minutes' grace.
Of blemish then there'll be no trace
And as a beauty you'll win place.

NEW YORK.—Now we know what they mean when they talk about the beauty crop!

Pulchritude in these days of 1922 is being cultivated just like the garden.

If you want your slightly withered face to grow like unto a blooming rose all you need ti do is to add a little top soil to your physiognomy and the blooming mud will do the rest.

When you take your muddy complexion to Elizabeth Arden, Dorothy Gray or Kathleen Mary Quinlan, these high priestesses of beauty and facial esthetics are sure just to add a little more mud.

Of course, in the parlance of their salons de luxe a face pack is what you get at $5 and $10 per pack. Nevertheless its name is mud at any price.

Though all the beauty specialists do you dirt still after the application of one of these facial mud pies even Venus will have no more on you than she had on herself and that wasn't much if we are to believe the Venus family album.

How It's Done.

When you go to have your face done in mud at a salon de beaute the masseuse first smears your helpless countenance with cleansing cream. As one of your vital needs she next kneads in a tissue cream.

When this is wiped off a gooey paste of the mud or clay is daubed on, nice and hot, and you are then set aside to cool.

As the clay mask drys your face begins to tingle, and when it's all a-twitter the clay is softened with cold water compresses and then washed off.

Oil is then poured on your troubled countenance to remove any stray particle of mud from each and every open pore. An astringent is dabbed on next and then comes a rub down with ice.

After this frosty finish you are smartly slapped in the face with a patter and then you may take your rejuvenated countenance home and show it off to your admiring friends and family.

Try It Yourself.

If you want to make your own facial mud pies and do a little clay slinging in your own boudoir and face, all sorts of special bargains in complexion clays are being advertised these days.

All you have to do is send the coupon from your favorite magazine with postage and $1.95 and a $5 jar of wonder working complexion clay is yours.

It's guaranteed to put a different complexion on things in 40 minutes, only for goodness sake don't forget you have it on and answer the door bell in the mud like the matron next door did last week. The shocked postman thought the poor soul was mortified—which indeed she was.

When it comes to a question of mud and minutes another house offers to supply you a jar of clay for $1.87 which will do the dirty work in only 30 minutes.

This is undoubtedly some clay feat. Considering what it costs one to wallow in the luxury of a mud facial at a Fifth avenue beauty salon, these marked-down clay days for the home and fireside face certainly are dirt cheap.

Facts

The greatest handicap to the average person today is his unwillingness to face facts. You may theorize, argue and explain until the crack of doom and facts will still remain as unchanged as time. CHIROPRACTIC IS BASED ON FACT. At first thought it may seem absurd to state that the great majority of human ills result from some abnormality of the spine. Yet, upon second thought, this contention is neither absurd nor illogical. On the contrary, it is the most reasonable conclusion to be reached.

AN ABNORMAL SPINE

causes pressure upon nerves which interferes with the transmission of life energy to the tissues. This results in ill-health. Chiropractic Vertebral Adjustments correct abnormalities of the spine and relieve nerve pressure.

It is a fact that sick people are restored to normal health through Chiropractic. IF YOU DO NOT FEEL 100% EFFICIENT 'PHONE US TODAY AND ARRANGE AN APPOINTMENT.

SAY L:LD. GEORGE'S SPEECH BELITTLED FRANCE'S EFFORTS

British Reinforcements Had Nothing to Do With Peace-Making in Near East, Declares M. Franklin-Bouillon.

PEACE ASSURED

PARIS, Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press.) — Henri Franklin-Boullion, French peace envoy to the Turkish Nationalist, reached here this morning and declared his conviction that peace was assured. "I had to use all my personal influence with Mustapha Kemal," he said, "but the fight was severer on the side of our British allies. They were stubborn, albeit courteous."

FRENCH INTERVENTION.

"French intervention on the shores of the Bosphorus created great enthusiasm among our Turkfriends, for they really are our friends," added M. Franklin-Bouillon.

"This memory of our part in bringing about peace will long be cherished in Turkey."

The French envoy was all smiles as he spoke of France's part in the Turkish settlement, but his face quickly sobered at the mention of Prime Minister Lloyd Georg's Manchester speech.

"I shall have something to say about this," declared M. Franklin-Bouillon. "British reinforcements had nothing to do with peace-making, and the British Premier's speech would go a long way toward endangering it now were it not built upon a solid basis." He also regretted that Lloyd George's speech belittled French efforts.

Warranted to Cure Grouchy Husbands

NEW YORK, Oct. 16. — Wives whose husbands always scowl, there's hope!

Mrs. Mary Leonard had one, and she hauled him before Magistrate John Kochendorfer.

"He drinks too much, and always scowls," she said.

Then the judge laid down these five rules which he guaranteed to make a gurgling joy dispenser out of the worst grouch:

1. Get a good joke book and read it.
2. Go to a funny moving picture show once in awhile, with the family.
3. See good vaudeville with the family, now and then.
4. Practice smiling in front of the mirror.
5. Leave third rail whisky alone.

A USELESS WAR WAS VERY NEAR

And Lloyd George Responsible, Deciares Indian Press—Appeal to Fanaticism.

LONDON, Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—The Times of India, commenting on Lloyd George's speech of Saturday, says it was a series of paltry theatricals in an endeavor to prove that the British Government's policy saved the empire from war and made a settlement of the Near East question possible. On the contrary, it contends the government came as near as any government ever came to the embroiling of the empire in a useless, avertable war.

The Bombay Chronicle described the speech as an appeal to the ignorant fanaticism of what the politicians call a "religious public," supported by "facts" supplied by Greek and Armenian lie factories."

MEETING TO-DAY.

Conservative members of the Government have been summoned to meet to-day to decide whether they shall continue their support of the coalition under the leadership of Premier Lloyd George. The meeting which was called by Austin Chamberlain, Lord of the Privy Seal and Government Leader in the House of Commons, will include not only Conservatives in the Cabinet, but under secretaries belonging to the party. It is believed that Mr. Chamberlain will be backed by Lord Birkenhead and Sir Robert Horne in his adhesion to the Premier, but the attitude of others is regarded as more doubtful.

A New School Year For Russian Children

MOSCOW, Oct. 16.—(Associated Press.—Russian children have started a new school year with little prospect of better conditions than they endured during the revolution.

In the Siberian district the indebtedness of the government to the teachers for salaries has reached the sum of over 85,000,000,000 rubles, says a recent report to the district Soviet. This is a mere fraction of the total amount due to instructors in salaries. In some districts teachers have not been paid for many months and the officials have even ceased to keep account of the arrears.

The lot of Russian school teachers has been a hard one. In the villages they have been somewhat better cared for than in the cities themselves the peasants have taxed themselves to contribute to the necessary expenses; have themselves cut wood for the school fuel, and have repaired many school houses. In the cities the schools have been left to governmental care. As a result of these conditions many teachers are turning to other means of earning a living.

The plan of the Communists for a free and unificd school system is having hard sledding. Decree after decree has been passed forbidding the collection of fees from parents for their childrens' education, but local school authorities from time to time make "assessments" upon the parents for the various expenses involved in maintaining the schools.

For the first time in months student firemen are being taken on the strength and are making trial trips.

Lacoste comes up for preliminary trial to-morrow on the charge of robbery and murder of Matoff.

STRONG APPEAL FOR NORTHERN SUFFERERS.

The latest word from Northern Ontario is that snowfalls have added to the misery of the fire sufferers. Women walked into Haileybury in high-heeled slippers and were ankle deep in mud and slush. Smoking Hurts Finest Reactions But Does Not Retard Ordinary Workers

BALTIMORE, Oct. 16.—An exhaustive inquiry into the effect of tobacco in various forms on different types of smokers, conducted in the psychological laboratory of the Johns Hopkins University over a period of three years by Dr. Knight Dunlap and associates has shown that the immediate effect of smoking is a "lowering of the accuracy of finely co-ordinated reaction, but that there is no indication that the speed of complicated reactions is affected."

The results of the experiments, appear in the current number of the Journal of Comparative Psychology. They form, the experimenters are careful to point out, only the basis for a more detailed investigation.

Students at the university, outsiders and the psychologists themselves were employed as "re-actors", or subjects for experimentation. Every possible variation in the conditions surrounding the use of tobaaco was used. Non-smokers, occasional smokers and inveterate users were tested. Tests were taken before smoking, during the process, after smoking and following a day of "rest".

"There is no indication", the report says, 'that thoroughly mechanized reactions requiring no fine motor adjustments, are affected." This would apply to the motor process and thought processes of the man in an ordinary clerical or other subordinate business position.

"With regard to men engaged in intellectual work, the situation may be different."

WHY IS PETERBORO SADDLED WITH SHARE OF CAPITAL POWER COST?

A Large Number of Power and Light Users Would Like Information in Detail on Operations by Central Ontario Power Commission—Letter of Enquiry by R. R. Hall, K.C.

Peterborough, Oct. 14th.

W. D. Gregory, Esq., K.C.,
Chairman Hydro Electrical Enquiry Commission.
Toronto, Ont.

Mr. Chairman,—The advertisement of your commission in The Peterborough Examiner gives notice of a meeting of your commission at the Parliament Buildings for Tuesday, the 17th of October, 1922, at ten-thirty a.m., for the purpose of hearing any persons who may desire to be heard respecting the Central Ontario Power Commission.

A large number of power and light users in the city of Peterborough would like to have the following information:

On page 172 of the 14th annual report of the Hydro-electric Power Commission for the year ending the 31st of October, 1921, it appears that Peterborough's share of the capital cost of the Central Ontario power system on which interest and fixed charges are payable amounts to the sum of $924,866.02, and that the rate per horse power that this city is charged with by the commission during the year amounts to the sum of $22.50 per horse power. Information is required in detail showing how this assumed liability against this city of $924,866.02 is arrived at, and also how the rate of $22.50 per horse power charged against this city is arrived at.

You will observe by the certain other information is furnished respecting Peterborough and other places on pages 172 and 173 of the report. Similar information should be furnished by the Hydro-electric Power Commission respecting all other cities, towns, villages and hamlets that purchase power through the commission in Central Ontario, and particularly Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Cobourg, Lindsay, Belleville, Napanee and Kingston.

You will observe by the Statutes of Ontario 1916, Chapter 18, that the Ontario Government is the owner of the Central Ontario power system, and that under a certain order-in-Council approved by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and dated the 5th day of May, 1916, the Hydro-electric Power Commission is appointed manager of the Central Ontario power undertakings for the Ontario Government and power is reserved to dispense with the services of the Hydro Commission.

Full detailed information should be furnished showing by what authority the Hydro Commission assumes to charge Peterborough with a share of the capital cost of the system, and why a similar charge is not made against all other cities, towns, villages and hamlets that purchase power from this Central Ontario system.

You will further observe on pages 170 and 171 of the 14th annual report that the Hydro Commission made a loss for the year on the operation of a pulp mill and Brunton Township pulpwood areas of $17,693.64. Is this loss charged up to the power and light users in the Central Ontario system?

On pages 168 and 169 it appears that there is an operating deficit by the Hydro Commission respecting this system of $168,930.15. Is that loss also to be charged up to the power and light users in this district. Detailed information should be furnished showing how such loss was made and what steps are to be taken to prevent a similar loss in the future?

On the same page you will also observe an item for doubtful accounts, $7,251.70. The charge for power is made, I believe, against municipalities. What municipalities are in default and what is the necessity for the making of such a provision?

On page 168 you will notice among the assets is an account receivable for a debt payable by municipalities in respect to the operation of rural lines amounting to the sum of $10,899.09. What municipalities have made default in paying this item? How long has it been in arrear, and what excuse do these municipalities make for their default? An itemized list of the local Utilities, referred to on page 168, should be given showing in detail each of their respective receipts and expenditures for the year ending the 31st of October, 1921, should be furnished in detail together with each of their respective profit and loss accounts.

From the data given on page 172 it may be deduced that the capital cost per horse power of each of the following places stands as follows, namely: Peterborough, $204.10; Whitby, $238.21; Picton, $549.89; Lakefield, $416.46; Wellington, $502.31; Marmora, $705.26; Norwood, $731.99; Bloomfield, $744.91; Havelock, $1,529.77.

Similar detailed information should be furnished showing what capital cost per horse power is chargeable to all the other cities, towns and villages which receive power from this system.

It is proposed by the Hydro-electric Commission that 64 municipalities in Central Ontario should purchase the entire system. Detailed information should be furnished showing the terms and conditions upon which it is proposed that these properties should be sold to these 64 municipalities, what the assets consist of and the amount of the purchase price it is proposed to charge against each municipality, the extent of the liability to be assumed by each and the terms and conditions of payment, by whom is the property to be managed and what voice will each respective municipality have in the proposed partnership, what provision is to be made providing for the payment of losses and what provision will be made for future development and how is it proposed that each municipality should pay for the same and to what exent. In the event of there being a shortage of power, what municipalities are to be subjected to the loss and inconvenience?

It is respectfully submitted that comprehensive and detailed information should be furnished to your commission of every phase of the assets and liabilities and the operations of the entire system.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
R. R. HALL.

ROTARY HEARS OF FINE WORK FOR HUMANITY

Rev. Dr. Pidgeon Gives Eloquent Address on Objects of the Social Service Council.

TO-DAY'S LUNCHEON

The aims and objects of the Social Service Council were graphically presented to the members of the Peterborough Rotary Club at their luncheon to-day by Rev. Dr. G. C. Pidgeon, of Toronto, president of the Ontario Social Service Council, whose address was one of the most enjoyable and eloquent that local Rotary has had the pleasure of hearing. The members of the club, it is assured, came away from the luncheon with a much better understanding and appreciation of the work of the Social Service Council than they had hitherto enjoyed.

Among the visitors to-day were Rev. J. F. Chapman, president of the Peterborough Service Council; Rotarian Pierce Landers, Indianapolis, superintendent of the Indianapolis Union Railway; Harold Wilgar of Peterborough, and David Booth, of Toronto.

A. Mowat, Public School Inspector, was introduced as the baby member of Peterborough Rotary.

In commencing his address, Rev. Dr. Pidgeon pointed out that there were numerous factors entering into the question of social service work. Among those he listed were a new conception of the worth of the individual, as brought out by the war, the development of a community spirit first engendered by living conditions in the West, the growth of a new patriotism, and pride in race, and an increasing internationalistic spirit. All of these forces, Dr. Pidgeon contended, were a menace if they were misdirected.

Dealing with the work of the Social Service Council, the speaker described the methods by which that organization endeavored to be of service. He especially emphasized the investigations carried on by the Council. Invariably, if a request were made for action, the organization first investigated the conditions thoroughly, and prepared a statement setting forth all the facts to lay before the authorities with a recommendation for action. The Council laid down no fixed policy for any community. Rather they sought to enlist the leading spirits in a community to endeavor to deal with the problems affecting it and bring about the solution best fitted to its peculiar needs.

Much had been accomplished as a result of these methods, and the speaker urged his hearers to take an interest in the work of the Council.

Rotarian Rev. Harold Young expressed the appreciation of the Peterborough Rotarians of Rev. Dr. Pidgeon's eloquent address and promised that the members would display a keener interest in its aims and objects.

The rounds of applause that followed showed how deeply impressed had been the members by the splendid address.

After being remanded twice, the case of Davis Hill, of Dummer, is occupying attention by the Police Court to-day.

Hill is charged with having on September 29, poisoned a cow, the property of his sister-in-law, May Hill, also of Dummer.

Evidence by Russell Hill and his wife, May, and also by Provincial Constable George Cookman, who made the arrest, took up the whole of this morning. The case is proceeding this afternoon.

EXTRADITABLE CASES.

OTTAWA, Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press.)— Wilful desertion or wilful non-support of minor or dependent children has been added to the list of extraditable offences as between the United States and Canada. The addition was made as the result of a supplementary convention signed in London on May 15, 1922, by Hon. Geo. Harvey, United States' Ambassador to London, and Lord Curzon, British Secretary for Foreign Affairs.

No matter how great a philosopher a man may be, he can never figure out how he caught a cold.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO SECURE EXTENSION HERE OF THE C.G.E.

But Peterboro Must Act Quickly as Many Municipalities Will Bid for Acquisition of Big Plant in Toronto — A Going Concern and Leading Industry.

COMPETITION KEEN

With the likelihood of the Canadian General Electric Company removing a portion and eventually the whole of its big Toronto plant elsewhere, the question arises, what is Peterborough going to do about it?

At first sight, with the company's principal electric works established in Peterborough, it would seem that this city should be the logical destination of the Toronto plant or departments thereof when transferred. But it must be borne in mind that, logically speaking, Rockfield, near Montreal, where the company have not only a plant but plenty of expansion room, will undoubtedly be in the running after this, altogether desirable Toronto addition; and when any Quebec community bids for additional industries, the inducements offered are generous in the extreme.

Peterborough has many advantages to offer manufactories, but so have other localities, and in these days of keen competition for new industries, unless Peterborough is alert when opportunity offers, and couples with her advantages inducement (within the law) commensurate with those attainable by the prospect from her competitors then she loses in the race for industrial expansion. In the main, such is the principle governing the acquisition of new industries to-day in Canada, and that principle is vigorously operative, especially so in Quebec.

During the past few years Peterborough has had a commendable Manufacturers' Committee of the City Council, together with a capable Industrial Commissioner, both sufficiently conservative to discriminate between the wheat and the tares of new industrial propositions, and as a result, a number of fine industries have located here in the past ten years. The committee's operations have always been in support of encouraging expansion by the C.G.E. in this city, and it does seem that opportunity again knocks at Peterborough's doors for at least doubling that company's already extensive plant here.

The C.G.E. is a going concern, its products are those of a leading industry with future possibilities one might say beyond comparison. The growth of the local plant is apparent and, as one citizen puts it, that plant has been the hub from which Peterborough's progress has radiated to no inconsiderable extent.

And so, let us hope that those community bodies, elective and otherwise, who aim to conserve and foster this city's prosperity, will lose no time in taking action to secure, if possible, the acquisition by Peterborough of that big C.G.E. Tornto plant. Surely 4,000 additional work hands is a plum worth plucking, if pluck we can, and it should not be altogether beyond Peterborough's reach on the tree of municipal competition for industries. Four, or even two thousand new citizens would mean a big thing for this community—increased mercantile business, a stimulus to the building trades, a boosted citizenship of taxpayers to share in the burden of municipal maintenance, and enbanced prosperity and progress generally.

In any event, transference of the Toronto C.G.E. plant is projected; the company's eyes are turned toward Peterborough in prospective vision as a possible new location; and representative men here will be found wanting should they not see to it that Peterborough is not passed by for lack of concerting representation to the company's officials that this community is in the field, competitively so if need be.

Barber-Made" Man Proves a Barbarian

CHICAGO, Oct. 6. — "Little Bill" Hays couldn't stand prosperity. The United Barbers' Association picked "Little Bill" up off West Madison Street, hungry and ragged and transformed him into a Beau Brummel by giving him a shave, shampoo, hair cut, bath, massage and a new outfit of clothes. They also got him a job and gave him a big feed and a little pocket money.

"Little Bill" was pointed out as a living example of the tonsorial axiom that "the barber makes the man."

But "Little Bill" heard the call of the wild, and didn't show up for his new job as he had promised.

Inquiry revealed that Patrolman Kucider had found "Little Bill" lying on the sidewalk — dead drunk. Later he appeared in court, a bristle on his chin and his new clothes muddy and torn, to be fined $5 and costs.

WILL ESTABLISH DEATH PENALTY

Free State Covernment's Offer of Amnesty Expired at Midnight.

DUBLIN, Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press). — The Free State Government's offer of amnesty for persons bearing arms or retaining premises unlawfully occupied expired at midnight, and, beginning to-day, the military authorities are empowered to punish offenders with death, deportation, imprisonment or fine.

The Government's offer has almost been ignored, and notices have been published by the "Republican Army Executive," warning all that anyone giving information leading to the punishment of Republicans will be dealt with accordingly, while those acting as members of New Courts will be punished for their "offences against the Republic."

USING BOMBS AGAIN.

BELFAST, Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press).—An intensive search is being conducted for an unknown man who attempted to assassinate Lord Mayor Sir William Coates by placing a bomb at his residence, Carriekefergus, late Saturday night. Guards at the Lord Mayor's home fired upon a figure which did not respond to their challenge, but the intruder made his escape. Search revealed a bomb at the hall door.

NOT AGREED 3 MILE LIMIT

Great Britain Declines to Adopt Reciprocal Right to Search Extension.

WASHINGTON, October 16. — Canadian Press. — Great Britain in a communication delivered to-day to the State Department, is understood to have declined to agree to the suggestion of Secretary Hughes for a reciprocal extension of the right of search and seizure, so as to give the United States prohibition navy jurisdiction outside the 3-mile limit.

At the same time the British foreign office assured the United States government that every precaution would be taken to prevent so far as possible the issuance of fraudulent clearance papers and other improper practices complained of in Secretary Hughes prohibition note. Although the department officials would not discuss the subject there were indications that a refusal to accord reciprocal right of search outside the usual limits of territorial waters would be considered as finally blocking any extension of such authority to prohibition officers.

MAY BE SEIZED.

NEW YORK, Canadian Press.— The United States' Government's contention that a rum runner may be seized outside the three mile limit, but within four leagues off the coast, if it can be shown she has been carrying on an illegal traffic with the United States shores, was upheld by Federal Judge Hazel today in the case against the British schooner Henry L. Marshall. Judge Hazel granted an application for condemnation and forfeiture of the schooner and her cargo of 12,050 cases of liquor, filed by Assistant United States Attorney Clark. The testimony showed that the schooner seized off Atlantic City in August, 1921, had loaded part of her cargo, at Montauk Point and Atlantic City by means of small boats.

Household Hints

BRAIDED FUR.

Braided fur is one of this season's novelties. Squirrel, mole, seal and other short-haired furs make the background for an elaborate pattern of soutache or wider braid designs.

WREATH OF ROSES.

A wreath of quaintly colored roses, mounted on a silver band, makes a charming headdress for a young girl. It affords an expedient way of holding bobbed hair in place in its growing-out days.

BANDANAS.

Besides being the popular material for hats now, bandana handkerchiefs in silks are being used for coat vestees and original looking sashes. Often they make smart handbags to be worn with turbans of the same.

RIBBON.

Ribbon is used extensively in furnishing winter frocks. Sometimes it is woven into girdles with long ends fastening directly in front. Frequently it is made into a full rosette resembling corsage with long falling, knotted ends. This is usually worn at the side front.

LACE TUNIC.

A dinner gown of black velvet has an overtunic of delicate lace threaded with silver and gold. The girdle, palced low, is of twisted strands of gold and silver.

ECONOMY.

Sometimes before shoes really need resoling they get a little thin in places. This may be strengthened by using a little adhesive tape at the inside of the shoe.

PURPLE VELVET.

A high, close-fitting choker collar and long, tight sleeves distinguish a gown of purple velvet from the less conservative models. Exquisite hip drapery is the only attempt at ornamentation.

BLACK SERGE.

Black serge makes the smartest of coat dresses when combined with broad bands of fur. Frequently, too it is ornamented with gold or scarlet braid.

EFFECTIVE GIRDLE.

A wide band of rhinestones makes an effective girdle for a frock of silver lace, combined with pale gray crepe. The relieving bit of color is supplied by a flame-colored fan.

HENRY FORD WILL SAIL AGAINST THE BLUENOSE

Gloucester Boat Won First Two of the Elimination Races For U.S. Honors.

A CLOSE RACE.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., October 16 Canadian Press). — The Henry Ford, a sprightly schooner out of Gloucester that sails well with the wind, and sails better than others against it, is the hope of the United States fisherman to beat the Bluenose, champion of Canada.

After the Ford, under the hand of Captain Clayton Morrissey, had come running home on Saturday, at a speed of 13 knots an hour, a winner's bone in her teeth, for the second time in the elimination series of forty-mile races between four crack schooners of the North Atlantic fishing fleets, the sub-committee of the American Race Committee formally accepted her as their choice as challenger for the International Cup won last year by the Bleunose.

The trophy will be at stake in the International Race series starting off this port next Saturday, to defend which the Bluenose arrived here on Sunday, shipshape and all well.

It was a smashing race that the Henry Ford won, a test alike of the vessel and of the men of Gloucester who sailed her.

Another crew of Gloucestermen, commanded by Captain Ben Pine, fought hard against the Ford from the bruising start in which their schooner, the Elizabeth Howard, of New York, was almost wrecked when Pine took the only chance left him for a weather advantage to the finish, in which they almost lost a topmast and did lose a backstay, trying to crowd on sail to overtake the Henry Ford.

The Elizabeth Howard gained second honours, 5 minutes 21 seconds astern, with the doughty little Boston schooner Yankee third, and the L. A. Dunton, also of Boston, fourth.

The Henry Ford had a lead of fully five miles on the Dunton at the finish, and the Dunton is a fast boat in ordinary company on the fishing banks.

Elizabeth Howard, New York, Captain Ben Pine—5h. 1m. 59s.

L. A. Dunton, Boston, Captain Felix Hogan—5h. 23m. 7s.

The finish furnished victory for the Ford. The start brought out the courageous stuff of which Gloucestermen, in Ben Pine and his crew of the Elizabeth Howard, are made. Pine, who won the honours at the start in Thursday's race, idled around the line seeking to do the same on Saturday.

The Henry Ford, L. A. Dunton, and Yankee cut curilcues some distance away, jockeying for place.

Mike Brophy then pushed the Yankee through the Elizabeth Howard's weather quarters, between Pine's schooner and the destroyer J. Fred Talbot, which was acting as stake boat.

The Yankee crossed within a second of the starting signal. The Howard had a space only a few feet more than her width to wear through, if she would hold her weather place. Her main sheet was eased and her position not one of mobility To go around the destroyer meant minutes, to go through meant even terms with the Yankee and an advantage over the Henry Ford, her principal rival.

Ben Pine decided to go through, and go through he did but for a moment he was coming head-on on the destroyer, bow toward her engine-room. In another moment he had worn her around a bit, and it appeared the blow would be sure, but not so pointed. In the next moment, standing up to his wheel with hands that never wavered, he had worked her off still more, and the blaw, when it came, was a graze that left new paint from the Howard on the destroyer's plates as she finally squeaked by. This incident set the pitch for the contest. The Yankee was over a second after the gun, the Howard crossed two seconds later, the Henry Ford was over in 32 seconds, and the Dunton in half a minute more.

The Henry Ford stepped out, once she got fairly started, and while the Yankee and the Howard were having it out to lead to the first turn, Captain Morrissey cut through their lee and turned the mark 30 seconds ahead. On the windward leg, the Ford footed faster and .pointed higher than any of her opponents. She tacked first, and the others followed in her wake. After a short hitch, Captain Morrissey tacked again. This time Captain Pine split tacks with him and sent the Elizabeth Howard in for the land to seek more wind, while Captain Morrissey stood out to sea. Morrissey was forced into a sacrifice of time to keep between the Howard and the mark after they tacked again, but he had accumulated his six minutes plus advantage which stood him in good stead the rest of the race.

Turning to the third leg, the Yankee fast in windward threshing challenged the Howard's prior passage, but "Piney" did something to his sails and oozed enough more impulse out of her to turn in the second place.

When Captain Morrissey held too high in shooting for the mark on the third leg, close hauled, Captain Pine was quick to head in and shorten the angle of his attack on the line, with a considerable saving.

At all stages ofk the race, the mettle of each of the racers was tested to its utmost by the ability and the keen racing spirit of his contenders.

ACCUSE RWYS. OF KNOWLEDGE RECENT AWARD

Labor Secretary Said the C.P.R. Had Knowledge of Results of Award Before Made Public.

DENIED BY C.P.R.

MONTREAL, Oct. 16. —(Canadian Press.) — A press despatch from Calgary crediting to the secretary of the Federated Shop Trades there a statement to the effect that the Canadian Pacific and certain other railways had knowledge of the Conciliation Board's recent award some days before it was filed with the Department of Labor and in consequence thereof had paid the reduced rates of wages as set by the Conciliation Board, prior to the announcement of the award by the Department of Labor, was yesterday brought to the attention of George Hodge, Assistant General Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Eastern Lines, who conducted the case for the railways before the Board of Conciliation and investigation.

Mr. Hodge denied most emphatically the correctness of the statement. He said further, that as far as the Canadian Pacific Railway was concerned, it had no knowledge of the report until it was received at the company's offices on September 4, and that instructions to restore rates of pay which had previously been put into effect from July 16, were issued under date of September 5, making the reduced rates effective as from August 16.

END OF FAMINE IS REFLECTED IN RUSSIAN DANCERS.

Opening of the Theatrical Season Brings Out Samples of Freak and Impressionistic Staging.

MOSCOW, Oct. 16.— (Associated Press.)— The opening of Russia's theatrical season has brought out examples of freak and impressionistic staging and erotic dancing in several theatres, but nevertheless the classic Russian ballet, the old style opera, and the drama seen more popular than ever.

Both the strikingly new impressionistic presentations and the time-honored ballets, however, draw large crowds, and the opening performances in the theatres featuring these respective styles were sold out long before the curtains.

At the Nobles Club theatre, where Goleysoysky presented impressionistic dancing by a dozen or more youths and girls from the Kamerny ballet, cubist and spiral structures and ordnary planks, and ladders were used as scenery to represent palaces, mountains, pyramids, etc. The dancers, posturing wierdly to music by Bier, Strauss and Debussy, seemed to be cubist drawings come to life.

When the curtain went up on the first performance of the ballet this year, it was evident that the dancers had enjoyed their first year of good feeding since the revolution. All were much plumper, and some cynics in the audience argued that another civil war might help their figures. Madame Geltser, for example, must have put on twenty pounds since last year, but her technique seemed better than ever.

Along with everything else, prices for theatre tickets have soared in Moscow since the close of last season. Formerly obtainable for the Russian equivalent of about 25 cents, parquet seats this year brought about two dollars at the box offices, and from five to fifteen dollars each from speculators.

The audiences, however, seemed to have no trouble in securing the necessary millions of rubles, and the opening night crowds were a mixture of proletarian and bourgeoisie theatre lovers.

FARRAR GOODS ATTRACT MANY TO THE SCENE

WIGS PROMINENT

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—"Memories for sale," might well be tacked above the doors of four big chambers at the Fifth Avenue Auction Rooms which were thrown open today for public inspection of the effects of Geraldine Farrar, scheduled to be sold at public auction.

For into those chambers America's most famous diva had crowded all the physical mementos of her long and brilliant career on the Metropolitan stage and all that could remind her of her equally famous, but briefer and less successful career as the wife of Lou Tellegen.

Gorgeous costumes, wigs, shawls, and jewels that she wore in her most famous roles are there in profusion. So are the rich furnishings of the home she occupied with her famous actor-husband — furniture, tapestries, rugs, even the rubber door mat with its inlaid "T."

Farrar to Go on Concert Tour.

Farrar, through with opera as she is through with romance, will soon start in a private car for a concert tour of the United States. After that she is expected to appear under the management of David Belasco on the speaking stage.

The exhibition drew throngs of Farrar devotees—from first nighters who were present a decade and a half ago when she made her metropolitan debut, down to the youngest Gerry flappers who have hung in breathless awe on Gerrry's career as a prima donna and a screen star, as a bride and a near-divorcee.

And what they saw established forever Farrar's reputation for lavishness. There are 876 items in all —and every single one fraught with memories of stage or shattered romance.

Famous Costumes for Sale.

About twenty of the diva's most famous costumes are draped on headless dummies in one of the exhibition chambers. Among these are the red spangled frou-frou creations that dazzled first nighters at Zara; the cloth of silver gown, with American flag draped from the shoulder in which Farrar sang during the liberty loan campaigns and the court dress of silver cloth, with queen's cape of blue velvet and ermine (reputed cost $11,000) which she wore but three times in the ill-fated La Reine Fiamette.

Scores of other famous costumes hang about the walls in serried ranks, like ordinary garments in a clothes closet. Her Carmen wardrobe alone would be sufficient to equip half a dozen Carmen road companies. There are six "basic" costumes, fourteen shawls, six black wigs, five mantillas, a dozen Spanish fans, and enough beads, earrings, bracelets, castanets, girdles, hair combs, and jet trinkets to outfit a cigarette factory full of Carmens.

Wigs Fill Several Showcases.

Farrar's wigs alone fill several showcases, for she invariably covered her own black tresses with a wig even in opesas where her role called for black hair. There are auburn wigs for Fiametta and Zara; blonde wigs for Marguerite and Thais; light brown wigs for Manon; dark brown wigs for Mignon; black wigs for Butterfly and Carmen.

All are of human hair save two worn in the early scenes of "Thai." These are of gold thread for it was the custom among women of Thais' time and profession to gild their hair.

Among the brightest spots of the exhibit are the kimonas worn in "Butterfly." There are ten of these —each vying with all the others for the ultimate in gorgeousness.

One of the most interesting Farrar hats on exhibition is the famous affair with the blue, yellow and green ostrich plumes which she wore in "Tosca." The first night she wore it it also contained a red feather. But this caused so many gasps that everybody agreed the red feather should be deleted.

PROBABILITIES.

Fresh southerly to westerly winds. Partly fair with some showers, chiefly at night. Mild, becoming cooler on Tuesday.

CITY COUNCIL OF ST. CATHERINES REVERSED SELF

NOW IN FAVOR.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Oct. 16.— (Canadian Press.)— The City Council in special session Saturday night reversed its action of October a and re-affirmed the vote of the ratepayers, taken January, 1917, in favor of construction of Port Credit St. Catharines hydro radial line, and it will not now be necessary for the ratepayers to vote aagin on the by-law in January next. Unless a petition of fifteen per cent of the ratepayers is presented. The resolution on October 2, to affirm failed on a tie, the four opposing being Mayor Graves, Ald. Bakers, Wright and Murphy.

RAILWAY'S DAMAGE HEAVY.

OTTAWA, October 16. Canadian Press. — The damage done to the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, by the Holocaust, which swept Haileyburg and Cobalt districts, amounted to over $500,000, according to Lt.-Colonel T. Martin, one of the commissioners of the Railway, who arrived in Ottawa yesterday.

Mr. Martin stated that while the loss is practically covered by insurance extra rebuilding and replacement cost will greatly effect the net returns of the railway for years.

You know home life is much more pleasant if certain ceremonies and formalities are observed.

Little Welshman Defends His Policy in the Near East

Lloyd George Opens His Campaign Against His Enemies With a Strong Speech at Manchester, the City of His Birth.

FUTURE NOT CLEAR.

MANCHESTER, October 16. Associated Press. — Premier Lloyd George dealt with the crisis which the Near Eastern events have forced upon the Government in a characteristic and powerful speech in the city of his birth on Saturday afternoon.

While he spoke as a Liberal to Liberals, and chose a city remote from the Capital for staging his oration, according to the long custom of British statesmen, he was not speaking primarily to Manchester but to Great Britain and the Empire.

The Prime Minister's speech was evidently more carefully prepared than is usual with him. It was principally a defence of the Government's policy, but it was the sort of defence Mr. Lloyd George likes, because it gave him plenty of opportunity for his favorite strategy of "offensive defence," which with him means dealing hard blows at his critics and going into personalities so sharp that they shock the old-fashioned conventional statesmen.

What the country awaited most curiously was information about the future; it wanted to know which of the various policies open before the Prime Minister—resignation, a general election, or sitting tight—he plans to follow. But no light was thrown upon that point; he left himself free to take whatever direction events may dictate. He declared that no one would welcome his retirement more than himself; but followed this with the dramatic passage:

True to the People."

"I cast myself upon the people because I have never betrayed them."

The hall rang with approving shouts, and he added that he would support loyally any alternative government that would work for the best interests of the nation.

A Lloyd George speech of the sort which has come to be known as "back-to-the-wall," is seldom a mere speech; it is generally a thrilling entertainment. Saturday's was no exception all the atmosphere was friendly and congenial; the small audience in the dining room of the Reform Club responded very quickly to every point.

CAMPBELLFORD MAN INJURED IN FACTORY CRASH

T. McManus Injured and Charles Lugsden, of Toronto, Was Killed.

OTHER MEN ESCAPE.

When a refrigerator and several tons of pipes in the basement of the Williard Ice Cream factory, Dupont street, collapsed Saturday afternoon, Charles Lugsden was instantly killed and Thomas McManus, contractor, Campbellford, Ont., but living at the Walsingham Hotel, Jarvis street, was seriously injured about the head. Lugsden's body was removed to the Morgue, where an inquest will be held, and McManus was removed to the Western Hospital in the police ambulance. McManus may have a fractured skull.

According to investigations made by Detectives Seaton and Hicks at the plant following the tragedy, Lugsden, 48 Muir avenue, and McManus, of Campbellford, of the Royal Cecil, Jarvis street, with a squad of men, were making alterations. The refrigerator was located in the basement. Pipes weighing approximately 18 tons had been detached from the refrigerator, and the huge receptacle was in the air preparatory to being lowered, when the heavy beam, to which the hoisting tackle was fastened, buckled in the centre, causing the ends of the beam to slip from the uprights on which it rested, and bringing down the mass of pipes, refrigerator, beams and other debris in their wake. Lugsden, who was superintending the lowering of the refrigerator from a point high up, was brought down by the falling pipes and pinned under the weighty mass. McManus was also struck down, but managed to escape Lugsden's fate. After some time, Lugsden was extricated from underneath the mass by his workmates, and medical help was called, but the man was dead. McManus was rushed to the hospital.

Lugsden was employed as forman by McManus.

TWO MEN KILLED.

ST. LOUIS, Ill., Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press.) — Two persons were killed and one seriously injured when two trains on the Lake Erie and Western Railroad collided head-on near Rankin, a suburb, yesterday morning.

The dead are: Fred Reaves, of Tipton, Ind., fireman of one of the trains and a transient known as Brady. John Wakley, also of Tipton, was injured badly.

What this new way does

No mother wants children to suffer what she may have suffered from her teeth.

Then teach them the new way of teeth cleaning. Show the prettier teeth it brings, the whiter, safer teeth. Or let them make this test, and see and feel the benefits themselves.

Must fight film

Dingy teeth and most tooth troubles are now traced to film. One must fight to avoid them.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. Stains discolor it, then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Two ways found

Then dental science, after long research, found two ways to fight film. One acts to curdle it, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then dentists the world over began to advise their use.

A new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. The name is Pepsodent. Those two great film combatants are embodied in it for daily application.

Its new effects

Pepsodent brings other effects which research proved essential. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to constantly neutralize the acids which cause decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

For dainty people

Pepsodent is now used by millions the world over. Careful people of some fifty nations have adopted it, largely by dental advice. Dainty people—those who care for whiter, cleaner teeth—will never go without it.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

One week will give you a new conception of what clean teeth mean. It will point the way to a new dental era, both for you and yours. Cut out the coupon now.

A WAR MEMORIAL.

The near approcah of Armistice Day once more calls attention to the fact that Peterboro's plans for a war memorial as a tribute to the memory of the soldiers from this city, who gave up their lives in the Great War, seems to have reached a state of stale-mate.

Many other communities have already erected beautiful memorials, testifying to the sense of gratitude of the people to the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice.

Peterboro's record when recruits were being enrolled stood comparison favorably with any other centre in the Dominion.

The men of this community came forth willingly in answer to the call, and having regard to population the total sent from Peterboro was not beaten anywhere.

Almost four years have passed since the termination of hostilities and as yet the city with its wonderful recruiting record, has done nothing to honor the memory of her soldier sons.

It seems almost a mockery to celebrate Armistice day, knowing that Peterboro is not only still without a War Memorial, but that apparently all endeavors to prepare for one have been abandoned.

GIVE FIREMEN A CHANCE.

At a recent fire in Brockville the fire department complains that it was considerably hampered in its work by the number of automobiles assembled in the vicinity, and is is suggested in future that the streets in the vicinity of a fire should be roped off.

This condition is not peculiar to Brockville. In Peterboro, and doubtless in every centre, motor cars are a nuisance when the fire bell rings. Many drivers have a habit when the alarm is sounded of speeding to the fire, careless of whether or not they may be getting in the way of the fire apparatus en route to the blaze. It has been frequently stated that the horse drawn ladder truck in particular finds the motor traffic a serious handicap.

The trouble is of course repeated when the scene of the fire is reached, for the streets in the vicinity are soon cluttered up with dozens of cars.

The fire department should be given every opportunity for a clear run to the spot where their services are needed, but they should also be given a chance to do their work unhindered by automobiles or other vehicles.

It is a point to remember the next time an alarm is sounded.

EXTENDING THE SEASON.

One feature about the tourist traffic question that that might be taken up by the Trent Waterway Development Association, and that might not be considered too trivial to be considered by the Special Committee of the Legislature detailed to investigate Ontario hotels, is the possibility of taking steps to extend the tourist season.

September is one of the finest months of the year, and Ontario lakes and forests are at their prettiest then, while the fishing is often better than in the summer months.

Yet September usually finds only a handful of visitors at the lake resorts. Cottages are closed, hotels are housing only a few guests, the lakes are deserted just when they are at their best.

Many people, of course, because of the education of their children, have to return home early in September. There are thousands more who could remain during that month and who would do so were it not that habit drags them home weeks before there is any need of them going.

Why not endeavor to popularize September at Ontario resorts?

An advertising campaign could "sell" that month to hordes of tourists and add another month to the holiday season.

The experiment seems worth a trial.

PETERBORO'S OPPORTUNITY.

The possibilities contained in the announcement of the intention of the Canadian General Electric Company to seek a new location for its Toronto plant, are such, The Examiner believes, to justify an immediate and vigorous effort on the part of Peterboro to have these works moved to this city.

What is the use of following every likely trail in the hope of landing this or that new industry, and then hesitating and procrastinating when an opening is given to secure a plant worth a dozen small concerns?

If the Canadian General Electric Company moves its large works from Toronto, Peterboro will have lost the best chance in its history is some other city is selected. If that chance should be lost without a sincere and determined effort on the part of the civic authorities to bring the prize to Peterboro, the citizens will be apt to demand an accounting from those responsible for the failure to recognize the opportunity.

It does not require a vivid imagination to visualize what a plant employing 3,000 or 4,000 people would mean to Peterborough.

It would mean in the first place an almost immediate jump in population to the 30,000 mark.

It would mean thousands of new customers for the city's business places.

It would cause a building boom on a large scale to the benefit of the city's workers.

It would bring about better railway service and freight accommodation.

It would be the means of causing other large industries to consider the advantages offered by Peterboro.

If theer is any possible chance of securing the Toronto plants of the C. G. E.—and there seems to be an excellent chance—then by all means let Peterboro get busy.

Every effort would be made to secure an industry not one-tenth so promising as these works.

Why then should there be any delay or faint-heartedness in bidding for what appears to be the greatest industrial opportunity that has yet been presented to this city?

If the plants are to be moved, Peterboro wants them, and what is more, The Examiner is confident that Peterboro can get them if they are gone after in the right way.

THE DISGRACE OF WALKING.

It appears that the perfect existence is one in which nobody is required to walk, says The Portland Oregonian. Many persons like to look into the future and prepare our minds for the wonders that we shall see if we live long enough. We have never observed a prophecy of that kind that did not describe the happy circumstances of movable sidewalks to relieve the human legs of virtually all exertion. The seer of the moment is the fire chief of New York. He foresees a city in which streets will be free from vehicular traffic, such streets as there are being devoted exclusively to the use of "pedestrians," who will be passengers on movable sidewalks extending from curb to curb.

It is a perfect picture of the lazy man's heaven. He will arrive in his aeroplane, land on the top of his office building and descend in an elevator. Whether there will be a means of saving him from toddling from the elevator to his office door is not yet clear. But if he has an errand elsewhere it will only be a matter of riding to the ground and alighting on the swiftly moving sidewalk.

It is already almost a disgrace to be seen walking. One should always get into his automobile if he is going more than four blocks. An old-fashioned stroll is a series of embarrassing rejections of invitations to ride from kind-hearted and pitying motorists. Every self-respecting citizen waits for the elevator rather than walk down one flight of stairs.

It is encouraging to learn that the best inventive minds are going to solve the few remaining elements of the problem of how to get around without the use of legs. What our grandchildren are going to do with their legs we are not sure. Certainly they will be an encumbrance and it will take more than two generations of evolution for nature to dispense with them. Perhaps they will all cover them up and pretend they have none, as women used to do.

IS AMERICA TO DISREGARD THE LAW OF NATIONS?

European comments on the Daugherty opinion denying the right of foreign vessels to carry liquor, even under seal, in American waters indicate amazement and resentment In France the Government is reported to be preparing a protest to be sent to Washington at once. In England the shipping interests are aroused and the prospects are that a est will be made for the purpose of discovering whether the almost unbelievable Daugherty opinion is to be carried out in fact by the Government of the United States.

Some of the London newspapers take a business-like view of the case and suggest that the diversion of American passenger traffic to the Canadian ports will ...e the problem to the satisfaction of European travelers and Americans alike.

The business side of the matter, however, appears to The New York Herald to be of minor importance as compared with the gravity of the violation of international law that is proposed as a result of Attorney-General Daugherty's opinion. Washington stands in the position of holding a purely domestic law, a law fundamentally intended to apply only to this country and its people, higher than the ancient law of the nations and the seas.

Has the United States an iota or ground on which to base its ukase that the Volstead Act supersedes international lad in its anulication to liquor which enters Aamerican waters as ship stores or cargo, but which is not intended to be brought into this country? Is there anything in the history of international relations which justifies this Government in attempting to nullify the old and generally accepted law of the seas? The answer to both these questions is No. More than that, our own diplomatic history supplies a complete refutation of the Daugherty opinion.

The American brig Creole sailed from Hampton Roads, Virginia, in October, 1841, bound for New Orleans with a cargo of slaves. After mutiny and murder the Creole made the port of Nassau in the Bahamas, a British possession. The slaves that were not concerned in the mutiny or the murder were set free by the British authorities, on the ground that the laws of Great Britain forbade slavery, Parliament having adopted an act of abolition in 1833.

The owners of the slaves complained to Washington that their property had been confiscated from an American vessel in a foreign port. The matter was submitted by the Governments of the United States and Great Britain to an umpire, Mr. Bates. From his decision, which is one of the many precedents in international law, let us quote the paragraph which is germane to the issue of today:

"I need not refer to authorities to show that slavery, however odious and contrary to the principles of justice and humanity, may be established by law in any country; and, having been so established in many countries, it cannot be contrary to the law of nations. The Creole was on a voyage sanctioned and protected by the laws of the United States and by the law of nations."

In the same decision the umpire declared specifically to England what she could not do:

"The municipal law of England cannot authorize a magistrate to violate the law of nations by invading with an armed force the vessel of a friendly nation that has committed no offense."

The outcome of the Creole case was the payment of $110,330 by the British Government to the owners of the liberated slaves.

The law of nations thus protected an American slave ship against the abolition laws of Great Britain because slavery still existed in the world and particularly in the nation whose flag tthe Creole flew.

If international law could not be set aside to strike at slavery in the last days of that curse who imagines that international law can be set aside now by our purely domestic prohibition act?

The United States must take one of two courses. It must either recede by court decision or act of Congress from its absurd petition or it must say farewell to that comity of nations which has been stronger and safer and more beneficial than all the treaties ever written and all the peace conferences ever held.

For this is not a question of prohibition. It is a matter of international fair play and international honor. —New York Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENTS.

"He gives twice who gives quickly."

The appeal of the Northern Ontario Fire Committee shows the desperate need of the fire sufferers. To re-establish ten thousand people who have lost everything, is a mighty task that will require the cooperation of the province generally.

An industry that employs 4,000 men is surely worth exerting every effort to secure. Peterboro needs such a prize badly at the present time.

The provincial ploughing matches over, Lindsay will proceed to drop deep into its winter's sleep.

THE MYSTERY MIND

Arthur B. Reeve and John W. Grey

In a rush of recollections she remembered some of the hardships of the journey, vivid nightmare flashes, representing the few times her normal consciousness had broken through the delirium of her fever. Her last coherent thread of memory ended the night they had carried her aboard the little sloop in the Staten Island harbor. Sailing out into the teeth of a gale, she had become violently seasick. She remembered very dimly that Vera had undressed her, had slipped her into the sailor suit in which she now discovered herself, had fastened a life preserver about her, had picked her up and dropped her in a bunk with a mixed expression of amusement and malice.

One picture recurring to her was when she had awakened to find her head reclining in Vera's lap, the snake woman leaning over her with a strange incomprehensive impulse of kindness.

"You'd better eat something, little Violet," she had muttered. "You're too plucky not to have a chance to last it out with the rest of us."

For answer Violet had summoned her strength, reaching up and striking Vera in the face. She had felt nothing but scorn and hate for this other woman. As for herself, she had cared neither whether she lived or died.

Vera had merely smiled. With a heavy spoon she had forced the mouth of Violet. Though the ship was pitching badly, though the smell and splash of the salt spray came in upon them at intervals, the snake woman had fed her victim ruthlessly. Violet, struggling desperately, yet had been grateful for the warmth and taste of the broth.

On another occasion she had witnessed a fight of grim intensity between the Strangler and Renard, Vera aiding the fox as she could. The Strangler had stolen the map of the treasure. Renard had demanded its return. For nearly an hour the conflict had raged in the little cabin, until Evil Eye, waking, had stopped it by some exercise of his power of will. The Strangler, however, had had refused to return the portrait, to reveal its hiding place. Because he had been needed to navigate the ship the gang had been helpless against him.

Then Violet recalled a momentary episode in a sunlit bay somewhere in the tropics, with the sloop at anchor. She had returned to consciousness to find the Strangler bending over her, the expression in his eyes which had terrified her in the back room of the Portola long before.

"Play my game, little girl," he had urged, striving to make his voice soft and persuasive. "You'll be all right now, but pretend you are still out of your head and you and I'll go up the river together and get the treasure. They mean to kill you up there. I——"

He had paused, leaning closer, drawing his repulsive face closer to hers as though to kiss her. She had tried to raise an arm, to strike him, to ward him off, only to discover that he had pinned her down. In defiance, for all her terror, she had spit at him. He had struck her. She remembered no more.

For a brief instant she had returned to consciousness in a motor boat headed up a great, wide river. But she had been helpless in her weakness, whether from the fever or lack of nourishment she could not now guess. Crawling up toward her face, already upon her bare skin at the neck of her sailor blouse, had been a huge tarantula. She had been helpless against it. The picture in her memory was altogether too vivid for it to be some disordered fancy. She had watched it until it crawled up beneath the shelter of her chin. She had felt it mount her jaw. In fascinated horror she had watched it appear over her mouth, had felt the first touch of its hairy foreleg on her lip. Then something within her had snapped and consciousness had fled from her once more.

The waterfalls, the cascades The little party must have climbed many miles of the river's rise during her unconscious periods. Several times she had come to herself to form brief, flashing pictures, of great leaping masses of water and towering heaps of rock, of dense foliage and tropical growths banked against the outlying sentinels of mountain chains. Always Vera and Renard had been carrying the frail boat, desperately heavy in the ascent to the next navigable section of the stream. Always Evil Eye had followed in his robes, a strange figure in this equatorial land, as feeble in his movements as some cowled palmer at the end of a pilgrimage. Always she had found herself in the arms of the Strangler, alone strong enough for the burden. Always she had struggled, sensing the gloating within him at her close presence, kicking, biting, clawing, until he had subdued her, cruelly, by blows and the execrise of brute strength.

Now the river was narrow. The sun was low. Soon they must seek a landing Someone had said her fever was gone. Perhaps she would be able to retain her faculties, to nurse her strength, to sharpen her inspiration, to devise and scheme and plan some way of eluding them, some way to escape back to civilization and Robert. Very suddenly the love of life returned to Violet. That was the surest indication of her recovery.

Vera was first to notice that she had turned, was resting on her side.

NEED OF FIRE SUFFERERS AS GREAT AS EVER.

TORONTO, October 16 (Canadian Press). — Though relief trains have been carrying supplies daily to the fire-swept north, the need of the sufferers is just as great as ever. The fringe of the work has only just been touches. Miss Holland, in charge of the nurses in the devastated districts, was here yesterday, and stated that relief operations must continue for many weeks yet.

LONDONERS REVEL IN SOUTH AFRICAN FRUIT

LONDON, Oct. 16.—(Associated Press).—As a result of huge shipments of fruit to London from Europe and South Africa, the English markets today are flooded and, to the joy of the consumer, the fruit is being sold at prices considerably lower than pre-war. Also they are less by half of what they were a few days ago. Although there has been a good market the surplus is still enormous, and large wastage is feared unless the foreign shipments are curtailed.

The harvest of fruit in England is estimated to be the largest in a decade, and the quality is excellent.

Small Boy and Matches Is a Menace—Little Folks Misbehave at Sports—Personal News.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 16. — "The Grove" Rugby team went to Port Hope on Wednesday and played the T.C.S. third team in a friendly game. The score was 13-8 for "The Grove". Until the last five minutes the score was tied but Loosemore got over for a try which made "The Grove" the victors.

The play of Gray major was especially good as he kicked a goal from 30 yards out.

The boys returned to the village in high spirits and received congratulations from their many friends

T. B. Marling took the team to Toronto, where they will play on Saturday of this week.

Juvenile Offenders

A village of the size of Lakefield surely should not need a juvenile court but unless the behaviour of certain children improves, the village will have to take steps to secure one. At the ball games, especially during the girls' games, the heckling too often passed the bounds of politeness and became absolutely insulting to both the visitors and the home team. This should not be tolerated and a good time to take a stand is right now where the fall season begins. Boys and girls would rather be good than miss the game and strict enforcement of the rules would make the games pleasanter for the fans as well as the players.

Small Boy and Matches

With the sad story of the Northern Ontario disaster staring at us from the daily papers, it is surely right and proper to call attention to the dangers in our own village. The combination of the small boy and matches is one which cannot be regarded lightly especially now that the leaves are falling. During the last week prompt action alone has saved the village from bad fires, cause—the small boy and matches. The parents all too often put up the plea that "there is nothing here for for the boys"; one can only say that if there is not a change there will be considerably less. Fires of leaves and rubbish should not be left to children but should be in charge of adults who should be absolutely certain that fires are out before they are left.

LITTLE WELSHMAN

this he spread a stack of notes. But once on his feet he seldom bothered with them; so his sentences had all the effect of spontaniety.

Considerably stouter than when he took control of the government seven years ago, and hair much whiter, the Welsh statesman's manner seems to have grown more serious with years of responsibility; but all the old fire was there.

In the hall where Gladstone has often spoken he poured ridicule on the great commoner's son, Lord Gladstone, who is one of the leaders of the Liberal revolt against the Coalition. Of him he said "I know the difficulty of any man without adequate gifts, who has to carry through life a great name. He has actually excomunicated us from the Liberal party. What service has he rendered Liberalism? I know of none, except one—he is the best living embodiment of the living doctrine that ability is not hereditary."

Turkish Atrocities.

Some of his strongest points in defence of the Government's Near Eastern dealings were that the Turks had slaughtered since 1914 a million and a half Armenians and half a million Greeks; that to give way to them now would be to sacrifice the greater part of the victory won over Turkey in the Great War; that an "Am I my brother's keeper?" attitude has never been a doctrine of the Liberal party.

The Premier also had reproach for France. "A few weeks ago," he said, "the French Government sent us a message that if the Turks or Greeks entered the neutral zone, they would have to be resisted by force. We thought they meant it. How were we to believe it was only intended for one side?"

Dealing with the charges that his administration had muddled Near East affairs, Mr. Lloyd George asserted that they had inherited the situation from their predecessors, Asquith and Grey. Replying to criticisms that he should have employed the sort of diplomacy Sir Edward Grey exercised before the world war he retorted that that had been the most calamitous diplomatic failure the world had ever known.

No Early Election.

The impression made on most of his auditors was that the Premier does not propose to have an early general election, part of the press charging that an election before the Conservative Party Convention in November would be a political trick. The inference, whicch may be wrong was that Mr. Lloyd George will wait to see whether that convention commits the Conservatives to dropping the Coalition, in which event he might try to return as leader of the Liberal party. He spoke through out as a Liberal making appeals to Liberal principles and traditions.

Manchester was only part of the Premier's day. From the Reform Club he motored to the adjoining municipality of Salford, which is a kind of rival of Manchester, and placated its civic pride with another speech. Then he journeyed to Blackpool, 50 miles away, to receive the freedom of the city before an assemblage of seven thousand.

From Saturday's display of form it is safe to predict that if a general election comes, the Welsh giant, despite his seven years of overwhelming labors, will be ready to carry on a whirlwind campaign.

Comb SageTea in Hair to Darken It

IT'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO KEEP HER LOCKS DARK, GLOSSY, BEAUTIFUL.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

W.M.S. Thank Offering Service.

The annual Thank offering service of the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church was held on Sunday morning. The pastor, Rev. T. M. Wesley, who occupied the pulpit, took for his text II. Kings,7-9. Then said they to one another, 'We do not well; this day is a day of good tidings and we hold our peace; if we tarry till the morning, some mischief will come upon us. Now therefore come, that we may go and tell the King's household."

Musical numbers rendered by the choir were two anthems and a trio.

BERTHA COLLARS

COPYRIGHT BY McCALL'S

Very wide bertha collars are being shown for autumn wear. When they are of the sort that come with the dress they are often made of the material itself and trimmed with embroidery or beading.

When they are of the detachable variety they are usually made of sheer lace or net trimmed with lace. They open front and back or only in the back.

The soft transparent folds of the very wide ones are most becoming—from which it is safe to argue that their new popularity is assured.

Afternoon, evening, daytime and negligee frocks all use them impartially, and so do garments for children, grown-ups and in-betweens.

INFLATED PRICES IN GERMANY TO-DAY.

Only Thing a Mark Will Buy is a Wire Nail.

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—(Associated Press About the only thing that can be bought in Germany to-day for one mark is a wire nail. "Under the present quality standards of production," remarks a native pessimist, "the mail may or may not be strong enough to hang one's self on after he has looked over the other increases in prices."

Before the war, a thousand marks would pay for twenty suits of clothes. To-day that sum will purchase a vest. A good piano could be bought then for 900 marks, a sum now required for a pair of boys shoes. Five hundred pre-war marks sufficed to build a small house, while now it scarcely foots the bill for two pairs of women's woollen stockings. Two pounds of butter can be found on the market to-day for 400 marks, or the pre-war price of a milch cow.

One cannot get a spool of thread to-day for the former price of a sewing-machine. Fifty marks once bought a lady's silk dress; now it will buy a cheap handkerchief. There was a time, come eight years ago, when one could get a bottle of champagne for what it costs now to ride on the subway. Two cigarets are worth what a hundred of the same quality cost in 1914.

To follow the daily rise in prices at the present time, the Berlin newspapers reader must pay six marks for a copy of his favorite journal. In the "good old days" the paper cost him sixty times less, or ten pfennings.

A shopkeeper in Darmstadt displays a five-dollar bill in his window attached to the following notice: "For this note foreigners formerly obtained goods to the value of 26.25 marks; now they get wares worth 7,000 marks for it. Therefore I sell only to Germans."

Watchmaking was the first mechanical activity of many of the famous inventors.

The Victors Return.

It was a joyous crowd that passed through Campbellford on the Grand Trunk special on Friday evening, and the fans have reason to be proud of Jack Williams, who was certainly in form at the final game with Hillcrest. Campbellford was well represented, many of the enthusiasts motoring up, as Friday is the half-day here, and baseball seemed to be the only subject for conversation during the evening.

Death of R. D. Clark.

The sad news of the death of Reginald Douglas Clark, son of the late James Clark, on Friday afternoon, came as a great shock to the citizens of Campbellford, where he was well and favourably known. On his return from overseas Mr. Clark took charge of the Hall's Glen School at Warsaw, and on Friday afternoon complained of feeling unwell. And although Dr. Munroe, of Warsaw, Dr. Frazer, of Lakefield, and Dr. Macoun, of Campbellford, were promptly on the scene, and held consultation, medical aid was of no avail.

Mr. Clark was in his 29th year, and leaves to mourn his loss his mother, Mrs. Jennie Clark, of Campbellford, three brothers, Harold of Havelock, Carmen of Toronto, Ralph of Toronto, and one sister, Miss Hattie Clark, of Rochester.

The funeral took place from the residence of Mr. D. S. Archer, Front Street, Campbellford, at 3.30 on Sunday afternoon, and was largely attended, the remains being laid to rest in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

In the Churches

At the Epworth League in the Methodist church Sunday a most interesting and profitable feature of the programme will be an address by Rev. J. E. Glover. The meeting is in charge of the Social and literary department and a good attendance is anticipated.

On Sunday morning and evening the people of Campbellford were favoured in having Rev. Prof. J. F. McFadyen of Queen's University give two addresses. His morning theme in the Methodist church being, "Christ the Great Teacher, basing his remarks from Luke Chap: 18 The parable of the Pharisee and the Publican. In the evening(in St. Andrew's Church his subject was "The Near East Crisis and Missions". Both services were largely attended. Prof. McFadyen is an earnest forciful speaker, ad his helpful practical address was an inspiration to all who were able to hear him.

At the evening service in the Methodist church Rev. E. O. Seymour of Havelock occupied the pulpit and preached a most helpful and practical sermon from the words found in Deutermony Chapter 32 verses 11 and 12, "As an eagle stirreth up her nest, fluthereth over her young, spreadeth her wings, taketh them, beareth them on her wings. So the Lord alone did lead him and there was no strange god with him." Rev. Mr. Seymour is a young man of promise and his address was much appreciated.

Rev. H. B. Kenney was in Havelock, for the day taking anniversary services for Rev. Mr. Seymour.

A District Missionary Banquet will be held in the Methodist School room on Friday evening, October 20th when the Ladies' Aid will act as hostess. A good programme is being arranged consisting of speeches, musical selections etc., and it is expected this gathering will provide an added impetus to missionary endeavours in this district.

A Presentation.

On Thursday evening, Oct. 12, Brother Long was presented with a P.C.R. jewel by the members of Court Victory, No. 7782, A.O.F., and the secretary read the following address:

Dear Brother Long,—Many of us who have been associated with you in this lodge during a good many years have felt for some time that we would like in some tangible way to express our appreciation of the service you have rendered our Order for this town and our lodge in particular. In spite of your repeated requests to have some other person assume the responsibility of the Chief Ranger's office you had the duties of Chief Ranger forced upon you for many years and always discharged those duties faithfully and well, so in presenting you with the P.C.R. jewel we feel that we are only weakly expressing our obligations to you. However, the knowledge that it is accompanied by the heartiest good will of every member of the court will, we hope, supplement its value in your eyes. Our prayer is that you may long be spared to be a source of strength to our court ,and an example of faithfulness to its members. Signed on behalf of the brethren.

Thomas G. Campbell, Secretary.

TORN THE VEIL FROM MYSTERIES

LONDON, Oct. 16 (Associated Press). — Scientists searching in the ruins of Carthage in Northern Africa, have torn the veils from the insoluble mysteries which 2,000 years ago attended the worship of the Goddess Astarte Astarte was associated with Baal as the chief deity of the ancient Phoenicians, of which race the Carthaginians were one of the most important branches

The scientists have discovered sacrificial vaults in the inner sanctuary of the Temple of Astarte, each of which contains the charred bones of thousands of infants, ranging from newborn babes to babes of one or two years old The piles of bones are fifteen feet deep. They believe they have found one of the temples where the secret rites of human sacrifice to Astarte were practised from the seventh century before the Christian era until the days when the Romans conquered and destroyed Carthage and forbade further sacrifices

Astarte is always represented as a tall, stern-faced woman, standing upright and clutching in the left arm an infant child. In the old rite Phoenicians offered newborn children to Astarte, and the bones of the older children which the scientists have now found are probably accounted for by the fact that families afflicted by illness or misfortune sought to appease her anger by sacrificing all their children.

SWEDEN'S HERO

STOCKHOLM, October 16 (Associated Press). — Charles XII., perhaps the greatest national hero of Sweden's history, and in his time one of the most feared warriors of Europe—he was killed in 1718—will again arise before the eyes of his many admirers — this time, on the silver screen. A corporation is now being formed for the production of a film depicting the outstanding events of the meteoric military and political career of this Swedish idol who, taking the field in person, conquered the Russians on one hand and the Danes on the other, and was killed in action at the age of 36.

The taking of this film is inspired mainly by patriotic motives. The capital needed for the production is already fully subscribed, and the work will begin without delay.

A FESTIVAL DATING BACK TO EARLIEST EGYPTIAN TIMES.

Commemoration of "Wafa et Nil" (the Nile Flood) Recently Observed in Cairo Proved Popular.

LONDON, Oct 16.—(Canadian Press) In a country like Egypt, where modern tendency is generally to substitute western for eastern forms and customs, it is interesting to find a festival the origin of which can be traced back to earliest Egyptian times, that is still celebrated as an official and popular event. Such a festival is the "Wafa el Nil" (the Nile Flood) or, as it is sometimes called, "Kat' el Kalig" (Cutting of the Canal), which has recently taken place in Cairo.

The "Wafa el Nil," marks the completion of the Nile flood—that is, the attainment by the river of the eighteenth cubit at the Nilometer at Roda, which, in the days when it was paid in kind, legalized the collection of the land tax It is one of the only two national festivals which Egypt to-day celebrates. The other is "Sham el Nessim" (the smelling of the Breeze), the day regarded since very early times as marking the beginning of summer and of the harvest of winter crops. It is a public holiday, and being celebrated by a general exodus in the fields, it is really a sort of Harvest Festival.

In early Egyptian times it was popularly believed that about the middle of June a tear from the goddess Isis fell into the Nile and produced the annual rise. In relatively more modern times it was a drop from heaven which performed the miracle. To this day the more superstitious celebrate the "leilet el Nokta" (the Night of the Drop), which occurs about the middle of June, by spending the night in the open, in the hope that they might see the drop descend, and so ensuring good luck for themselves during the coming year, just as we supposedly more enlightened westerners watch for the new moon with the idea that, if our expectation be realized, good luck will attend us.

On the "Night of the Drop" womenfolk used to place on the roofs of their houses unbaked cakes, each bearing the personal mark of a member of the household, in the belief that if by next morning any cake had cracked the owner would have good luck throughout the next year, and that, in the contrary event, the owner would die before the next flood. While this practice is rarely seen nowadays, numbers of families still prepare and cast cakes and bread into the river on the "Leilet el Nokta."

Another quaint custom is the "crying" of the rise of the Nile, which is performed by the "Munadeen en Nil," who, starting from the end of June, go daily from house to house in Cairo announcing the progress made by the river. They are each accompanied by a little boy, with whom they carry on a quaint dialogue before each house, quotations from the Koran and pious wishes being intermingled with blessings on the inmates of the house, ending with the declaration of the point which the Nile may have reached.

The Munadeen were formerly in the pay of the keeper of the Nilometer of Roda, but as the Government now daily publishes the Nile gauges, the custom of "crying the Nile" is carried on solely for the purpose of obtaining alms.

One of the ancient customs in connection with the celebration of the rise of the Nile was the "cutting of the Khalig," or dam, which was placed at the south of the canal running from the Nile at Roda through the centre of Cairo. To-day there is no longer a cutting of the dam, as it does not now exist. In early Egyptian times, as the water rushed through the broken dam a virgin, the most beautiful to be found in the land, clothed in gorgeous garments and wearing most valuable jewels, was annually cast into the Khalig as a thank-offering to the Nile if the flood was good or as a propiation to the deity if in his displeasure, he had decreed a low flood.

As the beautiful virgin was cast into the water the crowd plunged into the in-rushing waters, and very often many were drowned, in an endeavor to seize the jewels or largesse that was cast into the Khalig at the same time. In-these days, alms and bread are distributed among the poor under the auspices of the Government.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

Among the natives of Soudan, a wedding is a festive event but there is no priest or representative of state, and no wedding ceremony

All the friends gather and have a big feast for the bride and groom each guest bringing as much food and drink as he can.

The guests remain as long as there is any food, so sometimes the festivities last for a week. When they have returned to their abodes, the wedding is over.

PAINS IN BACK AND SIDES

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lindsay, Ontario.—"I used to have very bad pains in my back and sides and often was not fit to do my work. I tried many medicines before I began to take yours. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Toronto Globe' and now that it has helped me I recommend it to all of my neighbors. I keep it in the house all the time and take it once in a while no matter how well I feel, for one ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."—ELIZABETH CAMPBELL, 13 St. Paul St., Lindsay, Ont.

To do any kind of work—and you know there is much to be done—is next to impossible if you are suffering from some form of female trouble. It may cause your back to ache or a pain in your side; it may make you nervous and irritable. You may be able to keep up and around, but you do not feel good.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for women. It is especially adapted to relieve the cause of these troubles, and restore them to normal health.

Feed your product more vitamines

BRIGHT color on big spaces may create interest in a picture, but it lacks four-fifths of the advertising vitamines that send people into a specific retail store to buy goods.

The retail distributor must have advertising that builds up confidence in the product; that can educate new customers; that can make them desire new things to eat and wear and enjoy; that finally sends them to the counter with cash in hand.

Thirty years ago, Mr. P. C. Larkin sought anxiously for a link between his brand, the retailer and the buying public. He found one that has never broken.

"I thought of telling my story in a single newspaper," he writes, "which I did and soon saw results. The single medium soon became two, and then a dozen, and now many hundreds on the American continent alone, where practically every daily newspaper of any importance carries Salada Tea Company Advertisements."

There is only one common power that can influence buyers for our local merchants and the national advertiser. This is the Daily Newspaper in our trade area. The retailer who impresses this fact upon the manufacturer turns over his stock quickly and profitably.

NO MORE WAR

THE FRENCH PEASANTS ARE FIRM

LOUIS ROCHER, A TYPE OF THE PEASANTS TO WHOM BRONNER TALKED.

What is the feeling of the true rulers of France, the peasants? France is a pivotal nation, and upon it largely depends war or peace in Europe. That is why the Examiner sent Milton Bronner, representative of the NEA Service to go out upon the highways and into the villages of France to talk to the French peasants and to ask them, "What if war comes?" This is his second in a series of four articles.—THE EDITOR.

BY MILTON BRONNER

TOURS, France, Oct. 14.— Monsieur Alfred Crepin assured me he knew how the peasants of Touraine felt about militarism. It was his job to know. Besides, he came into contact with many of them at political meetings and also during his trips. And naturally he talked with them about the internal and external situation of France. Monsieur Crepin is the editor of La Depeche, a radical newspaper which has the greatest circulation in this city, the ancient capital of Touraine. In all this country there are medieval chateaux and watch towers and residences, but there isn't anything medieval about the people, unless you find it in their jolly laughter, their unashamed liking of good, rich food and find it n their joly laughter, their unashamed liking of good, rich food and good, rich wine. Remmber this is the country which produced Rabelais, with his great coarse masterpiece of a book, and Balzac, who inexhaustibly poured forth great novels pulsating with life. Monsieur Crepin might have stepped out of their age—this giant with the silky black beard and shock of black hair and smiling eyes, who sees a peaceful, political revolution coming in France He says the peasants and the city worker will smash the reactionary government and put in its place one opposed by the Communists on the extreme left and big business and mitirarists on the extreme right. One of the main aims of the new deal will be cut in the army.

"Don't take my word about how the peasants feel. Go out and find out for yourself the way I did. Sit down and talk with them."

The Peasants Speak

Well, here we are where the little village of Montbazon melts away into the country beyond. American soldiers, white and colored, were camped here during the war. They were waiting to go to the front, and left behind them pleasant memories and a good reputation. Here comes old Louis Rocher who used to till a farm until the aches in his back got too bad. Now he is caretaker of an old medieval watch tower and of an acre of vineyard. He will be glad to sit down with us at this roadside wine shop and drink a glass of wine. And Mother Maturin, who serves it, will walk right into our conversation in the most charming and natural way.

The old man—"Nobody who has lived through the war can wish to hear of war again."

The old woman—"Nothing good can come from a bad thing and war is bad, all bad."

The reporter—"But they say France has an army of 800,000 men, the biggest scientifically trained and equipped army in the world."

The old people in chorus—"We didn't know that."

The reporter—"But what does France want with such an army?"

The old man—"Surely not for another war. The people would not have it."

The old woman—"I tell you it is for the dandy officers who want to keep their nice fat army jobs."

"How Possible?"

The old man, meditatively—'War again? How could it be possible? Anyone having a little business, a little homestead would have to leave it. The women would do their best, but war is ruin, ruin. No government could last that brought us to another conflict I had a son in the war. He was left for dead on the battlefield, but a chaplain saw him move and saved him by having him sent to a wound-dressing station. To-day he keeps a little butcher shop, has a wife and child, lives happily. Do you think he wants more war? No, never! And that's the feeling of all the folks around here. We want to live in peace and die in peace. We don't want to destroy. We want to build with our hands. We want to keep on doing the things we love best and know best—plowing, sowing, reaping. It's fine to see the wheat and the grape ripening in the sun. And in the evening take our ease."

The reporter—"But France, they say, may need her big army to collect reparations for the damage Germany did to your countrymen's farms and factories up north."

The old people in chorus—"Of course the Germans should pay, but whether they can or not, we don't know. But pay or no pay, it isn't worth more fighting. We want peace."

CLAIMING HOME RULE.

BRANTFORD, October 16 (Canadian Press). — Six Nations Indians have refused the offer of the Hon. Charles Stewart to refer the question of the status of the Six Nations Indians and their various claims to three judges of the Supreme Court of Ontario, and instead offer to submit the question to arbitration, one arbitrator to be appointed by the Government, one by the Six Nations Indians and two to a selected third. Council also reiterates the claim to Home Rule on the reserve, as allies of the British flag, being neither British nor Canadian subjects.

PLANS FOR MEMORIAL.

GUELPH, October 16 (Canadian Press). — Plans for the memorial to the late Col. John McCrae in Wimereaux Cemetery in France, now that funds have been subscribed by the Canadian Clubs of Canada, have finally been decided upon as acceptable to the Imperial Graves Commission, and the family of the famous poet-soldier.

The suggested memorial is in the form of a stone seat at the entrance to the cemetery, with the House of Records on one side and a shelter on the other, both handsome structures.

Successful political orators say things that sound well and mean nothing.

REVIVE ANCIENT ART, HER LIFE WORK

By MARIAN HALE.

That the colorful beauty of the ancient cathedrals of worship should be revived in our modern cathedrals of commerce is the belief of Mary Fraser Wesselhoeft.

This original artist, who has found new uses for an age-old art, is one of the very few women who has attained any importance as an artisan in stained glass.

She uses it as a medium for modern subjects treated in a modern way—for figures of dancers, problems in color and design, and futuristic panels, as well as for religious subjects.

"Lovely mosaic windows should not be entirely associated with a dim, religious light, regardless of the fact that poets have ordained it. They should break the dreadful monotony of our modern architecture of glass and steel," she says.

Where Beauty Counts.

"Main Street's newest office building or Gopher Prairie's duplex homes would appreciate being brightened up with a little beauty and color, just as much as Solomon's temple or Rheims cathedral.

"A single motif of colored glass, inserted in a hall-way or set like a jewel in a group of ordinary windows, serves as a novel decorative note and makes a beautiful picture.

"For a long time the church has realized the relation between color and the emotions and has applied this knowledge to gain the desired effect on the worshipper.

"Green is the color of rest and calm, and is conducive to pleasant thoughts and mental relaxation yellow, the color of sunlight, radiates cheerfulness and optimism.

Affect Emotions

"When colors are placed in a room in the intensive way they are in stained glass there is bound to be a reaction on those who enter.

"Flower motifs may be carried out in stained glass, and are lovely in a bedroom. I use little grey or black and much pure intensive color so that my windows let in a much brighter light than the ordinary stained glass window.

'In my studio I have many pieces hung up as pictures. By experimenting with light effects on them I am able to get surprising variety and unusuual effects. I cannot advise home-makers too strongly to introduce color and light into their homes."

It is only during the last few years that Miss Wesselhoeft has taken up stained glass work seriously. Before she only experimented with it along with other forms of art.

Though she finds great satisfaction in working out secular subjects and experimenting with modern technique, her imposing window in Grace Church, Kansas City, shows what she can do with a religious theme and a conventional handling.

She has studied extensively in this country and abroad and has had many exhibitions in both continents.

SMYRNA CITY IS 3,000 YEARS OLD.

Known in History Since Twelfth Century B.C.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press Smyrna, the city of Asia Minor upon which the eyes of the world have been fixed in horror at the news of the terrible scenes of arson, pillage and massacre following upon its recent occupation by the Turks, has a history that goes back 3,000 years. Although it has been known to history since the twelfth century, B.C., it has not always occupied the same site, or even had a continuous existence as a city. The most ancient site of Smyrna that is known, was about two miles from the Smyrna of to-day.

In 688 B.C., it was forcibly included in the confederacy of the Ionian Greeks, previous to that time it having been under the Aeolian Greeks, who had established themselves there about 1100 B.C. From 627 B.C. till the time of Alexander the Great, Symrna was an Anatolian, rather than a Greek, city, but the successors of the great Macedonian conqueror revived the Greek character of the town and refounded it to the south of the old site. Thereafter Smyrna enjoyed great prosperity, and disputed the trade of Anatolia with Ephesus and Miletus, and its schools of science and medicine earned a wide reputation throughout the Hellenic world.

Under the Byzantine Empire Smyrna became famous to Christians as one of the "Seven Churches of Asia," and succeeded to the mercantile prosperity of its former rivals, Ephesus and Miletus, which saw their harbors silted up while Smyrna still served as port for the chief trade route of Western Asia. However, when Constantinople rose to importance as the capital of the Byzantine Empire, after A.B. 330, Symrna suffered from the loss of the trade, which was diverted to the new metropolis, and began to decline in wealth and importance from its proud position as the first city of the Province of Asia.

It was when the Byzantine Empire in Asia began to break up that Smyrna first fell into the hands of the Seljuk Turks, A.D. 1084. Thereafter the city changed masters several times, becoming more and more ruinous after each disaster, until it was in a sorry plight. It was, in some measure, rescued in 1222 by the Greek Emperor John III., but the Turks retook it in 1330 and added to its ruins.

In 1344, a brief period of Latin rule ensued, after the siezure of the place by the Genoese and their allies the Knights of St. John, then at the height of their power at Rhodes, and its prosperity revived only to be crushed in 1402 by the irruption of swarming hordes of Tartars, under Timur, who signalized the capture of the city by building a tower ornamented with the skulls of a thousand prisoners. In 1424 what was left of Smyrna fell into the hands of the Ottoman Turks, who had begun to recover from the effects of the Tartar visitation, which had crushed them as ruthlessly as their Christian neighbors.

Early in the seventeenth century, the Levant Company began its lucrative trade through Smyrna, and the communities of foreign merchants and their families, which, until the burning and the slaying by the Turks last month, were such a feature of the life of the city, began to grow and to build up the immense prosperity which Smyrna enjoyed before it was strangled by the blocades, taxes, requisitions and forced currency of a decade of almost continuous war.

That Smyrna should have been destroyed by fire after so long a period of enforced commercial stagnation might well be a fatal blow to its chances of recovering its pristine prosperity were it not that both land and sea combine to make it the natural port of Anatolia. But even so, it is regarded as doubtful that this generation will ever see a Smyrna anything like so great and rich as that which used to pay a king's ransom in taxes to Abdul Hamid II.

Profesoional blouncers nearly always turn out well.

HOME CIRCLE

SEPTEMBER

The cricket chirps all day,
"O fairest summer stay!"
The squirrel eyes askance the chestnuts browning;
The wild fowl fly afar
And hastens southward ere the skies are frowning.

Now comes a fragrant breeze
Through the dark cedar-trees,
And round about my temples fondly lingers,
In gentle playfulness,
Like to the soft caress
Bestowed in happier days by loving fingers.

Yet, though a sense of grief
Comes with the falling leaf,
And memory makes the summer doubly pleasant.
In all my autumn dreams
A future summer gleams,
Passing the fairest glories of the present

HIS TRIBUTE TO WOMEN

No matter what one may think of the philosophy of Robert G. Ingersoll, one must admit that he stands out prominently as an American who was a master in use of the English language. The following is his oft-quoted tribute to Women:

"It takes a hundred men to make an encampment, but one woman can make a home. I not only admire woman as the most beautiful object ever created, but I reverence her as the redeeming glory of humanity, the sanctuary of all virtues, the pledge of all perfected qualities of heart and head. It is not just nor right to lay the sins of men at the feet of women. It is because women are so much better than men that their faults are considered greater. A man's desire is the foundation of his love, but a woman's desire is born of her love. The one thing in this world that is constant, the one peak that rises above all clouds, the one window in which the light forever burns, the one star that darkness cannot quench, is woman's love. It rises to the greatest heights, it sinks to the lowest depths. It forgives the most cruel injuries. It is perennial of life and grows in every climate. Neither coldness nor neglect, harshness nor cruelty can extinguish it. A woman's love is the prefumer of the heart. This is the real love that subdues the earth; the love that has wrought all miracles of art; that gives us music all the way from the cradle song to the grand closing symphony that bears the cloud away on wings of fire. A love that is greater than power, sweeter than life and stronger than death."

There is not such a great amount of happiness in the world, even at the best, that we should risk losing it by our own misdeeds and ill nature. There are many people in life who may be likened to a briar bush, when one comes too near he gets stung by thorns; but each individual should remember that he himself is sometimes thorny and apt to inflict wounds. Therefore each one should be more lenient toward the other, remembering that the more one strives against such things the deeper they penetrate and the more painful wounds they make. A spark of fire if left to itself will eventually die out, but if it be nursed and fuel added, behold, what a great conflagration ensues. Forbearance is the only remedy, and although everyone may not possess the unexampled patience of Job, yet what little they have may be cultivated till things will be made to go smoothly and easily.

It makes little difference in home happiness whether you own your home or have one little room on the sixth floor of an apartment house. You can make that one little room the perfection of all that is worth living for, a quiet little harbor to which a husband will turn, feeling that he has run out of the storm of his day's work into the security of something that is real.

There are a hundred successful men and women where there is one that is contented.

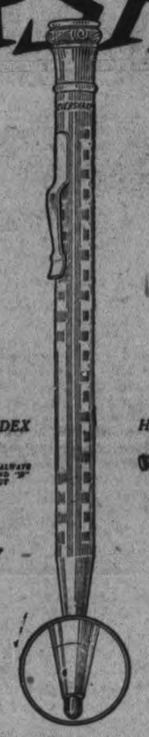
EVERSHARP



Eversharp WORKS itself into your confidence

When you first put an EVERSHARP in your pocket, you may regard it as something of a novelty. But you use it more and more. Very shortly it is your sole reliance for a pencil.

Under the driving pressure of your thoughts, EVERSHARP functions perfectly. A turn of the cap presents a new point to the paper; a minute to load with twelve new leads and you are ready for months of writing. Seven grades of lead, smooth as talc; a grade to suit your hand; 15 cents per dozen, in the Redtop box. (Indelible 25 cents.) Extra eraser with every box.

The outstanding feature of EVERSHARP is the RIFLED TIP. Other pencils can have tips; but none can have a rifled tip—the one feature which positively keeps the lead from slipping or wobbling. You can identify EVERSHARP by the three tiny grooves which the rifled tip cuts in the lead. Whether you pay 75c or $75 you get EVERSHARP quality; you get that rifled tip, the only device out of hundreds tested by us which we believe positively guarantees dependability.

This general meeting will be at the supper hour on Wednesday, 6.30. All members who wish to attend are asked to notify the Y.M.C.A. office, 246 in order that adequate preparations may be made. The three National Council men are experts in their departments and are also men of wide experience in Y.M.C.A. Mr. P. J. Lee is the Territorial Secretary for Ontario and Quebec. He has had a big experience in the Ottawa and Toronto Broadview Associations. Mr. J. H. Crocker is the Secretary for Physical Work for Canada. Mr. Crocker was for many years Physical Director of Toronto Central Y.M.C.A. and also served in China, where he was largely instrumental in introducing Physical Training in the Chinese nation through Y. M. C. A. auspices. Mr. W. R. Cook, the Secretary for Boys 'Work for Ontario and Quebec is an expert in his department, having served for many years as the able lieutenant of Taylor Statten.

Wednesday—5.30 p.m., Conference with Physical Department Committee; 6.30 p.m., Supper for members, with addresses from Mr. P. J. Lee and Mr. J. H. Crocker. Meeting to adjourn at 8.15 p.m.

Thursday—5.30 to 7.45, Conference of Boys' Work Committee with W. R. Cook. Supper will be served for the convenience of committee.

The directors, committee men and members are asked to plan to attend the supper on Wednesday evening. Notification of attendance is urged by Wednesday noon.

PLUMBING ON THE FARM.

Running Water Not a Luxury But a Necessity.

A plumbing system consists of three main parts: Water service, fixtures and waste pipes.

The Water Service Pipes

The duty of these pipes is to convey the water from the supply to the fixtures. They should be galvanized iron of first-class quality, and the size for the house is 1-2 inch, except the one that connects the hot water boiler to the kitchen range or furnace, which is three-quarter inch in size. Pipe is bought by the foot in small quantities, and by the 100 feet in large quantities, and the price for galvanizing iron pipe at the present time is 10 cents per foot for the half-inch, and 12 cents for the three-quarter inch. The amount required for a house is about 120 feet, but it varies with the size of the house and the layout, paricularly the location of the bathroom in relation to the kitchen, also whether soft water is on tap as well as hard water Sections of pipe are joined together by threaded couplings, and red lead of a special paste is used on the threaded parts to make the joints tight and preserve the threads from rusting and becoming permanently set. The water in these pipes is usually under 30 to 50 pounds pressure, and all joints must be positively water-tight, particularly so if the the pipes are laid under floors.

Test the Pipes for Leaks

After they are installed and before they are covered up either under floors or in partitions, and before they are covered up for good, the water should be turned on under good pressure and a thorough test made for leaks, not only at the joints but all along the pipe line, as a small hole or split would cause a serious leak.

Be sure the man operating the threading tool knows his job and does it properly. It is very essential that the water pipes be located safe from frost, and therefore it is highly advisable to keep them away from the outside wall of the house or stable, if possible.

It is particularly imperative to keep the pipes connecting the hot water boiler to the kichen range or furnace fire box from freezing, as a stoppage in this line would cause a blow-out upon the fire being started in the morning, and serious loss of life or property would likely occur, and lastly it is very poor economy to install anything less than the highest quality of galvanized pipe, never use wrought iron pipe for water, galvanized always.

Plumbing Fixtures

These comprise the kitchen sink, laundry tubs, bathtub, lavatory sink, and closet. There is a considerable variety in the style and quality of these articles, and naturally a large range in prices. You should insist on a good quality of enamel coating on the fixtures, this is very important. The standard dimension of some of these fixtures are as follows:—Kitchen sink, 20 x 30 inches. This sink should have a back, and one drain board, at least, of wood or enamelled iron should be provided for, two are better. The sink should be located at the most convenient height above the floor for the women using it; not too low, else undue stooping has to be endured. A 5-foot bath-tub is the standard size. It should be placed far enough from the wall to make easy cleaning around it possible. The lavatory sink may be secured in a shape either for the side wall or corner installation. In the installation of a closet insist on a stopcock on the feed pipe to the tank, so that if the tank needs repairing the water can be turned off just below the tank. Any standard type is satisfactory.

The cost of a standard outfit is about as follows: Lavatory sink, complete with trimmings, $24.50. Closet complete, $35.00. Kitchen sink, 20 x 30 inches, with bibbs and trap, $23.35. Laundry tubs, $55.00. Bathtub, 4 1-2 or 5 feet, $66.50, or total of $204.35. The cost of the soil pipe, water pipe and connections including labor for installing them and the fixtures is about $195, making a total of about $400.00.

A Drainage System

This part of the plumbing system consists of the soil pipe or stack that extends from the sewer up through the house and out beyond the roof. All the wastes drain into this pipe and by it are carried to the sewage disposal sysem. Each fixture is connected to this main drain by a smaller pipe having a trap to keep bad odors from coming back from the sewer. The stack is 4-inch cast-iron pipe made in 5-foot sections, and the joints are caulked with oakum and lead. The other pipes are 2-inch and 1 1-2 in., either iron or lead. Installing this part of this work, also the water service pipes, is commonly known as "roughing in." Space will not permit of further treatment of the subject.

WHY NOT VARY YOUR MENUS? HERE'S HOW

By Bertha E. Shapleigh
Of Columbia University

So many women, whose duty it is to feed a family three times a day, get tired and discouraged doing the same thing over and over Thinking to find something new, they read recipes from a cook book or magazine.

There it is, and they attempt a new dish which takes much time and some money, and then often come the exclamations from the family, "I would rather have your cake than this" Do not try a difficult recipe unless quite sure that the time will be well spent, and the result acceptable to the family. Rather use your own recipe, and change its form or garnish.

The one reliable cake recipe may be baked in muffin tins and served with a chocolate or fruit sauce.

The plain cornstarch pudding may have the whites of three eggs added to it as it comes from the fire.

A sauce made from the yolks, in other words a soft custard, will quite change the pudding. Or line the mold in which the pudding is cooled with slices of canned pineapple and it is quite a new dessert.

Or, instead of serving the chopped meat in balls, make a roll of it, bake it, and serve a tomato sauce with it.

Save out bread dough, if you make your own bread, and add some sugar, a little butter, and an egg, and surprise the family with some sweet rolls.

Too many cooks are afraid of experimenting and feel that they must have a recipe before them. Someone invents new dishes, why not you?

A soup kettle is a wonderful thing In it can go so many scraps, bits of raw vegetables, bones from roasts, and the result is a stock which can be used for sauces, or soup, or a liquid in which to cook vegetables.

A soup, even though there is but little meat in it, which has vegetables and beans and macaroni or rice, is sufficient for a meal when served with bread and butter, possibly a salad, and a sweet. A few left-over vegetables, such as one boiled potato, half a cup of peas, a stalk of celery, a beet, and, of course, a bit of onion, will make a small salad. And if by chance an egg was left at breakfast time, chop it and put it in the salad.

A small amount of cooked vegetable may always be used for the foundation of a cream soup.

It is not the cost originally, but the utilization of food which makes for economy.

How to Prepare Tasty Dishes

By Bertha Shapleigh
Of Columbia University

Everyone likes, and we might say needs, some sweet at the end of dinner or luncheon. These sweets we call desserts.

Too often they mean heavy puddings or rich pies but instead may be a very simple serving of fruit, canned or fresh, with a sweet cookie or wafer to accompany it.

In hot weather avoid rich desserts, and plan to serve many of them cold. There is nothing better for children than cooked fruit combined with rice, tapioca or left-over cooked cereal.

If dinner is served at night, plan a dessert which can be made in the morning and be easily served at dinner time.

Using Gelatine

Gelatine is a very satisfactory material to use for stiffening fruit juices or milk so they may be molded and turned out in an attractive form. There are several prepared commercial gelatines which come sweetened and flavored, and need only the addition of a hot liquid to make. This is a great help to the housekeeper and is usually cheap.

These commercial gelatines may be varied and the firms making them will send a book of recipes upon request.

For instance, a lemon prepared gelatine may be combined with cut-up fruit and stiffly beaten whites of eggs or cream, added as the jelly begins to set. The chocolate flavor is much better when dissolved in hot milk instead of water.

One of the most acceptable desserts for a hot day is one which is frozen and it may be a mousse, sherbet or ice cream. The mousse may be easily made by packing sweetened and flavored cream in a vacuum freezer and allowing it to stand three or four hours.

The ice cream and sherbet are made in the usual way by turning the freezer. Serve these frozen mixtures in glass with fruit or chocolate sauce and one has the "sundae" of the soda fountain.

The housekeeper will be canning and preserving, and often fruit sirups will be left.

Mix these with a white of one egg and freeze. When nearly firm enough, open freezer, and cut-up fruit and a little cream.

Continue freezing for a little longer time, then pack, and allow to stand two or three hours and ripen. A delicious frozen dessert is the result.

Using Fresh Fruit

Fresh or canned fruit, or a mixture of both, cut up, sweetened and served very cold in glasses is excellent. With it pass cookies or sponge cake.

Our grandmothers always liked to have cup custards on hand for supper, and when well baked these are delicious and a valuable food.

Soft or "boiled" custard may be used in so many ways. It may be poured over stale cake or cut-up fruit or served in glasses with a little beaten cream on top of each glass.

Another way is to pour the custard into a pudding dish and place spoonfuls of meringue on top. Place in a moderate oven five or ten minutes. Serve cold.

New and Interesting Facts from Science and Life

To Prevent Clothes from Wearing Out

Chemistry's MAGIC Neutral FLUID to LENGTHEN the LIFE of LEATHER and TEXTILES

RIVALING the alchemist's centuries-old dream of discovering the secret of transmuting base metals into gold is that of the chemist's search for a "magic neutral fluid," devoid of all chemical properties, to be used to prevent such necessities as clothes and shoes from wearing out. As a result of his searches into unexplored fastnesses of nature, beyond the range of powerful microscopes, Fred Howard, known as "the people's chemist," of South Easton, Mass., has discovered a secret that for centuries chemists have sought in vain. Mr. Howard's discovery promises to open up almost undreamed-of possibilities for revolutionizing the manufacture of every-day necessities.

Mr. Howard's discoveries in chemistry include more than 1000 new formulas. He is not merely a chemist and an explorer of nature's most minute mysteries. He believes in serving mankind through the practical application of each of his achievements. Even now, by his numerous discoveries, he is saving shoe leather by increasing its life; he is protecting clothes and fabrics from the ravages of moths and other insects; he is baffling the bacteria that cause mildew; saving rare old books and prints from decay; fireproofing textiles; preventing oxidation of silver; protecting iron from rust—and even purifying the air. Indeed, the power of this "magic liquid," when applied to the improvement of every-day things of life, seems already to surpass the dreams of scientists who spent long years in search of its secret. How this "magic fluid" is produced is described as follows in Popular Science Monthly by J. Olin Howe: Chemist Howard starts with an oil—any oil, animal, vegetable, or mineral—and finishes with a fluid that possesses no single attribute of oil. He breaks down the chemical structure, taking away, one by one, every quality that gave the oil its definite character. The neutral fluid that results is of colloidal character and spreads and penetrates almost beyond belief. It fairly sets at naught the law of gravity by running up the bare arm one thrusts into it. It makes its way among the fibres of leather, textile, or paper with a truly surprising power of penetration.

These Two Pieces of Leather, Cut from the Same Hide, Were Allowed to Hang in a Storeroom for 15 Years. At the End of That Period the Piece at the Right, Which Had Been Treated by the Chemist's Formula, Was Pliable Enough to Be Used in a New Pair of Shoes. The Untreated Piece Cracked and Broke When Bent.

Textiles, Especially Those Used in Clothing for Workmen, Can Now Be Made Fire-proof with the Newly Discovered Neutral Fluid.

By this almost uncanny substance the chemist redeems leathers spoiled in the tanning, stiffened by water, or burned and made brittle by the acids in perspiration. By waterproofing leather he makes shoes wear twice as long. He doubles the tensile strength of belting leather and makes it impervious to acids as well as water. Cordovan leather becomes soft and pliable by his process and is rid of the objectionable "bloom" that comes from the stuffing chemicals. One Massachusetts shoe manufacturer says he saves $500 a day by the use of a single Howard formula. In another case $25,000 worth of heel lifts were apparently ruined during a flood. Howard not only restored them to full usefulness, but increased their worth to $32,000 on a rising market.

The "people's chemist," who is also the "trouble man" of the leather industry, became a chemist as the result of his interest, while a youth, in the composition of the water of a famous spring on his grandfather's farm, which the future self-made scientist was exploiting in a thriving beverage trade. He hired a chemist to come to South Easton and teach him, and later he studied and worked with Prof. Alexander Bernstein in Boston. Then he hung out the shingle of the leather chemist in Brockton, Mass.

A shoe-manufacturing uncle had asked him to find why hemlock leather, more durable than oak-tanned leather, often came from the tanning process hard and brittle and all but unworkable. After a year or more of hard work Howard had the answer, but not the remedy.

Skins and hides are tanned to preserve them in flexible, usable condition. First, all grease, oil, and other matter must be cleaned from their fibres, and then tannic acid, found in hemlock or oak bark, is introduced. Microscopic slides of hemlock leather revealed to Howard that the resin of hemlock extract had been very unevenly distributed among the fibres and had thus matted and clogged them, thoroughly disturbing nature's exquisite weaving. Tannin crystals lodged among the fibres, and their sharp edges cut and split the delicate strands drawn tautly across them.

Howard's task was to break up these crystals, redistribute the tannin, and, if possible, secure greater penetration. Eventually he accomplished all of this and more through a painstaking study of oils and the subsequent discovery of a liquid capable of carrying chemical agents to break up thousands of crystals in a single piece of leather.

When he began extracting from oils their undesirable qualities, he was on the way toward his goal. The outcome of his untiring research was a neutral fluid—which was not an oil, had no odor, was not greasy, did not attract dust and could make its way between the molecules almost unbelievably—and Howard had his carrier.

In connection with these experiments Howard revolutionized scientific knowledge of fibres. Previously the accepted theory had been that fibres, those delicate filaments with which nature does weaving quite beyond human power, were solid. Howard found the reverse to be true. He discovered that every fibre is but a braiding of lesser fibres which he termed "filamites." Each small filamite in turn is but a bundle of lesser filmites, and so on.

By the use of chemical agents he has actually divided and subdivided fibres until he has gone beyond the limits of the human senses, finally reducing a filamite to something so small that it passes outside finite limitations.

BAKING BREAD by the HEAT of the SUN

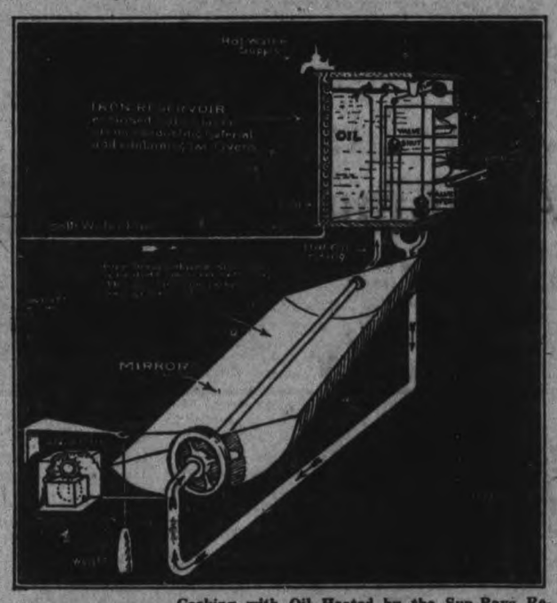
A COOKING STOVE that is heated by the rays of the sun has been erected at the Observatory on Mt. Wilson, California, and is being used there with a great deal of success. Some time ago C. G. Abbot, Assistant Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, D. C., devised a cooking and water heating device, operated solely by the sun's heat during the day. The accompanying illustration shows how the reflecting mirror rotates by a clock-work mechanism, so as to follow the sun from morning until night. A writer in Science and Invention describes as follows the operation of the solar stove:

The large wheel at the base of the mirror is connected by a piece of piano wire with a weight, in such a fashion that it tends to turn the mirror toward the west. This wheel is constantly restrained, however, by a second piano wire leading over the wheel to a clock, which permits it to rotate only at the proper speed, in such a manner that during the whole day the image of the sun falls upon the oil heating tube at its focus.

The two-compartment oven opening on the north is shown at the top of the arrangement and a double valve device is fitted with a float as shown, so that the circulation in the oven oil tank will occur either from the tube at the centre of the reservoir or else through the tube at the bottom. At first the heating of the tank is taken care of by the circulation through the pipe at the centre, the quantity of oil in the lower part of the reservoir being unaffected. At a certain predetermined temperature, the oil in the tank expands sufficiently to raise the float and reverse the valves, with the result that the circulation of oil is through the lower tube; this results in the concentration of heat in the upper part of the tank when it is too cool, and permits the volume of heat to extend automatically after the upper part has become sufficiently hot. Also the upper oven is the hotter one, and the lower of a lesser temperature, giving two degrees of heat for baking and boiling. The water was heated by allowing it to circulate through a pipe coil placed in the oil reservoir, as the drawing shows.

Fruit and vegetables were canned very successfully and one of the interesting points, especially to women who abhor cooking of any kind in the hot summer months, was the fact that this Nature-stove was conveniently placed just outside the kitchen door; yet no heat to warm the air in the room was present to make matters more uncomfortable, as is the case where practically any other type of stove is used directly in the kitchen. And think of it—the initial expense of installation is the only one—after that you cook for nothing, just like the aborigines.

The mirror can be made in several ways and in Mr. Abbot's experiments it was originally intended to have the reflecting surface formed of polished aluminum sheets, but these were not available for the experiments at the time, and thin sheet steel covered with tinfoil was tried.



Cooking with Oil Heated by the Sun-Rays Reflected from the Mirror of a Solar Stove.

The trouble with the tinfoil was that it blistered and it proved difficult to cause the foil to adhere tightly to the steel. Polished aluminum reflects about 75 per cent. of the light thrown against it and should prove ideal, permitting one to bake bread easily and do everything in fact in the cooking and preserving line, except frying.

The mirror measured 10 feet long by 7 feet wide, and was built upon a frame of small steel angle and channel-bars, made up of five sections, each 2 feet long. The top of the curved mirror was covered with window-glass to keep out dust, rain, etc. Placed across the top of the mirror and directly in its focus is the heat-absorbing pipe, which warms the oil circulating through it, this pipe measuring 1¼ inches in diameter and forming the polar axis of the machine. The mirror was mounted on roller bearings on trunnions, the oil pipe passing through the hollow trunnions.

All parts of the oil piping system outside the mirror were wrapped with a thick layer of heat insulating material, and the mirror was also covered on the back with several layers of heat insulators, such as cotton, and this in turn covered with galvanized iron. The oil pipe running along the top of the mirror was enclosed in 3-inch glass tubes to reduce convection and retain the absorbed heat in the vicinity of the oil-heating tube. The iron pipe within the glass tubes was painted with lampblack. The heat-absorbing value of the black painted tube may be taken at about 95 per cent. The reservoir and pipe system was filled with gas engine cylinder oil of high boiling point, and in the earlier experiments a temperature of 130 degrees Centigrade was readily obtained in the oil tank. The pipes leading from the bottom of the oil reservoir were 2¼ inches in diameter. The iron oil tank placed above the mirror holds about forty gallons, and it was enclosed in a layer of heat-insulating material, comprising asbestos, cotton and wood, protected on the outside by galvanized iron sheeting.

CAN SOUNDS EVER BE SEEN?

CONSIDERABLE interest has been shown in Europe of late with respect to the possible visibility of sound waves. A French scientific journal, L'Astronomie, relates some curious incidents which seem to indicate that such waves are sometimes perceptive to the eye. A well-known authority on volcanoes, Mr. Perret, says that after an eruption of Vesuvius he has hundreds of times observed the appearance of luminous and shadowy arcs above the crater subsequent to explosions, these arcs being visible before the arrival of the sound and disappearing rapidly. "The only explanation," says Mr. Perret, "which accords with the characteristics of such a phenomenon is the theory that we are here concerned with visible waves of sound, whose speed of propagation corresponds to that of sonorous waves."

Another interesting observation was made by Lt. Arnulf, with regard to a battery which was in action Sept. 26, 1918. The observer was looking at the battery in profile, facing the sun, which was on the other side of the gun. "At the very moment of firing, upon the appearance of the flame," states the officer, "a shadow made its appearance and was propagated over the surface of the ground in the form of the arc of a circle, the centre of the circle appearing to be located at the gun and the radius increasing with great rapidity. The width of this shadow appeared to be about 0.80 metres in the case of the 75s. This width was two or three times as great in the case of the 155s and furthermore the shadow appeared to be deeper, so that the phenomenon was much more remarkable in the case of guns of the latter calibre than in the case of the 75s.

"The rapidity of propagation of this shadow was very evidently the same as that of the sound. It was in fact extremely curious to hear the noise of the shock at the very instant when the shadow reached our feet. The farthest gun might have been at a distance of from 300 to 350 metres (300 metres is undoubtedly too low an estimate).

"Thus the sound quite perceptibly required one second to reach me, a very appreciable length of time, and one long enough to measure with some accuracy. I believe I am justified, therefore, in estimating the rapidity of travel of the shadow to be equal to that of the sound."

Is SALT a CAUSE of CANCER?

CANCER is produced by too much salt (calcium chloride) in the blood, according to the theory of Dr. Edward Percy Robinson of New York, who says that it can be cured by administering potassium nitrate. Dr. Robinson has published several articles on this subject. In the Medical Record (New York), he cites eight cases of unquestioned cancer treated by this method, all of which are decidedly improved and several of which seem to be cured.

In support of his theory Dr. Robinson cites the fact that cancer is rarely found among the inhabitants of Japan, China, Corea, the Philippines, India, Siam and Egypt, who are almost exclusively vegetarians. In these countries potassium nitrate is found, and he surmises that it finds its way into the human system with the vegetables, of which it is a constituent.

"Furthermore," he continues, "it appears that animals living in a wild state are also free from cancer, but develop it as soon as they are brought into captivity, domesticated and fed the diet of modern civilization. For example, it is not uncommon to find house dogs and cats afflicted with cancer. The writer was fortunate to discover, accidentally, a cat with cancer of the lip which served to verify the presumption that there is in or about civilization something which predisposes to the development of cancer—and this something is common table salt. This cat is 4 years old and came into the possession of the family when a kitten.

"Believing in the popular idea that salt is good for animals, the cat's food was generously sprinkled with salt, for which the cat developed a taste. After three and a half years of this diet the cat became sick and its fur began to fall. It refused to eat and the upper lip became sore and red. Local remedies were applied, but after six months of treatment, in which many things had been tried, the cat was taken to a veterinarian, who pronounced the condition cancer and advised that the animal be killed. With a history of an excess of salt in the diet, the cat presented an excellent opportunity to try the efficacy of potassium nitrate. Therefore, the same treatment was administered as was given to patients with cancer, with the result that the cat is cured and has grown a new coat of fur.

"That salt stands convicted of the cause of cancer seems to be based upon more than circumstantial evidence, for in all the cases of cancer giving a history of an excess of salt in the diet its elimination by potassium nitrate has been productive of cure or in greatly ameliorating the condition and relieving pain.

"The writer has so far treated cancer of the bone, glands, liver, stomach, mucous membrane and skin. In not one case has the condition failed to respond to the influence of potassium nitrate. Some have been cured, others are under treatment and improving, the prognosis pointing to a favorable recovery.

"It may well be asked, how long will a patient remain cured of cancer? This may be answered by another question, how long will a person cured of alcoholism remain sober? We read a great deal about educating the public regarding cancer, but it seems difficult to do so intelligently when all that is now advised is a surgical operation. Hygiene and diet, the very moderate use of salt and plentiful amounts of fresh vegetable substances, containing the mineral salts of which protoplasm is composed, seem to the writer to be the synopsis of public education."

FILTER for the NOSE

A "NASAL FILTER," which is a simple device to be worn just inside the nose somewhat after the manner that eye-glasses are worn outside of it, is medical science's newest method of keeping dust out of the nose and preventing injury to the sensitive mucous membranes of the nostrils and air passages.

The nasal filter was invented by a nose and throat specialist after a long and careful study of hay fever and its causes. It consists of two small oval frames of sterling silver covered with linen gauze and connected by a bridge of hardened silver wire. The linen gauze is held in place in the frame by a rim cap which snaps on to it after the fashion of a watch case, so that the linen can be removed at any time and a fresh piece inserted.

Why CLOWNS Paint Their CHEEKS

ALL pantomime clowns paint their cheeks, and mostly they do so according to certain designs handed down from generation to generation. But as to the why and the wherefore opinions differ. According to one authority the scarlet triangles, red fish-tail and half-moon, originated from dabs of vermilion placed here and there on the cheeks at haphazard to represent a naughty boy who had been at the jam-pot.

Another says that the pantomime clown's reddened face is intended as a burlesque of the rouge-tinted cheeks of the pantomime columbine. While yet a third has it that the crimson patches are a survival from the early mystery plays, when the clown was a demon, and red all over.

The theory has also been held that the modern clown in pantomime is a direct descendant of Momus, the god of mockery of the earliest mystery plays and masques, who was always represented with a huge gaping mouth. The red fish-tail is merely the survival of that part of the mediaeval make-up which aimed at producing an apparent enlargement of the mouth.

These curious scarlet symbols are only found on the cheeks of pantomime clowns. The ordinary circus clown does not paint his cheeks.

He paints only his nose, with a view to poking fun at his "boss," the ring-master, whose nasal organ, in regard to the old-time circuses at all events, was more often than not apt to be extremely high-colored.

Why Your Ears Have Lobes

WHAT is commonly called the ear—that is, the external part—is little more than the "telephone receiver," as it were, to the inner or true ear, with which you really do your hearing.

Of this "receiver" the lobes form an essential part. In Nature's wonderful way they serve a very important purpose in keeping the drum of the ear properly stretched. And many waves of sound would be lost to the real ear were it not for the lobe, which helps to trap those waves.

The ear lobes of hunted animals, such as the hare or stag, point backwards, and of hunting animals, such as the dog, forward. Originally human lobes were movable, but as with the advance of civilization man had to depend less and less upon his sense of hearing, the muscles moving the lobes fell into disuse, till today the lobes are practically a fixed part of the human hearing machine.

Why Each HAND Has Its OWN WORK to DO

IS it advisable for a man to make himself ambidextrous? The New York Medical Record, after citing Franklin's petition of the left hand to those who superintend the education of man, questions the advisability of doing such a thing.

"It may be asserted," says this journal, "that the work of the left hand is different from that of the right. We need one free hand and one to carry luggage or equipment, and hence the right is used for emergency while the left is continuously occupied. Emergencies call for rapid and skilled actions so that the right hand specializes in these, the left arm having the greater endurance. 'The right arm is the dynamic, the left the static arm.' The left arm is also a reserve arm when the right has become exhausted.

"It is very difficult to train the left hand to execute rapid, complicated, and delicate manoeuvres, but it can sometimes readily reverse the movements customary for the right hand, as in mirror writing. Hence it would appear that to some extent the education of the left hand should consist not of copying the activities of the right but of reversing them. True ambidexterity would seem to imply teaching the left hand to execute individual movements entirely distinct from those of the right as that the individual can perform two radically different tasks at the same time.

"Taylor, the American efficiency engineer, advocated the co-operative use of the two hands in a single task along strict efficiency lines, in that both hands could be busy at the same moment, and this appears to be the gist of ambidexterity in practice."

WARSAW FELL BEFORE ATTACK OF QUAKERS

QUAKERS IN FINALS.

The Quakers came through with a victory in the semi-finals of the Gordon Cup series Saturday when they defeated Warsaw, 3 to 1. A good crowd was on hand to witness this game for the coveted trophy and those who expected a good fast game were not disappointed. The Warsaw men had previously defeated Lindsay and the Quakers had put the C.G.E., the present cup holders, out of the running.

Warsaw started with the wind behind them and made things lively from the start. George Griffin, the Quaker goalkeeper, was kept very busy and gave an excellent display, saving shot after shot. Warsaw had rather hard luck in not scoring.

Quakers then took a turn at attacking and Logan scored the first goal on a fine pass from Foster.

This put Warsaw on their metal and some fast play resulted, both goalkeepers being kept busy. Bob Wilshaw, who was operating on the right wing for the Quakers, made a great run and scored the second goal. Half-time came with the score standing 2 to 0 for the Quakers.

On resuming Warsaw brought pressure on the Quaker goal, and in a mix-up in the goal mouth Hepburn of the Quakers headed the ball through his own goal. With this encouragement Warsaw tried hard to send in another counter and equalize the score, but James Wilshaw, at back for the Quakers, was playing a grand game and broke up play after play. The speed of the Warsaw forwards and their control of the ball was one of the treats of the game.

The final goal was scored after some fast play in which both ends of the field were visited, when the Quaker left wing got an opening and Foster scored. The teams were:

Quakers—Griffin, Honour, J. Wilshaw, Logan, Clarke, Hepburn, R. Wilshaw, Russell and J. Logan.

Referee—J. Clarke.

HASTINGS FELL TO BRAMPTON TEAM

Hastings Completely Outclassed in Semi-Finals For O. A. L. A. Championship.

BRAMPTON, Ont., Oct. 16.—Brampton and Hastings met Saturday afternoon in the return game of the junior O.A.L.A. semi-finals before a small crowd. The locals have a one-goal lead from their game in Hastings. The day was ideal for lacrosse. The winners play Shelburne in the finals. The teams:

Brampton—Goal, Cook; point, R. Jennings; cover, Bovaird; defence, Bull, Burton; centre, Harrison; home, Boonham, Kendall; outside, Core; inside, Worthy; subs, C. Jennings, Dobson, O'Hearn.

Referee—Len Smith.

Both teams started out to make the play fast. Kendall scored for the locals and Gould evened it for Hastings. Boonham counted three in a row on pretty combination play. Bull was penalized. Boonham was having a field day in scoring. He made it four for Excelsiors and in another minute six. His shots were too fast for Lambert. Harrison made it seven. The visiting goalie had no support from his defence, who backed in on him. The quarter finished, Brampton 7, Hastings 1.

Second Half.

Brampton scored four goals with Hastings only touching the ball once. The score was 11 to 1, with only three minutes gone. Kendal, Boonham, O'Hearn and C. Jennings did the tallying. Bovaird and Boonham added two more. Boonham notched his eaghth and Brampton's fourteenth. He made it fifteen in a scrimmage. Worthy got his first and the Red Shirts' sixteenth. C. Jennings bulged the nets for another, and Kendall beat Lambert. Richardson scored the visitors' second. O'Hearn got it back for Brampton, their nineteenth. The half finished, Brampton 19, Hastings 2.

Third Quarter.

Brampton and Shelburne tossed for final games, the latter winning. Shelburne play here Wednesday and the return game is in Shelburne on Saturday. Worthy bulged the nets for a pair in as many minutes. Tate tallied the visitors' third. Harrison made it twenty-one for Excelsiors, and C. Jennings netted another. Score went on and came off again. Burton went through for his first and the locals 24. The score, Brampton 24, Hastings 3.

Fourth Quarter.

Claude Jennings scored the first in the fourth quarter and Boonham netted a pair. Gould beat Cook for Hastings' fourth. Kendall and Harrison brought the total to 29. Kendall counted the thirtieth. Boonham made it 31, the final being Brampton 31, Hastings 4.

CANADIAN WOOLLENS WON FROM THE C.G.E.

The Canadian Woollens and C. G. E. Junior teams met for the first time in a Yeotes Cup game Saturday afternoon, and after a great battle the former were returned the winners by a score of 2 to 1.

The game was played at the Oval and was keen from start to finish, both teams showing excellent form and making some very good plays. The C.G.E. had several new boys on their line-up who are expected to give a good account of themselves when they have had a little more practice.

P.C.I. DOWNED BY TRINITY COLLEGE

Local Boys Put Up a Good Game While Playing Under Strange Rules.

The P.C.I. rugby team went to Port Hope Saturday where they met with a 15 to 10 defeat at the hands of the Trinity College players. The Peterborough boys put up a great game in spite of the fact that they were playing under the Big Little Four rules for the first time after having done all their practicing under the O.R.F.U. regulations.

Trinity had it nearly all their own way in the first half, getting nine points to two for the P.C.I. Three of the Trinity points were made by kicks, and it is evident that the Port Hope school is developing some fine players in this phase of the game. They got one touch and converted it in good shape. Good work on the part of Fanning and Mulholland prevented them from piling up a much higher score.

In the second half the Peterborough boys showed a greater familiarity with the Trinity tactics. They had evidently succeeded in mastering the changes in the rules, for they did much better work than in the first half and even had a little the better of the play, scoring eight points against six for the Port Hopers. Peterborough got a touch when one of the Trinity halves missed a long punt of Mulholland's which went behind the touch line, where Fielding grabbed the ball and fell on it. Mulholland converted it in good shape and the P.C.I. got another point on a rouge. Trinity then went over for another touch, making the score 15 to 10.

McGILL DEFEATED BY QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY.

MONTREAL, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press)—Marked superiority in backfield play earned Queen's University a 12 to 1 victory over the McGill Rugby squad in the opening game of the Intercollegiate season locally played at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium Saturday afternoon. Over 8,000 witnessed the inexperienced and light red and white players accept defeat from the tri-color, the first loss suffered by McGill on its own grounds since the opening of the new stadium in 1919, and the first defeat on their own grounds from a Queens teams in a score of years.

A THREE-BAGGER.

The fact that Billy Mills, Belleville catcher was credited with a three base hit on the drive that sent in the winning run on Friday, although he only went to second has caused some discussion. There is however, no argument needed on this point as it is definitely covered in the rules.

Section 3A of Rule 85 says "If in the last half of the final inning with the winning run on base the batsman drives home that run, credit shall be given him for as many bases on his hit as the runner advances, except however that in case of the batsmen driving a fair ball out of the playing field he shall be given credit for a home run.

Cenrtal League Put A Crimp in Toronto

By beating the St. Aidan's team intermediate T.A.B.A. winners in Toronto on Saturday the Canadian General crew made the Toronto-Peterboro record three straight for the local ball tossers. Peterboro teams have cleaned up the T.A.B.A. winners in three different series, a record which entitles local fandom to some crowing. The Maple Leafs walloped Royce Avenue in the Midget series, the Adanacs handed a nice trimming to McCormicks the T.A.B.A. junior champions and now the Generals put the skids under the Toronto intermediate champions. With Belleville knocking out the Hillcrests in the senior series and Peterboro teams taking care of the intermediate, junior and midget Toronto titleholders, the baseball triumph of the Central Ontario League district is complete.

ORIOLES WON JUNIOR TITLE

Police Escort the Umpire From the Field When Crowd Protests His Decision at the Plate.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press)—The Baltimore Orioles International League champions won the Junior World series by defeating St. Paul, American Association leaders, 4 to 3, here ysterday, giving the easterners five gams to St. Paul's two.

Umpire Derr of the International League was escorted from the field by police after the game when the crowd swarmed onto the field to protest a decision made by Derr in the eighth.

A shower of cushions fell about Derr, but he was not hurt.

"Jazz" Rogers, a Baltimore fan, Charles Schmidt, Vice-President of the Baltimore Club and President John C. Toole, of the International were jostled by the angry fans. Police however, rescued them and put Rogers and Schmidt in the press box for safety. Toole was escorted to the St. Paul Club's office, while police endeavoured to clear the park. St. Paul and International officials termed the affair unfortunate.

A close decision at the plate in the eighth inning, in which Golvin, St. Paul first sacker, was called out on what would have been the tieing run, brought on the demonstration. Golvin had doubled to right field and attempted to score when Hass singled to left. Lawry made a great throw to McAvoy and Umpire Derr called Golvin out as he slid into the plate. Score:

Baltimore	100000300	4	13 2
St. Paul	110100000	3	7 1

YANKEE VETERANS WILL LOSE JOBS.

Ward and Witt Are Amongst Those Who Will Pass On.

Moving into their new $3,000,000 stadium next Spring, the New York Yankees may introduce several new players as members of their regular line-up and a like number of this year's regulars may be missed. Willie Pipp, the first baseman; Wallie Schang, the catcher; Joe Dugan, the third baseman, and Pitchers Shawkey Jones and Hoyt are in good standing. Babe Ruth's retention depends upon his power at the box office next year, and that depends on the condition in which he reports to the training camp. Erin Ward at second and Whitey Witt in center are two whose standing is rather shakey, and if Carl Mays is retained it will be only because he shows symptons of his 1921 greatness.

Matter of More Kicking

By BILLY EVANS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Baseball numbers among its enthusiasts many football stars of other days.

Even though football is crowding baseball slowly but surely from the sport map the world series proved a magnet that overcame the lure of the gridiron.

At the opening game of the series I saw a score of famous former football stars. Some were players who have been out of the game only a few years. All of them seemed perfectly willing to put aside their fondness for the gridiron game until after the world series.

Stars Not Enthusiastic

Several of these old stars saw the first grid games of the years, in which the big teams of the east took part. None of them seemed to enthuse over the new rule which gives the team making a touchdown the right to make one play from scrimmage.

Most of the old stars feel that the new play will not produce the thrills that were expected of it.

In the opening games practically every eleven elected to try for goals from the field after scoring a touchdown. That is, on all scrimmage plays after touchdowns, the team having the ball tried to score the extra point either by a drop kick or goal from placement.

Studying Drop Kick.

I dropped over to the Harvard Stadium while in Boston to look over the Crimson squad.

The one thing that interested me most was the number of players practicing drop kicking. At least 20 were taking instruction in the art of kicking goals from the field.

Coach Bill Roper at Princeton has a dozen kickers out every day an hour before regular practice. These players do nothing but drop kick or attempt goals from placement.

Evidently Roper and Fisher feel that the best way to try to score after making a touchdown is to attempt field goals.

When the new rule was made it was hoped it would bring about much new strategy in football. It seems that it will merely narrow down to a kicking feature.

May Wholly Fail.

It wouldn't be surprising if the rule failed of its purpose.

Many of the football men I talked with seemed to think it as much of a joke as the goal after touchdown.

The impression that prevailed was that next year a touchdown would count seven points, and there would be no try for a point after the making of a touchdown.

Football experts feel that a touchdown, as a rule, is far more difficult to negotiate than two field goals. That is why they insist a touchdown should count seven points.

With field goals counting three points it would take three such kicks to overcome a touchdown.

CUBS CHAMPIONS OF CHICAGO CITY

Grover Alexander Applied the Whitewash Brush Yesterday —

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press)—Grover Alexander yesterday whitewashed the Chicago White Sox, 2 to 0, and won the title of Chicago's City Champions for the Cubs. The Cubs won four games to the White Sox's three. It was the first time that the Cub veteran ace has been able to win from the White Sox in three series. The victory of the Cubs yesterday is the first since 1909 when the White Sox won the title and retained it until today. Score.

Petcoff is a product of Waite High, Toledo. He scales 210 pounds. There is a remarkable resemblance not only in build and facial expressions between Pixley, State's captain, and Petcoff, but in agility as well. Both are suprisingly quick for big men.

DE LAVAL-PACKERS BATTLE TO A DRAW

Yeotes Cup Game Went Scoreless For First Half But Both Scored in the Second.

The C.P.C. and DeLaval juniors fought through to a 1 to 1 draw in a Yeotes Cup game Saturday afternoon. These old rivals met at King Edward Park and an excellent game resulted.

DeLaval faced the sun and wind and were on the defensive for the whole of the first period. The C.P.C. players pressed them hard but failed to find the net in the opening haft which ended with both sides scoreless.

On changing ends the C.P.C. at once took the offensive, adopting tactics to suit conditions and were rewarded by a beautful goal from the foot of their new centre, Haw. The DeLaval then woke up and after the C.P.C. goalie had saved a grand shot from Cooper he fumbled the ball and the equalizing score resulted.

The teams were.

C.P.C.—Killenbeck, J. Downer, H. Curtis, F. Ball, Shadgett, T. Ball, Mitchell, Anderson, Haw, Edwards, and Chambers.

DeLaval—Frick, Ward, Ashmore, Cooper, Feeley, Mulchen, Bell, Elliot, Evans, Smith and Holland.

Rferee—A. McKinley.

GOVERNING BODY FOR RUGBY TEAMS.

There is talk going the rounds favoring the formation of a governing body for the city rugby leagues. In hockey, baseball, soccer and basketball the various leagues come under the direct supervision of a body which in turn is responsible to the Ontario Branch of the A. A. U. of C. In this way the amateur moguls keep in close touch with the activities of the various sports and the leagues, and sectional governing bodies are vested with much more power. Several men who have been active in promoting the fall pastime in Toronto are advocating the move, and in view of the success of this system in other lines of sport it is certainly worthy of further discussion.

LINCOLN THE FAILURE

When Abraham Lincoln was a young man he ran for the legislature in Illinois, and was badly swamped.

He next entered business, failed, and spent seventeen years of his life paying up the debts of a worthless partner.

He was in love with a beautiful young woman to whom he was engaged—then she died.

Later he married a woman who was a constant burden to him.

Entering politics again, he ran for congress and was badly defeated.

He then tried to get an appointment to the U.S. land office, but failed.

He became a candidate for the U.S. senate and was badly defeated.

In 1856 he became a candidate for vice-presidency and was again defeated.

In 1858 he was defeated by Douglas.

One failure after another—bad failures—great setbacks. In the face of all this he eventually became one of his country's greatest men, if not the greatest.

When you think of a series of setbacks like this, doesn't it make you feel small to become discouraged, just because you think you are having a hard time in life?

Current Events Simply Told For Little People

Ships Now Made Dry as Land.

Ever since the United States has been "dry," as it is rather slangily but very compactly expressed, there has been no question that it was against the law to make liquor, to sell it, to move it about or to bring it into the country from the outside.

But it has not been so certain how the law applied to ships entering and leaving American ports.

Ships belonging to foreign countries were permitted to visit the United States and to sail away with liquor on board, so long as they neither sold nor gave it away while within three miles of the coast, nor attempted to put any of it ashore.

Ships belonging to Americans bought liquor at foreign ports and were allowed to keep it on board under the same conditions as foreign vessels.

Ships belonging to the United States government, and run by the United States Shipping Board, at first were forbidden to have liquor on board, but later the same rules were applied to them as to the vessels owned by private persons.

Thus, all these ships had bars on board and sold liquors to passengers while away from the United States, being merely required to lock it up while inside what is known as the "three mile limit," a strip of ocean three miles wide stretching all along the country's coast, and also spoken of as "territorial waters of the United States.

Finally it began to be urged that the same law ought to be applied to American ships as applied on land.

The duty of enforcing the law in cases like this belongs to the secretary of the treasury, who at this time is Andrew W. Mellon.

Secretary Mellon was not sure what to do, so he asked Harry M. Daugherty, the attorney general, whose business it is to answer legal questions put to him by President Harding or other members of the cabinet.

The attorney general replied that in his opinion ships cannot under any circumstances, bring liquor inside the "three-mile limit." This rule, he said, applies to the United States, Alaska, Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Hawaii and the Philippines.

But foreign ship owners probably will look at the matter differently. The attorney general does not make the law. He only tells how he understands it. It is expected the foreign ship owners will say they think he is mistaken. The chances are that they will ask the United States courts first to stop Secretary Mellon from meddling with their liquor while in American ports so long as they keep it locked up, and then that they will ask the Supreme Court at Washington whether or not it agrees with the attorney general. If the Supreme Court does not agree, the foreign ships will continue to do as they have done in the past. If it does agree, then they will have to comply with the law.

However, if foreign ships, finally, are not allowed to bring liquor locked up, inside the "three-mile limit," it is likely that many of them will cease to visit the United States. Instead, those, for instance, which cross the Atlantic, will land their passengers at Canadian ports, and Americans who wish to travel on these ships will have to go by rail to and from these Canadian ports and the United States, in order to take them, or to get home after traveling on them from abroad.

It is quite probable that the matter will become international, and that President Harding and Secretary of States Hughes will have to discuss and settle it with foreign governments. There is no question that the United States can do about it as she sees fit. Still, there is the chance that foreign governments, in turn, may make trouble for American ships in their own ports if they are not listened to so it may be better to reach a friendly agreement.

American Navy Men for Brazil

In Washington some people are very much pleased at news that the republic of Brazil, in South America, has decided to have United States naval officers superintend the building of a much stronger Brazilian navy.

Admiral Carl T. Vogelsang, who has been commandant of the New York navy yard district, is to have charge of this work, and he will have about 20 other American officers to help him.

This not only is a compliment to the United States, but these American officers undoubtedly will be able, through their influence, to have the material needed for the new ships bought in this country.

At the same time, people who are acquainted with South America, hear the news with a great deal of regret.

The South American countries are very jealous of one another, and if Brazil sets to work to make herself stronger than any of the others, or stronger than all the rest put together, it is certain that the rest will try, by army and navy preparations of their own, to prevent her from succeeding.

This will mean a race between them for military strength, and such races are very apt to end in fighting.

Brazil has, indeed, a larger population than any of the other South American republics, which makes her stronger, but any hint, like rapid navy-building, that she means to use this strength, may lead to combinations of several other countries against her, and such combinations always are dangerous.

So peace-loving people are worried, even though Brazil's plans may bring considerable business to American shipyards and armament factories, and give employment to a number of American naval experts.

Near East Peace Talk Progressing

The danger is not over that more important countries will be drawn into trouble in the Near East following the defeat of the Greeks by the Turks under Kemal Pasha.

However, the outlook there, just at the moment, is much brighter.

Representatives of the Turks, the Greeks, the English, the French, and the Italians have been conferring at the town of Mudania, on the Sea of Marmora, in Asia Minor, and while this conference has been interrupted once or twice, by temporary deadlocks, it has been resumed each time and thus far steady progress has been made towards a peaceful settlement.

It seems nearly certain that the Turks will get most of what they demand—Constantinople and Thrace as far as the Maritza River—but that the League of Nations will be given control of navigation through the Dardanelles, the Sea of Marmora and the Bosphorus.

If this agreement is reached it will mean peace for the time being, but the fact remains that many people think the presence of the Turks on the European side of this waterway must always be a source of danger.

Kemal Pasha's troops, as the Mudania conference has progressed, have been getting nearer and nearer to Constantinople, which the English do not like, but it is hoped it will not lead to fighting with the Mudania peace meeting actually going on.

In the meantime there is terrible suffering among the Greeks and Armenians who are being driven out of the territory the Turks have conquered.

Americans have been doing their utmost to help these unfortunate people. President Harding has given his approval to an appeal by the American Red Cross and the Near East Relief to raise money for this purpose, and Will H. Hays, former postmaster general, will have charge of the work.

WAS GREAT WIN FOR C.G.E. TEAM

Peterborough Team Came From Behind to Beat St. Aidans in the Semi-Final.

SCORE WAS 4 TO 3

The Canadian General Electric team won a great victory in Toronto on Saturday, when they nosed out the St. Aidans team, Toronto Intermediate winners, by 4 to 3 in the Intermediate O.B.A.A. semi-finals.

To turn the trick the Generals had to come from behind for they went only the eighth innings with the short end of a 3 to 0 score.

A grand rally in the eighth sent McCarney, Helson, Corrin, and Rose across the plate, giving the Peterborough crew a 4 to 3 win.

"Bun" Frost pitched a superb game for the winners, striking out no fewer than fourteen of the Toronto gang, while Borebank, the St. Aidan's left hander, also turned in a nice exhibition until he weakened in the eighth.

The C.G.E. team will now meet the winners of the Lucan-Hamilton series in the Intermediate finals.

A Toronto report says:

In the Intermediate O.B.A.A. semi-final game at the East Toronto grounds on Saturday, C.G.E. of Peterborough came from behind and beat St. Aidan's of Toronto 4 to 3.

Both Boreband of St. Aidan's and Frost of Peterborough pitched beautiful ball, with the edge going to the twirler from the Lift Lock City.

Frost struck out fourteen and Borebank whiffed twelve. Helson, Corrin, Rose, and Frost led the Peterborough hitters.

The winners bunched four hits in the eighth to win out by a great rally—Dyck and O'Connell were the best hitters for St. Aidan's.

The fielding features were Kindree's great throw home in the second and Helson's catch of a line drive from Hozack's bat. McCue and Helson played their positions nicely.

P.C.I. BOYS MADE A GOOD SHOWING

Were Handicapped in Rifle Association Matches

A team from the Peterborough Collegiate Institute was entered in the Ontario Rifle Association's matches at Long Branch on Friday last. The local boys made an exceptionally fine showing in view of the fact that six out of ten in the team were under 16 years of age. They came fourth in the Canadian National Exhibition match, and the first Peterborough team came sixth, and the second team came nineteenth out of about 44 entries for the Warren Trophy.

Cadet Arthur Sowden came second place in the individual match, winning one of the spoons given by Major General Logie, a Strathcona silver medal and $12 in cash prizes. His score was but one point behind first place. Cadet Lieut. Ronald Fleming won $6, Cadet Lieut. Walter Cowling won $5, Cadet Harry Chew and Cadet Frank Whitehouse won $2 each and each of the others $1.

In the Canadian Rifle League matches held last spring, the Peterborough Collegiate won second place in Canada in the Gallery Competition, fifth place in the Service Rifle Competition, and fourteenth place in the Miniature match.

GOOD PRACTICE FOR RUGBY TEAM

Big Turnout at Riverside Park on Saturday

The O.A.R.U. squad turned out on Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park under Coaches Dr. Sheehy and Dr. Wood. There were 20 players on hand, and all worked hard.

The practice opened with instructions on handling, catching, and kicking the ball. Then two lines were formed and the new V formation for kicking practised. This gave the linemen good practice in following down under the ball and in tackling, and the backs plenty of experience in kicking, catching, and running.

The afternoon finished with kicking, catching, and running practice for the backs and tackling for the line. No signals or trick plays were tried out. These will be developed during the week in daily practices at Central Park at 5.30 p.m., under Coach Sheehy.

Arrangements have been made with Col. McPherson to carry on the practice in the Armouries from dark to 6.30 each evening, when players will change their rugby boots for rubber-soled shoes.

Saturday gave a good opportunity to get a line on the players. While all did well, the kicking of Emmett, Sheehy and Northey was noticeable, and the ball carrying of "Clare" Stewart and "Puss" Pogue was a feature. They are both big men, but handle themselves well.

On the line, Bob Hamilton could grass any of the big fellows every time. His tackling was far superior to any of the rest. Fanning and Sloan both show promise of being second Ross Craigs when it comes to line plunging.

On the whole, with another week's practice, the team to go to Kingston for an exhibition game with Limestones on 21st October will give big Ed. Elliott and his crowd a busy time.

Dr. Sheehy would like to see at least 40 men out to the practice this week.

From the showing that Wolfe made on the baseball field, it looks as though he should be one of the 40.

We have not seen Heber Rogers or Major Gifford out yet, and there must be many more.

Any man turning out can be sure of every opportunity to learn and play the game.

BOWLING NEWS

The announcement that Mr. Gordon M.P., is donating a trophy for the Mercantile Five Pin Bowling League has aroused great interest among the devotees of the alley game and the Water street alleys have already received several entries for this league which promises to be the best yet organized. All teams wishing to enter are asked to send their names in.

The Lawn Bowlers Ten Pin League is expected to start next week.

Several of the manufacturing concerns are going in strongly for bowling and are organizing(Leagues among their own employees.

CITY ATHLETIC CHAMPIONSHIPS

KEEN HARDSHIPS ARE ANTICIPATED

Fire Sufferers Need a Continuous Supply of Relief

OTTAWA, Oct. 16.—(Canadian Press).—That unless a continuous supply of money and supplies was forthcoming keen hardships would be endured by people who lost everything in the Northern Ontario fire zone was the report brought back to Ottawa, by Dr. C. A. Hodgetts, Honorary Secretary of the Northern Ontario Relief committee, who went up to investigate and make a report to the local committee. Dr. Hodgetts reported that relief arrangements had been well systemized in the north.

CHILDREN'S DAY ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

R. W. Allin Delivers Addsesses to Little Ones and Adults.

In the early teens of the twentieth century, the General Synod of the Angiican Church in Canada, set apart the third Sunday in October as a Sunday to be devoted to the focussing the attention of all concerned, or to be liberal—the attention of all those who ought to be concerned with their duty towards Sunday Schools. Geographically larger than the United States, any and every educational work in Canada presents the problem, how to spread its benign influence so as to include thinly populated areas. The callous indifference by the majority of qualified members of many of our religious institutions is more than serious. Sunday school workers to be effective must absolutely be the best in every way all congregations possess, seized of the spirit of consecration the only-too-often have-to-be-used whoever-offers.

At the morning service Mr. R. W. Allin outlined the history of Sunday Schools and gave a concise account of the situation in the Anglican church in Canada. The Sunday School Commission has been succeeded by the Board of Religious Education, which body issues its own publication and supplies.

At the Children's Service in the church in the afternoon, Mr. Allin addressed the whole school, particularly commending the teaching of the catechism, urging that its memorizing was of the greatest importance the story of a Japanese clergyman, (now a worker in Japan, after training on this continent), who owed his Christian career to a verse memorized when he scarcely knew the language. (English).

At the evening, preaching to a large congregation, Dr. Blagrave, gave utterance to views of the situation with respect to children which cannot be denied. "The boy in prison isn't far from your own boy", came out sharply; again, "the juvenile court, brought out the big brothers. We have no such court in this city, but let us have the brotherhood to-night".

Useless crimes like the looted houses last year in this province by mere boys, have been laid to the war, absence of fathers, but to get nearer home, surely the neglect of training in the home might more surely account for not only that type of mis-doing, but for the general trend of respect for constituted authority. When the preacher came to the Sunday School work, a telling appeal rang out an appeal that should not be unheeded, "one five, ten, cannot do the work of forty; give of your best, and the blessings cannot be estimated for they are as promised by God."

Finally, Dr. Blagrave came to the only solution of all our problems, a greater realization of the whole truth that "God is Love", and that teaching our children must be a work of love.

The music throughout the day was in keeping with the teaching. Scott Medd, sang in a sweet boy soprano voice both morning and afternoon:—"The Song of the Angels" and "I think when I read".

In the evening the choir boys sang in solo, and concerted, "Jesu, high in glory')', (Matthews), the boys who sang so tunefully being:—Harold Coleman, Charles Woodgate, Harry Long, Donald Rathbone, (soprano); John Marshall, George Coleman, (alto).

The stanza "Save us, Lord from Sinning," all male voices, including Mr. F. C. Roberts, tenor, and Mr. George Coleman bass, was followed by all the choir in the finale "Then when Jesus calls us" sung exectively in unison.

The hymn 'Now the day is over" concluded an eventful day in St. John's.

At The Theatres

DOROTHY DALTON, A VERSATILE STAR, AT THE CAPITOL TO - NIGHT.

She Plays Featured Part in Fine Picture, "The Siren Call."

When a motion picture director is to film a story of the wilderness, he must find actors and actresses who can be taken into wild places without looking like orchids in a vegetable garden. He had to find men and women who can shoot, ride, paddle a canoe, swim, build a camp fire, and cook if necessary.

In other words, he must find healthy, active human beings who have walked on something besides asphalt and who must be able to stand hardships and enjoy them, for there is still much photography done in the open spaces, despite the wonderful development of picture studios in the past few years.

Dorothy Dalton is one of these unusual women. She demonstrated it in "The Flame of the Yukon," "Flare Up Sal," "The Idol of the North," and in other pictures, so when Irvin Willat sought out a woman for the leading role in her newest production, "The Siren Call," the part fell almost automatically to her.

This is the story of the boom in Alaska, with its colourful life and the clashing of strong-willed men and women where civilisation's veneer is scratched in places. Miss Dalton can portray all the tempestuous dash needed for the part; she can ride a horse like a cowboy, she can handle a canoe like an Indian, she has no fear of the rushing currents of the mountain streams, and she can even retin her poise among a string of Alaskan dogs that are ready to show their teeth on the slightest provocation. David Powell and Mitchell Lewis have the leading male roles.

AT THE ROYAL.

WILLIAM RUSSELL HERE IN "A SELF-MADE MAN"

William Russell, who is among the most popular of film stars, is offered in another Fox production at the Regent Theatre, starting to-day The film is called "A Self-Made Man" and describes the adventures of a young man who is sole heir to his father's fortune. The son drives a fast car and studies art with a Capital A, but has little use for business. He breaks in to the newspaper headlines because of his peculiar exploits, and his father, in an angry moment disowns him. Then his sweetheart turns him down. The future seems black, but events prove him to be a go-getter, and he comes out at the top of the heap.

Reviews from cities where this photoplay has been shown recommend it very highly. It has many bits of amusing comedy, generally praiseworthy acting, artistic settings and direction of a high order. From all reports it is deseving of public patronage.

"A Self-Made Man" will continue at the Royal Theatre for three days.

AT THE GRAND.

THE "DUMBELLS."

Four years ago to-day the last thought in the minds of the young men who are now presenting their new show, "The Dumbells Revue of 1922," from Victoria, B.C., to London, Eng., was that at some future time they would come to be recognized as one of the most successful theatrical organizations of the present generation.

For four years ago these same young men, then known only as The Dumbells, were toiling night and day doing their bit toward keeping up the morale of the small but fiercely embattled Canadian army on the Arras front. In the morning they went on the road, and that didn't mean a Pullman coach either—it was literally a road in this case—a shell-pitted highway of France.

The afternoon was spent preparing the "theatre," usually a Y.M.C.A. hut. At night they gave two performances to the war-weary troops, either fresh from the line or on their way back after a few days' rest.

For three years after the war they continued to present, through Canana ,and the United States, various versions and editions of their original overseas revue. This period has included record runs such as 34 weeks in Toronto and a season in New York, where they were received with the utmost cordiality.

Now, they have forsaken war topics and war songs and have recently produced an elaborate musical comedy revue, fashioned along the most modern lines, with every line and every song written expressively for them.

Their farewell appearance here will be staged at the Grand Theatre, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 20 and 21.

One of the prettiest and most charming little plays that Peterborough has had a chance of seeing for many a moon was "Sonya," the delightful comedy presented at the Grand on Saturday, and it was unfortunate that so few play-goers availed themselves of the opportunity. "Sonya" was written by Eugene Thomas Wyckoff, from the Polish play by Gabryela Zapolska and tells the entertaining story of the heir apparent to the throne of an Eastern Europe kingdom who, brought up by a stern old uncle to hate and distrust women, is plotted against by an ambitious cousin. The latter brings into the life of the Prince the girl Sonya, a member of a troup of gymnasts and dancers who on the stage poses as a boy. The developments that follow are of great interest. Sonya and the Prince enter into a compact to be pals, "just like two boys" and fool the plotters by making it appear that the girl has been adopted as the Prince's mistress. The inevitable follows—the two fall in love and all ends happily after some dramatic episodes that hold the audience closely.

The title role was charmingly played by Miss Marion Wells, whose picture of "Sonya" will long be remembered. Robert Adams was the Prince Alexander, and a likeable Prince he made, too, his work throughout being effective and convincing. There was not a weak spot in the supporting cast. Edwin Maynard's conception of the part of the gruff old Prince Michael was a masterpiece, and Victor Benoit was effective as the scheming Prince Paul. Luther J. Adler contributed a bit that stoodout prominently in his work as "King Steffah." He had but one appearance on the stage, but made that count.

Altogether "Sonya" was a treat, worthy of a capacity house.

(By Stuart P. West.)

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 16. — (Canadian Press.)— The most important incident in the financial news over the week end was the publication of the details of the subscription to the new Government Loan. To those who had thought of its being largely a refunding operation, in the sense that the bulk of the bonds would be exchanged for Victory notes and other outstanding short term obligations, the announcement was a decided surprise. As a matter of fact of the total of 1,550,000,000 dollars applications for the loan, all but $150,000,000 came from cash subscribers. These will get the entire $500,000,000, the conversion of the Victorys and other short term notes falling due within the next two months to be taken care of by an additional issue of the new 4 1-4 p.c.'s.

The assumption quite common in investment circles up to a week ago, that the.. Government.. financing would be merely an exchange affair carried with it the conclusion that it would be no fresh tax upon the investment resources of the country. But that the assumption turns out to have been wrong, and a half billion dollars is taken from the market which otherwise would have been available for existing securities, new light is thrown upon the sagging tendency recently noted in the bond list. On account of the surtax provision on holdings in excess of $5,000, wealthy investors probably cut little figure in the subscription. The fact that the bonds were aplied for three times over mainly by small people willing to pay cash, stamped the transaction as a really great popular loan. The success of the new treasury issue had, however, little perceptible effect upon the markets to-day. Bond prices as a rule were firm, with the exception of the Liberties, which were weaker, especially in the case of the 4 1-4's. But there did not appear to be any connection between the selling of the Liberties and the new loan. It was due rather to continued liquidation of security holdings by banks which are now finding an increased use for their funds in commercial channels.

The stock market again to-day was not interested in much else than consideration affecting the values of individual stocks. The idea of the steel corporation as belonging to the group of possible distributors of stock dividends, made a powerful appeal to speculative sentiment and gave rise to further heavy buying of the common stock. This notion would not down even when Chairman E. H. Gary said later in the day that such a distribution had not been discussed.

Oil shares were actively sold in the session on further price cuts for gasoline, but they rallied with equal alacrity later on. Pool operations, taking the list as a whole, were not as keen as on some other days, yet whenever prices came down at all these speculative syndicates were eventually willing to offer prompt and effective support.

THAT FINAL STAGE.

There is considerable discussion in Wall Street on the point that the present bull market is now entering upon its final stage, and that greater discrimination is therefore essential to getting the best results in speculative activity.

How long will this final stage last is a vital question, and it is somewhat reassuring to those committed to the bull side to find from precedent that it frequently lasts many months, offering numerous opportunities for large speculative profits.

It is estimated that the market took about nine months to recover from depression and another nine months to rise in the second stage of consolidating gains made chiefly through active investment absorption.

It is held in some quarters of the Street that another nine months of advance is in sight to discount returning prosperity, which may be accelerated in spots by temporary inflation. This condition is expected to be reflected by some sensational upward movements in the market during the next few months, with speculative imagination excited by gossip of distribution of surpluses to avoid new corporation taxes and by mergers in railroad and industrial circles as well as the spectacle of large dollar earnings.

LIVE STOCK MARKET ITEMS

From Banking and Stock Exchange Circles.

A strong conviction is expressed in important circles that the rails are being prepared for a broad advance in the near future to levels higher than yet seen.

Copper and zinc shares are held to be getting more out of line all the time, and strong advice is given to buy them on moderate recessions.

These stocks are being accumulated for a substantial advance according to conservative quarters: Atchison, B. & O. N.Y. Cent. and Lehigh Valley.

Increasing public interest is expected in prominent wire houses, where predictions are made that the bull market is nowhere near an end.

"Investigations suggest that a widespread belief does not exist that U.S. Steel Corporation will distribute its $500,000,000 surplus at a time when competition is keener than ever" says a well-known source

Pool channels are reported to be bullish on U.S. Realty, Sinclair Oil, International Paper and Texas Oil.

Recommendations are being made in well-informed quarters to buy the sugars on recessions with the idea of expecting a movement in the near future.

It is predicted that independent oils will be made strong in order to help distribution in the Standard Oil shares held speculatively.

Wild movements in some stocks are causing advices to be circulated from conservative houses.

"The position of the U. S. Steel Corporation is the soundest it has occupied for two years" says aprominent source in urging the purchase of this stock on recessions.

Southern Pacific are being recommended in prominent Stock Exchange circles.

ACTIVE INVESTMENT OPINION.

Expert Comment on The Security Market, Finance, Business and Politics.

Do not be discouraged because rails do not move That they will have important advances, we are confident. Regard coppers same as rails—Hornblower & Weeks.

The general market conditions continue to suggest conservative buying of active stocks for trading profits—Tobey & Kirk.

We are inclined to think that the prospect, and later the materialization of earnings will carry the market to still somewhat higher levels. The stock market has now enjoyed fourteen months of rising prices, all the signs indicate that we are entering on the final stage. This stage is likely to last several months, and during it we shall probably see quite a number of issues enjoy a substantial advance—Hayden, Stone & Company.

Recessions should be utilized to buy stocks discriminatingly between those which were leaders in the first phase of the market and those which now give evidence of assuming this role—Livingston & Company.

In making purchases do not forget that the rails are way behind the rest of the market. — Prince & Whitley.

It is a very good time to keep an open mind on the subject of realizing profits in shares that have had extraordinary advances lately.—Clark, Childs & Company.

We can look for strength in rails, coopers, tires, fertilizers, agricultural implements, another move in tobaccos, and further strength in steels—J. S. Bache & Company.

The equipment issues are booked for higher prices— Brumley, Chamberlain & Company.

If Standard Oil issues show indications of losing their forward impetus we doubt that the independent oils would have enough to carry them forward alone—A. A. Housman & Company.

The big advance in some of the highest priced of the Standard Oil stocks is enough to put added pressure on the loan market and some good people are advising caution at this stage—E. F. Hutton & Company.

Some individual stocks that still look cheap to us are U.S. Realty, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, International Combustion Engineering, Timken Roller Bearing, Cluett, Peat body & Co., American Telephone Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Union Pacific, Pennsylvania, N.Y. Central, C. & O. and Illionis Central—Goodboy & Co.

WEDDING BELLS

WEATHERSTON—McGILL.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place in Toronto, on October 14th, when Beatrice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGill, of Lindsay, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Weatherston, of Toronto. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. R. B. Nellis of Dale Presbyterian Church, Toronto.

The bride looked pretty in a novelty suit of tricotine with silver grey picture hat, and carrying a bouquet of sweetheart roses. She was attended by Miss Mary Ryder, of Toronto, who wore a tailored suit of blue serge with hat to match, carrying bouquets of carnations.

The groom was supported by Mr. Clifford Brown, of Toronto.

Immediately after the ceremony, the young couple left for the bride's home, when a dainty reception was held on their return.

Mr. and Mrs. Weatherston will reside in Toronto.

REPORTS DESTRUCTION TO BE EXAGGERATED

Startling Statements Revealed in a Letter From Smyrna—Kemal Bluffing His Way Through.

KINGSTON, Oct. 17.—That reports of the destruction in Smyrna were greatly exaggerated, that England and Turkey will not become embroiled in war, and that the Armenians, supplied with American funds, were responsible for the burning of Smyrna, are startling statements in a letter which has been received here from a former Kingstonian, who obviously does not want his name published for fear of reprisals, but who has occupied a high educational post in Smyrna for some time and is regarded as competent to judge of the situation there. In a letter dated September 30 he says:

"Unless England and Turkey go to war, a very doubtful contingency in my opinion, I hope to be back in my post within a month. I happen to know that Mustapha Kemal is not in the strong position he is supposed to be, and that what he really needs at the present time is nc: ne wvictories ,but a few wise, moderate counsellors. I am quite sure that Lloyd George and his entourage are at present needlessly alarmed as to Mustapha's supposed plan to cross into Europe.

"I would say that from one-half to two-thirds of the people were left homeless by the fire, although in actual area, if you include the suburbs along the south shore, not more than one-third to one-half of the city had been destroyed when I left."

Discussing the causes of the fire, the writer says:

"The discovery of the plot stirred up the bitterest indignation against the Armenians, and at one time I feared that we would have to hand over our Armenian refugees. It was at the headquarters of this organisation that the fire was started by the Turks on that afternoon of the 13th, and with the high wind then blowing it rapidly spread from there. I understand that the irregulars and soldiers were authorised to fire every house where bombs were thrown and to shoot down persons attempting to escape from these houses. This, at least, partially accounts for the rapid spread of the fire and of the shooting down of many people in the streets during the burning of the fire. I do not believe that the Armenian Commission was ever aware of its existence or at least of its nefarious sacred purpose, and the severity of the Turk towards the Armenians in the city was another case of the innocent having to suger in large numbers for the guilt and folly of the innocent having to suffer in this club are printed in English, and very naurally made the Turks believe they were appealing to the United States for funds and as the name was, I think, "The Armenian Relief Association," they very probably got assistance in funds.

Armenians Involved.

"Shortly after the arrival of the Turks on Saturday, 9th September, two Armenians (traitors apparently to a cause they had themselves previously espoused) came to Noureddin Pasha, Kemal's right hand man, and notified him of the existence in Smyrna of an Armenian society, bearing a worthy name, but whose real object was to destroy by means of bomb-throwing, Turkish soldiers in many parts of the city The organisation had two hundred young men as members, whose names and addresses they gave, as well as the address of their headquarters. At once troops were sent, who immediately surrounded and seized the headquarters, where large supplies of bombs were found, and documents, indicating they had small depots throughout the city, except in the Turkish quarter. The names of the two hundred members were handed to the Turkish authorities, and the address of the headquarters.

HEAVY DOCKET AT THE ASSIZES

Includes Two Murder Charges and One of Mansiaughter --- Grand Jury Sworn.

OPENED TO-DAY

An unusually heavy docket comprising three criminal and seven civil cases was placed before Mr. Justice Middleton at the opening of the fall assizes of the Supreme Court here this afternoon. On the criminal list Mrs. Emma Jane Edwards and Abe Filion were charged with the murder of Ernest Edwards, and George Evans was accused of manslaughter in connection with the death of Orland Boyler, who was struck by an automobile driven by Evans on the road east of the Locks last spring.

Crown Attorney Hatton remarked that this was one of the longest court lists in this county for many years. The public accommodation in the court room was crowded and even women were standing in the aisles. A large representation of the Peterborough Bar greeted Mr. Justice Middleton, among those noticed being F. D. Kerr, K.C., J. A. Hutcheson, K. C., of Brockville, E. Gus Porter, K.C., Belleville, G. N. Gordon, K.C., C. R. Widdifield, V. J. McElderry, Joseph Wearing, S. T. Medd and Police Magistrate Langley.

Mr. Hooper was chosen foreman without retirement.

Judge's Address.

In addresing the Grand Jury, His Lordship affirmed his confidence in the grand jury system, stating that he did not agree with those who held that it had outlived its usefulness because Magistrates make a careful investigation of any case before committing any person for trial.

"I have found in many cases persons were committed for trial without proper and careful inquiry," His Lordship said. "The Grand Jury should spend the necessary time to determine whether any case before them has been made out."

After discussing the criminal cases before this court, and pointing out the difference between murder and manslaughter, Judge Middleton instructed the jury in regard to their duty of examining public institutions in this county. He admitted there was some foundation to the opinion that often the work and recommendations of Grand Juries were not fruitful.

"However, I make it a joint to see that all points brought out are followed up and are forwarded to the officials, who are appointed to look after such matters, and that they really receive serious consideration. I have observed several very important improvements in this province that have resulted largely from the persistence of Grand Juries. County jails are no longer places where the aged and infirm are kept. Thirteen or fifteen years ago I found from 3 to 30 inmates in jail who were there because of old age or poverty. They had committed no offense, but were branded as vagrants and thrust into jail."

His Lordship also said that insane persons used to be kept in the jails. Now there are comfortable homes for the aged poor, and for insane persons Ontario has a splendid asylum system that was established by the late Hon. Mr .Hanna, who realized that these unfortunates should not be treated as criminals. Under the new system some of the inmates had recovered.

CONDITIONS IN EAST THRACE NOT ASSURING

Allied Generals Feel That This is a Time When Everyone Must Keep His Head.

FURORE CREATED

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press.—That very disturbed conditions exist in Thrace which the Mudania armistice agreement provided should be evacuated by the Greeks within fifteen days, is revealed by a British Official statement issued to-day.

The population of Eastern Thrace is undoubtedly in a very disturbed state, says the statement. "Although no concrete cases of serious disorders are reported, Allied generals feel that this is a time when everyone should keep his head and not lend himself to panic.

KEMALISTS DISPLEASED

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Prime Minister Lloyd George's Manchester speech on the Near East, of which a summary reached Constantinople last night, has created a furore among Kemalist followers here. The entire summary was telegraphed immediate ly to Angora.

"This speech", said a Kemalist, representative, here, "completely shatters the confidence which we were reposing in Great Britain after her assurances to us at Mudania". Phrase in which, as received here, Kemalists were compared with warlike animals particularly displeased Nationalist delegates.

POPPIES TO BE MADE IN CANADA

Local Branch of G.W.V.A. Will See to This on Armistice Day.

Armistice day will be celebrated by the Great War Veterans this year by the sale of poppies in commemoration of those who fell "in Flander's Fields." Nine thousand of the small size and three thousand of the large. A number of large poppy wreaths will also be ordered, but on account of their higher cost the committee in charge is endeavoring to have orders placed for these before they are purchased by the organization.

As the Dominion Armistice Day will be celebrated on November 4, it is planned to sell the flowers on that day. Veterans in uniform will have charge of the sale. It is probable that they will work in groups of four and the sales will be made from the main business corners of the city. Last year the veterans were greatly assisted by members of the Cadet Corps and a number of young ladies from the Collegiate Institute and it was suggested at last night's meeting that aid might be again asked from these sources.

The poppies sold here last year, as in all other parts of the Dominion, were extensively advertised as having been made by the widows and orphans of devastated France, and it was pointed out that the purchase of the poppies would in some measure help these war sufferers in their struggle for existence. But investigation after the sale had been accomplished revealed the fact that the great majority of the flowers had been manufactured in the United States. True, some had been made in France, but not by any means all. The Great War Veterans Association determined that such a case should not be repeated this year and the poppies have been purchased through another source, so that the flowers sold this year will be those manufactured, almost entirely, by disabled veterans of the Canadian army. Care is being taken to see that in this case the poppies have come from the sources advertised and that the fiasco of last year will not be repeated.

Other plans for the Armistice Day celebration include a parade of all the ex-service men of the city on Monday, November 6. This parade will be held in the morning and will be followed bw a mass meeting with special speakers in the Opera House. A dance will be held in the evening in the G.W.V.A. Hall and on Saturday evening, November 11, a general social and good time will be held for the G.W.V.A. members and their families.

ARMENIAN GRATEFUL TO AMERICAN NURSES

ERIVAN, Armenia, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press)—The famous island monastery of Lake Sevan, near here, which for ten centuries has never permitted a woman to enter it gates, has ignored this time honored regulation and extended the freedom of its grounds and buildings to three American women. They are Miss Grace Blackwell, of Hamilton Square, N.J., Miss Jean Vancouver, of Philadelphia and Miss Margaret Rust, of Bowling Green, Ky. The three are nurses connected with the Near East Relief.

The breaking of the thousand-year rule of the monastery was in recognition of the work of the three nurses have done for refugee orphan children located in the district.

G. W. V. A. Are Behind Effort For C. G. E. Expansion Here

Pass Resolution in Support of Any Reasonable Inducements Offered to Secure Transferance of Toronto Plant to Peterborough

A resolution was passed at a special meeting of the Great War Veterans last evening instructing the Secretary to write the local City Council to the effect that this organization was solidly behind any effort to bring to this city any of the branch factories of the C.G.E. which, according to the latest rumors, are to be removed from Toronto in the near future. The association will also endorse any reasonable inducements the company in return for the establishment of the factories here.

All sides of the question were thoroughly discussed in the meeting, and it was the general concensus of opinion that such an addition would be one of the greatest boosts the city could have and would result in a tremendous increase in employment, not only in the C.G.E. plant itself, but also in many of the other industrial concerns in the city.

GROWTH OF PETERBOROUGH IN SEVEN YEARS PAINFULLY SLOW

And Yet Annual Tax Bills Are Twice as High as They Were Seven Years Ago—R. R. Hall, K.C., Explains Cause of Stagnation, aud Suggests a Remedy.

One of the city officials has drawn my attention to the fact that the City Auditor, in stating that the population of Peterborough was 22,500 in 1915, is not correct, but that the correct figure is 20,653. It is pleasing to note that our population is not so rapidly decreasing as the Auditor's report would indicate, but nevertheless during this last seven years the growth of Peterborough has been painfully slow, and in fact the population, as shown for this year, is 351 less than it was during the previous year, while annual tax bills are twice as much as they were seven years ago.

What is the cause of this stagnation? During the same period other cities and towns in Ontario have not only a steady but a rapid growth. One of the causes of this stagnation is not far to seek because this city has neglected to take advantage of its natural resources.

Our local Utilities Commission is paying to the Hydro Commission $22.50 per horse-power, but that is not the price that the consumers of light and power are paying for electric power. According to the Hydro Commission's report, is costs $71,001.37 to sell and distribute in this city 4,613 horse-power, which means that it is costing the power and light consumers just exactly $15.30 per horse-power, in addition to the $22.50 per horse-power paid to the Hydro, making in all the total average cost of power $37.80 per horse-power to consumers.

When I was connected with the old Otonabee Power Company that developed power at Dam No. 5, that company generated electric power and sold and distributed it in this city at a cost to our manufacturers of from $15 to $20 per horse-power, and the company not only paid its way but it made a continuous dividend and profit for its shareholders.

These figures ought surely to place on enquiry the most bone-headed admirer Sir Adam Beck has in this city.

The system of sale and distribution of electric power that Sir Adam Beck has imposed upon the local Power Commission is extravagant and wasteful in the extreme, and it requires a great stretch of imagination to believe that power and light consumers are being honestly and fairly dealt with. Here is the proof:

This city purchased last year from the Hydro Commission 4,613 horse-power. According to the Hydro's 14th annual report at page 453 the power users purchased 4,772 horse-power, and on the same page it appears that our light users purchased 3,023 horse-power calculated on an average consumption of four and a half hours per day for domestic and commercial lighting. These two figures show that the consumers of light and power in Peterborough purchased 7,795 horse-power from a total supply of only 4,613 horse-power, or, in other words, power and light consumers in Peterborough got short measurement to the extent of 3,182 horse-power. That is certainly "peak loading" our citizens with a vengeance.

WHAT IS THE REMEDY?

It is so plain that a wayfaring man, though a fool, need not err therein.

At Dams Nos. 4 and 5, and at Burleigh Falls, there are natural water powers from which power could be developed and delivered to this city, after payment of all expenses, at a rate not exceeding $11 per horse-power, and the city would receive from these dams all its present power requirements and more.

Then, in addition to that, there is undeveloped power at Lakefield and at Dam No. 2, and the Auburn power already developed, which this city could purchase from the Ontario Government at a fair and reasonable price, and then there is surplus power at the Quaker Oats dam. This city has abundance of natural resources to sell and deliver power to its manufacturers at a cost not exceeding $20 per horse-power, including the cost of distribution. There is plenty of power north of Peterborough to supply a population of 50,000.

If this city expects its manufacturers to extend their works and employ an increased number of hands, then our City Fathers must earnestly and intelligently develop our natural resources instead of permitting them from day to day to run to waste.

THE C.G.E. PROPOSITION.

An opportunity has been presented to the city to-day by the Canadian General Electric Company to more than double their capacity in Peterborough, which would have the effect of adding many thousands to our population to the advantage of every taxpayer of this city. The ratepayers of Peterborough have the remedy in their own hands, and to support immediate action, a public meeting should be called to organize and produce results.

Fear Grips the Populace of Eastern Thrace—Roads Congested.

ADRIAN, Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press).—Thirty thousand ,Greeks and Armenians have passed from this city to the West since Saturday, and the road between here and the Maritza River is an unbroken line of men, women and children with ox carts, camels and cattle. With a steady downpour of rain, they are plodding doggedly toward their unknown destinations, driven forward by nameless fear which has gripped the whole populace of Eastern Thrace since the Government on Saturday morning announced the terms of the Mudania armistice, which provide for the occupation of the province by the Turks within forty-five days.

HEAR DELORME CASE N MONTREAL ON FRIDAY

Question of His Legal Domicile is Settled

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press)—The question of legal domicile of Rev. Adelard Delorme, at present in Deaport Asylum, Quebec, which institution he was committed following the verdict of insanity brought in against him a special jury after he had been indicted by a grand jury on a charge of killing his half-brother, Raoul, was settled this morning by Mr. Justice Bruneau, who rejected the petition of applicant's lawyer, Leopold Houle, who asked for a transfer of the interdiction as inaugurated by Adelard Tetrault, brother-in-law of Delorme, and family counsel from Montreal to Quebec.. Mr. Justice Bruneau decided to take the case up here next Friday, when evidence against the interdiction of Delorme and appointment of an actuator for his large estate will be heard.

KIWANIS CLUB ENDORSES THE C.G.E. PLANT

Committee Appointed at To-day's Meeting to Co-operate With Manufacturers Committee.

J.W. WORTH'S ADDRESS

At to-day's luncheon of the Kiwanis Club, Kiwanian J. W. Worth was the speaker of the day. President Frank Whitehouse assigned the chairmanship to Kiwanian J. A. McKone who performed his obligations in a capable manner. The Club endorsed the suggestion of Kiwanian J. Allen that an effort be made to induce the Canadian General Electric Company to locate its Toronto plants in this city. Kiwanian J. A. McKone named the following committee to co-operate with the Manufacturers Committee of the City Council in any effort that will made along this line Kiwanians G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., Walter Stocker, Roy Parsons, Walter Oke and John Allen.

Kiwanian Dr. Ed. Wood asked the Kiwanians to support the Rugby Club which is struggling to put rugby on its feet in the city and provide Peterboro with some form of pastime to fill in the gap between the baseball and the hockey season. The Kiwanians endorsed Dr. Wood's appeal.

Kiwanian Dr. J. Middleton announced that Ladies Night would be held one week from this Thursday instead of on Tuesday as was previously announced. The Kiwanians practiced a tuneful eulogy of the ladies which will be a real eye-opener for the visitors.

It was also announced that the Club would impose an attendance rule. All members must attend at least fifty per cent of the meetings in order to retain membership in the Club. The attendance will be totalled up quarterly. Provision is made for a satsfactory explanation of a member's absence

Technical Schools

Kiwanian Worth introduced the subject of technical schools with a reference to the recent activities of the local School Board in this connection. All members of the School Board are in favour of technical education but the chief obstacle in the way at the present time is a financial one.

"We had a building boom this year said Mr. Worth, and one of the reasons why it did not assume larger proportions was because of the short age or skilled help. Only a handful of apprentices have entered the ranks since the war. Technical schools would have the effect of, cutting down the apprenticeship period and turning out a better class of trades-One of the reasons for the excessive cost of the Hunter street bridge was due, said the speaker, to the difficulty of getting experienced men.

Debenture Poor

At the present time the city is debenture poor. This is mainly due to the high cost of the bridge. How can we expect to get the additional plants of the C.G.E., if we do not provide some form of technical education." said Mr. Worth.

The cost of a combination technical and high school for Peterboro has been carefully estimated at $450,000. Of this amount $140,000 would be provided by the Government in the form of grants leaving the net cost to the ratepayers of $310,000. The cost of an extension to the Collegiate would cost $215,000 so that the difference in cost of a combined technical school and colleg iate institute extension would be limited to $95,000. The cost of the combination school would mean an increase of one mill on the assessment. This school would provide full time, part time and night school education. The scholar of to-dav is the citizen of to-morrow, said Mr. Worth. What is he going to amount too if his education is limited through the need of educational facilities?" said Mr. Worth in conclusion.

Should Bear the Cost

In rising to move a vote of thanks for Mr. Worth's address, Mr. J. Wearing, who is a co-worker with Mr. Worth on the Board of Education, said that all members of the school board were in favor of technical education but at the present time it was a question of securing the money. Mr. Wearing commended both Mr. Worth and Mrs. Kate Morris another member of the school board for their efforts to secure better educational facilities for

War Veterans to Discuss Memorial

Do Not Favor Extra Taxation For This Purpose—Election Coming.

The question of the erection of a memorial by the city in commemoration of those men of Peterborough who made the great sacrifice in France occupied the attention of the G.W.V.A. at the meeting last evening for some time without any definite action being taken. The feeling was freely expressed that no money should be raised by additional taxes for this purpose, for as one man expressed it, "The money could be spent to much better advantage in helping the widows and orphans of some of the boys."

The members did feel though that if the money had already been raised for the purpose, and it was said that a sum had been raised, it should not be allowed to stand idle, but should be put to the purpose for which it was intended immediately.

It was announced that the next meeting of the association would be held on November 7, when the annual nomination of officers would take place. The election will be held on the meeting following, December 5.

REV. MACKENZIE RECEIVES GIFT OF A FORD SEDAN

Presented by the Congregation of Knox Church in Recognition of His Valued Services.

RED LETTER DAY

Yesterday, October 16th, was a red letter day in Knox church.

At 6.30 p.m., more than one hundred men assembled in the lecture hall of the church and sat down to a dainty and ample banquet prepared and served by the Ladies 'Aid.

The decorations of the hall were flags and autumn leaves, while across one end of it a large streamer bearing the word "Welcome" was especially conspicuous.

Mr. H. J. McCannan, chairman of the Every Person Canvass Committee of Knox, presided, and kept things humming. His introduction of the late comers was specially impressive.

Mr. Alex. Dick as "choir leader" and Mr. William Barrie at the piano made a very effective pair for musical leadership, the former inducing all hands to perform singing feats they did not know they were capable of. One of the outstanding features of the musical programme was a solo effort by Mr. John Waldie, who sang the well-known ballad entitled "The Lost Sheep on the Mountain," with such mastery of technique and musical feeling that it will not soon be forgotten by those fortunate enough to hear it.

Had Busy Time.

Mr. A. J. McLeish, acting as sergeant at arms, had a busy evening, but found time to thrill the audience with a well delivered reading. Short addresses were delivered by Messrs. Rob Mulligan, Doctor Wallace, Roy Laing, H. J. McCannan, John Waldie, J. F. Morrison, J. W. Buyers, and A. McKenzie, on a list of subjects including the financial affairs of the church, the purpose and plan of the Every Person Canvass, Good Fellowship, What we Owe to the Ladies,the last named topic being eloquently dealt with by Mr. A. McKenzie.

Arrested the Pastor.

After votes of thanks had been most enthusiastically tendered to the ladies and to Messrs. Barrie, Dick and McCannan for their leadership in this evry successful affair, Chairman McCannan called on W. J. Byers and Alex. Dick to arrest Rev. James . MacKenzie for his misdeeds that he had not time to enumerate, and lead him to the place where Knox people could best tell him what they think of him. He was led out to the lawn of the church to a place where under the brightness of a powerful light, there stood a beautiful Ford sedan, surrounded b y a large company of friends and well wishers.

Eulogistic Address.

The following address was read by Mrs. John Foster, President of the Ladies' Aid

Dear Mr. MacKenzie,

Our purpose in addressing you on this occasion will be made clear a little further on, but before we definitely state what that purpose is, there are a few things that we would like to say. It will not be necessary to repeat what we have so often

But Domestic Rates Had Been Kept Down Declared Chairman Robert Hicks, of Peterboro's Utilities, at Hydro Enquiry Today.

HOPED FOR POWER MUNICIPALLY OWNED

TORONTO, Oct. 17.— (Special.) —At the continued session of Hydro enquiry here this morning, Chairman Robert Hicks, of the Peterborough Utilities, in taking the stand, said Peterborough had started in 1903 to get power for themselves—or "it tried to," he explained. The municiaplity had persistently negotiated with various companies, including the Burleigh and the Otonabee Power Companies, for purchase of their power, but difficulties had intervened and nothing resulted.

Mr. Hicks said it was true that there was an increase of $5,000 in the Peterbrough power rates last year, but domestic rates had been kept down. He said that Peterborough had been creating a nice little reserve but that did not affect the general system to any extent.

Mr. Hicks gave the Commission and the audience a laugh by his frank and candid statement in regard to Peterborough's policy in regard to buying out its own local system from the Government.

If it is a good thing we want it—if it is not, we'll let the government keep it," he said. Later he declared that Peterborough would not want to pay 5 cents more than absolutely necessary for the plant. He would not want to have the town take over the electric railways. The fares were 7 cents, but the operation he thought was pretty good.

One of Mr. Hicks' suggestions was that timber limits in contiguity to power developments should be handed over to the Hydro. "They don't get much out of them," he said.

"The Government has got quite a lot out of the timber limits lately," smiled Chairman Gregory.

In the Dark.

S. R. Armstrong, City Clerk of Peterborough, said that when the negotiations were on, it was understood that eventually the power would be municipally owned.

The understanding was that the purchase of the Seymour interests was to be made by the issue of 40 year bonds at 4 per cent. interest, but it was made by 10 per cent. bonds instead. Thus, if the original arrangement had been adhered to the bonds would still have had 34 years to run at a low rate of interest. He stated that Peterborough had been left rather dark as to the negotiations between the Hydro, the Dominion Government and the Seymour interests.

"You did not know that the electric railway was to be taken over?"

"No."

WESTERN ONTARIO BASIS.

TORONTO, Oct. 17.— (Canadian Press.)—Hydro enquiry continued this morning, when T. H. Stinson, of Lindsay, secretary of the Midland Municipal Association, was heard. This association comprises Kingston, Peterborough, Oshawa and several other towns along Lake Ontario. There are thirty-four municipalities in all who use power of the Central Ontario system. Mr. Stinson told Chairman Gregory that it was desired to place these municipalities on the same basis as Hydro municipalities in Western Ontario.

Were Not Consulted.

"Have the municipalities been consulted as to development since the Government originally bought the Central Ontario system and some $4,000,000 has been expended?" asked the chairman. "I don't think municipalities were consulted," he replied.

Mr. Stinson stated there was at present a shortage of power and municipalities were anxious for a still further development; a much larger shortage was expected within two years.

"Have you ever considered whether Niagaar power should be carried down to the Central Ontario system?"

"Yes, that was discussed. Members on the western part of the system were very anxious that the Chippawa development should be carried there. The general feeling of the Association is that Chippawa power will be too expensive to bring down, and that they would prefer to get a maximum production in our own territory first. There is considerable power in the Central Ontario system and they feel it can be developed."

Mr. Stinson estimated that there

ALL ENGLAND WONDERS HOW WILL WOMEN VOTE IF AN ELECTION IS HELD

Next General Election Will Be the First in Which the Women of Britain Have Had a Vote.

A NEW FORCE.

LONDON, Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press.)—The prospect of general election during the next few weeks has acted as a call to arms to the women of the United Kingdom, who in the event of a parliamentary dissolution, will have their first participation in general elections. (British women were granted the right of suffrage for general elections by the representation of the people act, 1918.)

Already, male politicians are attempting to reckon with this new force, which is calculated in some quarters to overwhelm the practice of established party procedure.

It is asserted in some quarters that this is one of the reasons why Prime Minister Lloyd George is so slow in asserting his position in regard to a general election. His party scouts are reported to be already sounding the leading women on their probable attitude at the polls. He also has promised to see many women of the various organizations in the near future.

There will be about 20,000,000 eligible to vote at the coming elections, of whom about 8,000,000 are women. Twenty-six women have so far announced their candidacies for seats in Parliament, and others are coming forward. Lady Astor, the first woman seated in the House of Commons, went campaigning yesterday for re-election in the Plymouth district. Other feminine candidates also have become active.

No Women's Parties.

Mrs. F. W. Hubbeck, Parliamentary Secretary of the Society for Equal Citizenship, declared the British parliamentarians were trembling over the possibilities created by the entry of women in the various parties.

"So far there are no women's parties," she said. "We are working inside the established parties without making sex a political issue. There is room for every opinion by voting in this manner.

"We are demanding, however, that the 6,000,000 disenfranchised women be given the vote. It is not generally understood that the number of women voters is held down to 8,000,000 by the law which permits only taxpayers and those over thirty to go to the polls.

"There are 6,000,000 women over 21 years of age living in furnished rooms or with their parents. If these women had the same status as men they could vote. In this case the women voters of England would outnumber the male voters. We intend to make the disenfranchisement of these 6,000,000 women one of the issues in the coming election."

Lady Astor Active.

Lady Astor has not yet defined her attitude in the forthcoming campaign. Up to now she has been independent, inclining favorably toward Mr. Lloyd George on all national questions.

She had planned remaining in Plymouth and other points in her constituency for a month, but now she is holding herself ready to return any day to London for a caucus of the Unionist Party, of which she is a member.

Accompanied by her two youngest children, Michael and John Jacob, and Mrs. Wintringham, the only other woman member of Parliament, Lady Astor went home to address meetings arranged for the wives of the sailors and fishermen in her district. She intends to emphasize in her speeches the minimum wages paid to women.

The newspapers are already discussing the woman factor in the general elections. They point out that while none of the 15 who stood for Parliament in 1918 were elected, it is felt the women candidates may make a different showing in the coming election. Indeed, the feminine vote may decide the whole membership of Parliament.

Eleven Candidates.

The Independent Liberal Party has eleven candidates in the field. This is more than any other party. Three of the candidates are titled ladies. Four of the candidates announced are Coalition-Liberals, two married women, and two unmarried. The latter are Miss Helen Frazer, of Glasgow, and Miss M. P. Grant, of Leeds. The Unionist, Party, so far, has one candidate, Mrs. Helen Vaughan, professor at the University of London, and formerly head of the Women's Royal Air Force. The Coalition Unionist Party announces two candidates, Lady Astor for re-election, and Lady Cooper for Walsall.

The Labor party has adopted six women candidates, all of them with well known Labor connections. They are Miss Margaret Bondfield, Miss Susan Lawrence, Miss Picton Truberville, Mrs. Pease, Mrs. Gould and Mrs. Barton.

There are three Independents — Miss Eleanor Rathbone, of Liverpool, president of the Society for Equal Citizenship; Mrs. H. Moore-Nisbett, of West Edinburgh, and Mrs. Oliver Strachey, candidate for the Chiswick and Brentford Divisions.

GERMANS PLAN TO KEEP EBERT ANOTHER TERM

Was Elected Provisionally But Law is Expected to Prolong His Tenure of Office Till 1926.

FOR SEVEN YEARS.

BERLIN, Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press.) — It is expected that the Reichstag shortly will pass a measure altering the constitution so as to enable President Ebert's tenure of office to be prolonged to 1926. It is understood that this step was decided on after a conference held yesterday morning between the political party leaders and Chancellor Wirth.

Herr Ebert was elected provisionally in 1919 by the General National Assembly at Weimar. He was to remain in office only until regular elections could be held. The disturbed political and economic conditions of the country since that time have made elections inadvisable.

Under the constitution, presidents of the German Republic are to be elected by direct vote of all citizens, male and female, over 21 years of age, for a term of seven years.

FREE THINKERS FACING EXILE

Russian Soviets Ousting Educators, Publicists and Professional Men.

MOSCOW, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press).—The Soviet Government's recent action in exiling abroad or to Northern Russia many educators, publicists and professional men who were unable to reconcile themselves to the Soviet regime, came like a bolt out of the blue and has left thousands of others of the "intelligentsia" wondering if their turn will come next.

For many months, since the development of free trade and the re-creation of a class of rich speculators, it has been evident both to opponents of the Government and to the Communists themselves, that thousands of Russians were beginning to forget they were in the hands of a proletarian dictatorship, and were beginning to become as "bourgeoisie" as ever.

Thinking that the new freedom of trade might mean freedom of politics also, scores of college professors and some organizations of professional men began to talk, write and think freely again. The more timid did this secretly, while some plucked up enough courage to lampoon the Government's activities openly in pamphlets and in the class room. One group of college professors even dared to strike—and strikes usually bring prompt punishment in Russia.

Premier Lenine openly announced, last spring, that the retreat toward capitalism had reached its limits, and both the Genoa and Hague Conferences established that the Soviet Government was standing pat on the main principles of the proletarian dictatorship, even if it was inclined to make individual concessions to capitalists or foreign Governments here and there.

Within Russia, however, such leeway continued to be allowed to speculators. Gambling casinos were opened, racing flourished, and so many new commercial undertakings were launched that very few Russians realized that the Communist party had determined absolutely that the pendulum, having swung so far to the right, now ha dto be swung back to the left until the Soviet clock kept proper Bolshevik time.

Communists explain that so long as efforts of individuals, however profitable to themselves, continue to be immediately or potentially advantageous to the Government in its scheme of reconstructing Russia, these individuals are to be given wide scope in freedom from interference. But when the work of the individual does not fit into this general scheme, or when an individual works against the Government, then his activities are to be cut short and the offender punished.

The recent decrees of exile, says the newspaper Pravda, are only the first warnings to the intellectuals who remain. The Soviet Government will, as in the past, value highly the support of those representatives of the old "intelligentsia" who will loyally work with the Government, as the better part of the specialists do now, but it will, as before, root out every attempt to utilize the legal possibilities for an open or secret struggle against the Government and for the restoration of a "bourgeoisie regime."

"There is no hope for a return to the past," The Pravda warns.

MOTHER KICKED TO DEATH BY A BABY

LONDON, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Kicked to death by her nine month old baby was verdict of a coroner's inquest into sudden death of Mrs. Gertrude Nabbutt of Norwich. The young mother slept with child and other persons in house frequently heard her exclaim "Don't kick like that". Jury found death due to heart failure and exhaustion caused by peritonitis due to kicks of baby.

CANADA TO MAKE HER OWN TREATY WITH U.S.

New Document Will Regulate the Naval Strength of Canada and the United States on the Great Lakes—Will Supplant Entirely Treaty of 1817.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—In recognition of Canada's direct interest in the maintenanee of amicable relations with the United States, the British Government has decided to authorize the Canadians to negotiate directly with the United States State Department in the framing of the new treaty to regulate naval strength on the Great Lakes. In the near future a representative of the Canadian Government is expected in Washington to begin these negotiations, the foundations for which were laid during the visit here last July of Premier McKenzie King.

The matter of naval vessels on the Lakes will probably be only one of several subjects covered by the new treaty, which is expected to supplant entirely the Treaty of 1817. It is understood that there is no disposition on either side to increase naval armament on the Lakes beyond the needs of militia training and Customs law enforcement, but it is probable an effort will be made to define zones in the Lakes wherein Customs and militia vessels may operate lawfully even where purely territorial waters are involved.

It is not yet determined, but it appears probable that the new treaty will also deal with waterways, fisheries and other questions.

Food Prices Are On a Steady Decline

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—The average cost of the weekly family budget of 29 staple foods was $10.28 at the beginning of September, as compared with $10.44 for August, $11.82 for September, 1921, and $7.83 for September, 1914. The index number of wholesale prices continued to fall in September. For September it stood at 220.5, as compared with 222.8 for August, and 232.7 for September, 1921. The retail price of fuel was somewhat higher in September.

BURNING IN THRACE NOT WIDESPREAD.

Every Precaution Taken For a Peaceful Evacuation

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press.) — Lieut.-General Harington, commander of Allied forces, yesterday denied emphatically that there had been any widespread burning of villages in Thrace and appealed to British and United States' correspondents to use the utmost caution and discretion in reporting events in evacuated areas where the situation was the most delicate.

"We have airplanes flying over Eastern Thrace," he said, "and they have been unable to determine any fires. On the contrary, they report that evacuation is proceeding satisfactorily.

"The Greek General Staff has issued strictest orders to the population and soldiers against incendiarism or disorders of any kind. Allied armies have made thorough preparation for an orderly and peaceful evacuation, and I am confident we shall succeed in carrying out that most difficult task." General Harington said in order to convince the Turkish Nationalist government there was no truth in the widespread reports of burning he had invited Hamid Beyor, his representative, to fly over Eastern Thrace with British aviators.

PRISONERS ESCAPE THROUGH A SEWER.

DUBLIN, Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press).—During the week-end about 140 prisoners escaped from the internment camp at Newbridge Barracks, near Curragh. The escape was made through an unused sewer, the mouth of which is at the Liffey River.

Free State troops yesterday surrounded the town of Ballaghaderreen, County Mayo, and captured many irregular troops and also quantities of arms and stores. The commandant of the irregulars, a man named Nulrennan, who was widely known for his daring exploits, refused to surrender and was shot and killed.

Republicans yesterday blew up two bridges five miles from Mullingar, blocking all traffic from the Midlands to Dublinl.

FIRE IN TAMPICO.

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Property valued at more than a million pesos was completely destroyed by fire at Tampico yesterday, according to despatches received by the newspapers here yesterday. The destroyed property covered five blocks. The origin of the fire is unknown.

This is the third destructive fire which has occurred in Tampico within a few months.

Less Grain and More Coal is Being Moved.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—A demand for coal cars during September caused a decrease in the movement of grain from the West over Canadian National lines, according to figures made public here yesterday. Coal moved from Western Alberta mines to prairie points and to Winnipeg totalled 331,135 tons, and called for 9,461 cars.

Since September first, the Canadian National has handled 36,803 cars of wheat totalling 46,362,000 bushels, as against 28,774 cars and 35,940,000 bushels for the same period a year ago.

ONTARIO FARMERS ARE PRESSING THE WORK OF THE FALL

Competent Help Lacking in Many Districts—Fall Plowing is Progressing Rapidly While Ground is Good.

FALL WHEAT IN.

TORONTO, October 17. (Canadian Press.) — Recent rains throughout the province have put the land in good condition for ploughing and many of the farmers are turning under all that they can. Other fall work is also being pressed, but competent help is hard to procure in many quarters. Opinion is divided as to the acreage of fall wheat sown, some counties showing an increase, while others report a shrinkage. On the whole the acreage seems to be somewhat less than that of last year.

The apple crop in Norfolk county has been a disappointment both in yield and quality and the bulk of the crop in that county will be domestic packed. In Welland apples are selling from $1 to $1.50 per bushel, depending upon the variety and the quality. The grape harvest is practically over in the Niagara peninsula. Prices have averaged from $60 to $75 per ton. In South Simcoe potatoes are selling at 40c per bag at the elevators. Roots are being lifted and on the whole promising well. The weather so far has been favorable for the work. In Lambton county sugar beets are yielding from 8 to 15 tons to the acre with a sugar test of from 12 to 15 per cent.

FRESH CLUE FOUND.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 17.—(Special.)—Blood-stained handkerchiefs found beside bodies of pastor and organist provide a clue for fresh developments expected within 24 hours.

CANADA TO GET OVER A MILLION OF ENEMY DEBT

Thomas Mulvey, Deputy Custodian of Enemy Property, Straightened Out a Lot of Red Tape in Europe.

GERMANY SLOW.

OTTAWA, October 17 (Canadian Press). — Bringing back with him approximately $1,500,000 of securities formerly in the ownership of enemy nationals, Thomas Mulvey, K.C., the Under-Secretary of State for Canada, and Deputy Custodian of Enemy Property, has returned to Ottawa after spending the last few months overseas in connection with the business of the clearing house and the settlement of enemy debts. Some extraordinary claims were encountered but so far only one actual case of forgery in connection with a claim has been met with. Many claims, however, are still under investigation.

One of the important results of Mr. Mulvey's trip which took him to England, Holland and Germany, was the reaching of a settlement with the public trusts in London as a result of which some $6,000,000 in securities will be turned over to Canada. Of this amount, some $700,000 has been delivered.

Another result was the setting up of a means of direct correspondence between Canada and Austria and Hungary in clearing house matters. Heretofore, there was no direct communication with these countries, in which, as well as in Germany, there was held many large amounts of Canadian property and shares in Canadian industries such as the C. P.R.

German government officials and others while overseas were all pleading "poverty and persecution by the allies," and there was an apparent design to delay as far as possible payment of allied claims made against the German government and its nationals. The visit, however, had resulted in straightening out many misunderstandings, and bringing a settlement of claims against enemy countries much nearer than it had previously been.

GREECE HEADING FOR A REPUBLIC.

Organized Campaign to Remove Royalist Faction.

ATHENS, Oct. 17.—Return to Athens of Nicholas Politis who took oath before the King as Foreign Minister, has been characterized as the beginning of an organized campaign to establish a republic in Greece with Venizelos as president. Several newspapers which are active supporters of Venizelist party, of which M. Politis is a prominent member have opened a discussion in favor of a republic, by publishing letters from men eminent in political life which contend that royalist regime is responsible for all woes of the nation and condemn such regime as no longer suited to Greece.

THURSDAY A FATEFUL DAY.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—(Special.)—Unionist conference on Thursday to determine Lloyd George's political fate.

UNIONISTS TO MEET AND DECIDE WHAT ATTITUDE TO TAKE IN AN ELECTION

Austin Chamberlain Calls a Meeting of the Party Which Will Be Held October 19 at the Carlton Club.

TO ASK FOR VOTE.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press.)— Yesterday was a day of feverish activity in Downing street, the chief development being a summons to the Unionist members of the Cabinet and 350 Unionst members of the House of Commons to a conference at the Carlton Club on October 19, to decide whether to break up the Coalition or stand by Premier Lloyd George.

The decision to call this meeting was taken at No. 11 Downing Street, Austen Chamberlain's home, after consultation of Mr. Chamberlain with his Unionist colleagues and the chief party organizers, among them Sir George Younger, who it is recalled "Scotched" the Premier's general election plan a few months ago on the ground that the party machinery was not ready.

Mr. Chamberlain, as party leader, will preside at the Charlton Club meeting, the result of which the Prime Miinster will await before deciding on his line of action. Mr. Chamberlain will ask for a vote of confidence and on this will depend his remaining in office and the ensuing general election. If accorded, it will be left for the Premier to indicate his course which, in any case, will not be divulged until after he attends the Prince of Wales' public welcome home at the Guild Hall on October 20.

The participation of Winston Churchill, the Colonial Secretary, in the campaign has been suddenly cut short by an attack of gastritis, which has obliged him to cancel all public engagements. Prior to Mr. Chamberlain's consultation, the Premier held a war council, at No. 10 Downing street, with the members of his Cabinet, including Mr. Chamberlain, after which he departed for Chequers Court.

Ominous rumblings are heard from Labor headquarters, one prominent party official having been quoted as having declared that no fewer than 420 Labor candidates would appear in the next election, of which sufficient would be returned to make it most difficult for any government to resist them. J. H. Thomas, speaking at Newport, delivered a scathing indictment of the

SWEDES WELCOMED QUEEN WILHELMINA.

Swedish and Netherlands Monarchs Met For First Time.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press)—Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, together with her Prince Consort and several members of her court has left for home after a visit of state to King Gustaf V and Queen Victoria of Sweden, the occasion being especially memorable as the first time in history that a Swedish king had met a ruler of the Netherlands in Stockholm.

Queen Wilhelmina was welcomed at the railway station by the entire Swedish Royal Family, including the King and Queen, the Crown Prince, Princes Wilhelm and Bernadette, and Prince Eugene, the King's brother. Other present at the arrival were Premier Halmar, Branting and the ranking officers in the army and navy. The Swedish populace filled the streets between the station and the Royal Castle, and ignored the drenching rain while they craned their necks to get a glimpse of the gala carriages. Not for years had there been so much enthusiasm among the crowds, and those who were lucky enough to witness the first meeting of the Dutch and Swedish rulers were impressed with the cordiality shown in the greetings.

In the formal addresses exchanged in French by Queen Wilhelmina and King Gustaf at the Royal Castle the historical aspects of the occasion and the solidarity of the two nations in their common ideals were stressed. The visit lasted three days and, beside state dinners and receptions, included musical entertainments and visits to the National Museum, and to Riddarholm church, which contains the remains of Gustavus Adolphus and Charles XII.

Good music was provided by James Killen, assisted by Mrs. Tom Gannon. The arrangements of the evening were in charge moderates of that party who would of the committee headed by Mrs. Dan Cavanagh.

DAVID BRADEN.

"We've something to look back upon, and something to look forward to—my wife and I," says David Braden.

"We've enjoyed life to the full, have had the things that make life worth living, and yet we have saved.

"We chose the better way of saving. All my salary every year was spent, except the moderate sized cheque that paid my Life Insurance deposit to the North American Life. That annual payment represented our 'savings' and the balance of my income was ours to spend on a happy lifetime.

"All these years that cheque has served the double purpose of 'savings' and 'protection.' It protected my wife and children against the possible loss of their bread-winner, and now that my policy has matured, I have $10,000 in cold cash. While others were putting aside their little hundreds year by year I made sure of $10,000 by means of Endowment Life Insurance. This will keep us two in comfort the balance of our days. We will enjoy life to the very end."

Our booklet, "Twenty Years Ahead," tells how you can do just as David Braden did. Send for it.

"SI MONUMENTUM, CIRCUMSPICE!"

A swarthy sailor fell on his knees on the sandy shore of San Domingo four hundred and thirty years ago, and made some pious observations, if history recordeth aright. Later, he was acclaimed as a famous navigator because he discovered America. So far, so good. But when he died, his funeral was held at Valladolid, whence he came, and his mortal remains were transferred to the Carthusian monastery of Santa Maria de las Cuevos, in Seville, being later removed to the famous Seville Cathedral. His name was Columbus for short, and he was undoubtedly one of the world's leading pioneers.

In some mysterious manner, however, his remains found themselves removed from Seville and carried across the sea to Santo Domingo, the first land he touched after crossing the Atlantic in his cockboat. It is now proposed, by the Receiver-General of that dusky republic, to "erect a suitable memorial and final resting-place" for Christopher, his bones. Canada is cordially invited to be in on the erection, as it is highly fitting she should.

The idea impresses us as admirable, the more so when we consider briefly what has been happening to Christopher's bones of late. It has become the practice to open the casket and permit "high dignitaries or distinguished visitors" to handle some of the bone fragments. What possible pleasure or satisfaction it could give anybody on earth to wave the late Mr. Columbus' tibia over their head, for instance, or gently massage his jawbone, or scratch his chinbone, we are at a loss to conceive. But it is evidently a popular game in the dusky republic of Santo Domingo, where they have voodoo and cannibal feasts to vary the monotony of their island existence "set in a pearly sea."

However satisfactory it may be to the bone-wavers, however, we suspect that the ghost of the late explorer must have been kept from well-deserved rest for a long time. Any self-respecting ghost would object to having its corporeal bones handled by an indiscriminate mob of tourists. But the proposal of the Receiver-General will obviate all this and allow the perturbed spirit to rest. With a tomb constructed like Napoleon's in the interior, and like Grant's on the exterior, Columbus ought to "make a good sleep." Moreover,—and herein we find solid commonsense—that tomb will be surmounted by a beacon tower three hundred feet in height, in the top of which will be installed a great light to aid mariners.

Nothing could be more appropriate than that the discoverer of the New World should rest finally in that land where his feet first touched ground after his departure from his native land, and that his tomb should be marked by a light to guide those of his craft who still go down to the sea in ships, and con the waters over which he peered so eagerly and so expectantly on the morning of that twelfth of October, just four hundred and thirty years ago.—Montreal Star.

PLAYING UP TO DAUGHERTY.

The unenlightened foreigners seem to be playing up very nicely to the Daugherty ruling which purports not only to make all American ships "dry" wherever they may be, but to extend that blessing to all ships of any nation which may call at an American port. That is, these benighted foreigners are "starting an argument." Some of the British steamship lines are starting it in the American courts themselves. The French talk of carrying an appeal to the Court of Justice at the Hague.

We hardly think that this last extended form of litigation will be necessary. The elections to the next House of Representatives—the Lower House of Congress—will be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. To be explicit, they will be held three weeks from next Tuesday. The "argument" started by the British lines in the American courts should easily last beyond that important date.

This will leave the Harding Administration, the Republican party and Attorney-General Daugherty in a noble attitude of "standing resolutely for principle" at whatever cost—even to other people—until the ballots are safely marked and carefully counted. Thus if there be any ardent Prohibitionists in the United States—say, in the President's own home State of Ohio, whence Daugherty also comes—who have been wobbling of late because the naughty booze-guzzlers could point a derisive finger at them and shoot out the lip over the humiliating fact that "Uncle Sam was 'bootlegging' on his own ships," they will be brought back into the fold for polling day. What happens afterward is of less importance. Congress is elected for two years; and political memories are short.

It must be a great comfort to the astute politicians of Washington that the necessarily inexperienced and even more necessarily unwarned foreigners should have so quickly and cleverly recognized their "cue." They might not have started a harmless argument. They might have embarrassed the Administration by permitting an awkward international incident to develop. International incidents are not easy to dispose of. If the innocent Attorney-General Daugherty will know what we mean, there might have been "a hang-over" from such an incident lasting until long after the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

But an "argument" can always be stopped when it has served its purpose. All Mr. Daugherty will have to do, after a Republican Congress has been successfully elected, will be to scratch his head, read the precedents—such as that touching the slave seizure at the Bahamas—which have been dug up and presented, and admit that he was wrong. Even an Attorney-General's ruling may be found not to override international usage. Moreover, there is no nation which would more bitterly resent foreign control of its ships while in foreign ports than would the United States.

So the moment the Harding Administration is convinced by the "argument" put up by the obliging foreigners, the trouble is all over. For it is perfectly obvious that if foreign ships cannot be prevented from carrying liquor into American ports and dispensing it to passengers all the way across the wide and tempestuous seas, it would be sheer ruin to apply that rule to American ships alone. And—devoted as our neighbors are to their principles—we imagine that they will be still more devoted to the oldest principle known, that of self-preservation; and so will not deliberately destroy a mercantile marine which it has cost them so much to launch.—Montreal Star.

BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT BECOMING GENERAL.

In a series of reports received early this month by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association from members in all parts of the Dominion, most encouraging news is contained regarding the general condition of manufacturing industry. There is marked improvement in many lines and, as compared with last year, much better business is being done. The outlook, too, is hopeful and correspondents generally anticipate that 1923 will be a prosperous year. From a bulky sheaf of reports the following extracts are culled:

"There is a decided improvement in the prospects for the lumber business," reports a big lumber company in Victoria, B. C.

"This season our business has shown a marked improvement for the first time in nine years," says a Pacific Coast cement manufacturer.

"We are very busy, shipping largely to every Province in the Dominion, and also to Newfoundland," states a large Maritime Province confectionery manufacturer.

"We anticipate that this will be the most successful year we have ever had," reports an Ontario glove manufacturer.

"The most outstanding feature about our business during 1922 has been the substantial increase in our export trade," writes a manufacturer of electric appliances.

"Our fiscal year ending August 31, 1922, showed an increase of 20 per cent. in gallonage and tonnage," states a large paint manufacturing company.

"1922 exceeds in volume comparative period of 1921, with marked increase in sales," advises an Ontario box manufacturer.

"Business improving, with a decided gain in some lines over last year," says a Maritime Province biscuit manufacturer.

"We have enjoyed considerable increase in business this year," reports an Ontario varnish manufacturer.

"In 1921 we enjoyed the most profitable year of our history; this year will be equally as good," says a manufacturer of corsets.

"Business has shown decided improvement in volume over 1921," is the finding of a Maritime Province box manufacturer.

"We are increasing our output very considerably," says a large piano manufacturer.

"Business very much better than expected and shows big increase over last year," reports company manufacturing nails and tacks.

"We report a very satisfactory increase in business over the past year," writes a manufacturer of roofing material.

"We have had considerable increase over previous year's showing," states an important automobile manufacturing company.

"We have noticed a marked improvement in general business this year," reports a manufacturer of abrasive wheels.

"Business has been exceptionally good with us," states a company engaged extensively in the fibre industry.

"At the present time our factory is running overtime," says a pencil manufacturer.

"A very considerable increase in business this fall, with results beyond our expectations," reports an Ontario shoe manufacturer.

"Our Canadian and export business is the best in the history of the company," states another corset manufacturer.

"We have been operating full since early March and output this year will be greatest in our history,"—a big sheet metal manufacturer.

"We are working up to the highest capacity of any season," is the information supplied by an Ontario trunk manufacturer.

"We are booking orders in much greater volume than this time last year," states a manufacturer of electric lamps.

"We are steadily increasing our output, and prospects are good for a busy winter," reports a large lithographing company.

"We are increasing the scope of our operations as the demand for our product is increasing to a very encouraging extent"—a manufacturer of machine tools.

"Shipments up to 31st August show increase of over 70 per cent. over same period of 1921"—a big producer of hardwood flooring.

"Comparing June, July and August with last year, sales are 30 per cent. ahead of last year"—a manufacturer of electric fixtures.

"Demand for out product has been extremely good, exceeding our ability to produce"—one of Canada's largest brick manufacturing companies.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Lloyd George, whatever he may have lost as a result of his policy in the Near East, has certainly not lost his ability to be sarcastic.

Just to show that the day of miracles is not past, it may be mentioned that a South Grey municipal council has refused to accept its share of the legislative bonus which George M. Leeson, M.P.P., is distributing among the municipalities of his riding.

Although Methodist ministers may not smoke, the chances are that some of them will fume over the latest order.

A contemporary remarks that every time Henry Ford thinks of his money he remembers that he shook it out of the people.

So far no one has organized a Society for the Protection of Pedestrians. That's an opportunity for a good promoter.

"NIHILIST INTRANSIGENCE"

Times of India: To-day India is the master of her fate; nothing but the failure to seize opportunities vividly present to her can prevent India from attaining her full stature amongst the peoples of the world. Her future is in her own hands. That future is not threatened by speeches of the Prime Minister or any imaginary reaction in London; so far as it is threatened it is from within. The non-co-operation movement, as a non-co-operation movement, is spent and dead. All over the country such men of experience and political instinct as were associated with it are revolting from its sterile negation and seeking a way out. But it has left a pernicious legacy in the indiscipline it has inculcated, in the antagonisms and bitterness it has engendered, in the impatience it has stimulated. The expression of these disruptive ideas is the real peril which besets India; the paralysis of the constitution by nihilist intransigence is the only real menace to our continuous constitutional growth.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

MANY ADVANTAGES.

Dear Mr. Editor:

I wish at this opportunity to express my opinion as to the stand you have taken in reference to the removal of the Canadian General Electirc Works from the City of Toronto.

The Examiner is to be complimented for its prompt action in drawing to the attention of the citizens of Peterboro' the advantages of having such a plant locate here. I am sure the business and working men of this City appreciate your interest in this matter.

The fact that the Examiner was alive on the job will perhaps arouse the City Council from their slumbers and cause the Chamber of Commerce to outline to the Canadian General Electric Works, the advantages of locating in this City. I thank you Mr. Editor for you valuable space.

Yours truly,
GEO. BALL.

THE MYSTERY MIND

Arthur B. Reeve and John W. Grey

"Well" It was surprise. Then perhaps because all had shared the rigors of the journey together Vera displayed the slight impulse toward friendship once more. "Feel better, Violet?" she asked.

In Violet's mind nothing could ever efface the picture of the snake woman as she had revealed herself, cold, unscrupulous, a taker of human life. The girl dropped back to the bottom of the boat, closing her eyes wearily, making no attempt to answer.

After some time they thought her asleep. Probably leaning over toward Renard, Vera engaged him in low-toned conversation.

"Does the Strangler know the lake is the end of the water trip?" she asked.

"I think he suspects it."

"Then we'd better get him before he gets us."

"Right," rejoined the fox. "The night we land.

There was a cautious pause. By and by Vera resumed.

"How about Violet, here?"

"Evil Eye received orders to bring her to the Cavern of the Skull."

"Who'll carry her?"

"Won't she be able to walk—if the fever's over?"

"Perhaps."

Violet thought that she remained awake to listen to any further conversation. But all at once she sensed a change. Opening her eyes, raising herself cautiously, she grasped that a night had passed, or maybe many of them. This was morning and they were upon the placid surface of a great, spreading lake. In the distance were the towering peaks of the Sierra Parime. At the fringes of the water was a darker color of foliage and a suggestion of open forest clear of tropical underbrush. This seemed to be a gigantic plateau. There was, in the air, the balminess of a temperate climate. Later she knew that she was at the actual headwaters of the Orinoco, high in the tablelands of South America.

In another moment she discovered that she was in the other end of the boat, another proof of the passage of time. Evil Eye rested far forward, as though to pick out the place for their landing, in the distance. Vera and Renard paddled as before, while the Strangler, in the stern, guided them with his oar. Violet, lying on a rude couch made by a tarpaulin spread over the supplies, was directly at his feet.

Seeing that her eyes were open, he leaned forward, whispering:

"You'd better play my game."

She shook her head vigorously and fearlessly.

"I have the map of the treasure, and——"

He stopped as Vera glanced back. She saw that Violet was herself, that the Strangler had been talking to her. A significant glance passed between the snake woman and Renard. He, in turn, leaned forward, speaking in a low tone to Evil Eye.

For the greater part of the day they made their way across the great lake. In time Evil Eye fixed a point, a gaunt, lone pine, mounted sentinel-like upon a bare crag of black rock at the entrance to a little bay. Violet was able to see now that the land at the shore was dry and that the country was primeval forest for the better part. This was far above the rubber country, probably inland, beyond the most ambitious explorations of white men. Only her father and Stuart Steele had penetrated to these haunts of the head hunters. Here, somewhere, must be hidden the treasure which had cost her father his life, Stuart Steele his honor and manhood. In those bleak ranges ahead was the Cavern of the Skull—if such a temple had any existence, in fact. The long journey was about completed.

A UNION OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Healthy Housewife---Happy Home

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Helped Form Many

For the ailing, half-sick housewife such a union is impossible. Often times even the slightest form of housework cannot be accomplished. Yet the work must be done.

Many women struggle along for years suffering from some form of female trouble that make their lives miserable and their homes far from happy.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped thousands of just such women regain their health and strength. Just give your thought to the following letters and remember that the women who wrote these letters knew how they felt before taking the Vegetable Compound and again afterwards. It helped them—let it help you.

Was a Total Wreck

Marmion, Ontario—"Before using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a total wreck. I had terrible pains in my sides and was not regular. Finally I got so weak I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest half-way up. I saw your medicine advertised in the newspapers and gave it a trial. I took four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and was restored to health. I am married, am the mother of two children and do all my housework, milk eight cows and do a hired man's work and enjoy the best of health. I also found the Vegetable Compound a great help for my weak back before my babies were born. I recommend it to all my friends." Mrs. Henry Janka.

Meaford, Ontario—"I was so weak I could hardly do anything and my back seemed the worst. I read so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for women that I thought I would try it. I feel that it did help me. I am looking after my own home and seem quite strong again. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to quite a few friends and you can use my name if you wish to do so." Mrs. H. Porter, Box 440, Meaford, Ont.

Will Answer any Woman Who Writes

Montreal, Quebec—"I was a sufferer for three years, not able to do my housework. My husband was discouraged for I was no better and had had the doctor all this time. I was always sleepy, had no appetite and suffered with my left side. My mother in England recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because it had helped my sister, so I have been taking it. I will tell anyone who writes to me what good it has done me. I am now able to do my housework and I cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too highly as I have great hopes for the future." Mrs. Henry Masson, St. Henry P.O., Montreal.

Crop Report For Dominion

General—Taken as a whole, the present year is one of the best that Canada has ever experienced as regards the quanaity and quality of the crops. In the entire provinces the yield of wheat is estimated to be close upon 380,000,000 bushels, or some 100,000,000 bushels larger than last year, and yields of other grains are proportionately greater. Most of the grain is grading high. The Province of Ontario probably never had a more splendid all-round crop than this year. The average has been considerably exceeded in practically every class of agricultural produce. Heavy crops have also been garnered in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. British Columbia suffered from drought in the early part of the season, an unusual condition, which cut the yields to below average.

Prairie Provinces.

Owing to the early harvest 7,000,000 bushels of new wheat were marketed in August and a further 95,000,000 in September, an abnormally large movement, with which the railways coped in an excellent manner. During the first two weeks of September threshing was delayed by rain, but owing to cool weather there was little damage from sprouting. Wheat is grading high, the bulk of the receipts running Numbers 1, 2 and 3 Northern. The yield of wheat is estimated to run from 350,000,000 to 380,000,000 bushels as compared with 280,000,000 bushels last year. Oats 400,000,000 bushels compared with 338,000,000 Barley 55,000,000 bushels as compared with 44,000,000.

Province of Quebec.

The Province's principal crop, that of hay, proved unusually heavy and of excellent quality. Cereal crops throughout the province have been harvested in good condition, the yields being highly satisfactorily Roots are not quite as good as previously expected, and some rot has appeared in potatoes, which are barely an average crop. Most districts report a good supply of feed. So far as yields of crops are concerned, the present year has been one of the best for some time.

Province of Ontario.

The yield of grains show an estimated average increase of 43 per cent. over last year. Fall Wheat is estimated at 18,250,000 bushels, last year 13,650,000. Spring Wheat, 2,200,000 bushels, last year 1,900,000. Barley and Rye 16,875,000 bushels, last year 11,825,000. Oats 122,150,000. Hay and clover 5,670,000 tons, last year 3,950,000. Corn averages 10 tons per acre, same as last year. Potatoes average 150 bushels per acre, last year average 100 bushels. Other roots about same percentage of increase. Fruit crop much heavier than last year with exception of Winter Apples, which average only 80 per cent of normal crop. Pasture in excellent condition all the season.

Maritime Provinces.

Hay crop exceptionally good. Oats also turned out well. Potatoes in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia will probably be a 50 per cent. crop, and in Prince Edward Island 75 per cent. Other root crops and grain have been good. Fruit generally is average in quantity and of good quality. Annapolis Valley expects about 1,500,000 barrels of apples og above average quality, against 1,750,000 barrels of poorer quality last year. The crops of both years have been well above average. Collectively, all crops will be above an average year, especially cattle feed.

Province of British Columbia

Most crops below average due to drought. Hay was only 40 per cent. to 50 per cent. of record crops of 300,000 tons last year. Cereals were only half average crop, a considerable proportion being cut green for fodder, with exception of peaches; fruits were smaller crop than usual. Okanagan apple output estimated at 1,900,000 boxes compared with 2,900,000 boxes last year. Fraser apple and pear crops a good average. In Ashcroft District potatoes highly satisfactory.

Laxative Syrup Pepsin Helps Nature Give Relief

Try it when a Laxative is needed and see the wonderful results

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try my Laxative Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 23 Caldwell Building, Toronto, Ont. Do it now!

IT is not necessary to take a violent physic for so simple an ailment as constipation. Yet many thoughtless parents give mercury in the form of calomel, and coal-tar in the form of phenol when a natural vegetable compound like Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin will do the work equally well and without danger. People should realize that mercury may salivate and in certain conditions loosen the teeth; that phenolphthalein, by whatever name known and however disguised in candy, may cause dermatitis and other skin eruptions; that salt waters and powders may concentrate the blood, dry up the skin and cause lassitude.

You can take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin yourself or give it to a babe in arms, as thousands of mothers do every day, with the confidence that it is the safest and best medicine you can use for constipation and such complaints. A teaspoonful will relieve you over night even if the constipation has been chronic for years. Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, and does not cramp or gripe. Every druggist handles it, and bottles are so generous that the cost amounts to only a cent a dose. You buy it with the understanding that if it does not do as claimed your money will be refunded. The names of all the ingredients are on the package.

Mrs. Geo. Reeve, of Galt, Ont., uses Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin with good results and is greatly pleased with it; and Mrs. K. Jennings, of Toronto, Ont., finds it very satisfactory. Bring a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin into your own home and let the family use it for constipation, biliousness, wind, gas, headaches, flatulency, and to break up fevers and colds.

Officers Caught Kissing But They're Policewomen

DETROIT, Oct. 17.—Police officers were kissing each other at the Hotel Statler. They were women police officers. They were discussing experiences with men in men's habitats of drink and women whose principles were not settled.

"It may seem queer that police women could kiss each other," said Miss Eleanore L. Hutzel, director of the women's division of the Detroit Police Department, speaking before the American Prison Association, "but, after all, the eternal feminine prevails among police women as among our sisters who wash the dishes. We who are in public positions are subject to the same instincts and emotions as those who lives are possibly more prosaic, but less adventuresome.

"We require a very high standard of morale. The women who apply for positions as policewomen must be college graduates; must have practical experience as social workers, particularly in case work; they must have as high standards if not higher than women in other lines of social service.

Must Have Tact.

"Above all things they must have tact. I won't bother with women who have not had experience in social work. It doesnt pay. One woman who is not competent will destroy the morale that I have built up so carefully.

"The women in my department must show tact in meeting situations. An experienced woman will frequently create animus against herself and the department of police women, by antagonizing the persons who are responsible for the conditions which she wishes to ameliorate.

"Education, experience and tact are the three requisites of a policewoman."

Women in charge of institutions similar to the Detroit House of Correction said that a judicious use of cosmetics tended toward better discipline. They said that women who did not have face use of face powder and rouge would steal flour from the prison stores to use in place of powder and would take red crepe paper, dampen it, and apply it to their cheeks.

Want To Be Attractive.

"It doesn't make much difference how old they are, whether 16 or 60," said one woman of wide experience, "all women are interested in their personal appearance."

"They all want to look attractive to men. You can not expect any woman who has supervision of delinquent women—or criminal women as they are called—to talk publicly on such a matter. The women prisoners would accuse us of being traitors to our sex; nevertheless, that is the truth."

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

You know it is more important to choose your guests wisely for a small dinner than for a large one.

When entertaining only six or eight guests the conversation must be general and the guests, if they are not already friends, should at least have congenial tastes.

To include two persons at a small dinner who are known to be unfriendly to each other is decidedly rude in both.

STILL FEAR THE GERMANS

"MAY SEEK REVENGE," SAY PEASANT

He established a machine gun barrage under heavy fire and was gravely injured.

I would have been my own master on a patch of French soil.

What is the feeling of the true rulers of France, the peasants? France is a pivotal nation, and upon it largely depends war or peace in Europe. That is why the Examiner sent Milton Bronner, representative of the NEA Service to go out upon the highways and into the villages of France to talk to the French peasants and to ask them, "What if war comes?" This is his third in a series of four articles.—THE EDITOR.

BY MILTON BRONNER

AMBOISE, France, Oct. 17.— Ernest Tessier is only a piece of a man, but he taught me the fear that lurks in the hearts of many Frenchmen who tolerate a big army and high taxes, not because they love militarism, but because they still fear that Germany has not been cured of her ambitions to crush France. In my wanderings around Touraine and elsewhere, I gathered that there are many Tessiers in France. If there were not, the government would have to reduce the army to-morrow. If the junkers and monarchists and militarists in Germany were finally and forever stripped of all chance of mischief, if France felt herself secure from harm, the army of France would just naturally have to melt away. The plain folks would decree it.

Poce is a little village some miles away from the town of Amboise. It's the usual Touraine village—stone cottages of the peasant farmers, a little church and public school on the village green. And not far away the "debit," where they get their wine, and the bakery, where, in the afternoons, they get the long, fragrant loaves of freshly baked white bread. In a poor little shop, scantily stocked with cigarets and smoking tobacco, sits Monsieur Tessier. He doesn't go about much now and he has plenty of time to think about things. He's 41. He was a farm laborer all his life.

War Smashed Hopes

Just before the outbreak of the war he was planning to take the savings of a lifetime and start on his own as a market gardener near Tours. That dream is all over now. The war came and he marched away, leaving behind him a wife and four children. A baby was born a fortnight later.

Tessier was wounded on the Aisne. Cured of his hurts, he returned to active duty and in the words of the engraved army citation he showed me, he established a machine gun barage under heavy fire and was gravely wounded. The surgeons had to saw off his right leg up to the thigh. He went to a training establishment at Courbat maintained by Americans. To eke out his pension, the government gave him a free tobacco license and his income from all sources probably now totals $280. "Not much, but we manage."

I told him many people were puzzled that France should maintain an army estimated at 800,000 men.

"Maybe," said he, "France has that many in her armies, but I refuse to believe that force is meant for war. It isn't an army in the new, modern sense, because it has no great reserves to draw on. You see, so may of our men were killed or maimed during the last war. In spite of disarmament, Germany can still muster millions of men. The new conscription classes in France will yield smaller numbers of men when you consider our ever-decreasing birthrate. In Germany the same classes will yield big numbers of men."

Germany has Men

"No," said I, "Germany has no gun, no airplanes, no military equipment, has she?"

"She has the men and the officers. The last war showed how quickly the peaceful factories of to-day can be turned into the war factories of to-morrow."

"But," I objected, to sound him, "Germany has no ships. Why should France seek to maintain a big fleet and many submarines? Against whom are they directed?"

"My paper tells me the Germans are turning out large numbers of merchant ships in no time. The same yards can also turn out war vessels."

So I said to him: "You fear Germany then? You don't believe the Germans of the republic really want peace?"

"Well," said he, with a fine judicial air, "they have been through it like us and I don't think many of them would like to go through it again. But their republic is wobbling. The others may come back into power and they may set revenge. In 1914 we peasants didn't want war, but we had it just the same and had to go to the front. We want it still less now, but the Germans may force it on us again. They wanted part of France then. What can we do if they start war? Let our arms hang down idly and tell them to help themselves to whatever they want?"

Have Paid Nothing

I suggested a big army must cost France a terrifically large sum in addition to the other crushing financial burdens the country bore.

"Yes, the Germans haven't paid one sou toward repairing the damage they did. France herself has spent eighty billions of francs on that work. We peasants don't want to crush Germany. We know well the Germans can't do the impossible, but we have an old saying—qui cases les carreaux, les paie—he who breaks windows must pay for them. We know the Germans can't replace all the window panes they have broken, but we at least want them to replace some of them. We want them to do their best. And this they haven't done.

"And this isn't militarism, isn't love of glory, isn't desire to boss Europe the way Germany tried to do. That talk makes me angry. People who honestly believe it, simply don't know us. I can take you to three or four fellows like myself, disabled as I am. They live near at hand and will tell you what I have told you. And you might ask our women who had to work like horses while their hearts were heavy at the thought of us in the stink of the trenches or in the dangers of battle. See what the war has done for me. I am only part of a man now, while but for the damned kaiser I would have had the ambitions of my life—to be my own master on my own patch of French soil."

A rural agricultural school is being organized in Rome, Ga., where motor buses are transporting 500 students.

Cook with This Ware
~It Uses Less Fuel

Do you know that by using the wrong kind of cooking utensils, you can waste dollars and dollars of good money every year? It's true! This money can be saved if good enameled ware is used, such as Diamond Ware or Pearl Ware. The secret is that they heat up more quickly and hold the heat.

Here is a good test. Take a Diamond Ware or Pearl Ware saucepan and a saucepan of equal size made of brass, copper or aluminum. Into each pour two quarts of cold water. Place each saucepan over the burner or fire. The water in the Diamond or Pearl saucepan will come to the boil in just half the time it takes the other. Think of the money that can be saved by women using good enameled ware for all their cooking. No heat is wasted when Diamond or Pearl Ware is used.

With fuel at the present prices, economical housewives should not forget that by using SMP Enameled Ware kitchen utensils nearly half the cost of gas, coal, wood or electricity for cooking can be saved.

What ware do you cook with? Are you saving money and enjoying full satisfaction by using Diamond Ware or Pearl Ware utensils, or are you still using all-metal wares? Equip your kitchens at once with economical Diamond or Pearl Ware.

"Ironized Yeast Has Cleared My Skin Quickly and Gloriously!"

is rich with vitamines-and-iron. This recipe of Nature, "Ironized Yeast," is now being used by thousands of men and women with startling, yet perfectly natural, results. It gives you yeast-vitamines-ironized, containing iron in the form in which it exists in the human body. It is not a mere mixture of yeast and iron, but is yeast ironized, which is a substance all by itself. The STORY of the BIBLE

By E. E. Braithwaite
B.D. Ph.D.

II.—Recent Discovery of Great Manuscripts.

Some of the most valuable Biblical manuscripts have only been discovered or become available within most recent times. One of the greatest of these is the Sinaitic, acquired only about sixty years ago and now lodged in the Imperial Library at Petrograd. The story of its discovery is full of romance. Tischendorf, a prominent German scholar, set out in 1844 on a tour of the Orient in search of manuscripts. Stopping at the monastry of St. Catherine at the foot of Mount Sinai, his eye fell on some leaves containing Greek inscriptions which had been thrown into a waste-paper basket. He soon perceived that they were parts of the Bible and obtained permission to take them away with him. There were forty-three leaves in his precious treasure and he was told that two basketfuls of these leaves had already been used to light the fires, but he was not allowed to see the book from which they had been taken.

Tischendorf made two more trips to the monastery. On the first of these, in 1853, he made no further headway. On his second trip, in 1859, he seemed doomed to disappointment again. However, a few days before leaving he managed to get on familiar terms with the steward who took him to his room and showed him a bundle of loose leaves of parchment wrapped in a cloth, which proved to be the treasure he was seeking. He was allowed to take these to his room and naturally he passed a sleepless night. He discovered that he had before him the whole of the New Testament and considerable parts of the Old Testament, as well as a couple of Apocryphal books.

Though it was difficult to get this precious document away from the monastery, Tischendorf managed to persuade the monks that it would be a most gracious act for them to present it to the Czar as the head of the Greek Church. In November of the same year this presentation was made. With the exception of the Vatican manuscript, the Sinaitic is the oldest of all the New Testament Greek manuscripts, being believed to have had its origin the middle of the fourth century.

The Vatican manuscript belongs to the first half of the fourth century. It was brought to Rome in 1448 and was entered on the first catalogue of the Vatican Library in 1475. Napoleon carried it off to Paris in 1809, but it was restored to Rome in 1815. It was carefully guarded. Several scholars received permission to examine it, but were not allowed to copy a word. If, indeed, any passage were being examined too closely, the volume was hastily snatched away.

The third of these great manuscripts, the Alexandrian, is the proud possession of the British Museum. It was formally presented to Charles I. in 1627. Patriarch Cyril Lucar carried it from Alexandria to Constantinople about 1098. A tradition has ascribed it to Thecla the martyr, about 325, but there seems good reason for assigning it to the fifth century. This manuscript contains most of the Bible except certain parts of the New Testament. It has been used more extensively than the two previously named, having been available earlier.

There are many other manuscripts, but these three are the most valuable in enabling us to determine the original form of the Biblical books.

Dumb Devotion

by Jack Lait

ON the back streets off Broadway, just beyond the precincts of the hotels and clubs and apartments that house the "artists" of the theatrical profession, are the boarding and lodging houses where dwell the hordes of "dumb" actors.

Dumb actors are acrobats, jugglers, hoop-rollers, strong men and women, wire-walkers, trampoline bouncers, animal trainers and exhibitors, diabolo wizards, trapeze tumblers, horizontal-bar whirlers, risleyists, contortionists, equilibrists and the like. Without more than one exception in a hundred they "open," and "close" vaudeville shows—that is, they appear either as curtain-raisers or chasers.

One juggler, having worked nine years with the same routine, complained bitterly to his agent, saying that for the nine years that he had opened and closed shows with the same turn he hadn't "gotten anywhere." His agent suggested that perhaps if he'd get up a new act—but the juggler stopped him. "A new act, for what? Nobody's seen this one."

It is their fate to be disgruntled and to feel that they are not being given a square deal. It is their lot to mingle with higher-paid performers, yet know that they cannot catch them—and to know that the others know they can't. It is their misfortune to be "billed" in invisible type, to dress four flights up adjacent to the fly gallery, to give their best to crowds of entering patrons distracted with the business of finding seats or crowds of disappearing backs.

And they live as they work—just across the border of the body of their colleagues, on the ragged edge of the district.

In their hearts they know that it is harder work and a more talented accomplishment to walk upside down or lift a heavy brother high in air than to shake a dainty toe or sing a popular song. But nobody is with them, and so they go on, just "dumb" acts, professionally, financially—and socially.

And, at that, it seems scarcely fair.

Like all submerged and downtrodden races, sects, classes, callings and trades, dumb actors enforce the strictest and most arrogant social distinctions among themselves. In view of the latest scientific sub-divisions of the atom, once regarded as the most infinitesimal unit of matter, into electrons, it will be seen that dividing even acrobats' rank and position is quite plausible.

If ever a dumb act is placed in any other "spot" than first or last, this is the last gasp in distinction, and the participants in such acts immediately become and always thereafter remain no less than snobs. Circus troupers regard themselves as a bit over vaudevillians, because they are reckoned as specially picked, whereas carnival workers are in the sub-basement. Animal actors, anywhere, have to take the leavings, as they are regarded in the light of hostlers or attendants rather than "artists."

Dumb actors are not, of course, without their worshipers. Thousands of young boys—and girls, too—who lavish reverence on anything connected with or even smelling of the stage or the exhibition tent, being too young or too crude or too broadly democratic to discriminate beyond the line between those who are and those who are not in "show business," are as goggle-eyed in their admiration of the silent contingent as of headliners and "featured" stars. And so acrobats and their theatrical cousins may be, to many outsiders, still "actors," and as such they convey the aroma of the stage and bohemia, and the mystic, magic mummer life which for so many exerts so magnetic a charm.

And thus it was with Carl Mickle, of the vaudeville "team" of Mickle and Barry, understander. (In hand-balancing or strong acts the one who lifts the other or others is the understander. The partner, usually the more light and agile, is the top-mounter.)

Mickle was a former stable-boy who had joined a repertoire troupe showing under canvas, and had doubled as the driver on tour. In time he had been graduated into metropolitan company, and Mickle and Barry played the regular circuits, and had lithographed letterheads with their agent's name and their "billing matter" — "Those Miraculous Equilibrists and Royal Entertainers De Luxe."

Permanent address they had none, and no more had they a permanent abode to use as an address. They travelled forty weeks the year, and the remaining twelve they occupied just off Broadway, strutting and gossiping with others of their breed, fibbing about how they bulldozed the booking office and made them like it.

"No openin' shows for us nex' season, I says to Gottlieb. He starts to squawk an' I starts to take the air. He calls me back—you bet your life he does—an' he says all right, then, he can't afford to lose us, becus we're a standard act an' we pull at the box office—an' he knows it. So nex' season, no worse'n the deuce spot on any bill, an' featured on the small big an' big small time, that is if we take any dates epsep' the main wheel. We mightn' go out o' N'York at all, becus we're dickerin' with a p'duction—a revue. They want us, but they don' wanna pay no dough—that is, our kind o' dough—see? So we'll jus' prob'ly stick aroun' N'York—the best stands—an' I guess Ziggy'll loosen up, all right. He wants us bad, I know that, becus we ain't like most o' them dumb acts—we got class. We ain't really no dumb act. The partner keeps wise crackin' all through the routine now, an' I do the straight. We get many a scream. An' when we get a spot—say—we'll knock 'em for a ghoul."

Let them rave on. Next season they will get the same route, the same pay, the same "spot"—opening and closing—and they will grumble for forty weeks again, and come back to dream and talk in large terms for twelve weeks again, and so ad infinitum until they become stage-door tenders or join the union and become scene-shifters, thereafter to talk of their lustrous pasts and tell about the business in the good old days—when they were great and things were great.

Mickle wore raglan ulsters with belts and pronounced plaids, a diamond ring on the downstage hand, and had two solid gold teeth. He was built like a wrestler and had all the ethics and finesse of one. He had, also, the hysterical, unreasonable, consuming love of Millie Friedenbacker.

Millie had been a waitress in a quick-lunch in Minneapolis, so near the Orpheum Theatre that it was a logical hangout for the superior actors in a hurry and the plebeian ones at their leisure. And she had met Mickle while in pursuit of her duties.

Millie, the stagestruck waitress, daughter of a night watchman in a lumber yard, saw in the huge Mickle at once a Hercules, an Apollo and a Jupiter.

And he saw in her a slender blonde, a nifty dresser, a flapper with a trade that made her self-supporting. What his diamond and his eighteen-karat teeth meant to her, her yellow hair and lake-blue eyes meant to him. She ached for him because he was an actor and had all those crowning glories besides. He accepted her because she was his type, because she would be no expense, and because she was a woman of rare judgment in attractive men.

The next "jump" was St. Paul, a street car distance. He remained quartered in Minneapolis that week, following along the "pick-up." Then Duluth, with Winnipeg and the Pacific Coast loop to come. Millie threw up her job the day after he left, and walked in on him in Duluth. Mickle was not as hospitable as she had hoped, for he was touring not only interstate, but inter-country. Millie was determined, however, and she not only remained, but went along.

A waitress can almost always get work on an hour's notice in any town. There are agencies everywhere, and they have a steady flow of girls and calls for girls. Waitresses seldom are "steady" and the stream of them is rarely broken. So Millie contrived to earn her share of the expenses and Mickle couldn't "shake" her. When he closed his season in Toledo and beat it into the "big burg" for his Summer lay-off, with its allurements of loafing and bragging and hoping and parading and skylarking, with its inviting boarding places only a block off Broadway itself, with the beaches only a nickel off, with the free vaudeville actors' club wide open—everything was rosy except for Millie.

The poor girl had not been cured by neglect, abuse, threats, hardships or blows. Mickle had tried them all. But she hung on and followed along, living on the rare moments when he forgot himself and threw her a friendly word as she told him how great he was. On every bill he played she was a joke and a by-word. The other actors—those who talked to him at all—twitted him, even the ones who envied him, and a thousand times, as he hung about the lobbies of third-rate hotels or washed up in the community dressing rooms assigned all the third-rate performers in each theatre, he had repeated:

"Say, can I help it if that poor Swede is cuckoo over me? Youse guys know as well as I do, an' if youse don't lemme wise you—they's a lot o' janes goes daffy over big men, an' 'specially pe'formers. Well, I'm playin' Minneapolis, an' this here blonde takes one slant at me an' goes dizzy. I says to her she's a sap an' I ain't got no time bein' annoyed wit' her. But you think that stops her? Say, she books herself over the Orpheum wheel an' she's been givin' me the run-around ever since. The world'll tell you I slips her the air an' many a punch in the pan. But she trails me around like a one-man dog. What can a guy do wit' a pest like that, huh? She crab's me wit' a lot o' swell babes in ev'ry town—you know how they buzz around big men, 'specially if they're pe'formers. I don' pay no 'tention to her, but she butts in an' she waits for me at the stage doors, an' she sends me presents—what can a guy do wit' a pest like that, huh? If I bawl her out she says I'm right, but she loves me; if I shake her, she's planted on the doorstep when I come back; if I bust her one, she says I'm always clownin' an' she loves big, rough birds like me an' she hopes some day I'll beat her up good. What can a guy do wit' a pest like that, huh?"

He told his story to his agent when he got in—told it with the eloquence of a hero who is wearied of worship and who craves to come down, incognito if necessary, and breathe the relieving joy of being for a while a plain mortal.

The agent was not grief-stricken over Mickle's dramatic recital of Millie's exasperating infatuation, but it gave him a sudden idea.

"How'd you like to take a shot at England?" he suggested.

Mickle almost fell off his seat.

England! He had dreamed for years of a trip abroad, into new fields, crossing the big pond on a big boat, mingling abroad with dukes and dukesses and earls and earlesses and meeting a new flock of performers—a new circle which might believe his tall ones. And he had heard that in England, frequently, dumb acts make sensational successes and are feted. Maybe Mickle and Barry could scratch a homer over a British fence, and maybe he would come back a baron—come back a celebrity and become a headliner! England, indeed—could it be done?

The agent said he had a few openings to cross on "spec" (speculation) without any fixed salaries. It was a tryout, but it would be a pleasant trip, and Summer was a waste of time anyway, so why not take the gamble? Maybe the act would go over big—who could tell?

Mickle Made a Wry Face of Impatience. The Girl Stood Squarely in His Way and He Could Scarcely Negotiate the Stairs Without Knocking Her Down, So—

Every situation has its redeeming advantages. And being a dumb actor, with all the shortcomings of one, still affords the one bit of blue sky—a dumb act is universal.

"I'm packin' now," answered Mickle. "When do we sail?"

The day was set in the following week. In an hour every hand-balancer in the great market knew that Mickle and Barry were opening in London—knew all about it and some that even London didn't know. When Millie arrived at the Grand Central Station six days later, having remained behind while she worked out her fare, she knew it even before she had traced down the boarding house where Mickle and Barry were teamed up in a back room to pool expenses.

Millie's heart stopped beating. Here, at last, was a knockout blow. She had been able to and would continue to be able to follow Mickle about so long as he remained on this continent. But the ocean—that was beyond her.

Meanwhile, she was seeking the boarding house. There were so many—thousands. She had never been in New York before. But she had heard often the names of the principal vaudeville houses, and she knew that the acrobats' rendezvous would be somewhere near them. She waited at the stage door of one of them until the opening act emerged—she recognized the men—anybody can—and inquired of them whether they had seen Mickle and Barry. No, they hadn't, but the boys must be living somewhere over that way—if they hadn't sailed. That was when she had gotten the first tidings of her disaster.

Over that way she wandered, and soon she met members of other opening and closing turns whom she had come to know through association with Mickle, for on the road these birds flock together. They sent her here and sent her there, and it took all day before she at last ran down the house, a four-story old brick dwelling that had long since been converted into a lodging dump for the ragtag of the profession. She asked for Mickle and was told he had gone out. There was no room vacant, so she waited on the "stoop," for there was no "parlor." Far past midnight a policeman demanded to know what business she had there, and she moved on in fear. She spent the rest of the night sitting in the depot. And shortly after sunrise she inquired her way back to the lodging place.

As she came up to the stairs the door opened and out came Mickle. He carried two formidable-looking bags, on one of them a conspicuous new label such as one gets at the steamship office for marking luggage. He turned to close the door, and when he picked up his grips again and started forward—there stood Millie!

"H-h'lo, dearie," she murmured.

"H-h'lo, Millie," he choked. "What brought YOU in? You look like you got off a slow freight."

"I slep' in the station. I was here las' night—they said you wasn't in. I guess you was, all right, only you had 'em say you wasn't. Was you?"

"I—well, I went to bed early, becus I had to get up early, see?"

"Makin' a day jump, dearie? I didn't know you was workin' no more this season."

"I—yeah—sure. Picked up a split week. Got to ketch the—the train."

"The what? Ain't that the name of a boat there, on that paster?"

"Paster? Oh—THAT one. Yeh. I borrowed the keister, an' it had that hunk o' paper on it."

"An' where are you goin'?"

"Where? Oh—Bridgeport. Bridgeport this half, Hartford nex' half."

"Well, this is Tuesd'y, so you can't play this half nowheres. An' the nex' half don' open till Thurs-d'y, so why spend two days in Bridgeport—or is it a long leap, huh?"

"Yeah—that's it—a long leap. It's way up in C'necticut, see? Takes two days to get there."

"Is that anywheres near London, dearie?"

"London? Where'd you get THAT kind o' stuff? WHO'S goin' to London?"

"You are, dearie. You're givin' me the go-by, an' you won't see me till you come back. I ain' got no dough to go to London."

"Well, if you been spyin' on me, all right. I AM goin' to London. I'm goin' to better myself. I'll come back a headliner, I will. An' I got to get a move on, too—the boat sails at 'leven, an' I got to do a lot o' stuff wit' passports an' that kind o' truck. Good-by, Millie—see you when I come back."

Millie choked up and seemed to sway just a bit.

"W-won't you k-kiss me before you go, dearie?"

Mickle made a wry face of impatience. The girl stood squarely in his way and he could scarcely negotiate the steps without knocking her down. So, without laying down the clumsy bags, he bent forward and kissed her. She threw her slim arms around his brute neck, wound them tightly, kissed him and wept over him and shook and sobbed. He took it defensively for a full minute, then he squirmed loose and hurried down the stairs, leaving her standing there looking after him, numb and white. Barry saw her standing thus as he came out a few seconds later; he greeted her, she didn't even hear him.

She sank down to the rail and sat there for a full hour, trembling and mumbling. The street about her was taking on life. She pulled herself together and faltered down the stairs to the walk, and made her uncertain way toward the big, busy thoroughfare she saw ahead, the infamously famous Broadway.

She looked not to right or to left—not even straight ahead—until a jam in the traffic halted her. Then she became aware of a dapper stranger, redolent of perfume and prosperity, garbed in a swagger walking suit, carrying a Malacca stick. He looked familiar. Yes, he was smiling directly to her. He raised his hat. He addressed her:

"How do, mees?"

Millie turned away her tear-stained face.

"You no remember me, mees? I am Fromberto, the tenor—I am hadliner on the beel in Meelwoukee. I meet you dare—no?"

"No."

"Oh, come now—you was weet Meeckle—he close-a de show. He follow me—I am nazt to close, of course. I see you dere. And I like you ver' moach, mees."

"Say, you bum Guinea gargler, I got a notion to bust you one. Where'd you get that noise—makin' a play for me right in the street?"

"No, no. I like-a you. I no mean eensult. *I go now have my brakfas'—you have leedle-a bite wit' me, yes?"

"Oh, go chase yourself."

"You ver' cruel to me, mees. I am follow you whole block. I see you are look deestress. I say to myself maybe I can be comfort to poor, leedle-a lady—poor, pretty lady. I'm-a lonesome an'a blue, what you call, too, thees-a week."

"That's tough. Hope you feel better nex' week. G-by."

"I feel-a bedder naxt week, sure. I sail for home—Italy—an' maybe pretty mees she like-a sail, too? Italy is beautiful-a country, mees, an' I make-a you ver' happy. I"——

"Jus' a minnit. How far is it'ly from London? Is it far?"

"Italy? Much nicer dan London. But not such pretty ladies—blonde ladies, what I'm like-a, like-a you. In"——

"I don't wanna know how nice it is or how blonde I am. Is it far from London?"

"Oh, yes—ver' far—t'ousan's miles. But"——

"Say—if you don't cut out propositionin' me here, right in the middle o' the main stem, I'll call a cop. Where d'you bum hams get that gab—takin' me across oceans, huh? Well, I ain't that common. Now blow before I crown you, wop."

Traffic had moved and the two were still standing. A policeman started over to wake them up. Sig. Fromberto took his cue on the run and made a diagonal tack for the other side, stopping only twice to turn and sigh as he again took in Millie's yellow hair and long, slender lines.

"What's the matter, cutie?" asked the policeman. "Throwin' a trance?"

"No. This is a great burg you got here. A fawraner parks hisself right alongside o' me an' offers me a trip to Urrup, that's all."

"Oh, that ain't nothin'," laughed the bluecoat. "I seen him—looks to me like he might be some kind o' actor. They's a million of 'em aroun' here. They got some weird ideas, them actors."

"This one sure had. Say—he can't hardly talk good English. An' him a headliner! That skinny runt a headliner—an' I bet he couldn' turn a cartwheel!"

FINAL CROP REPORT SHOWS BIG YIELDS

Threshing Is Completed and Plowing Is Well Under Way in Many Parts of the West.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—The twenty-seventh and final crop report of the season is issued by the Agricultural Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The weather during the past seven days has been fair and moderately warm, turning colder at the week-end, with slight snow flurries. Harvesting and threshing throughout the prairie provinces is practically completed. A few isolated districts have some grain to thresh, but it is said that everything will be cleaned up this week. Yields generally have proven up to expectations, and in the majority of cases have been more than realized. Live stock will go into winter quarters in very good shape, the report says, with ample supplies of food in store. There is a good crop of potatoes. Farmers are anxious to secure a market but the price offered is not sufficient to meet expenses of lifting and shipping.

Plowing is forty to fifty per cent. completed.

Farmers in Saskatchewan are generally well satisfied with outturn this year. The live stock and feed situation is satisfactory.

Threshing may now be considered complete in Alberta, according to the report. Farmers are busy plowing and sixty per cent. of this work is accomplished.

In the Edmonton, Cunvegan and British Columbia Railway district harvesting is about completed and fall plowing is in full swing. It is anticipated that there will be a larger acreage than last year.

BROCKVILLE DEALERS FIX THE PRICE OF COAL

BROCKVILLE, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press.) — In conference with special committee of the town council last night coal dealers reached a decision to charge a price of $16 per ton for anthracite for the season of 1922-23. The price is retroactive to October 1st. The price of $16.50 has been in force since the beginning of the season. It was also decided to send a deputation to Ottawa to interview Dominion Fuel Commissioner Magrath in an effort to secure a larger allotment of water borne coal for Brockville.

A Good Example

Nearly fifty years ago a little business was started in New York City which was destined to cover the world. Perseverance, pluck and business acumen, together with a thorough belief in Advertising (which was also in its infancy at that time), brought the enterprise up by leaps and bounds. That business is Scott's Emulsion, and the makers will tell you that Advertising did the trick. They believe that the purpose of Advertising is to increase profit from increase in volume of output (which means quick turnover), rather than big profits and small sales. To successfully advertise Scott's Emulsion searching and sympathetic study, embracing every possibility of the curative power or medical worth of the purest Norwegian cod-liver oil it contains, its history as to food value, the environment and native peculiarities of the codfish itself in the frigid seas of Norway, where the makers of Scott's Emulsion maintain their own fisheries, the most scientific way of refining the crude oil, which is shipped to their refining plant at Bloomfield, N.J., in air-tight casks, are all necessary if Scott's Emulsion is to be advertised as a true, vitamine-bearing tonic-food. Eminent scientists claim a higher percentage of health-giving vitamines in cod-liver oil than in butter or cream. In Scott's Emulsion this vitamine-bearing oil-food is so scientifically compounded that it is easily assimilated by the weakened run-down system; makes well nourished bone structure for teething children; gives strength to growing children of school age; is unequalled in its power to relieve colds and bronchial troubles and is helpful to those who are beginning to feel the weight of declining years. The point is, that had the makers of Scott's Emulsion not analyzed the marketing possibilities of their product, and had they not had the vision of increased sales through Advertising, and followed up the advertising with personal experience and observation of results obtained, Scott's Emulsion would be on the top shelf, forgotten—if it existed at all. This example is given to show the local advertiser the importance of following a well-planned advertising campaign—and the advertising department of this paper is maintained for the purpose of giving advise, based on past experience, to any local advertiser for the asking.

Approximately 130 subjects are taught in the evening schools of New York city.

Look for the Mark!

The Norwegian "Fisherman Mark" of quality and goodness that is on every bottle of assures you health-building, vitamine-bearing cod-liver oil in its purest form, pleasant to take, readily assimilated and transformed into strength.

The "Fisherman Mark" should be on every bottle of emulsion you buy.

HOUDINI FINDS DANGERS IN PHYSIC PHENOMENA

BOSTON, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press)—Morbidness and melancholie induced by interest in physic phenomena threaten the health and sanity of many persons in the opinion of Harry Houdini, president of the Society of American Magicians, expressed at the annual dinner of the society here. He spoke of his 25 years' investigations of the subject, and said he had never seen anything to convince him that there had been a single communication from the dead.

"I have never seen any of the mediums or spiritualists do anything or produce a single effect which I could not, through my knowledge of magic, account for or duplicate" he asserted. "I have had nine pacts with the dead, who while alive agreed with me to try to communicate with me from beyond, but each has been fruitless."

He said he had worked with Sir Oliver Lodge and other scientists engaged in the study of physic phenomena and respected them.

"But", he added "when I demonstarte to them the secrets and reveal the methods used by mediums and they tell me that I too am a medium, in spite of myself, I am forced to conclude that they merely do not know.

"I have seen people who previous to the war, never concerned themselves with things physic now delving into it to the point of hysteria. It is conductive of morbidness, brooding and melachonlia. It becomes an obession very quickly and I would warn against it. It is threatening the health and sanity of those who indulge in it."

SHORT FUR COATS.

Short fur jackets promise to be quite the rage. They are cut on very snappy lines, and trimmed in distinctive ways. A gray carcaul model has a belt buttons and pocket trimmings of bright red leather.

DOCTORS AMAZED AT WONDERS DONE BY NEW MEDICINE

Your complexion is not clear, you have pains between the shoulder blades, yo uare constipated, have no energy, no appetite, headaches, rheumatism, indigestion, etc. These are all the well-known signs that your liver is out of order and is not excreting bile into the bowels, thereby causing all these pains and aches.

Doctors will tell you that 90 per cent. of the people who come to them for treatment have trouble due directly to the Liver. It is simple when you stop to think about it. When your Liver becomes inactive and fails to pour Bile into the intestines, your system is unable to excrete the waste, then the blood begins to distribute this waste throughout the whole system, striking at the weakest organ. Until this Liver trouble is overcome, you cannot expect to have perfect health, and lie to you will be a drudgery.

Doctors recommend that you take one Tanol Calomel about fifteen minutes before each meal, and you will wake up the next morning feeling tip-top. No seidlitz, salts or castor oil are necessary to eliminate the Calomel, as it is self-eliminating.

Tanol Calomel is quickly assimilated by the system, and begins to act soon after taking. It has no bad effects, as nausea, sick headaches, griping, etc., but acts very mild and smoothly, causing a natural elimination of the waste poison, making you look and feel bright, alert, vigorous, and vivacious again.

Tanol Calomel is sold by F. C. Weber, Charlotte Street.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, October 17. — Canadain Press. — Atlhough wheat, corn and oats yesterday reached some new top record prices for the season, immense profit taking sales led to down turns later. A decided gain in wheat values at Liverpool was chiefly responsible for the strength shown by the markets here. Wheat in Chicago closed unsettled, 1-2c net lower, to a like advance, with December 1.12 1-4 to $1.12 3-8, and May $1.12 1-8 to $1.12 1-4. Corn finished 1-4c off to 3-8c up; oats, down 1-2 to 7-8c and provisions varying from 17c decline to a rise of 2c.

There were no further developments in the baled hay market. The egg situation was unchanged with the tone of the market firm. The total shipments from May 1 to date have been 3358 cases less than in the same period of 1921. The potato market was quiet. Butter prices scored a further decline of 1-4c per pound under limited demand. The total shipments to date have been 239,936 packages larger than in the same period of 1921. ANNIVERSARY AT MILLBROOK

Special Services in the Methodist Church—Rev. Archer Wallace, D.D., Gave Two Addresses.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 17.—The fortieth anniversary of the Methodist church was observed on Sunday, October 15th., Rev. Archer Wallace D.D., of the Book Room, Toronto, preaching at both services and also addressing the Sunday School in the afternoon. The church was beautifully decorated with ferns, autumn leaves and foliage plants, and though the morning congregation was considerably lessened in numbers because of the threatening rain, the service proved impressive and helpful throughout. Rev. William Buchanan, of Lethbridge, Alta., led in the opening prayer, his many friends here being much pleased to hear his voice in the church once more, and the choir followed with a brief "Adoration" prayer selection. The lesson from John 3; 1-17, was read by Dr. Wallace, and this formed the foundation thought for his theme: "Some Varities of Religious Experience", having special reference to conversion. There is no Christian church, the speaker said, in which the doctrine of conversion is not taught, clearly and emphatically, the difference of opinion being as to the manner in which it shall take place. The various Protestant churches are a unit on all the great fundamental doctrines of the Christian faith, the points where they differ being merely on non-essential things like the way church government shall be administered, and the manner of conducting service. Unfortunately, however, differences between church people are frequently exaggerated by themselves, and always by their enemies.

There are four types of conversion in the New Testament, all of them genuine, but each quite unlike the other. Paul is the first of these; with him conversion was sudden, dramatic what one might expect from the intense nature of the man. With the Ethopian eunuch to whom Philip was sent, it was an intellectual process, he must see before he would believe, his head must be convinced before his heart would accept. The Philippian goaler found his way to Christ in a most spectacular manner, the very foundations of his being shaken as the earthquake shook the prison. And lastly there was Lydia, the first convert in Europe, "Whose heart the Lord opened", the change coming so quietly that she scarcely know the time, or place of her complete surrender. Conversion is al ways the same thing "a turning from sin to God", but there are a variety of ways in which it may occur; this was true two thousand years ago and it is equally true to-day, and the divisions which are rending the chucs are the result of people refusing to make allowance for the fact that not only conversion, but all religious experience, manifests itself in different forms. It would be folly to expect that the hardened sinner, who has spent his life in evil ways, would have exactly the same experience in yielding to Christ as the young man, with a clean record, brought up in a Christian home, and except for the sense of relief which always follows a halting between two opinions, hardly knowing when the change came. It is a wise thing to remember, too, that religious experiences cannot be standardized when people set out to serve God; David could not fight in Saul's armour; each must "work out his own salvation" because no two lives are exactly alike either in disposition, or in the circumstances with which they are surrounded. God loves variety. His handiwork in nature shows this one of the chief delights of a garden is the variety of flowers, or fruitage why, then should not the Head Gardener take joy in having more than one kind of plant in His "garden of souls"?

The main requirement is that the "fruits of the Spirit" should be manifest in the life, methods of operation not being nearly so important. In John's vision of the New Jerusalem he saw that the city was furnished with gates on every side, teaching us that there are many roads leading to the Father's House, but that every road is the right one if it leads home.

The special music by the choir included, at the morning service, the anthem, "Rejoice, and be Joyful in the Lord", with obligato by Mrs. G. W. Sayles, and, after the sermon the duet, "Despised and Rejected", by Messrs. Byam and Alcorn; the evening selections were a quartette, "Like Silver Bells at Eventide", by Mrs. P. Stinson, Miss May Byam, Messrs. Byam and Alcorn, an anthem "Lead on, O King, Eternal"), with duet by Miss Ella Elson and Mrs. Stinson, and for the concluding number a duet by Mrs. Sayles and Miss A. Stewart, "The Hearts that was broken for me". Dr. Wallace's subject at night was "The Ideal Christian", his remarks being based on Paul's first letter to the Corinthian church, the twelth chapter, and summed up under four heads sincerity, church membership and loyalty, stewardship of money, and service, for the ideal Christian will want to take his fair share of the financial obligations of the church, and also in carrying on its work.

The church was well filled for the evening service, the pastor expressing his appreciation of the kindly spirit shown by the Presbyterian congregation in withdrawing their service because of the special occasion being observed by a sister church.

NEW AGREEMENT WITH THE U.S.

Great Britain Has Given Assent to Such Negotiations.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press.) — Prospective direct negotiation of a new treaty relative to armament on the Great Lakes and other subjects between Canada and the United States is looked upon here as the real opening of a new era of direct relationship between the two countries. The State Department has been informed that Great Britain has given assent to such negotiations which were discussed informally last July when Premier Mackenzie King visited Washington. The Canadian government will at an early date send one or more representatives to Washington to conduct negotiations.

New treaty will supplant 1917 treaty and nominally, at least, relates to armament on the Great Lakes. However, there are intimations that it will be of broader scheme and will include waterways and fisheries.

TRUE DETECTIVE STORIES

THE BLACK DEATH

Copyright, 1921, by The Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate.

Ellen Wonworth was the first to go. Her pale beauty marred by the mysterious agent which had caused her death, her slender body twisted by convulsions which had racked her during the last few minutes of her life, she was found upon Waterloo Road several hours after the possibility for human help had passed. Scotland Yard, being familiar with the life she had led, entered the case as one of suicide.

But the world in which the Donworth girl had moved—the half-world of London—refused to accept this verdict.

"Ellen," they said, "had been fond of life. She had been the spirit of gaiety. She would have been the last to gamble known pleasures against unknown terrors. She never killed herself. She was . . ." and there the voice would drop to a mysterious whisper, for already there was beginning to spread the rumor of something malign and deadly, some malevolent influence which, apparently for no reason, was reaching out over the night life of London, seeking for additional pery.

Then Matilda Clover, a laughing, lovable type of girl, was afflicted with what the physicians characterized as delirium tremens. Yes, Matilda had been fond of wine, her associates admitted. But she did not drink to excess. There was something else behind the case, in spite of what the doctors said.

Only a week separated the deaths of Ellen Donworth and Matilda Clover. Then a month passed before the next visitation of the "black death," as the strange influence was beginning to be known in the lower strata of London society. This time it was another girl of the half-world, Jennie Geller by name, and, although the authorities apparently glossed over the case as they had done the others, Scotland Yard operatives commenced to look around for the man behind these unusual occurrences.

As it happened, however, there was no definite clue until an additional five months had passed. Then, swiftly and together, came the deaths of Alice Marsh and Emma Shrivell, supposedly from ptomaine poisoning, the result of eating spoiled food. Alice Marsh died without being able to give any indication of the source of her malady. But the Shrivell girl lingered long enough to babble deliriously of a man with a heavy moustache and thick glasses.

That was all that Scotland Yard had to go on—and the description was one that could apply to thousands of men in London. But the policeman on the beat recalled seeing a man of the type mentioned coming out of the house where the girls lived. What was more, he found a lodger who had seen him. Day after day the "bobby" haunted the places where girls of the Harsh and Shrivell type would have gone. For weeks at a time he kept constantly on the look-out for the man with the glasses and the mustache. Several false leads were discovered, only to result in the wasting of valuable time. Then, recalling the death of Matilda Clover, the policeman began to talk to the friends of the dead girl and found that there, too, the mysterious stranger had appeared. Matilda had dined with him several times. In fact, she had been stricken with "delirium tremens."

The woman who proffered this information willingly consented to accompany the bobby on his search through the submerged section of the city and, to the utter amazement of the authorities, she pointed out a physician, a Dr. Neil Cream, as the mysterious man of the spectacles and mustache. But the lodger in the home of the Shrivell girl positively stated that Dr. Cream was not the one who had visited the house.

Scotland Yard, however, thought it best to take a chance on the truth of the woman's identification. Accordingly scores of operatives were assigned to watch the American physician. With the exception of the time that he was in his own room, he was never allowed to be out of sight of the police for a moment and this constant unflagging search finally brought its reward, but in a different manner than had been anticipated.

Two prominent Londoners—a physician and the president of a large firm of booksellers—received blackmailing letter accusing them of having murdered Matilda Clover and Ellen Donworth by the use of carefully prepared doses of strychnine. The handwriting in the two letters was apparently entirely dissimilar, but the paper used was the same. The watermark "Fairford Superfine" appeared on each, and, upon cabling across the Atlantic, the Yard found that Dr. Cream had purchased a supply of this stationary just before he sailed.

When the trap was ready to be sprung, the policeman who had been responsible for discovering the first clue pointing to the American physician, visited Cream's office and informed him that he was under arrest. The doctor, a giant of a man, countered with a blow that sent the bobby into a corner and it was all that three operatives could do to handcuff and subdue him. Then, in response to a demand for information as to the charge against him, he was told that he was being taken into custody for writing blackmailing letters. The sigh of relief which followed this announcement indicated much, but the physician's involuntary movement toward his desk pointed to even more. There, tucked away in one of the pigeon-holes, was a diary giving all the dates and details of the five murders, together with the amount of strychnine employed in each case in order to disguise the cause of death.

In spite of his plea of insanity—a plea supported by much of the testimony at the trial—Dr. Neil Cream went to the gallows on the first anniversary of the death of Matilda Clover and Scotland Yard wrote "Finis" against another of the cases where constant vigilance and unceasing energy had outwitted one of the master criminals of modern times.

Youngest Business Woman A Model at Four Months

DAWN.

By MARIAN HALE.

In this fast age one must not linger even over one's babyhood if one is to achieve.

This is the philosophy of Dawn Bedan, who at the age of 90 days made her debut as a wage earner and today is the world's youngest professional woman.

Though Miss Bedan had very little to say during our interview and could not be induced to talk about herself, she smiled her famous smile and corroborated the rumor that she is the baby who never cries.

She is not quite four months old, but she is self-supporting. True, at four months one's support is not a serious matter if one has a mother and food and raiment have not assumed the proportions they later achieve, so Dawn is banking money besides.

Her career is on a sound financial basis, and probably she would say that the first 90 days were the hardest. But she spends most of her time with her mother when not engaged in professional work and leads the simplest life.

Having achieved a reputation as the baby who never cried, Dawn developed something constructive in the way of a 50-watt, 120-volt smile, guaranteed to brighten up the world's darkest corner.

About this time someone had written a song, "Why Should I Cry Over You?" and wanted a model for the cover, someone that would flash back the answer, "Why, indeed?"

The author hunted far and wide for a girl with a smile that would do that. Many applied, flappers, sub-debs, vamps and baby vamps. But none quite filled the bill. Their smiles were too knowing or too mechanical, or too something.

Then Dawn came. Her smile was perfect. It said everything the author wanted. So she got the job.

Up to that time Dawn had given the future little thought, having had so little present and past, but, of course, she expected as a modern young feminist to be self-supporting if the necessity arose.

But her fame as a model spread and requests poured in upon her to pose for young women's clothes and accessories and she was so burdened with opportunities that after a consultation with her mother, who acts as her business manager, it was decided she might undertake a limited number of engagements.

Of course, she is always carefully chaperoned and works only for short periods.

Her smile has lost none of its spontaneity and Dawn's future looks bright. She's tremendously interested in her career, and when she gets a little older she'll be glad to tell you about it herself.

A BOOK IN DEMAND

Some day some sensible man or woman will write a book called "Home Philosophy."

There will be a chapter on the phisosophy of washing dishes—without making a mess or getting mad.

There will be a chapter devoted to making beds without mountains or valleys.

There will of course, be several chapters about good health and air, says the Quincy Herald.

The woman who fills her home with knick-knacks will receive a gentle chiding and the man who litters the house with tobacco ashes from his pipe or cigar or cigaret will receive a mild scolding.

The man who never stays at home evenings will get what he deserves, and the woman gadder will get hers, too.

That dear home-body woman will receive full credit.

The fine man who works and thinks and lives for his home will be remembered

"How to Run Your Furnace," three chapters.

"How to Keep on Good Terms With the Janitor," five chapters No living person has solved this problem; it is extremely important.

"The Home Beautiful," let us hope will receive proper attention.

This is the time of year when all the youngsters have started back to school. The schools may train his mind, furnish him with more or less amusement, look after his morals and health and give him more or less of a religious training. But with all that the essential thing in a child's life is love, and home is the only place where the real meaning of the word can be taught. Keep love out of home and the child will in all probabilities grow up cynical and hard. The natural instincts of a child is to love and be loved. Keep that out of their life and their education is incomplete. Surround him with a considerate and loving family and he will in turn be loving and considerate.

HOW TO BURN SOFT COAL IN FURNACE

Timely Directions Issued by Provincial Authority

F. L. Wanklyn, provncial advisory Fuel Committee, has issued the following suggestions for using substitutes for American anthracite in ordinary house furnaces:—

No change is necessary in furnace. Build the fire in the usual way.

Open all the drafts and leave them open for about ten minutes. This is to allow the smoke and gases to pass out of the chimney.

To get the best results in applying coal to the fire use a little less than in the case of anthractie and apply coal oftener.

After the coal has been burning for about ten minutes or long enough for the smoke and gases to have been expelled, close up all the drafts except the chimney draft, which should be left partially open.

When refiring, first take a bar or poker and break up the crust of coal that forms on the top of a bituminous coal fire, then apply fresh coal, following the rule already given for leaving drafts open. A handful or two of coarse salt scattered evenly over top of bituminous coal freshly applied to fire will prevent formation of tar and other substances adhering to sides of furnace, it will form a gas thereby intensifying the heat and eliminating smoke.

Bituminous coal will probably be in varying sizes and contain some slack. The lumps should be burned in the day time and the fire banked with smaller coal and slack at night, leaving a small opening at the top to let the air through.

When making the last fire at night shake out the fine ash that will be clogging the openings in the grate. Your grates will last far longer if kept clean.

By throwing a moderate amount of water upon the bituminous pile at the point from which the coal is taken out the dust and dirt objection is largely overcome, as well as reducing the amount of smoke when the coal is first thrown on the fire.

In the morning, before opening the furnace door, the chimney and bottom drafts should be first opened.

With bituminous coal more soot is formed in stovepipes, flues and chimneys than in case of anthractie; and furnaces, furnace pipes and chimneys should be cleaned frequently. Hot water furnaces should be cleaned every day or so, and the furnace pipes every two or three weeks. Soot will not accumulate as quickly if a small quanitiy of zinc clippings are occasionally thrown into the fire.

A misture of big lumps of Bituminous coal with about an equal quantity of anthracite pea coal, or with coke, will simply the problem.

Welsh anthracite and Welsh dry coa and "briquettes" should be fired in practically the same manner as Pennsylvania anthracite. The small screening should be fired on top of the larger coal when the fire is well kindled.

If coke is used care must be taken to keep the ash pan free of ashes. If allowed to accumulate the grates may be burnt out. It is also good to keep a little water in the ash pan if tight enough to hold it.

Glands Are Not a Panacea But Help Many Human Ills

SAN QUENTIN, CAL., Oct. 17—The biggest human laboratory for experimentation in glandular rejuvenation today undoubtedly is the California state prison, with its population of 2600.

The first 1000 implantations of animal glandular substance in human beings here were recently completed by Dr. L. L. Stanley, resident physician and internationally known as a pioneer in this field.

Most of these cases were convicts who voluntarily subjected themselves to the simple operation.

At my request, Dr. Stanley consented to give NEA Service the results of his careful research in a conservative statement, to clear help the air of conflicting claims regarding this newest veature in renewing youth.

"Investigation is being continued," said Dr. Stanley, "in the endeavor to ascertain the truth. Many obstacles, due to wild publicity and the unwarranted claims of medical buccaneers, must be overcome on this poorly charted sea of research.

"From study of the 1000 treatments here, it is believed that the substance injected does have a decided effect upon those who are underweight, lack energy, sleep poorly, have scant appetite, and are generally 'run down.'

"Usually within the first week after treatment they gain weight, have increased appetite, enjoy their work and evince a general buoyancy.

"Of 326 patients so diagnosed, 305 have shown marked benefit.

"None of those so afflicted has become worse, but a few did not improve.

"In the 1000 injections, animal substance was used on 656 human beings, mostly convicts, but including 96 free persons, among them 13 physicians and seven females.

"The substance, taken from dead goat, rams, boars and deer, was shredded and injected into the abdominal wall by means of a syringe.

"So far as has been observed, there is little difference in effect produced from glands of various animals.

"Because all men here live under the same general conditions and patients can be under daily scrutiny, opportunity for observing results was ideal.

"Eleven of these patients are now dead. One is thought to have committed suicide, one died of uraemia, three of pneumonia, and six succumbed to tuberculosis, having already been in the advanced stage.

"Of 21 patients who were suffering from asthma, 18 secured relief or had the severity of their attacks greatly decreased Whether the testicular substance has in it some inherent power like adrenalin to influence asthma, or whether it operates by sending hormones into the blood stream to act upon the adrenal glands, is not yet known.

"Only three of the asthmatic patients found no relief.

"Of four cases of diabetes, three claimed improvement in weight and general conditions.

"Three cases of locomotor-ataxia claimed that their pains lessened. Of course the disease was in no way arrested, but in some way it seems that there is some therapeutic agent influencing pain.

"Of 58 patients treated for rheumatism 49 claim their pains stopped, while four found no difference, and five reported their condition slightly worse.

"Thirty-four men treated were senile. Twenty-seven showed improvement in energy, appetite and mental and physical activity.

"The results in tuberculosis were not particularly encouraging.

"Thirty-three of the 56 suffering from neurasthenis showed decided improvement. They gained in weight, felt fine and apparently forgot many of their fancied ailments.

"All the physicians who took the treatment, with one exception, reported good results.

"Thirty-two of 41 who had complained of poor vision, reported eyesight greatly strengthened.

"No ill effects from glandular implantations have been found except an occasional slough of the material. In these latter cases, the site of the injection becomes slightly painful.

"There are no bad constitutional effects, and the patient goes about his work as usual.

"The glands may be preserved and used effectively for days after being taken from a dead animal."

HUMILITY OF THR GREAT

It is the empty wagon that makes most noise. It is the shallow man that struts and brags. Humility is one mark of greatness.

How little room there is, after all, for the boaster! Is he not soon cut down? Is he not found out? The Big Noise must end through very hoarseness, and as soon as the people get a line on the strutting turkey in politics, law, pulpit or business, it estimates him at his worth. Its laugh at him is a sneer.

Moreover, consider the ned of all things. The grass and the sand were stronger than Babylon and Tyre. Proud Napoleon plunged the world into misery—and died a wretched exile, eaten by cancer, the rats scampering over his bed when he tried to sleep. Consider, too, what pride has done to this planet n the last few years. Consider the millions of fine men rotting in their graves who would have been alive, adding to the sum of human happiness, sent there by pride. Not yet do we understand to what a depth the War of Pride plunged us all. God save us from pride. The truly great are humble.

Indeed, what is any man but a speck on a speck of a aplanet, jotting its petty way along the infinite star-strewn abysses of space, infinitestimal, and man but an infinitesimal object creeping thereon. We look for him, and where is he? Like a shadow he is gone.

Humility becometh us all.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

In Greece it is considered highly desirable to have the daughters of the house marry in the order of their birth.

Thus an unattractive girl may hold up the matrimonial progress of her family indefinitely b cause her parents refuse to give their consent to the engagement of the younger sisters until the one next in line is disposed of.

It is only when a girl is considered hopeless matrimonially that the established order is broken.

FINDS GERMANY IS PRODUCTIVE

British Labor Leader Says There Are No Unemployed in Land.

LONDON, Oct. 17—Associated Press. Thomas Kennedy, labor member of Parliament, visited Germany recently to learn something of the conditions of the working classes there. He tells in "Justice" what most impressed him, and he makes some interesting comparisons between German and British workers.

"There are no unemployed in Germany" Mr. Kennedy writes. "There are gloomy forebodings of what the next six months may bring to the German workers, but so far as the German people have escaped the war miseries and uncertainties that are our lot here. The differences and divisions between skilled and unskilled workers are much less pronounced in Germany than in Britain. At the time of my visit, when the rate of exchange was anything between 4,000 and 6,000 marks to the pound, the average wage was in the neighborhood of 40 marks an hour.

"It would be foolish, of course, to suggest that there is no poverty in Germany. I was told by those who are in close touch with the life of the German worker that the general standard of comfort is lower to-day than anywhere experienced by the present generation of German workers. But even so, although I visited some of the poorest parts of Berlin, I saw nothing so sordid as the poverty and squalor of the poorest districts of Glasgow, Edinburgh, Leeds or London.

"The republic is possessed of enormous material wealth and intellectual resource which have not been destroyed by military defeat. On the contrary, it may soon be apparent that military defeat has but awakened new powers by ridding the life of the German people of the domination of the militarist and imperialist castes.

"The most casual observer could hardly fail to be impressed by the appearance of the country's solid strength in material resources and productive power. In agriculture and forestry the territory through which I travelled is the richest and most highly developed I have ever seen.

"Harvest operations were in full swing, and even here the contrast between German and British methods was most striking.

"In the industrial centres there was no indication of depression or exhaustion; smoking factory chimneys and blazing furnaces pointed in an exactly opposite direction."

RADIO NEWS

WASHINGTON, D.C.—America, the radio hub of the world!

Increased activity in the construction of radio stations throughout the world, for the reception of messages from the United States, promises to add this distinction to the many now held by this country.

This conclusion is made from an account of the world-wide operations undertaken by American radio firms, presented by P. E. Nagle, communications expert of the U.S. Department of Commerce in "Commerce Reports."

"Every American communication company," writes Nagle, "is now actively engaged in the construction of additional facilities and in plans for new routes and methods for the improvement of operation conditions."

Abroad

Before this expansion can be undertaken, however, corresponding stations must be erected abroad. This, says Nagle, is dependent on the development of the radio industry in each foreign country concerned. The fact that radio across the sea is either a government or private monopoly is considered a hindrance to American expansion there.

But most of the Latin-American countries permit the erection of foreign owned radio stations in their territories. Direct communication between Europe and both Americas; therefore, will be possible with the completion of the Buenos Ayres station in about a year, and of a Rio de Janeiro station within two years.

Until these and other high-powered stations are completed, radio business will depend on co-operative efforts of the Navy Department and various commercial companies.

Lines Out

"Regular radio service," reports Nagle "is now maintained by commercial companies between the United States and the Hawaiian Island, Japan, Norway, the United Kingdom, Germany and France, and by land wire distribution from many of these countries to points beyond. In addition the United States Naval Communication Service is handling commercial traffic to the Phillippine Islands, China, Siberia, Siam, Dutch East Indies, portions of Australasia, Italy and Belgium.

"America radio companies re also developing system of radio communications with Central America, with New Orleans as the centre.

"A new high-power station is in course of construction in Poland, another is nearing completion near Christiania, and various others are projected in the smaller European countries. A new high power station has just been completed at St. Assise, France, which is designed to communicate chiefly with the United States, replacing the Lafayette station at Bordeaux. With this station and with those at Christiania and Warsaw, communication will be direct with the United States."

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

In Soudan there is no marriage ceremony, so divorce is unknown.

A chief may marry a whole family of girls at one time if he likes, and put them to work as his slaves, doing all the heavy work.

When he is tired of a wife he may kill her, or retain her as a drudge. The former course is usually followed, for too large an establishment has its disadvantages, and new wives are always available.

HIS EPITAPH

He wasn't rich; he wasn't great,
His place was lowly and obscure,
His clothing was not up-to-date,
His house was tumble-down and poor,
No special honor did he claim,
He never walked with lords and kings,
No glory has illumed his name,
But he was kind to helpless things.

He won no victories to boast,
He made no conquests, waged no strife
He never led a conquering host;
He lived an unpretentious life.
But, when is writ the judgment scroll,
And Time its final verdict brings,
This will be said of him: his soul
Was rich in love for helpless things.
—Clarence E. Flynn.

WAGGING TONGUES

Gossip as well as every kind of evil speaking lives on encouragement. If you don't like dirty yarns, or don't love hearing about your neighbor's faults, scandal mongers and foul-mouthed yarn spinners will learn to avoid your presence. "The north wind driveth away rain, so doth an angry countenance, a backbiting tongue." Next to the whisperer, the man or woman who listens to idle gossip is a menace to society. The man who talks to you about his neighbor will have as much to say about you when your back is turned. When you find yourself enjoying the wag of a vicious tongue, it is time to look inside and ask yourself what manner of man you are. If the spicy story appeals to you there is ground for believing that you are not as good as you ought to be.—Solomon, in Shoe and Leather Journal.

Who shall dwell in thy holy hill?
He that walketh uprightly and worketh righteousness
And speaketh truth in his heart;
He that slandereth not with his tongue,

Nor taketh up a reproach against his neighbor;
In whose eyes a reprobate is despised;
He that putteth not out his money to interest,
Not taketh reward against the innocent.
—Fifteenth Psalm.

The home in some phase or attribute has been a fruitful theme for literature through many centuries of civilized life. The most voluminous as well as the most varied treatment of the same and its finer issues has been at the hand of the poet. This is due to the fact that domesticity is closely bound up with our affectional natures and touches themes of utility, fancy, attachment or association that have become a part and parcel of our lives and cannot be detached from them, even through a long stretch of years. Few writers could find a topic were it not for the innocence of children, the joys of youth, the blush and bloom of maidenhood, the wisdom of beauty, or old age, or the myriad other inspira- of the home.

JEWELLERY NOW CHANGING TOO

By MARIAN HALE.

Styles in gowns and hats have always been subject to change without notice, and have forced us to conform to their vascillating ways.

But there was a time when one could depend upon jewels. Grandmother's bracelets and diamond brooches could be worn as inherited —if inherited.

Now all this is changed. Women have their jewelry changed as frequenty as they change their minds. The wrist watch that satisfied you so completely at Christmas time may need to be entirely reset by Easter.

That's the modern pace. We must keep up with our personalities. No one wears the same personality season after season any more.

Artist Helps Changes.

Ella Tuch, a young artist of ideas, knows women's fickle tastes as well as the changeable qualiity of pearls and the intrinsic value of diamonds. She operates a jewelry business on Fifth Avenue, New York, and has shown her business ability by specializing in resetting jewels.

"The pearl is the universally becoming jewel and the ideal stone for a woman, for it really changes of its own accord to conform to woman's moods," she says.

"But without care pearls deteriorate in quality and hence in value, so the diamond is the favorite jewel with women. Diamonds were once regarded purely as a luxury. Now they are investments. Women buy them as they would stocks and bonds.

Diamond "Exchange" Stable

"The war taught women how easily titles and money disappear, and how a fortune in one country may mean nothing in another, and that masterpieces and old porcelains couldn't be put into a small parcel and carried out in a purse.

"Diamonds represent practically the smallest and most valuable space into which large amounts of money may be concentrated and they can always be disposed of quickly.

ELLA TUCH.

"So I reset many more diamonds than other stones. Recently I did some resetting for a woman in Texas. She was surprised to have the bracelet come out so well, and she said, 'I'll send you up a box of junk from home and you see what you can make for me.'

"When the box arrived it contained $12,000 worth of jewelry the woman had discarded because it was no longer the mode. We worked over the whole supply into modern, wearable things.

"Society buds are having anklets made for the coming season—slender bands of diamonds to be worn about the ankle, under the thin silk stocking.

"I made [illegible] wedding rings. The woman married a decade or so ago when the gold band was stil. stylish, today gets it pruned down and revamped into one of the slender jeweled circlets.

"By retaining the inscription and part of the original foundation she has the satisfaction of knowing the sentiment is still there and the article is modern.

"I have a number of patrons who care nothing for conventional jewelry but want unusual settings and odd stones.

"Women are wearing and collecting more jewels than ever before in our history, but they are also using more discrimination and taste.

WASHINGTON VIEWS NEAR EAST CRISIS WITH MUCH CONCERN.

This Is Indicated By a Despatch of Strong Force of Destroyers to the Dardanelles.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17—(Canadian Press).—The Turkish situation is viewed in Washington and through the United States with much more appreciation than might be imagined in view of the fact that primarily a clash between Kemal Pasha and the British forces would not involve this country.

It is recognized, however, that if open war should break out between the British and the Turks, there are all sorts of dangerous possibilities in it. One of them is that Russia will be drawn into it and that the struggle may assume the proportions of another world war. It has been well understood in Washington for a long time that the Russian army organized by Trotsky is a formidable force. It is not very long ago that, according to very high authority, it numbered a million and a half of men and while it was later reduced to some extent, it is still powerful and none can say to a certainty that it might not be employed on the Turkish side.

At first blush, one would say that by no possibility would the United States be drawn into such a struggle. It cannot be overlooked, however, that the church and the church influences of this country are already uneasy over the renewed aggressions of the Turks, and their outrages against Christians.

Should Canada send forces to such a war, there will be a rush of men, many of them veterans of the recent war, to volunteer for service with the Canadians. Already, much talk of this kind is heard through the United States. Canada has only to give the sign that she would welcome, or not turn down. United States volunteers, and they will enlist by the thousand. Such a proceeding, of course, would have its tendency to draw the United States into the struggle.

The dispatch of a strong force of destroyers to the near east by this country indicates clearly that down at bottom the situation is viewed here with great concern.

Economically, a great war beginning in the Dardenelles area and spreading, no one knows where, would be regarded throughout the U.S. as most fortunate for Europe and for the Americas? Sympathy for the idea of freedom of the Dardenelles on the other hand, is strong.

Not to be overlooked is the fact the Greek-American voters in the United States form a large contingent. They are not without influence with the Harding administration.

If by any chance, the threatened trouble between Great Britain and the Turks should take on the form of an alignment in which Russia's powerful land forces support Kemal Pasha and the Mohammedan sway seems likely to re-establish itself in south-eastern Europe, perhaps with the backing also of Germany, the United States will find itself in a most embarrassing situation. In theory, it would be easy to stand by and preserve strict neutrality. In fact, the pressure on Washington to go in would be tremendous.

RADIO NEWS

WASHINGTON.—Submarines of the United States Navy will soon be equipped with the latest improvements in radio.

These improvements are such, say naval engineers, that they will be capable of sending messages up to a radius of 300 miles in the daytime and much farther at night. This is three times the distance spanned by the radio sets now installed in the submarines.

An order for 59 new sets of the latest type has been issued by the Navy Department. These sets, however, will be formed from old apparatus along a design set up after careful experimentation by the naval radio experts. It will mean a saving of nearly $300,000 in the cost of the sets.

Although detailed specifications of these new radio sets are withheld, it is learned that they are of the latest type of vacuum tube apparatus. Their efficiency, it is said, will vie with those of the German submarines which succeeded in sending messages at night as far as 800 or 1000 miles to their bases.

The new apparatus on the American submarines will be able to receive long-wave signals while the craft is submerged to a depth of about 20 feet.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid somach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretions or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia, at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestent. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin or artificial digestents.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid milk or citrate and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

MOTOR NEWS

NEW YORK.—Substitutes for gasoline are still being used to relieve millions of the gullible of their life earnings.

That the number of victims has not been reduced, in spite of recent disclosures, is maintained by Dr. Raymond F. Bacon, formerly head of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research of Pittsburgh.

"In investigation of methods of charlatans and crack-brained inventors in the petroleum field," said Dr. Bacon, "it has been generally found that whatever motor fuel there was produced was put into the apparatus by some sleight-of-hand process."

Peat Fuel

Motor fuel from peat has been the most popular goal of inventors. A useful oil can undoubtedly be obtained from peat, is Dr. Bacon's view, but it would cost several dollars a gallon. This has been the chief bait for the gullible and many have been caught in the net. Other kinds of fuel also have been "discovered" but they have all turned out to be impracticable or sheer frauds.

"Some of the inventors of gasoline processes foist upon the public a mixture of kerosene to which is added a little ether. The effect of the ether is to give a quicker ignition, but as this fluid is very costly, motor fuel of this kind really costs more than gasoline.

Chance for Change

"Undoubtedly, cheaper substitutes for gasoline will be made eventually. At the present time there are mixtures of alcohol and tar oils which, although more expensive than gasoline, have many good qualities.

"It should be borne in mind that all the large petroleum refining companies are spending many thousands of dollars in research work to find a lower priced motor fuel. Any inventor could interest the large corporations and reap a rich reward in royalties if he could convince them that his process would make gasoline at 18 or 20 cents a gallon.

"Any person who is considering the purchase of the patent rights of a process for making cheap gasoline would do well to consult a petroleum chemist."

WILMINGTON, Del.—Peril of carbon monoxide gas poisoning from the exhausts of automobiles will be eliminated with use of a machine invented by Guy B. Taylor, chemist of the du-Pont company, and H. S. Taylor, associate professor of chemistry at Princeton University.

Announcement of this invention has been made by the American Chemical Society. The machine is designed for the detection of deadly gases. It is applicable especially to automobile exhaust.

Carbon-monoxide gas has been the cause of death to many a motorist. Working on the engine, with the garage shut against fresh air, the motorist would be quickly overcome by the fumes. The gas is especially dangerous in that it cannot be detected by the senses.

The new machine, it is said, not only detects the gas, but records it continuously while there is the faintest sign of it in the air.

Italy is entirely dependent on her countries for coal.

The Child in School

Children in school need a great deal of attention, especially those just starting to school.

It cannot be stated too emphatically that morning and afternoon recesses are an absolute necessity in the lower grades. It is easy to make the mistake of working children too hard.

The common punishment of making children stay after school is a menace to the child's health. How much better it would be to enforce discipline during the school hours, and then let the children run free in the sunlight and fresh air, as they should, to maintain their bodily health.

Night study, too, should be limited to the higher grades.

Children under 12 should be in bed at eight o'clock, and the short hour after the evening meal may well be spent in story-reading or games.

It is noticeable that girls and boys who bring books home every night have frail bodies and over-developed minds.

A failing of parents is to coax their children to do "stunts" for visitors, and then comment on the wonder of it in the children's hearing. This makes the child self-conscious, nervous and unchildlike. Boldness is the logical outcome of "pushing" children, at home or in public.

The same principle applies in piano playing, singing, and most of all, in dancing.

Children should be treated as children until they are old enough to go out of that class. If they are not, their health will be taxed too greatly and they will have highly strung nervous systems to nurse in later life.

TOWN AND COUNRTY

God made the country and man made the town.
What wonder then, that health and virtue, gifts
That can alone make sweet the bitter draught
That life holds out to all, should most abound
And least be threatened in the fields and groves.

—William Cowper.

FISH THAT WHISTLED

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—A fish that whistled and blew itself up when tickled is to be presented to the New York Aquarium. It was scooped out of the water at Blue point, N.Y., by Clarence Seaman of Patchogue. It was about four inches long, had one eye, a head like an owl and three tails which it waggled all at once, and its body was covered with horns. Seaman said it got so angry when he pulled it out of the water it blew itself up, whistled three times and expired.

Every child has a right to a happy childhood. The recollection of a sunny childhood is an auspicious inheritance and a splendid preparation for the strain and burden of life. In China the first four or five years of a girl's life are a continual agony. All the children in India are born old. Go among the submerged masses in any of our great cities, and you will find children barren and desolate beyond description. To have this joy crushed out of a little life is a sorrowful tragedy that will shadow all its future. Gray skies will often weep above them in the after years; see to it that, so far as possible, these early years are unclouded. Let them have their childhood.

Are you easy in your mind about Mother and the Children?

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 17.—(Special.) — Further recovery in sterling exchange, renewed weakness in Liberty Bonds and a series of puzzling variations in the stock market here were the principal happenings in the financial situation to-ady.

Above $4.44 sterling stood at its highest since midsummer. Although still off 7 cents in the pound, from the top of last June, it was up almost exactly a corresponding amount from the September low. Just when sales of sterling to create dollar credit available or the first payment of Great Britain's war debt were completed, is something that has not been divulged. But the general understanding is that they were in progress during the three months of the middle of June or September when sterling rates were coming down, that they ceased not quite a month ago, and that the recovery in exchange since then has been the natural expression of the markets relief.

Trading in the new U. S. 4 1-4's of 1952 began on the stock exchange with most of the transactions either at, or a trifle above par. At the same time selling of the Libertys on a rather large scale persisted. Undoubtedly there has been a certain amount of swapping of the older Governmen loans for the new by investment interests preferring the longer security but this sort of selling has scarcely been more than a minor influence in the recent decline in the former. That the weakness in Libertys as well as the arrest in the upward movement in the bond market generally is incidental to the greater demand for funds for business use, may be taken as virtually certain. The banks have for some time been reducing their holdings of Liberty and other securities to meet the incrased demands of their commercial customers, and this liquidation seems to have been particularly heavy during the last week.

Outside of the Mexican Oils, a few of the railway shares and some pool specialties, less interest was displayed in proceedings on the stock exchange. Take the general list, prices moved with considerable indecision.

The sensational move in the Mexican Oils appeared to have something more behind it than mere professional manipulation. The story of a special distribution of Pan-American stocks was first heard nearly a week ago, as it has impressed the street as logical because of the well known desire of the controlling interests to induce the minority holders of Mexican Petroleum to convert their stock into Pan-American B. shares. Offers to exchange at various ratios, the one to check for the other, have not accomplished the purchase. But if the holders of Pan-American were promised an extra dividend, which holders of Mexican Petroleum would not get unless they turned in their stocks, the end in view might be achieved.

Outrunning The Marathoner

WHEN 10,000 ancient Greeks drove the Persian hordes from the plains of Marathon, they at once dispatched a courier to Athens to bear intelligence of their victory.

It took the messenger hours to reach the city, and so breathless was he that, as the people thronged eagerly about him to hear the news, he merely grasped, "Victory is ours" —and fell dead. That was several hundred years B.C.

To-day, the papers of the world would get the news almost simultaneously with its happening, slap extras on their presses, and shortly the thrilling story would be in the hands of some millions of readers.

Papers have supplanted the courier, multiplied his effectiveness and increased his speed a hundred-fold.

Not only does the newspaper make public the news in the world of events, but it also keeps our information up-to-date on every article of human need, whether food, clothing, household appliances, necessities or luxuries. The latter news is found in the advertisements.

Want More Power.

"What we are vitally interested in is more power," said F. Mason, Deputy-Reeve of Oshawa. "We are large consumers of power in Oshawa, and we are somewhat alarmed about the situation." Oshawa, he said, was paying $20 to $21 for power. It is not a question of $2 or $3 extra, it is a question of having an ample supply of power."

Witness understood Hydro had a scheme to bring Chippawa power east. "If that could be done and St. Lawrence power developed, the Central Ontario district would be in a very happy position." They could not, of course, expect to get power form these sources as cheaply as from the central system at present.

Mr. Gregory observed that there seemed no prospect of an early St. Lawrence power development.

'How would you like to be taken out of the Central Ontario system and hitched to the Niagara system?" asked the chairman. "That would leave power you now take available for the rest of Central Ontario."

"I would like to know the price of Niagara power in Oshawa before I answer that definitely," said Mr. Mason.

If it is a matter of only a couple of dollars a horse power it is neither here nor there compared to the closing down of industries for weeks on account of power shortage."

BRITISH PAY FIRST INTEREST ON LOAN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press.—A check for $50,000,000 drawn to order of the Treasurer of the United States, was deposited yesterday by J. P. Morgon and Company in the Federal Reserve Bank as the first payment on account of interest on British war loans. The British Government has been sending large amounts of gold and United States dollars to the Morgan firm, its fiscal agents, for many months in anticipation of this payment.

To-day, J. P. Morgan and Company presented a large number of checks and United States Treasury certificates maturing to-day to a member bank of the Federal Reserve System and received in exchange the check for $50,000,000, which was deposited with the Federal Reserve Bank.

Late American Ambassador to Turkey Lifts the Lid for Benefit of Canadian Club.

TORONTO, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—If the United States had accepted the Turkish mandate when requested to do it, it would have prevented all present difficulties in the Near East, declared Henry Morgenthau, late American Ambassador to Turkey, and outstanding authority on Turkish affairs, in addressing a big Canadian Club audience at the King Edward Hotel yesterday. Rarely has a Canadian Club speaker been accorded the enthusiastic and whole-hearted welcome which the crowded ball-room gave to Morgenthau yesterday. Hailed by the president as the man who more than any one else had assisted in maintaining friendly Anglo-American relations, Mr. Morgenthau launched into a discussion of the "unspeakable Turk." His works and his aspirations which for its directness and frankness won him tremendous applause and three rousing cheers at the wind-up of his address. He spoke of Britain's stand in the Near East crisis in terms of the highest commendation.

SUCCESS HABITS

By Jean Rich

Success is a combination of good habits. Here are some to cultivate:

Wear a smile.

Eat regularly, slowly and moderately.

Never be too busy to be polite.

Learn to control your tongue and your temper.

Say goodby to the worry habit.

Dare to be original.

Keep in tune with your job.

Never stifle your conscience.

Never sacrifice accuracy for speed

Never mix personalities and business.

Never give way to pity.

Be friendly always, but never familiar.

Be a teamworker

Look ahead, not backward.

WHEN I AM OLD

When I am old I would like to be
From selfish thoughts and actions free,
Mellowed—not soured—by the passing years,
That have had their share of trials and tears.
That is how I would like to be
When I am—well, say seventy-three.

When I am old I would like to be
From selfish bigotry quite free,
Kind in thought, in word and deed,
Just to all, whate er their creed,
Quick to act the "friend in need;"
That is how I would like to be
When I am—well, say seventy-three.

When I am old I would like to be
From selfish murmuring quite free,
Quietly waiting, without a fear,
For the "call" that I'd know I soon must hear,
With a heart still young and a conscience clear,
And feel that people thought of me
As a "kind old soul," at seventy-three.

stated that you, Sir, possess the complete confidence of the people who worship at Knox. We are thankful for the happy relati. that exist between you and your people, and for the success which has attended your ministry here. We realize that the demands on the time of a minister of the Gospel are many and varied. He rejoices with those who rejoice and makes his people's sorrows his own. Some may regard one phase of a minister's work as more inspired than another but most will agree that the services on the Sabbath day hold a permanent place and that if the message delivered is to be fresh, full and inspiring, the minister must have each week a period or periods of uninterrupted study and recreation. But in addition to the Sunday services there are the various weekday activities that take time. Then there are the demands that require much time such as visiting the homes where sickness lies or where perchance the Angel of Death is hovering .Your well known devotion in such cases has not escaped our notice and so we have thought of what we could do like Aaaron and Hur of old to hold up your hands in your work. In order therefore to economize your time and to conserve your energy friends of yours within and without the bounds of Knox, have made it possible for us to present to you this car, which we trust will be of real service to you, and which will, we believe, enable you still more effectively to carry on the Master's work in this part of His Vineyard.

Signed on behalf of Knox Church.
John. C. Waldie,
J. W. Buyers,
E. Benson.

The key of the car was presented to Mr. MacKenzie by Mr. Rob. Mulligan, treasurer of the church, and three cheers and a tiger were heartily given in his honor.

A Great Surprise.

In his speech of acceptance, Mr. MacKenzie expressed the great surprise he felt that the people of Knox should conceive this idea, and should with the assistance of friends carry it out in such a generous manner. He spoke of the great privilege he enjoyed in being fortunate enough to be the pastor of such a people. The progress of Knox was only possible because the people kept in mind above all else that the work of Knox is the Lord's work.

This generous gift was not only a personal tribute but a recognition of the importance of the pastoral work of the congregation and the necessity of providing effective means for the promotion of that work without undue expenditure of a minister's energy.

Mr. MacKnzie said that he had not words sufficiently fine to express his own and his wife's gratitude for the loyalty, affection and thoughtful provision made for him by the people, and expressed the hope that Knox would profit by this generosity beyond the expectation of those who had so unselfishly planned it, and enthusiastically carried it out.

Mr. MacKenzie was then requested to get into the Sedan, and in company with his wife, and Mrs. McPherson and Mrs. Watt took the car on its first trip.

Knox church has the honor of being the first Protestant church in Peterboro to present its pastor with a car.

It is estimated that there are approximately 1,000,000 children with speech defects in the United States.

Peterboro in the form of a combination school.

Kiwanian Walter Stocker, said that as a member of the City Council he was prepared to let the rate-payers know that he stood four square on the technical school question. He pointed to the wonderful success of the technical colleges in Bradford and Huddersfield, England.

Kiwanian Rev. James Rollins said he was strongly of the opinion that the townships should bear the cost of educating township pupils in city schools of any kind, once they had passed the entrance. Kiwanian Dr G) L. Macdougall, said that his experience with school matters was that it is within the province of any city to collect not only the maintenance cost but the capital cost of building the school, per pupil from the township from where they originate.

Mr. Rollins said if that was the case the law was not operating that way in this particular district.

Kiwanian J. A. McKone said that so long as the Board of Education excluded outside, pupils the Board could not assess the townships for a portion of the costs. We must accept all the pupils who come to us or keep them out, said Mr. McKone.

In conclusion, rM. McKone pointed out that the sum set aside by the provincial government in the form of grants, was running out and there is only enough left for three more schools". Peterboro will have to step lively if we want to get a grant", said Mr. McKone.

Champion at 15

Aged 15, in height about a tie with the club he drives 200 yards with, on an average, Johnny O'Melia, caddie and high school student, is crowned city golf champion of Bridgeport, Conn.

Johnny won his title in a recent tournament in which he outclassed the tried veterans of the municipal links at Bridgeport.

It was no fluke. Johnny's a sensational player—just the kind that Gene Sarazen, present national open champion, was when he was assistant professional at Brooklawn, in the same city.

And it was in a characteristic Sarazen frame of mind that Johnny defeated Jim Symington, a seasoned golfer of mature years, over the city course, 9 up and 8 to go. The day before the boy had beaten Joe Ciuci, a youngster who has made a name himself in national competitions.

Johnny offers no explanation for his success further than that he has adhered strictly to the instructions of Dan Carten, Bridgeport "pro," who early recognized the fine form shown by the high school sophomore, who has spent many hours showing him the game's fine points, and who predicts that he will be rated soon among other caddies who, like Sarazen, Ouimet and the rest have reached the heights already.

Soft Ball League Game Last Evening Results in a Decisive Victory For the Engineers.

The Engineers swamped the Quaker Oats nine 18 to 2 in a soft ball league game at the Armoury last evening. Langley did the twirling for the winners and turned in a fine game with seven strikeouts to his credit. He held his opponents in every inning except the sixth. Turner started on the rubber for the Quakers but the engineers had little difficulty in solving his curves for they hit him hard, scoring 14 runs in the first three innings. He was relieved by Gilchrist in the sixth. The relief twirler showed lots of steam but was unable to save the game.

The teams were:

Engineers—McCarney, rf; Helson, 3b; Langley, p; Frost, 1b; Metheral, 2b; Burgess, ss; Munro, c; Jackson, ss; Caruthers, lf.

NINETEEN MINORS CAUGHT BY DRAFT

Commissioner Landis Announces Names of Those Who Will Be Taken By the Major Leagues.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.— (Canadian Press.) — Only nineteen minor league players were requisitioned at the annual major league drafting meeting held here Sunday, the National League taking the larger share of the youngsters. Only two American League Clubs—New York and Washington—submitted names, Washington taking three and New York two players.

The draft list, as announced yesterday at the office of K. M. Landis, Baseball Commissioner, follows:

WEST WILL HAVE 2 SENIOR LEAGUES

Manitoba Hockey League Will Have Four Teams and Winnipeg League Three.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press)—Two senior hockey leagues will operate in Manitoba, the same as last year, according to plans laid down by the Manitoba Amateur Hockey Association at a lengthy session held here during the weekend to endeavor to straighten out the senior tangle. At a previous meeting of the association it had been decided to have but one league composed of Brandon, Selkirk, Victorias and Tigers of Winnipegs, leaving the Winnipegs and Falcons out. But at the regular meeting of the association the resolution was voted down leaving the Manitoba league with four teams, and the Winnipeg League with three teams to continue if they wish.

A request from Fort William and Port Arthur to play in the Manitoba Association was received favorably and their representatives were told to have the Thunder Bay League apply to the Canadian body to be allowed to play with Manitoba.

COMMUNISTS RECOGNIZE PRIVATE INTERESTS

MOSCOW, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press)—Private interest in Russia has received further recognition by the Communists. The government has granted permission to private persons to participate by their capital, in the organization of a Trade and Industrial Bank.

The institution which is now being organized and will being its operations in November will be a private limited company. Fifty one per cent of the shares are assigned to the founders, the Supreme Economic Council, while the remainder will be covered by public subscriptions by the trusts and syndicates and private persons.

The new bank is going to finance industry and transport on a broad commercial basis. Private capital is not only allowed to participate, but guarantee is given to place its representatives on the board of directors of the bank.

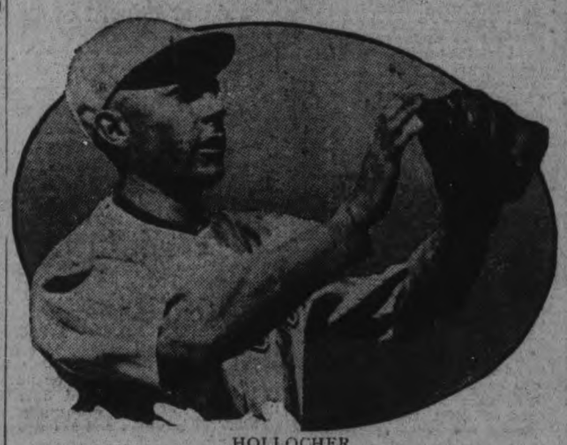
Play Your Game



HOLLOCHER.

By BILLY EVANS.

If there could be such a thing as a duplicate of Honus Wagner, then Charley Hollocher of the Chicago Cubs fills the bill.

At least, such is the opinion of veteran players and critics who saw the "Flying Dutchman" gobble in grounders at shorstop and who have followed Hollocher as the Cubs' shorstop.

Hollocher, like Wagner, seems to be in perpetual motion. Instead of digging the spikes deep into the dirt he swerves and sways as the pitcher is delivers the ball, and allows himself to get a running start on all balls hit in his direction.

The difference between Hollocher and Wagner is found only in physical figures.

Honus was a ponderous athlete; broad shoulders, a chest the size of a heavyweight wrestler, and a pair of hands that would have fitted more comfortably in a ham skin than a pair of gloves.

Hollocher reaches but five feet eight inches and weighs in the neighborhood of 150—but he's all muscles and steel.

Hollocher has improved probably more than any player in the National League this season, and those on the inside say that Bill Killefer, manager of the Cubs, is responsible for the change in his shortstopper.

Hollocher was a mighty good shortstop before Killefer took over the management of the Cubs. Under Killefer he has played remarkable ball. Killefer has handled him differently from any other Cub manager.

Killefer has played on the same teams with Hollocher and when he became manager, his advice to his shortstop was short and sweet.

"You know more about playing shortstop than any one else on this club. Don't take instructions from anybody. Simply play your game and do it naturally."

"Play your game" was the best bit of advice ever slipped to Hollocher. From a .275 hitter he is batting well over .300 and is regarded as the most brilliant fielder in the National League.

HALF KIDDIE KAR HALF PUSHMOBILE

"She looked like a cross between a kiddie kar and a pushmobile."

It was one of the participants in the Labor Day Pikes Peak race describing the home-made gas-gargling contrivance with which Noel Bullock of North Platte, Neb., won the contest in 19:50 4-5 for the 12 1-4 mile course, at an average grade of 7 per cent and with 147 difficult curves in it.

This compares with a speed record of 18.24.7 set by Mulford in 1916, but Mulford had good going. Part of the course was ankle-deep in slush when Bullock covered it, and runninng extra hazardous.

"But a lot that kid cared for risks!" said the driver already quoted.

"The slush slowed his up a bit, but it wasn't his fault.

"From start to finish he kept the throttle wide open. What'd he care for curves! Not a kopeck! Let her skid! That was his motto. One place his left hind wheel went right over the side of a place he'd have fallen a mile off from if she'd kept going. Did that bother him any? Not, so you could notice it.

"He didn't know the course, either. The rest of us had studied it. He'd been over it once in his flivver.

"And the thing he was driving!

"Well, the fact is, it was a right down first-class car, but I'll defy anybody to know it, without taking it apart and looking inside, to find out what it was built like. Paint? It didn't have any. The frame used to belong to an old delivery truck, and at that it had been junked as a wornout one. And all the rest of it, except the tires, came of a scrap heap.

"All told, I understand the boy invested about $400 in the raw material he put into the thing, but I'll be ding-busted if it looked it. I'll bet you couldn't have found a man to pay above $100 for the whole outfit, if looks had been all he'd judged by.

"And what do you suppose was all that kid said as he climbed out, after the finish —

"'That'd be a bad road to make a fast run over in the dark, wouldn't it?'"

WALKED 500 MILES WHEN 84 YEARS OLD.

Most men who'd just undertaken to walk from Buffalo to New York would consider the trip long enough in itself, without adding a few extra miles for good measure.

Not so, however, with Edward Payton Weston, famed for more than two generations as a mighty pedestrian, and now in his eighty-fourth year.

Four hundred and fifty miles was the journey Weston had mapped out for himself. He wanted it to be an even 500, so he added on the odd 50, partly as he went along, partly after his arrival within the limits of Greater New York.

Weston left Buffalo Sept. 4 and allowed himself 30 days for the trip, without walking on Sundays. He finished two days ahead of his schedule.

The old man calculates that he's walked 85,000 miles. "I did it," he says "for the sake of Young America—to spread the doctrine of keeping well by walking, instead of trusting to doctors.

BATTLING SIKI WILL MEEK JOE BECKETT

Battle For Championship of Europe Will Be Staged in London November 23.

PARIS, Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press)—The next fight in which Battling Siki will take part will be staged in London, November 23. On that date the Senegaless conqueror of Georges Carpentier will meet Joe Beckett, the English heavyweight championship of Europe.

This was decided on yesterday when Major J. Arnold Wilson, English promoter of boxing contests, obtained the signatures of both M. Hellers, Siki's manager, and Siki, to a contract under which Siki will receive £4,550 for his end of the purse. Siki returned to Paris from Holland yesterday morning and had a long talk with Manager Hellers prior to the signing of the contract. The difficulties which had threatened to separate the manager and the fighter had been smoothed over by an announcement that the French Boxing Commission was inaugurating an inquiry as to why Siki obtained only 75,0000 francs as his share in the purse for fighting Carpentier, when the winner's end was advertised to be 200,000 francs.

Siki had signed a contract with Hellers, who is charged with the task of looking after the affairs of the Senegal fighter until May 30, 1923. Hellers, not having heard definitely from Tex Rickard with regard to a fight for his charge in the United States, decided to accept the offer of Major Wilson for a bout in London with Beckett, who last Thursday night in the English capital stowed away Frank Moran, American heavyweight in seven rounds.

Today Siki told the correspondent he weighed 180 pounds and that he had decided henceforth to fight at that poundage.

The African fighter does not conceal his lack of desire to meet Harry Wills or Kid Norfolk, the American negro battlers, but through Hellers he has expressed a wish that "my coming victory over Beckett shall be considered sufficient qualification to meet Jack Dempsey."

MACHINE GUNNERS LOSE TO KNIGHTS

Final Score in Soft Ball Set-to Was 19 to 15 For the K. of C. Nine.

The K. of C. nine grabbed the large end of a 19 to 15 score in a soft ball game with the Machine Gunners last evening. "Abbie" Rose proved the batting star of the game with a homer to his credit. Percy did the work on the rubber for the Machine Gunners and after being walloped for fourteen runs in the first three innings, eight of them in the third, he settled down and pitched a good game. Murphy, who pitched for the K. of C. did just the opposite. He turned in a fine game for the first six innings and then weakened in the last three. He did not weaken enough however to lose the game though the Gunners at times showed signs of unexpected strength.

The teams were:

Machine Gunners— Galvin, c; Percy, p; Taylor, 1b; Gilders, 2b; Nicholls, ss; Simmons, rf; Kendry, ss; Wise, lf.

K. of C.—M. Sheehy, 1b; Primeau, ss; O'Hearn, c; Gradly, lf; Rose, ss; Rutherford, 2b; Murphy, p; R. Sheehy, 3b; Wolfe, rf.

Score by innings:

Machine Gunners ..... 205001412—15
Knights ..... 33801031x—19

BIG COLLEGE NO LONGER SUPREME IN FOOTBALL

By BO McMILLIN.

Centre College at Danville, Ky., is perhaps the most talked about college in the country.

Football put Centre College on the map.

Five years ago only a select few knew there was such an institution Today it is mentioned as frequently as Harvard, Yale or Princeton.

Centre College broke into big print four years ago when it decisively defeated the University of West Virginia. Earlier in the year West Virginia had surprised the football world by its defeat of Princeton, one of the strongest teams that ever represented the "Orange and Black."

Last fall Centre put over the big thrill of the season by its 6 to 0 defeat of Harvard.

Centre's rise to fame in the football world has been typical of the success that a great many of the colleges have enjoyed in recent years.

The new football featuring the forward pass has helped to pave the way for the smaller colleges. No longer is there such a premium on beef and reserves.

Speed is the keynote of the new game. It calls for fast, well conditioned players. Strategy supplants brawn.

However, if you go back into the history of the sensational rise of most of the smaller college teams you will find there is some leading spirit who has done much to put them over.

A good illustration of this can be given through the recent success of my alma mater. The man behind it all there was Robert L. Myers, a Centre alumnus. Many have the impression that this team just happened or built itself, but such is not true.

In 1916 Myers took it upon himself to encourage a few students from his home town high school to go with him to Centre, where he had voluntarily offered his services as coach without renumeration.

Among this crowd were several All-State high school men and others who later made All-America and All-Southern selections before leaving college. The man working at this had visions of a great football team at Centre Colleg and through his wonderful personality and untiring efforts a great organization was perfected.

One of the biggest factors on a successful football team is the feeling and relation of the players among thmselves. In this Myers stressed special attention. The men played and fought as a band of brothers. There was not a man on the team who would not go through fire for his college or coach.

This is something that is usually lacking at the large institutions. At a small college the players are grouped in a few small buildings. Every man knows every other man on the campus. There is a feeling of fellowship among the students. At all college activities these men are being constantly thrown together. Their relationship is in common.

At the large schools a football team is more like some mechanical device. There is never the fight and the spirit shown as where all the men know each other and are like one big family.

The high school athlete is beginning to recognize the advantages of the smaller institutions and in this way better material is being found there.

These same smaller schools are realizing the advantages of good clean athletics to the growing boy and are securing more capable men as coaches.

I believe it is due to these reasons more than to the change in the rules favoring the open style of play that is bringing the small institutions in a position to complete with the larger ones on the football field.

Sensitive Device to Locate Submarines By Sound

HARVEY C. HAYES.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 7.—Ocean depths no longer will hold their secrets.

Within a few years the world will know the contour of the undersea mountain ranges, plains and valleys as well as the dry land itself.

This will be made possible by use of a new sounding device perfected for the United States navy by Harvey C. Hayes, physicist of the navy experiment station here. With this device it will be possible to map the ocean floor as accurately as the geographical survey maps the hills and valleys of the land.

Of more immediate practical use, the instrument enables a navigator to sound the depth of water through which he is passing at full speed. The old, laborious method of "heaving the lead" will be abolished.

Radio.

Hayes' invention is the outgrowth of experiments conducted during the war on sound-detectors for locating German submarines. In it is embodied a principle of sound detection and amplification that has developed radio to its present high state. The vacuum tube amplifier, with its ability to receive the most sensitive sound impulse, plays an important part in this device.

The method of Hayes' system of depth-measuring is that of creating a sound on the ship and receiving its echo from the bottom. Knowing the velocity of sound in water and keeping tab on the time between the creation of the sound and reception of its echo, the depth can be accurately ascertained.

To assure accuracy, the device has been made so sensitive that the time interval can be recorded to one one-thousandth of a second.

Tests.

A series of tests was recently made from Newport to Gibraltar. The outline of the bottom of the sea was minutely recorded. Depths which had never before been fathomed were reached by this device. Another test may be made soon in "Sigsbee's Deep," an unfathomed area in the Gulf of Mexico just north of the Yucatan Peninsula.

Before taking up sound research for the Navy Department, Hayes was head of the physics department at Swarthmore College. He was one of the three physicists called by the navy during the war to undertake the work of locating German submarines by sound. His home is at Peterboro, N. H., but he divides his time between the naval experiment stations at New London, Conn., and Annapolis.

GETS MEDAL FOR BRAVERY

Saved a Young Woman From Being Crushed to Death Beneath Moving Train.

PENDLETON, Ont., Oct. 17.—The Royal Humane Society's bronze medal for gallantry in saving the life of Miss Amelia Boudreault from beneath a moving C.P.R. passenger train on February 11 last, was presented Samuel Jacob Dixon, of this place yesterday The presentation was made by Assistant General Superintendent Uren, of Montreal, who, in a laudatory speech, congratulated the recipient upon his courageous action.

H. B. Spencer, superintendent of the Ottawa division, was also present. The event, which took place in the Orange Hall, amidst townspeople and friends, was presided over by Rev. Mr. Oliver, of the local Presbyterian Church. In presenting the medal to Dixon, Mr. Uren, when pinning the decoration on Dixon's breast, said: This gathering has been arranged in honor of one who by his promptitude, courage and presence of mind, saved the life of a young woman who otherwise would have been crushed beneath a moving passenger train. The Association, of which the Royal Canadian Humane Association is a branch, was founded in England in 1776 by two prominent physicians, and since that time has done extensive work in various branches for the purpose of rendering first aid. It has upwards of 280 depots throughout the United Kingdom. It was on February 11 when train 50, which had stopped at Pendleton Station, and the usual station work had been completed, and was proceeding westbound, that Miss Boudreault, who was late in arriving to take the train, attempted to get aboard while it was in motion. She grasped the handrail of one of the coaches toward the rear of the train, but was unable to gain entrance as the vestibule doors were closed. It was while in this position, clinging to the handrail with the train moving, that the attention of Mr. Dixon was drawn. He immediately hurried to her assistance, but before reaching her she fell between the platform and the train, her head coming in contact with the truck of a coach and rendering her unconscious, thus throwing her across the rail. Mr. Dixon pulled Miss Boudreault clear of the fast approaching rear truck of a coach and held her in a safe position until the train had passed. Officials of the C.P.R. do not overlook such acts of bravery, and when full particulars were obtained, notified the Royal Humane Association, who have awarded the medal in recognition of your gallantry, and which I am proud to have the honor, on behalf of that worthy Association and the Canadian Pacific, to present. Permit me to congratulate you on this splendid recognition of your noble deed, and may you live long and prosperous.

POLITICAL CRISIS NEARS CONCLUSION

LONDON, Oct. 17.—(Associated Press).—The meeting of Unionists called for Thursday at the Carlton Club will be of great importance as it is almost certain to bring the political crisis to a head. Until its decision, whether to break up the Coalition or stand by Prime Minister Lloyd George is known, the situation is not expected to develop materially in any direction. The attendance at the meeting must be confined to Unionist members of the House of Commons and Unionist peers who are members of the Government, thus it will not be representative of the entire party.

Speculation is rife to-day as to what will follow the meeting. Some observers suppose that if Austin Chamberlain gets his vote of confidence, Mr. Lloyd George will take advantage of this encouragement to dissolve Parliament and arrange an immediate election. On the other hand, if the Unionist leader is turned down by the meeting he is expected to resign, being accompanied in this step by some of the Coalition Unionist Cabinet members, notably Lord Chancellor Birkenhead and Sir Robert Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer. Such a result, it is assumed, would lead to a break in the Cabinet.

AT THE ROYAL.

"A SELF-MADE MAN" IS A BIG SUCCESS

William Russell, the Fox star, is to be congratulated upon his latest picture, "A Self-Made Man", which began a three days run at the Royal Theatre last night. Not only has he an excellent story in which are mingled fine comedy and dramatic incident, but his personal work is equally good in both phases. He scored a big success at the opening. The direction of the picture is above the average, the settings are particularly well done, and the cast well chosen. The actress who plays the sweetheart in the story is Renee Adoree. Her portrayal is truly delightful She is an ideal foil for the husky star.

No one should neglect an opportunity to see "A Self-Made Man". It has some exciting scenes — among them a boxing match. There are also many deft touches of delightful comedy, and an absorbing love theme. The entire production reflects painstaking care

"The Siren Call", a strong feature picture of the North, with some exceptionally beautiful scenery, and Dorothy Dalton as the heroine, is showing at the Capitol Theatre just now. A virile tale of the waste places it pictures the career of Charlotte Brent, the dancer and star attraction of Gore's Casino, a notorious rendezvous of the north country. Her husband, whose identity remains a secret, is employed in the same establishment and carries on a secret love affair with a blonde beauty. Into this embroglio steps Ralph Stevens, and, in the manner possible only on the silver screen, turns the somewhat flashy dancer into a demure, appealing beauty who wins his heart forthwith. An abrupt action of the Vigilantas of the town sets fire to the Casino and drives out its habitues to the river. Later, we see Charlotte conducting a store in the wilds, with her husband brooding over his other love, and Stevens providentially turning up to see her occasionally. Charlotte has a small charge in the baby given her by "the Wolf", Jean Beauregard, which she watches over zealously. Her husband, in a final act of brooding passion, decided to leave her and the store to the mercies of the Wolf, and departs with the latter's boat. There is a furious struggle in midwater, on the edge of the boiling rapids when Stevens pursues and attacks him, and a tense scene in the cabin where the Wolf approaches Charlotte, and where she kills him. There is a happy ending to this interesting picture, which has plenty of action and fire in its swift movement.

Snub Pollard and his balloon house inject a distinctly new element in the comedy picture situation with this programme, the vagaries of the house which is attached to a huge gas-bag in mid-air, with portable bathtubs and disappearing ranges in its small interior, affording plenty of amusement for a tickled audience.

AT THE GRAND.

THE DUMBELLS.

The long-heralded "Dumbells Revue of 1922" will be given its first local presentation at the Grand Theatre, Friday and Saturday evening next, when the Dumbells return for a limited engagement of 2 days.

This revue is an entirely different musical comedy entertainment from anything the Dumbells have given here before. With the exception of the opening prologue, there is no war material. The satires and burlesques are based upon things of present-day interest, while twenty of the twenty-two song numbers were written specially for this production. Among the song hits are "The Dumbell Melody", "The Fashion Parade", "Tally-Ho", "Joshua", "Bolshies", "Mandalay", "Widows are Wonderful", "Kiss Me Again", "Girls of My Dreams", "Incense", "I'm a Daddy", "Old Dutch", "Say You'll Not Forget", "Will O' The Wisp", "Something Doing Over the Way", "Coal Black Mammy O' Mine", and a half a dozen quartette numbers. The new revue has been given a handsome stage mounting and rich costuming. The action is divided into two acts and twenty different scenes. The entire presentation has been staged in a manner to compare favorably with the biggest revues of London and the Dumbells expect to play in "Blighty" before New Year.

YOUTHFUL FROCKS.

Very young girls are making themselves very easy to look at by wearing charmingly simple gowns of white georgette or satin with girdles of silver ribbon or cords of crystal beads.

BEAUTY.

RUGBY PRACTICE TO BE HELD EARLIER

Shortness of the Day Makes It Necessary For the Squad to Turn Out at 5 O'clock.

Monday afternoon saw 20 men out to practce iin the Central Park, at 5.30. As the days are getting shorter the coach has asked everyone to be out as soon after five o'clock as possible. It is hoped that there will be enough on hand each day not later than 5.15 to have two complete line-ups so that more playing practice can be indulged in.

The squad is shaping well, but there is lots of room for some good men who have not put in an appearance as yet. The recruits from the Crescent team are few, but there are many of the Southenders, who would strengthen the line-up, and the management would like to see them out this week. There are also several good players in town, who have not turned out with any of the city league teams, who would prove valuable, and who are needed to make the city's team as strong as possible when it gets playing scheduled games.

The boys are all enthusiastic and putting great energy into their practices. Theer will be a hard fight for every position. Batten is tackling well and is being worked out as centre, but he hasn't it all his own way yet. McLeod looks like a heady player. He handles the ball well and kicks to good advantage, and is a likely looking quarter back.

Brooks, who played quarter for the Excesiors is somewhat handicapped with an injured nose, but will soon be back in the game.

There were 8 trys for the back division on hand and all going strong. Turnbull on the line has the weight and with a little more experience should prove a valuable man. He is a willing worker and never misses a practice.

The work out opened in the park and when it got too dark to see the ball the lights were turned on in the armouries, where passing and catching the ball an dsignals were practiced.

Hon. Pres., A. W. McPherson and Hon. Vice-Pres. George McDonald, were both on hand, which was appreciated by both the players and coach.

MADME LUGRIN FAHEY,
Well known dramatic soprano, who will be heard in George street Methodist church on Friday, October 20th.

SUCCESSFUL FISHING TRIP

The Cleveland party, Les. Nunamaker, Stan. Covaleskie and "Hank" Miller, who have been spending an enjoyable and successful holiday at Idylwyld, Rice Lake, returned home on Sunday. The ball players had a great time pulling in 'lunge, and they paid a high tribute to the hospitality of Mr. T. H. Hooper.

Nunamaker is to manage the Chattanooga team next season.

FIRST "AT HOME" WAS A DECIDED SUCCESS.

The first "At Home" of the season held by the Holy Name Society of St. Peter's Church at St. Alphonsus' Lyceum last evening was a decided success, a large crowd attending for cards and dancing. Messrs. N. Tobin, A. Doherty, V. O'Connell, L. Lafferty, M. Clancy, G. Dundas and B. McGee were the committee in charge of arrangements, while Messrs. J. Hanrahan and A. Doris looked after the refreshments. The halls above and below stairs were prettily decorated with crepe paper in variegated colors. Prizes for cards, which were donated by Miss Lily Simons, Dr. J. V. Gallivan, the F. R. J. MacPherson Company, Messrs. J. Lonergan and F. Flaherty, were won by the following ladies, (1) Mrs. J. Meagher, (2) Mrs. S. Coffey, and gentlemen, (1) E. Sullivan, (2) J. IN LOVING MEMORY

Of Mr. William Edward Scully, who died October 14, 1920.

The midnight stars are gleaming
On a lone and silent grave,
Beneath sleeps one we dearly love,
But who we could not save.
His weary hours and days of pain,
His troubled nights are past.
His ever patient worn out frame,
Has found sweet rest at last.
The happy hours we once enjoyed—
How sweet their memories still!
But death has left a vacant place,
The world can never fill.

CASE CONTINUES IN POLICE COURT

Davis Hill Occupies Two Days With the End Not in Sight.

The case of Davis Hill of Dummer charged with poisoning a cow, the property of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Hill, was continued this morning in the county police court, with Chief Newhall, the first witness for the prosecution, and Mrs. F. Parks, Wm. Buck and Cal Lee of Dummer, for the defence. An adjournment until two o'clock then took place, with the case coming up before Magistrate Langley at the County Court room, on account of the convenience afforded by the proximity of the lawyers at the Fall Assize hearings. Mrs. Cal. Lee, Mrs. David Hill and Mrs. Park, senior, of Dummer, were the witnesses for the defence this afternoon. They stated that they had heard that the cow was sold to Davis Hill last June but the majortiy of them were acquainted with this fact only after they heard that the cow was poisoned. The cow was always kept at Mrs. May Hill's farm. She had charge of it and she milked it.

Davis Hill in the box this afternoon stated he was the owner of the cow and that he had bought it from his brother, Russell Hill, on an old debt of $200 owing from his brother when the latter had borrowed that sum from the witness to purchase a car. Repayment was made at various times involving certain purchases of seed oats; a horse trade and the transaction concerning a caw, a calf, and three more calves, which the accused claimed to have taken on the debt. The accused considered that his brother had repaid him about $116 on the debt altogether.

There was nobody present at the time the cow which suffered an untimely demise later, was turned over by his brother on the debt.

The accused charged that Mrs. May Hill had stated that she would poison the cow if he bought it, as she didn't want her husband to sell it nor to pay anything on the old debt. An altercation over certain ducks that were missing from the barnyard brought the matter to a head on the evening of the 29th of September.

The case is continuing.

MAYOR TAYLOR WELCOMES THE LADY VISITORS

Provincial Command of Ladies' Auxiliary to G. W. V. A. in Open Session Here Today.

SIXTY DELEGATES

The second annual convention of the Ontario Provincial Command of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the G.W.V.A. opened this morning at the G. W.V.A. Hall, with a representation of between fifty and sixty ladies, delegates from twenty-seven different auxiliaries, from different sections of the province, including Brockville, Fort Erie, Galt, London, Lindsay, Lakefield, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie, Stratford, St. Thomas, Silverthorn, Niagara Falls, Smith's Falls, North Bay and Toronto, including Riverdale, Earlscourt, East Toronto, Fairbanks, Lambton, Swansea, Scarboro and General Mercer auxiliaries from the latter city.

Mrs. W. R. Morris, president of the Ontario Provincial Command, occupied the chair, and conducted the business in her usual very efficient, business-like manner. The first and second vice-presidents, Mrs. H. Greenaway of Toronto, and Mrs. D. H. Stunden, of Gananoque, were seated on the platform. The secretary, Mrs. J. McLeod, of Peterborough; the treasurer, Mrs. Ford, of Toronto, and the recording secretary Mrs. V. H. Hare, of Fort Erie, were also present.

Mayor W. H. Taylor gave the officials address of welcome from the city to the visiting ladies, and welcome from the ladies of the Peterborough Auxiliary was extended in a few brief but etoquent words from Mrs. Joseph Mills.

Address by Mrs. Morris.

The morning session was occupied by an adress by Mrs. Morris, and consideration of a resolution forwarded from Keeatin branch, asking that a representative be appointed to visit the various northern branches from Sault Ste. Marie to the Manitoba boundary, with a view to giving information and help to the above named branches, and with the consideration of a resolution forwarded by Riverdale (Toronto) branch, asking that the Government be petitioned to make a maternity grant to Canadian mothers.

The Keewatin resolution, which was brought up by reason of the somewhat isolated position of many of the branches on the boundaries of Manitoba, was discussed fully, and was finally referred to the executive to consider the appointment of a delegate for this work, with the suggestion made by one member that such a representative, if sent from Ontario, might be assisted in transportation difficulties by the branches directly interested in her presence amongst them.

The resolution brought forward by the Riverdale branch was the subject of considerable discussion, pro and con. As explained by the Riverdale delegate, Mrs. C. Kirby, it was aimed primarily as an encouragement to motherhood by Canadian-born or British-born women. "Canada," said this delegate, "is becoming a paradise for foreigners." A certain section of Toronto was characterized by the speaker as a gathering place for foreigners of all sorts, who were gradually ousting the native-born citizens. In the case of a Toronto woman whose child was sent to the General Hospital for tonsil removal, this woman claimed that "because she had washed her face and wore a hat on her head," she was taxed five dollars for the operation, whereas a a number of foreigners, without these adjuncts to appearance, paid nothing for the same service.

Different cases were cited by several delegates, where prospective mothers were in need of assistance, and the British system of help for mothers from a Government grant was referred to.

On the other hand, different

POLITICAL FEVER REACHES CRISIS

General Election in Old Country is Conceded to Be Inevitable.

LONDON. October 18. Associated Press. — The British political fever has now reached its height and there is every indication that the maximum temperature will be maintained for some days. Everybody is guessing as to when the crisis will pass and what turn it will take but the answer is as yet unrevealed and the future remains obscure pending tomorrow's unionist meeting at the Carlton Club, which is expected to give the key to the problem. One anti-coalition newspaper, the Daily News, to-day attributes to the Prime Minister, Lloyd George, the definite statement that he will resign office if the Unionist meeting declares against Austen Chamberlain, whose outspoken adhesion to the Premier has aroused strong opposition in the party ranks.

Reports published by the morning papers to-day are to the effect that the Cabinet Minitsers started new efforts yesterday to ensure the postponement of the general elections until January, prompted, it is said, by the fear of a complete split in the Conservative party. Such a contingency, however, seems almost inevitable to a disinterested observer and one of the surest prospects of the present ferment seems to be a new alignment of the parties which will obliterate some of Britain's oldest political landmarks.

A LOVE'S NEST OF WOMAN'S DREAMS

Spoken of in Letters to Slain Minister--Murder a Mystery.

NEW BRUNCWICK, N.J., Oct. 18 —(Canadian Press).—The second series of letters said to have been written by Mrs. Eleanor Mills, wife of the church sexton and choir leader, to Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall was made public to-day by the authorities as they continued their efforts to solve the mystery of the slaying of the couple on September 14. Unaddressed and unsigned, the letters are filled with terms of endearment. In them the minister is often referred to as "sweet adorable babykin." They speak of "a love nest" of woman's dream of true love, and describe the varied moods of woman loved and loving without conventions.

STALE CANDY WAS FULL OF RUBBISH

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.— (Canadian Press.) — Embedded in stale candy in which gelatine had coagulated and which was sold pupils of Public school 16, Jersey City, officials of the Health Department yesterday discovered bits of excelsior, splinters of wood and even pins. They confiscated the entire stock of certain kind of candy sold in the store of William Lewis, 30 Morris street. Investigation was made following illness of six students ranging in age from eight to twelve. They had partaken liberally of candy found in Lewis' store.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH IN AUTO ACCIDENT

WELL KNOWN HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Reilly, formerly residents of Peterboro for some years, who have been living in Oshawa for the past few months, had a miraculously escape from death, when the car in which they were travelling from Peterboro to Oshawa, struck a steel upright of a railing over a thirty-foot bank of a creek, at the foot of Tooley's hill, near Oshawa, on the Kingston Road.

When approaching the bridge, the driver apparently did not notice the curve until close to the steel railing. The hub of the front wheel struck one of the uprights, bending it almost double, while another was forced outwards. The car continued on, finally striking a telephone pole and breaking it off near the ground. Then the car dived over the bank, and turned over on its side, the pole on top of it.

The occupants escaped without a scratch, but the car was considerably damaged, not as much, however, as might have been expected under the circumstances. New fenders and radius rods are the major parts required, the wind shield remaining unbroken, despite the fact that the car went over the bank.

An eye-witness avers that the car was travelling at a good rate of speed, and the condition of the bridge would indicate that it had been hit with terrific force. This is the third accident to occur at this point (which has a dangerous curve) in as many weeks.

Mr. O'Reily, who is well known in Peterboro, lived recently at 309 Maitland avenue, before removing to Oshawa. He is a travelling salesman.

A MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER IS GIVEN BY CHURCH CHOIR

Members of Park Street Honor Mrs. W. MacDougall--Social Evening

The members of the Park Street Baptist Church choir gathered last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Goodwin, 552 Chamberlain Street, for a social evening.

A very pleasing feature was the giving by the choir of a miscellaneous shower to Mrs. W. MacDougall (nee Miss Lillian Wade), who was married last Tuesday evening.

Mrs. MacDongall, who is a member of Park Street Baptist Church choir, was the recipient of many beautiful and useful presents. By the time she was finished unpacking her numerous parcels, there was a great array of presents scattered all around her.

Mrs. MacDougall thanked the members of the choir for their many gifts and kind wishes in a short speech, saying she very much regretted the unavoidable absence of her husband, who, she was sure, would have been able to express their thanks much more eloquently—but the choir, in a great disclaimer, would not have it so.

Refreshments were then served, and a very enjoyable evening was brought to a close.

A vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. H. Goodwin for so kindly throwing open their home and entertaining the choir so royally, was moved by Mr. N. Porter and seconded by Mr. M. Dunkley.

Hastening Back To England For General Elections

OTTAWA, October 17. Canadian Press. — Neville Chamberlain, M. P., who is in Ottawa, as a guest of Government House, is hastening back to England because he expects a general election in the Old Country shortly, according to news reports here.

Mr. Chamberlain, who is a son of the late Joseph Chamberlain, and brother of Austen Chamberlain, M.P., and who has been visiting Canada, expects that there will be an election in Great Britain in a very few weeks.

He intends to sail October 21st for England.

POSTAL DEPARTMENTS TO HOLD CONVENTION

OTTAWA, October 18 (Canadian Press). — Decisions of an important nature would be reached at the forthcoming conference on postal matters between representatives of the Postal Departments of Canada and the United States, it was intimated by officials of the Canadian Deparment here to-day.

While arrangements and the programme for the meeting are yet in a tentative state, considerable enthusiasm over the hoped-for results is being manifested by the officials concerned.

Whether or not the conference will be held in Ottawa or some other Canadian city, or in Washington, has not yet been determined, although the Departments of the two countries are in communication on the subject.

A CONFESSION MAY SEND MAN TO THE CHAIR

Boy Was Planted By the District Attorney's Office to Secure Confession.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18. — This is the story of a "voice from the dark" that may send a man to the gallows.

Weird and dramatic as any of Poe's tales of conscience is this hitherto untold tale of how the charge of wife murder was made against Henry Wilkens.

The "voice" wrung a confession from Arthur Castor and this confession involved Wilkens. In this confession Castor declared that he, and his brother, Walter, had been hired by Wilkens to stage a fake hold-up during which Mrs. Wilkens was slain.

Amazing Story.

This is the story, as police tell it. They had arrested Arthur Castor as a suspect. Castor knew that the police had no direct evidence against him. He had determined to "stand pat" and let them prove it.

Throughout California a search was on. Each day new suspects were brought in. The possibility that Wilkens had "framed" the robbery and murder had not yet been considered. So Wilkens was brought in each morning to look over the suspects. Each time he passed up Castor, and the others.

But one morning there came a boy, about to enter his twenties.

Wilkens hesitated. "That looks like the fclow—I believe it is," he finally said. Castor heard the words. But he did not see the boy. The youth was locked in a nearby cell.

Conscience Aroused.

Night came. The jail lights went out and it was dark.

Then the sobbing of a boy two cells away.

"Oh, my God. I didn't do it. They's going to railroad me."

Castor did not sleep. His conscience wouldn't let him, he says. He paced his cell. When he finally tried to rest it was to dream of torturing imps and demons. He gave it up.

Came the dawn. Castor's mother came to see him.

"They've got an innocent kid there," he told her. Then he went to mother's knee with his confession.

"No matter what happens to you, tell the truth," she told him. "Don't let an innocent boy go to prison."

But he didn't talk that day and the next night came again the moans of the boy.

The next day Castor called for attorneys and made his confession.

There's one more chapter to the story—worthy of O. Henry:

The boy had been "planted" by the district attorneys office to wring the confession from Castor.

Plans His Flight Over North Pole In May or June

SEATTLE, October 18. Canadian Press. — Captain Roal B. Amundsen plans his flight from Wainwright, Alaska, across the North Pole, next May or June, according to Captain C. S. Cochrane of the Coast Guard cutter Bear, which was here to-day from a voyage of 23,000 miles into the Arctic Ocean.

Captain Amundsen, who left here in the schooner Maud, in June spent much time aboard the Bear in the Arctic.

News Briefs

CONSTANTINOPLE, October 18 (Canadian Press). — British authorities here in the interest of public safety have declined to permit the Turkish Nationalist Gendarmerie to march through Constantinople today, as the Turks had planned.

The order produced keen dissentment among the Turkish population, which had made preparations on a vast scale to welcome the Kemalists.

GOLD OUTPUT HIGHER.

DAWSON, October 18 (Canadian Press.) — Yukon's gold output this year may total a million and one-quarter ounces. Dredging continues along the creeks beyond the usual period because of the unusually mild autumn, and the gold production will be increased correspondingly.

SCHOONER OVERHAULED.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., October 18 (Canadian Press). — The Canadian schooner Bluenose, here to defend her honours as champion of the North Atlantic fishing fleets, went on the marine railway to-day for final overhauling preparatory to the first race of the championship series on Saturday.

WINSTON CHURCHILL ILL.

LONDON, October 18 (Canadian Press).—Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies, who was taken ill on Monday, has developed appendicitis, it was announced this morning. It was said to be too early for the doctors to decide definitely as to the necessity of an operation.

ATTACKED BY IRREGULARS.

LONDON, October 18 (Canadian Press). — Strong bodies of Irregulars attacked the National posts in Sligo last night and this morning, including in their assaults the Jail, Court House, the Ulster Bank, and the Town Hall, says a Press Association despatch from Belfast; and the rifle and machine gun fire and the exploding of bombs was terrific.

Some of the principal thoroughfares were riddled with bullets.

Many of the inhabitants who were asleep in their beds had narrow escapes, concludes the despatch.

SOME SUPPLIES OF HARD COAL ARE IN STOCK

One Local Dealer Reports Stove Coal at $18.50 and Nut Coal at the Same Price.

PEA COAL $16 TON

Although there does not seem to be any great amount of coal on hand amongst the dealers of the city, enquiries as to prices and supplies find them assuming a rather optimistic attitude, rather than the contrary. If they don't happen to have any hard coal available, they offer you something "just as good." Of six dealers interrogated this morning, the majority had certain supplies of hard coal in stock. Number One reported stove coal at $18.50, with a car of nut expected, to sell at the same price, and no soft coal available. Number Two offered a semi-anthracite mixture, guaranteed to be very satisfactory, of mixed stove and nut, at $16.50 per ton, with soft coal at $13. Number Three had pea coal at $16, and no soft coal. Number Four, who has been selling nut coal at $16.50, reported no more available just now, but offered the soft variety at $12.50. Number Five was evidently well stocked up, offering nut coal and stove at $20 a ton in both cases, pea coal at $16, soft (smokeless) at $14, and cannel coal at $16 a ton. Number Six has egg coal at $17.50, with a limited amount of stove and nut at the same price. Soft coal here is selling at $12.50.

PRICE IN BELLEVILLE.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 18.—Coal remains at sixteen dollars a ton, although strong pressure was made to bear upon the Council representatives to permit the raising of the price fifty cents a ton at the meeting in the office of Fuel Controller Wills.

Dealers claim that the water freight rates are so much higher than rail charges that they are losing at the game. Rail rates are $1.65 per ton while the water transportation costs from $2 to $3 per ton.

The city's representatives were adamant against any advance in the price here. One of the members of the Council was in favor of having the Fuel Controller for the province, Mr. Ellis, set the price if there were to be any change.

The conference led to nothing except that the price must remain at sixteen dollars.

STRONG APPEAL FOR NORTHERN SUFFERERS.

That unless a continuous supply of money and supplies was forthcoming keen hardships would be endured by the people who lost everything in the Northern Ontario fire zone, is the report brought back by Dr. C. A. Hodgetts, honorary secretary of the Northern Ontario Relief Committee, who went up to investigate and make a report. Dr. Hodgetts reports that relief arrangements have been well systematized in the north. Peterborough is expected to give her share in contributing to the relief fund. The Examiner acknowledges subscriptions. Please send them to this office.

Money Badly Needed For Sufferers From the Big Fire in North Ontario

With the citizens of Haileybury making one of the most heroic efforts in the annals of Canadian history to re-establish their fire devasted homes, many of the citizens of Peterboro sit back complacently with folded hands and adopt a spirit of 'Let George Do It" when it comes to the matter of extending material aid to these men and women who are giving such wonderful example of the pioneer spirit that has been and will be the backbone of Canada's greatness.

Other cities not so large as Peterboro have come forward with both money and goods. Kingston may be noted as one where over $1,000 in cold cash has been subscribed through the local newspapers in addition to large quantities of clothing and necessities raised through other sources. Peterboro has subscribed $80 in cash and shipped many bales of clothing, which were raised through the efforts of local organizations. Will Peterborough stop there? Are we to let these heroic men of the north face a winter of the greatest hardship without extending a helping hand? Shall we say with Cain, "Am I my brother's keeper?"

Those who wish to contribute may do so through The Examiner or the Fire Department. All money received will be duly acknowledged and forwarded to the proper authorities. If clothing cannot be delivered personally to either of these places, a telephone message is all that is needed and some one will be sent to get it, but bring it if you can. All kinds of clothing are needed, but boots and shoes for the women and children are needed the worst of all.

Accumulation On Overhead Bridge

What appears to be an unusually large number of threshers about town these days, are the citizens who have to cross the Hunter street bridge. One would think we are too near the date of civic elections for the council to adopt such means for disposing of the accumulation of dust and filth.

SURPRISES IN 'HAMMER' CASE

Girl's Family Roused — Assumes a Moral Share in Tragedy.

LOS ANGELES, October 18. — First, he told on his wife to shield himself—

Now, to save his wife, he attempts to besmirch the girl she is charged with killing.

Pictured by the prosecution in this role, Armour L. Phillips, dapper young Texan, waits to testify in behalf of his wife, Mrs. Clara Phillips, after proclaiming himself a "love chameleon on the eve of his wife's trial for the brutal hammer slaying here of Alberta Meadows, attractive young widow.

Phillips, whose statement of intimacy with the slain woman, will bolster an unwritten law defence for his wife, has temporarily drawn the spotlight of public interest.

First, he brought about his wife's arrest after he had helped her to flee, telling the officers she had confessed the crime to him. He said he feared she might harm herself, and insisted that her fatal jealous fury was without foundation.

Now, assuming a moral share in the tragedy, Phillips has confessed through Clara's attorney, that he and Mrs. Meadows were desperately infatuated, that they were even planning a trip abroad at the time of the murder.

Girl's Family Roused.

By these dramatic inconsistencies, the one-time soldier, garage man and oil worker promises to share with Mrs. Peggy Caffee, chief state witness, the heaviest legal crossfire of the trial, which is scheduled to start on 20th October.

The prosecution declares its belief that the confession is shockingly false. It also has aroused the fighting bitterness of th slain woman's family, who characterise it "an unspeakable attempt to besmirch Alberta's untarnished name to help Mrs. Phillips, and wholly without foundation.

The killing of Alberta Meadows on a lonely road, in the asserted presence of Peggy Caffee, former chorus girl friend of Mrs. Phillips, shocked the country with its grisly details. The state will contend Mrs. Phillips adroitly lured her victim into the death trap, charged her with undue interest in Phillips, and then smothered her terrified denials in a volley of mutilating hammer blows.

The State attorneys will declare Phillips' latest statement was concocted at his wife's instigation in a desperate dilemma. It will call many witnesses to refute aspersions on the dead girl's character.

Wife's Love Probed.

But the State's original intention—putting the domestic relations of the Phillips couple through pitiless analysis—will be carried on. The nature of Clara's love for her husband will be the main issue, prosecutors say.

The State will challenge the genuineness of her professed ardour for Phillips, which it hitherto accepted as a matter of fact. Overwhelming love must be shown as a basis for an "unwritten law" defence.

Miss Frankie Lee, former chorus girl associate of Mrs. Phillips, the prosecution admits, will be called in an effort to strike at the very underpinning of such an assumption of deep, unquestioned devotion. Miss Lee is ready to testify that Mrs. Phillips kissed the stage manager of a Los Angeles theatre a week before the killing, the prosecution declares. At that time, the State says, Mrs. Phillips made disparaging remarks about her husband, according to the expected testimony of Miss Lee.

Many Surprises.

Into the trial the State will also try to introduce testimony to show the couple had a stormy domestic life. Married at Houston, Texas, in 1915, they were divorced and remarried in 1918, according to State witnesses. The State will also seek to delve into alleged tempestuous scenes at the Phillips home for days preceding the murder; to show that Phillips told friends that life at home was unbearable and that he fled from Clara's alternate embraces and rebuffs to more sympathetic company.

Final hours preceding the trial are filled with many surprises. The defence maintains the State adroitly inflamed public opinion by printing fragmentary evidence that only part of the Alberta Meadows diary has been divulged that even Peggy Caffee, eye-witness, has failed to detail many obscure phases of her account of the murder. The State replies that Phillips' confession is untrue.

Through all the last minute surprices, charges and counter-charges, Clara Phillips, 26, who pleaded not guilty, sits tight-lipped but with reassurance in her cell, awaiting trial, her husband's alleged vagrent affections now back to her again, as he works for her acquittal.

Farm Labourer Awarded Judgment Against His Employer Who Won His Wife.

A HARVEY CASE

The notorious and otherwise eternal triangle in a rural setting was unfolded to a capacity audience, including a number of children, whose presence evidently escaped the notice of the officials, at this morning's session of the autumn assizes, and for the estrangement of his wife Edward Jones, a farm hand, was awarded $1,000 damage and costs against Alexander Davis, a farmer living in Harvey township Jones had claimed the sum of $5,000 alleging that Davis had illicit intercourse with his wife. The case was dealt with by Mr. Justice Middleton without a jury.

Jones and his wife had been engaged by the defendant in November 1920, the husband to work on the farm, and his wife in the house. The plaintiff soon began to notice that defendant was paying attentions to his wife, and when he later left the farm, his wife remained with Davis.

In April 1922, Jones signed an agreement releasing Davis from any rights or causes of action, and received $50 to bind the bargain. In his suit against Davis plaintiff contended that this release had been obtained from him by fraud and misrepresentation, and that Davis had taken advantage of Jones' illiteracy.

The judgment was for $1,000 minus the $50 which Jones had previously received, and actually for $950 with costs.

Mr. Gordon was solicitor for the plaintiff and Mr. Widdifield and Mr McElderry for the defendant.

THIS FREAK WAGER WAS CARRIED OUT

A Little Vaudeville for the Natives of Lindsay — A Wheelbarrow Ride.

LINDSAY, Oct. 18.—Messrs. M. J. Dedman and Norman Mark, two well-known Lindsay citizens, carried out a freak wager, to the amusement of a throng of business men, clerks and others.

The two men took their choice in the game between Hillcrests and Belleville. Mr. Mark picked Hillcrests to win, Mr. Dedman stuck to the Central League, being a representative. It was agreed that the loser would furnish a wheelbarrow and give the winner a free ride from M. J. Dedman's store down two blocks to the foot of Kent Street, around the silent policeman and back to the store again. Mr. Mark who lost out, was right on the job at 11 a.m. to carry out his promise, and the performance was pulled off on time.

It is a question which of the two parties had the hardest task. Mr. Dedman weighs 208 pounds, and was no easy load to wheel, but Mr. Mark had the blacksmith clamp a half-inch sleat around the iron wheel, and Mr. Dedman's passage was so rough and bumpy that Milton has been taking his meals off the mantle piece ever since.

THE WEATHER

Snow fell quite heavily this morning, for the first time this season. The downfall of the beautiful white crystals was viewed variously, and with somewhat mixed feeling. To the children it brought visions of sleigh rides, snow balling and snow men. The fall of snow was viewed with delight. To their parents, its advent was generally not so pleasant, particularly if they were of that numerous class who have not as yet been able to obtain their winter's supply of fuel. When the bottom of the coal bin was plainly visible there is little satisfaction or consolation in the fact that many others are in the same predicament, nor in the old adage that misery loves company. However, winter is not here yet. There should be at least six weeks more of good weather, and possibly we may be favored with a repetition of the mild winters we have had for several years. — W. P.

GLIDER FLIES FOR NEARLY TWO HOURS.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., October 18 (Canadian Press).—Large crowds watched the gliding competitions yesterday at Itford Hill, and witnessed a flight of 1 hour 53 minutes duration by Captain F. P. Raynham in a craft of British manufacture. Soaring in a strong wind, he was forced down when he slid into an air pocket.

In 1919 Captain Raynham, a Britisher, went to St. John's, N.F., to attempt a Transatlantic airplane flight. His machine was smashed, and he was slightly injured in the take-off, and when he made a second attempt several weeks later in another machine, it met a similar fate.

CANADIAN CHEESE IS STILL GOING TO THE U.S. MARKET

U. S. Tariff Regulations Have Not Cut Down On Dairy Exports From the Dominion.

INCREASE NOTED.

OTTAWA, October 18 (Canadian Press). — Canadian exports of cheese and butter to the United States are not being affected to any extent by the new American tariff, according to J. A. Ruddick, Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioner of the Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Ruddick took issue with the statements of Felix Glakemore, who informed the London Traders Federation at Westminster that 50,000,000 pounds of Quebec and Ontario cheese and 500,000 boxes of butter would be available for shipment from Canada to Great Britain because the United States tariff had shut Canadian producers out of the American markets.

The ten-year average of cheese export to the United States from Canada was only 1,175,898 pounds, Mr. Ruddick stated, and in the year ended 31st March, 1922, exports had increased to 2,969,759 pounds, as against 641,950 pounds in the previous year.

Butter exports from Canada for the ten-year period averaged 2,845,425 pounds, and last year the total was 3,032,939 pounds against 5,993,7886 in the previous twelve months.

The figures given by Mr. Glakemore were absolutely misleading, Mr. Ruddick declared. The average annual export of cheese had been only slightly over a million pounds, and of butter, during the ten-year period, under three million pounds instead of 27,000,000 pounds as alleged.

The quantities that would be diverted to the United Kingdom as a result of the new United States tariff would be so small as to be negligible, and less than the variations from season to season.

Lloyd George Will Force An Election

LONDON, October 18 (Canadian Press). — The political correspondent of the Central News claims to be able to state positively that if Mr. Chamberlain emerges successfully from Thursdays meeting at the Carlton Club, Mr. Lloyd-George will at Leeds on Saturday announce the immediate dissolution of Parliament.

SLANDER CASE IS CONCLUDED

Dummer Farmer's Action in Jury's Hands This Morning.

The slander action brought by George A. Elliott of Dummer township, against William Robb, a retired farmer living in Norwood, for $3,000 damages was concluded Tuesday evening at six o'clock with the address of counsel. Mr. Justice Middleton, who is presiding at the Assizes, reserved his charge to the jury until this morning.

Mr. Robb owned a farm in Dummer township where he had spent fifty years, moving to Norwood six years ago. He sold it to the father of Earl Ivey, a nephew of the plaintiff, and on the death of his father, Earl Ivey sold timber lots on the farm to J. E. Scott and the plaintiff, George Elliott. Mr. Robb held a mortage on the farm, and Ivey secured his consent to an agreement for the sale of the timber by which payments were to be made by Elliott to the mortgage. It was understood that Elliott would make his payments through the sale of the timber he cut. Elliott became involver in a lawsuit and told Mr. Robb he couldn't make certain payments. He gave to his wife a deed of his property except the timber lot that had been "slashed over", but explained that his wife had lent him $1000 in 1907 and a similar sum in 1917. Mr. Robb admitted having said that he couldn't get any money from Elliott, but denied that he said in the presence of Earl Ivey that Elliott was stealing the timber of the lot.

Elliott had paid $500 down and $100 on the principal with some interest on the purchase price of $2000, Mr. Robb testified.

"He told me once that he had nothing" Mr. Robb continued. "I told him I'd have to put him into court, and he told me to hop right to it. He said he had spent so much mone on a lawsuit that he couldn't pay me."

Mr. Robb stated that the best of the timber had been cut off the property.

C. R. Widdifield represented the plaintiff, actively assisted by E. Gus Porter, K.C. of Belleville, and G. N. Gordon, K.C. was solicitor for the defendant.

Kemalist Navy Now Appears

CONSTANTINOPLE, October 18 (Canadian Press). — A Turkish gunboat in the Black Sea has captured the Greek steamer Ourania, of 2,500 tons, carrying a cargo of wood from Constanza to Constantinople.

The steamer was stopped near Midia, and boarded by a Turkish prize crew. She was towed to port, and the captain and crew were declared prisoners of war.

This capture, announced yesterday, marks the first appearance since last March of the Kemalist Navy, which consists of two obsolete Turkish gunboats and one torpedo boat-destroyer of an old type, purchased from Russia.

The base of the fleet is Ineboli.

JANITOR INHERITS FORTUN BUT WILL STICK TO FURNACE

William Morris, of Fort William, Was Left Sum of $27,000.

SERVED IN THE WAR.

FORT WILLIAM, Oct. 18.—Pausing a moment yesterday morning from his labors as janitor of the Murray Block, William Morris opened a letter he had just received from England, and learned that he had been left a moderate fortune and that he had lost his mother.

In Canadian funds Mr. Morris expects to bank here about $27,000. The letter informed Mr. Morris that relatives have been searching for him for months. Through the Canadian Militia Department they had received the address given on his discharge from the army, as Chicago, and had eventually traced him to Fort William. Besides the £5000 which represent the division of his father's will, Mr. Morris looks for an additional gift when his mother's estate is distributed.

The janitor of the Murray Block, prior to coming to Canada served in the 1st Leicestershire regiment, his whole family being of soldier stock, and the father himself, rising from the ranks to a captaincy, going to death at Mons.

Mr. Morris intends to keep right on at his job as janitor.

ANTI-UNIONISTS IN PRESBYTERIAN CH.

Manifesto Against Merger With Methodist Church Is Issued By Rev. D. J. Fraser of Montreal.

TORONTO, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press.)—"We know our rights and we intend to maintain them; the fact that those who seem bent on this merger call us names, will not turn us aside from our purpose, unless we are unworthy of our forefathers and forgetful of our history."

The above is the beginning of the concluding paragraph of the manifesto issued by the Presbyterian anti-unionists, through the Rev. Principal D. J. Fraser, of Montreal, President of the Presbyterian Association of Canada, following the ending of the "Ontario Convocation" of the Association here.

"Meanwhile" says the statement, "our Presbyterian people all over Canada, should realize that our great historic church, founded upon the scripture and bulwarked by the graves of martyrs, is in imminent danger and that they must at once rally to her defence. The fact that representtaives were at this Ontario Convocation from the Maritime Provinces, Quebec, the Middle West and British Columbia, shows the Dominion wide interest being taken in this vital issue."

The statement recites that the determination to maintain the Presbyterian church in the interests of the Kingdom of God was unmistakeable among all parties at the gathering. Objection is entered particularly that the bills of union prepared "contemplated a confiscation of the trust funds and property of the Presbyterian church and are utterly unfair and unjust to the thousands of Presbyterians who do not propose to enter the merger."

"Should the next General Assembly decide to approve these bills and forward them to the Parliament of Canada, and the Provincial Legislatures," says the statement, "there will be determined opposition to their being enacted into law. Presbyterians have never tamely submitted to be ridden over roughshod in the manner these bills contemplate."

FREED BY GRAND JURY

Mrs. Emma Jane Edwards

Abraham Filion.

Who Have Been Held in the County Jail Since Last May on Separate Charges of Having Murdered Ernest Edwards, the Woman's Nineteen-Year-Old Son—The Grand Jury Yesterday Brought in a Verdict of "No Bill" and Prisoners Were Discharged By Mr. Justice Middleton Without Appearing in Court.

GRAND JURY ACQUIT MRS. EDWARDS AND ABE FILION

Brought in Finding of "No Bill" on Separate Murder Charges Against the Prisoners in Connection With the Death of Ernest Edwards.

IN JAIL SIX MONTHS.

After six months' confinement in the county jail awaiting trial on the accusation of having murdered Ernest Edwards, his mother, Mrs. Emma Jane Edward, and her youthful paramour, Abe Filion, were discharged Tuesday evening at six o'clock by Mr. Justice Middleton, after the Grand Jury had brought in their finding of "no bill" in what were regarded as the major cases in the criminal list of the Assizes.

The prisoners were not called into court nor did they appear at any stage of yesterday's proceedings. Mr. Justic Middleton had just completed the customary caution to the petit jury in the civil action of Elliott vs. Robb before dismissing them for the night when he was notified that the Grand Jury were ready to report. They had spent more than three hours hearing the Crown's case against Mrs. Edwards and Filion, and in a few brief remarks His Lordship thanked them for the careful consideration they had given the evidence that had been presented to them. From the review of the case as it had been previously sketched to him, His Lordship said that it was clearly one of suspicion, and he felt confident it had been thoroughly deliberated by the Grand Jury.

He reminded the Jurors of their oath not to reveal anything that had taken place during their session and remarked that he had been pained by a newspaper report giving a full exposition of what had occurred in a Grand Jury room. The Juror who had given the information had not the least intention of violating his oath but had apparently forgotten about it.

No Right To Ask.

"Some persons will ask you why you did this or will say that they did not agree with something else" said His Lordship. "They have no right to ask it and you have no right to listen to them.

The Sheriff will take steps to see that the prisoners are liberated at once."

Died of Strychnine.

Ernest Edwards, nineteen years old, was found dead on Wednesday afternoon, April 12 last, in the barnyard of his home on the 9th line of Dummer, by John Williamson of Norwood, who owned the place, and was passing through the yard toward a timber lot nearby. A subsequent autopsy revealed the fact, and the suspicion his mother had uttered, that he had died of strychnine poisoning. It was an enormous dose according to a medical expert. Mrs. Edwards and Filion were placed under arrest after the inquest, and the woman was committed for trial by Magistrate Langley on May 31st and Filion followed her on June 5. Mr. C. R. Widdifield was solicitor for Mrs. Edwards and Mr. F. D. Kerr, K.C. for Filion.

At the inquest and preliminary hearings witnesses testified that the accused couple had been living in immoral relations at the Edwards home, and that Ernest had quarreled with both of them about their improper conduct. The mother said that a small bottle containing strychnine, which had been bought some years previously to kill foxes, was keptin a trunk in Ernest's room. The bottle was not found after his death in spite of the most diligent and painstaking search.

Mrs. Edwards stated that she did not see Ernest after Monday, April 9th in the afternoon, when she saw him lying on his back near the place were Mr. Williamson found the body. She said that she observed him move one of his legs, but did not pay particular attention to him. She first learned that he was dead on Wednesday night, when the news was brought to her at Russell Hill's where she was staying.

Witnesses repeated Mrs. Edward's opinion expressed prior to the result of the autopsy being made public, that her son had poisoned himself. On this and other evidence Magistrate Langley decided that he was justified in referring the case to a Grand Jury.

GREAT BLIZZARD NORTH ONTARIO

Thermometer at Freezing Point and Fire Victims Are Without Adequate Shelter.

ENGLEHART, Ont., Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press.) — Yesterday a great blizzard of wind-driven snow swept over this district. The thermometer stood at freezing point and the wind howled across great open spaces in a forty mile gale, lashing the country mercilessly for six hours.

A great deal of snow melted as it fell ,thus causing puddles and rivulets of water, over which is lying from four to ten inches of snow.

In towns and villages refugees of the recent bush fires are comfortable, but the plight of many families in outlying agricultural districts is distressing in the utmost extreme. The roads are no longer passable by motor car, while teams of horses are unable to haul more than empty vehicles. Not only this, but much of the live stock was burned and some settlers are without horses to make an attempt to haul in lumber for shacks.

A newspaper correspondent encountered a case on a farm where children, five in number, from a mere tot to a girl of about 13, still find their shelter beneath a flimsy tent with an annex of galvanized roofing taken from fire wreckage of their former barn.

The ground is wet, sodden and cold,and it goes without saying that the children, who are thrown suddenly from the warmth and comfort of their homes into wet and cold shelters that are little better than the squalor of wigwams of native Indians, are instantly placed in the presence of serious menace to their health.

YOUNG MAN WAS SHOT BY ACCIDENT

Cornwall Man Was Hunting Squirrels When Fatal Accident Occurred.

CORNWALL, Ont., Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press.)—A shooting accident attended with immediate fatal results, occurred near Woodlands yesterday morning when Arnold Brown, aged twenty-one years, son of Richard Brown, of Woodlands, was accidentally shot dead by a companion named Cecil Empey. These young men, in company with B. Empey, Curtis Hartle and George Donnelly, went out to the woods to shoot squirrels. They spied a squirrel on a tree and Brown went forward to take a shot at it. Empey was a few paces to the rear with a shotgun in his hands, the barrel pointing slightly upwards. As Brown was preparing to take aim at the squirrel Empey's gun went off in some unknown manner, the charge striking Brown between the shouler blades causing instant death. The young man fell forward with his gun still clutched in his hands. The body was conveyed to Woodlands and Dr. Brown of Aultsville, summoned, but his services were of no avail. Dr. C. J. Hamilton, of Cornwall, coroner, was notified, and went to Woodlands. On learning the circumstances he decided an inquest was unnecessary.

NO DECISION YET REACHED ABOUT SHIPS WITH RUM

DECISION BY OCT. 21.

NEW YORK, October 18 (Canadian Press). — Federal Judge Learned Hand yesterday reserved decision on applications by United States and foreign-owned steamship lines to make permanent the stay restraining Government officials from putting into effect the Daugherty ruling that vessels must not carry liquor inside the three-mile line, even under seal, when touching at United States ports.

Meanwhile Judge Hand extended the stay he had granted last week, until he should reach a decision. This decision, he indicated, probably would be rendered before 21st October, the latest date on which the Daugherty ruling has been ordered into effect. Extension of the stay affects both United States and foreign lines.

Judge Hand made known his intention after listening to all-day arguments presented by a large array of counsel representing ten of the most important Transatlantic steamship companies, and a number of attorneys representing Secretary of the Treasury Mallon and the Federal Prohibition Enforcement Headquarters. The continuation of the stay, he made clear, would hold, even if he failed to announce his derision on the injunction before 21st October.

CASUALTY LIST IN CHINA IS LARGE.

Heavy Fighting in an Attempt to Retake Foo Chow.

AMOY, China, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press.) — Approximately two thousand casualties are reported at Foo Chow, capital of Fukien Province ,as the result of an attempt by defeated Nationalist soldiers to retake the city from which they had been driven by the invading troops of General H-Su Tsung Chin. Desultory fighting continued throughout last Thursday and Friday within the city walls, both sides losing heavily. A large portion of the western half of the capital is reported to have been burned and looting by soldiers was general throughout the city.

TWO SOLDIERS KILLED.

CHALONS - SUR - MARNE, France, October 18 (Canadian Press) —Two soldiers were killed and sixteen officers and men wounded yesterday by a sudden explosion of hand grenades.

The grenades had been picked up from the training field after grenade practice, and placed in a ditch for destruction.

The cause of their explosion has not been determined.

Fate of Lloyd George May Depend on Decision of the Unionist Meeting Thursday

UNIQUE CEREMONY.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press)—A ceremony probably unique on the American continent featured the festival of the Tabernacles presided over by Rabbi H. Samuel, at the Shaarezy Zedek synagogue here when trees brought direct from Palestine weer used. Part of the ceremonial for the occasion consist in the using of "the boughs of goodly trees, citron, branches of palm trees and the boughs of thick trees, myrtle and willows of the brook." Rabbi Samuel obtained sufficient quantity to enable him to place a set in each home in his congregation and the synagogue, with the worshippers carrying branches in their hands, had almost the appearance of a forest of palms.

SAYS CHINESE ARE INTELLIGENT RACE

But Do Not Realize Value of Mineral Resources.

MONTREAL, Oct. 18.—An interesting passenger on the Canadian Pacific liner Metagama, when she docked here, was Miss C. C. Macdonald, who spent 20 years in missionary with China-England Missionary Society work, and is returning from a furlough to London on her way to Vancouver to sail back to China by the Canadian Pacific Empress of Russia. Miss Macdonald, speaking of her missionary work in China for the past 20 years, said the China-England Missionary established where she carried on her activities is located at Kians Si, in the interior of China, which has a population of 30,000, was founded by Dr. Hudson Taylor, who did missionary work in China 50 years ago, and saw the need of spreading the Christian gospel in that country. It was undenominational as far as the Protestant churches were concerned, as they worked together at this missionary station where there was a congregation of 1,000 converted Chinese. She said there were missionary stations scattered all over China, but the Catholic workers were in the majority. She liked the Chinese, who were friendly to the United States and England. They were a bright and intelligent people with good commercial business instincts, but they did not as yet realize the valuable mineral resources of their country awaiting development. At Kians Si there were valuable coal deposits, of which only the surface had been touched. The Germans had the right over coal fields some distance from Kians Si.

Miss Macdonald was in China at the time of the Boxer troubles, and with the missionaries had to flee to the coast, where they remained for nine months until the troubles were settled, and then they returned to their stations. The missionary work included the teaching of schools for women and young girls as well as spreading the gospel, and she liked the work and the Chinese people.

Rebellious Conservatives Are Expected to Return to the Fold at the Last Moment.

LONDON, October 18. (Associated Press.) — Whether Premier Lloyd George, whose administration has long outlasted the administration of all the great statesmen concerned in the Versailles treaty, and the making of peace will fall as a secondary effect of Mustapha Kemal's victory in Anatolia still hangs on the result of Thursday's meeting of the Unionist members of the Commons. In all political quarters i.. London yesterday there was a state of feverish activity, meetings and consultations occupying the entire day. The Prime Minister himself returned to town and besides consulting with the members of his Cabinet presided last evening over a large meeting of Liberal members, under secretaries, party whips, and others.

No report of the proceedings has been issued, but it is supposed that Mr. Lloyd George desired to ascertain how far he could still depend upon support from the Liberal wing of the Coalition in the comming developments and in the event of the Conservative revolt against his leadership proving to be dangerous.

Opinion last night seemed to be veering toward the belief that rebellious Conservatives will at the last moment recoil before the prospect of breaking with Mr. Lloyd George, who clearly retains the support of Mr. Chamberlain, and that the latter may secure a majority at the Thursday meeting. It is understood that should the Carlton gathering vote against Mr. Chamberlain, neither the Earl of Balfour nor Mr. Bonar Law would undertake to form a Conserative ministry should Mr. Lloyd George resign.

Mr. Bonar Law's health is restored through his prolonged abstentation from politics, but it is said he lacks the physical endurance which would justify his undertaking the responsibilities of government. The Earl of Balfour has been so closely associated with Mr. Lloyd George in all phases of the Prime Minister's administration that he would probably not be inclined to take charge of a new administration almost certain to be short lived.

No dissolution of the council has yet been arranged, nor any formalities even tentatively looking to dissolution and nothing definite is likely to develop until the end of the week. The Premier's speech next Saturday will be delivered at Leeds instead of Newcastle as at first proposed.

If the Carlton meeting registers a vote of confidence in Mr. Chamberlain it is reported that Mr. Lloyd George will insist upon imposing his own strict terms as a condition of continuing to lead the reunited Coalition. If dissolution is decided upon there is already evidences of many changes in the new parliament. Cecil Harmsworth, Under-Secretary of the Foreign Office, is among those who have announced their intention Not to seek re-election.

"That is the true cocoa color."

It's Baker's Cocoa

THE problem in making cocoa is to preserve the natural flavor, aroma and color of good cocoa beans; to eliminate the excess of fat, so that the cocoa may be easily digested by the most delicate stomach, yet not to take out too much and materially impair its nutritive quality.

By the exercise of great care in the selection and blending of beans, and by the employment of the most highly developed machinery and processes of manufacture we believe that we have solved this problem and produced a

THE SLAUGHTER OF CHILDREN.

In his address to the Rotary Club on Monday, Rev. G. C. Pidgeon, President of the Social Service Council of Ontario, quoted figures to show that in 1917 the number of children less than one year old who died in Canada was greater than the total of Canadian soldiers killed in France during the same period.

In other words, a man on the firing line in France had a better chance to live than a baby in Canada.

It is reproach to our vaunted progress that the majority of such deaths could have been prevented, and should have been.

We not only allow thousands of infants to die each year, but hundreds are slain each year on the streets of Canadian and American cities.

One day recently 10,000 children marched in New York City to mark "Safety Week," and a group of 1,054 little ones were massed in front of a memorial to the 1,054 children killed last year in street accidents.

Just think of it, over a thousand children slaughtered in one city in a year.

In Philadelphia last month 42 people—22 of them children—met their deaths on the street.

The toll of Canada, fortunately, has not been so large, but it is increasing rapidly.

No wonder we have safety first leagues and that those who recognize the danger are endeavoring to educate the people to the necessity of making our streets safer.

THE COAL SITUATION.

There is so much about the coal situation that is mysterious to the man on the street.

The public had been given to understand that it would be impossible when work was resumed at the mines to make up for the time that had been lost, and that at the best sixty per cent. of the normal supply was all that could be expected.

Fuel controllers have been appointed to see that the anthracite is fairly distributed, and the Canadian people have been frequently warned to, so far as possible, make use of substitutes for hard coal in the autumn and early winter so that there would be enough anthracite to last through the cold weather.

And now the Montreal Herald declares that the coal crisis is past and the shortage over.

"It may be noted," says our Montreal contemporary, that, according to New York authorities, the coal crisis has passed and the stock of anthracite is sufficient for all ordinary requirements. The rule forbidding the delivery of more than two weeks' supply at one time has been revised to read four weeks. In fact, the Fuel Administration of New York is endeavoring to check the use of anthracite substitutes and advise that substitutes be set aside and kept in reserve for future use."

If these statements are true, and they are made by a reputable newspaper in its editorial columns, it might be expected also that the peak prices to the consumer had passed for the present at least.

SUCCESSFUL REFORESTATION.

The successful results of an intelligent system of reforestation, such as Ontario urgently needs, is illustrated by the experience of the State of New York.

The progress made there is indicated by the fact that the Conservation Commission received in September orders for more than 500,000 trees for fall planting. Most of these trees will be set out on non-agricultural lands, which is a circumstance of economic importance.

The demand for Norway spruce has been good, one of the largest single orders coming from the Chateaugay Pulp and Paper Company, which is setting out 150,000 of these trees. In municipal planting the palm goes to Carthage, in Jefferson county, which was the first New York village to take up reforestation. It now boasts of having the finest municipal forest of any community of its size in the United States, 585,000 trees having been planted on 2,000 acres of the local watershed.

Trees planted fifteen years ago are now from fifteen to eighteen feet in height and have a diameter of six inches. It is estimated that a million feet of lumber will be cut annually from this reserve when it reaches its best development.

School districts in various parts of the State are taking an interest in the reforestation movement. The pioneer among them is the town of Constable, Franklin county, which began with ten acres planted in Scotch and white pine and has increased the reserve. Watson, in Lewis county, has laid out a ninety-four acre school forest area. The planting so far comprises 24,000 trees and the work will be prosecuted vigorously until the entire plot is filled. Other communities are taking up the work in a systematic way. It is easy to enlist the sympathies of the youth of the country in tree planting. There is pleasure in the mere act of putting something into the ground and watching it grow.

DEPEND UPON MOTHER.

With all our organizations for the education and uplift of humanity, the fact remains that the greatest factor in moulding the life of a man on woman is the home.

Upon the example that is furnished by the parents upon the teaching and the instruction and the advice and the warnings that are given in the family circle depends to a very great extent the future of the children.

Good home training means usually good citizenship.

And yet it seems sometimes in these days of "jazz" and motor cars and in some of the larger cities sensational moving pictures, that we are drifting away from that standard.

Home life is not what it used to be.

Sometimes the fault is with the parents; more often, however, the young people of to-day seem to have slipped away from parental control. They not only do not seek the advice of a wise father or a good mother, but they reject that advice when it is offered them.

That is the first step along a dangerous path.

The girl who listens to the questionable counsel of others and ignores the loving warning of her mother is deliberately putting herself in the way of peril.

How many such girls are there in Peterborough today, girls not wicked or vicious in mind, merely unthinking and weak, who choose the glitter of the sham rather than the pure gold that is offered them at home?

The primrose path that looks so pleasant and bright and joyous is studded with pitfalls for the weak and traps for the unwary.

Mothers, most of them at least, know that.

If their advice were more frequently taken there would not be so much sorrow and suffering—and there would be a marked falling off in the number of girls who "go wrong."

HELP STILL NEEDED.

If the change in the weather conditions is felt in Peterborough, it will not be difficult to imagine the plight of the thousands of fire sufferers in Northern Ontario.

The ready response of the rest of the Province to the appeal for assistance has of course enabled the Relief Committee to take care of a large number of the victims.

But there is much still to be done, and there should be no slackening in the work until it is assured that everyone is in a position to face the winter.

A large quantity of warm clothing, especially for children is required, and winter underwear is in great demand. Until further notice, supplies of these articles should be sent in by those who are in a position to help.

Many Peterboro people have already supplied clothing but there are vast numbers who could assist in this splendid cause who have not not yet done so.

There should be no time lost in responding to the appeal.

For those who prefer to give cash donations there is an opportunity of assisting in this way and The Examiner will be glad to receive and acknowledge donations.

BRITISH LABOR REPUDIATES.

British Labor leaders are making prompt and vigorous denials of the insinuations of Bolshevistic sympathies contained in recent political speeches. Their repudiation may be confidently accepted, for it is certain that any party which advocates the methods of the Soviet rulers would seal its doom beyond the possibility of retrieval. Colonel Josiah Wedgwood, British Labor M.P., dealt specifically with this matter, in answer to questions put to him at a meeting in Toronto last week. Although the people in Russia might be satisfied with conditions there, the Colonel is reported to have said, British people would not tolerate them. The British Labor party had not associated itself with the Communists, for the excellent reason that it would be simply suicidal to do so. "It would not be good politics," is the way the Colonel put it, "as they would never stand the least chance of getting into power if they did associate with them."

In this country, however, there is still a remnant of Communists which persists in deluding itself and works incessantly to delude others. Though their success is perhaps negligible, it is necessary to be warned against them and bear the real facts of the case in mind. Those facts, so far as they relate to actual conditions in Russia, are too well authenticated to be questioned. They are of such a nature as to inspire horror and despair. No one in his sober senses could possibly desire to bring about such appalling conditions in this favored Dominion of ours. Yet we are told that the so-called Communistic party in Canada is teaching these detestable doctrines at the present time in some of the foreign language schools, deliberately weakening parental authority and poisoning the minds of the little scholars with ideas which are the absolute negation of everything which every decent human being holds in greatest reverence. It is no good denying that the Soviet schools of Russia approve and propagate the hateful theory of child nationalization. Some blind Communist apologists have, it is true, pointed to the Russian schools and the care of the young as a particularly bright spot in the Soviet administration. But what are the facts? If a Soviet educational specialist, a woman by the name of Lilina, is to be credited, this is the rule in Russia for the upbringing of the wretched little Soviet child: "We must remove the children from the baneful influence of the family; to put it plainly, we must nationalize them. From the earliest days of their life they must be reared in the beneficial atmosphere of the Communist kindergarten and school. The task before us is to force the mothers to give up their children to the Soviet state."

The result of this policy is described in a communication to a Russian emigrant journal, discussed in the London Times. The writer is a Russian woman school teacher by the name of Tatiana Varsher, who speaks from actual experience. Everything which is normally considered wrong and immoral, especially in a child, is encouraged in Soviet Russia, according to this authority. If a boy steals, he is praised for his cleverness. Every child is either relegated to the street or "caught in the clutches of the Soviet boarding school," and it is added significantly, "the street is less demoralizing than the school." There are "show" schools where the children are well looked after and comfortably housed. These are for the purpose of impressing and deceiving foreign visitors. "Had the foreigners walked five or six houses higher up the street" from one of these "show" schools, "they would have seen children in filthy surroundings, unkempt and crying because they were hungry." A doctor who examined 2,000 of these Soviet boarding school victims, found that "the Soviet child was completely devoid of imagination.....The children had completely lost the desire to read anything good themselves. All that they were capable of reading, and did read when they could get it, was sensational, detective and often pornographic street corner stuff." As far as learning was concerned, there was none.....In a group of boarding schools, fifty per cent. of the children became infected through some unknown cause with venereal disease." So much for the Soviet educational system. One wonders how regeneration is possible for poor stricken Russia, with training for future citizenship such as this!—Hamilton Spectator.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Lloyd George may be slipping, but the little Welshman is not likely to be quoted at a long price in the political sweepstakes, nevertheless.

That story about a man eating 300 oysters at one sitting takes some swallowing.

As a contemporary sees it, a police force should be at its best when people are at their worst.

Some cities are making it an offence for people to walk across the street at the middle of the block, and the London Advertiser declares that its so much handier to have them all hit at one spot rather than to have to pick them up all along the street.

That the regulations against speeding cover the police as well as everybody else has been discovered by the city of Kingston at a cost of $1,400.

WIFE PAYS FINE LEVIED ON HUBBY FOR BEATING HER

OSHAWA, Oct. 18.— Crown Attorney Farewell, whose eloquent orations have more than once made criminals wish they had chosen the straight and narrow path instead of the crooked and thorny way, dropped his mantle of prosecutor for a moment in court on Monday morning and interceded for the defendant.

It was in a case of the Crown versus Nicholas Kornuta, of East Whitby. "Nick" was charged with beating his wife Sophie. It appeared, however, that Nick and his better half had come to an agreement and were willing to let bygones be bygones. Crown Attorney Farewell pointed out to Magistrate Hind that the ends of justice would be best served, perhaps, if "Nick" was allowed to go on suspended sentence. The pair had five children. The crown also asked the magistrate to lecture both man and wife, which Magistrate Hind did. Following the lecture and payment of the fine which, by the way, Sophie paid, the couple arm in arm left the court to start life anew. A few moments later "Nick" had helped his spouse into the old buggy outside the police station and Old Dobbin, who too had seen better days, trotted contentedly down the road to the home in East Whitby.

Evil Eye indicated a beach at the farther end of the little bay as their goal. The Strangler steered a course skirting closely the bald-faced shoulder of rock with the skeleton tree above. Violet was conscious of a growing tension between the members of the band, between the three forward, on the one hand and the lone, hulking sailor, behind her on the other. As they came close to the shore she felt the immenency of some happening, she could not tell just what. She did catch another significant glance between Vera and Renard, she heard a sharp intake of breath from the man with the guiding oar, which meant that he had caught it also.

At that moment there rose over still waters of the huge lake a strangely familiar sound that she failed utterly to identify until she caught the speck against the sky. An airplane.

Her first thought was that, after all, they had not been able to penetrate the wilds to a point out of touch with civilization. She wondered what her father would have thought, and Stuart Steele, and Doctor Sutton, to have heard the distant rumble of this modern-winged mechanism, to have watched it rise from the forest beyond and come mounting over them above the still blue of the water.

Her second thought was the realization that no flyer would approach these inner reaches of South America, no aviator would mount to the very backbone of the continent, without a definite reason. This could be no transandean flight, taking place this far to the north. Unquestionably some particular quest brought the plane to this tableland.

Was it Robert? She thrilled at the possibility. She knew that Dupont would never give up the attempt to find and rescue her. She knew that if he suspected she was here he would follow. Certainly no allies of the band of Evil Eye would arrive in this fashion.

As the machine rose and arrived overhead it remained so high, that she could not distinguish the figures. But evidently the boat was seen. The aviator circled around and around, much as a buzzard locating its prey. Then he executed a nose dive almost upon them, righting himself, and sweeping, like the dive of an eagle, over to some point beyond the trees, beyond the beach which Evil Eye had indicated.

The others in the boat were plainly perturbed. Vera and Renard leaned over to talk with Evil Eye in low tones. The Strangler, smiling, rose quickly, but cautiously, balancing himself with the oar. Then he inserted the oar in the inner supports of the frail craft, mast-like, so that it would be a lever. Throwing himself to one side suddenly, against the oar, he succeeded in capsizing the boat, with all in it, flinging them into the water without warning.

Violet sank deep, feeling the chill of the cold water quickly, unable to exert any amount of strength after her long illness and lack of nourishment. For some moments she thought she might not rise at all. Her lungs had been deflated and she had barely been able to close her mouth to avoid swallowing water. Thin, emaciated, the lake was slow to grasp her and raise her to the surface.

Then as she emerged, gasping, choking for breath, she felt her weakness keenly. Her arms were lead, her muscles helpless from disuse. She caught one glimpse of the inhospitable rocks; sharp, rough, not twenty yards away, and every bit of hope ebbed from her. Again she felt she was about to sink. She made a frantic, despairing effort.

WHO SHOULD OCCUPY THE PULPIT AND WHO SHOULD NOT

No man should be in the pulpit who has not first of all been moved by compassion at the sight of men and women floundering in sin, or who has not felt the call of Love Divine to live a just, pure and unselfish life. Secondly no man should be there who has not made up his mind to be true in thought and action to the woman whom he has chosen for a wife and who has not fixed his heart in one place "his home" perhaps you will say its not necessary for me to say a thing like this, pardon me, do you not read the newspapers, which have to record weekly the shameful unfaithfulness of some minister of the Gospel, and every time, the cause of God receives a set-back.

For a man to aspire to the pulpit, let him examine himself and put away all vanity, all self-seeking, let him earnestly seek the best gifts in prayer and use them wholly to bring praise to God, let his outstanding theme be (Calvry) the love that it reveals, and the blessedness offered to all who accept it, and in the world to come Life Eternal. Oh that we could have back once more some of the old time calibre of preachers who did not seek to make religion a merely social thing, but were other wordly we need the vision of things to come, we need the vision of the opened heavens that Stephen saw, and hear the voice which Saul heard. "Wy persecutest thou me?"

EXPRESS APPRECIATION OF TURK VICTORIES

LONDON, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Reuter despatch from Delhi says that prominent Moslem leaders who constitute a central Rhilafat committee have met and reviewed the Near Eastern situation since the Armistice and after considerable discussion have passed resolution to present Mustapha Kamal Pasha leader of the Turks who conquered the Greeks in Asia Minor with a sword and to present the Angora government with two airplanes in appreciation of the Turkish victories. The Committee has assured the Kemalists of Indian Moslem sympathy and readiness to help in the struggle for freedom.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Your two recent editorials anent a civic memorial to the men from this city who gave their lives in the Great War have raised anew, in my mind, whether it may even yet be possible to have a memorial which will command the allegiance and the gratitude and the pride of the entire city. There is no division on the desirability of having such a memorial, but there is division of a very serious nature as to whether it is either right or worthy to use Red Cross funds for such a purpose.

To many it seems so wrong and unworthy that though they want to emulate the spirit of sacrifice which shone so brilliantly in the men who made the supreme sacrifice, they simply cannot do it because it is to them a sacrifice of principle.

I know it is asking a great deal of the ladies and gentlemen who compose the committee in charge of the erection of a memorial, and who think it is perfectly right and worthy to use Red Cross funds in this way, and who have the majority at a public meeting behind them to forego the use of Red Cross funds, but if they could see their way to do so it would be greatly appreciated by those who differ from them and it would make possible the erection of a memorial in which all could have a part and in which all could rejoice. It is true that even if the committee were able to do this there might still remain a cleavage on the nature of the memorial; but I am convinced that by patience and the emulation of the spirit of comradeship which was so notable a feature of the army, we could maintain that spirit of unity which bound the people at home to the boys at the front, and by Armistice Day, 1923, we could have a memorial erected in this city in which all of us could rejoice.

The present committee could easily wash their hands of the whole matter and say to those who disagree with them, "the way is open for you to go ahead." That would not really help matters. It would leave our people still divided on a matter in which division is a reproach to us all. Division, with all the heart-burnings involved, has nothing in common with the purposes for which the men fought—or the spirit in which they laid down their lives.

It is my hope and prayer that something may yet be done to unite the citizens of Peterborough on this important matter.—Sincerely yours,

James Rollins.

EVIDENCE ENDED DAVIS HILL CASE

Judgment Reserved Until Thursday Morning

The presentation of the evidence in the case of Davis Hill, of Dummer township, charged in the County Police Court, with cattle poisoning, was concluded last evening before County Police Magistrate O. A. Langley. Judgment was reserved until Thursday morning.

Continuing his evidence yesterday, Davis Hill said that he had worked for his brother at times and had not made any agreement for being paid, but had accepted some feed oats for his horses and occasionally the money which his brother gave him. Davis kept no track of this in his book, where he kept an account of his brother's debt for his own convenience, as he was staying at the time with Russell, his brother. As fall ploughing was coming on, Davis stated that he wanted $3 a day for the use of his team of horses and labour.

On the evening in question Davis states that he had a little quarrel with May Hill, Russell's wife, over some ducks, and then May had said something about her wishing him to go back to Park's place, where he permanently stayed. Later Russell and May drove into Peterborough and Davis had got his horse ready to drive to another farmer's place to see about work there, when he was interrupted by the return of Russell and May. Then David had unhitched his horse and returned to the house, where he sat down on the back verandah steps. He remained there until a little after 9.00, when he entered the house, passed by May Hill and went up to his room. On the way he also passed Russell and inquired of him if there was a light in the room, and then retired with his father and was not seen again until next morning.

Davis firmly denied May's statement that he had gone out of the house during the evening and had returned about 11 o'clock, and asked for a light to see to wash his hands.

The next morning Davis stated, that after breakfast he went out about 8 o'clock to get the horses, and not finding both he asked Russell would he help him find them. Both Russell and he then traversed the fields in different directions, searching for the horses.

Davis declared that he found the dead cow and noticing the green spots on the animal came to the conclusion that it had been poisoned. After securing his horse he returned to the barn, where he saw Russell, and told him about the dead cow.

May at the time seemed to be crying, stated the accused, as she stood at the well. He believed that she had seen the dead animal when she had gone for the cows in the early morning before he had come across it.

Then the accused drove into Peterboro and returned to Park's, where he was arrested later by Provincial Constable George Cookman.

Counsels here presented their arguments for presentation and defence and Magistrate O. A. Langley reserved judgment until Thursday morning at 9.45 on account of the late hour, and that he might hear the stenographer, who was not present, read to him some of the previous evidence.

SETTLERS CANNOT MAKE A LIVING

Induced By Agents to Locate on Queen Charlotte Islands.

MASSETT, Q.C.I., Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press)—Charges made by a small group of settlers newly arrived from the Old Country that a London immigration company had induced them to sail to the Queen Charlotte Islands by glowing advertisments of possibilities here, whereas they found it impossible to make a living have led Thomas Deasy, an old resident to broadcast an open letter describing conditions on these western outposts of the Dominion of Canada as he sees them.

The Queen Charlottes are about eighty-five miles west of Prince Rupert, B.C., comprising two large islands, jutting out into the Pacific Ocean nearer the Orient than any other of the western possessions of Canada or the United States.

Conceding that the company promoters, in their zeal to build up this little known country, may have made promises not altogether justified, Mr. Deasy feels that the immigrants' published protests may not have presented an exact picture of the situation on these islasds.

The natural resources of the Charlottes, he says, are great and climatic conditions were such that large numbers of health seekers were coming in. Of four hundred white children, but one died in the past year from natural causes, and the Indian population had increased. The healthful climate Mr. Deasy attributes to the Japan current, which sweeps through the numerous inlets and bays.

Fishermen were very prosperous and hundreds ply their trade in the surrounding waters. One fishermen, W. H. Ross, unaided, cleared $600 in June and July this year.

Mr. Deasy admits that there are many disadvantages, but points out that this is true of any country. Winter brought wind and rain. Heavy storms on Hecate Straits made transportation difficult.

Prospects for farmers were not bright at present, although there is plenty of land. Isolation and lack of roads were the chief drawbacks, just as they were on Vancouver Island in the early days.

Tar shale and other indications of petroleum fields are to be found on the Yakoun River and the west coast of Graham Island, but little mining has been done, he continues. Moresby and other islands show indications of gold, silver, copper, iron and other minerals, while the beaches of Graham Island show quantities of platinum and black sand containing gold.

An attempt to investigate the complaints of the new settlers was frustrated, Mr. Deasy states, by the failure of the complainants to appear and testify, although notices were duly posted and a government official was prepared to receive testimony, oral or otherwise.

Designers Grow Lavish of Cloth

Nearly all of the new fall frocks show a growing recklessness of material.

Many use panels and drapes and sleeves of fine pleating. All are longer and fuller. From one to five more yards of material is needed now than last season.

Colors are gorgeous. Amber, cocoa, chocolate, bronze and the lighter golden browns are most popular and for evening wear the gold and flame shades are most in demand.

Embroidery is used to a great extent and so are trimmings of the material itself—pleatings and tucks and tailored tabs. Wide sleeves are often lined with silk of a brilliant shade to give a color contrast.

Corns Go
Just say
Blue-jay to your druggist

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in a colorless clear liquid (one drop does it!) and in extra thin plasters. The action is the same.

CROP REPORTS

Following is a summary of reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Norfolk says that apples are disappointing in both yield and quality. he bulk of the crop in that county will be domestic packed.

Halton says: "Fruit men are harvesting their apples as rapidly as possible. Box packing is becoming more general, due to the influence of fruit associations."

Welland reports: "The grape harvest is practically over. Prices are running from $60 to $75 per ton, and in some cases a little higher. Apples selling from $1.00 to $1.50 per bushel, depending upon variety and quality."

Lincoln has the following regarding the keeping quality of peaches properly stored: "Illustrating the benefits resulting from cold storage a grower in this county has put up his own cold storage plant. Elberta peaches were put into storage at a time when the price was ranging from 15c to 18c a 6-qt. basket. These peaches are now being taken out of storage and are bringing 55c a 6-qt. basket on the commission market in Toronto."

South Simcoe states: "A considerable quantity of potatoes are being disposed of at 40c per bag at the elevator. Some are pitted in the field, and many who have found little rot are filling their storage accommodation to capacity." Rot is being reported in several counties.

Roots are being lifted, and on the whole are promising well. The weather so far has been favorable for the work. Lambton says that sugar beets are yielding from eight to fifteen tons to the acre, with a sugar test of from 12 to 15 per cent.

Kent says that the average yield of corn as shown by the husking is not up to the average of last year.

Opinion so far is divided as to the acreage of fall wheat sown, some counties showing an increase and others a shrinkage. On the whole the area seems to be somewhat less than that of last year.

Fresh cows and springers are bringing around $60 in Dundas County.

Victoria says: "Our local Holstein breeders held a sale of pure-bred stock on Thursday this week. Prices were rather disappointing." Hogs are lower, selling around $10.50 F.O.B.

Waterloo states: "A few farmers have been picking up feeders for the winter. These are being bought at all the way from 4½c to 5½c a lb., depending on the quality."

Lambton says: "The shipping of finished cattle has dropped somewhat in the past few weeks. Hogs of good bacon type are being marketed from the county. Friday 33 out of 65 hogs were graded select bacon by official graders at Watford who were giving a demonstration at that point."

Grey says: "Lambs are being sent out to market quite freely of late. Some Blackfaced lambs at the Sheep Fair at Chatsworth on October 13 were sold for 13c per lb. Hogs are also coming out quite freely."

A carload of grade Yorkshire sows were shipped to Quebec during the week for breeding purposes. A load of pure-bred Oxford sheep went out also. More interest is being taken in sheep in this county.

Sucking pigs are selling at from $8 to $10 a pair in North Simcoe. Little pigs are quoted in Frontenac at $11 a pair.

Fall rains have put the land in much better condition for plowing, and many farmers are turning under all they can, with the fair weather than is now prevailing. Other fall work is also being pressed, but competent help is hard to procure in many quarters.

Dundas says: "We had a frost about the 25 of September which caught some of the corn pretty hard, and as the weather was very bright and dry following it, there was some corn put in the silos this year, yet it was much too dry to make good silage. Some farmers added water, while others are taking a chance on it being all right."

A Thought

By faith Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, Hebrews 11:8.

Keep not standing, fixed and rooted;
Briskly venture, briskly roam;
Head and hand, where'er thou foot it,
And stout heart are still at home.
In what land the sun does visit,
Brisk are we whate'er betide;
To give space for wandering is it
That the world was made so wide.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE.

White is, of course, the favorite color of the bride.

Brides of the South Sea islands, naturally dark skinned who dress so that much skin is revealed, frequently on the eve of their marriage smear their bodies with a thick white composition resembling paint.

This constitutes their chief attempt to gain a festive appearance.

CUSTOMS WATCHING FOR SILK THIEVES

A Determined Effort Is Being Made to Prevent Smuggling of Stolen Textiles Into Canada.

OTTAWA, Oct. 18.— (Canadian Press.)— All ports of entry from United States into Canada are being closely watched by an augmented force of customs preventive officers in an attempt to check the smuggling of silks and textiles into the Dominion. Hon. Jacques Bureau, Minister of Customs and Excise, stated that complaints had been received by his department from people in various parts of the Dominion against this smuggling, which was stated to have shown a decided increase. The commissioner of customs and chief preventive officer had therefore decided upon special measures in an effort to stamp out this illicit entry of goods. These efforts would be extended across the whole of the International border until the smuggling was wiped out, if such was possible.

SEX TRANSFORMATION IS CLAIMED BY SCIENTIST

LONDON, Oct. 18.—(Associated Press)—The day should come, according to eminent zoologists, when science will be able to determine and to control the power of growth. The interest taken in this subject was shown by the numerous audience which attended a lecture on intersexuality before the British Association by Dr. F. A. E. Chew.

Dr. Chew is the scientist who last year reported the result of some remarkable experiments during which he changed hens into crowing cockerels. The continuation of these experiments, he said, had resulted in the complete reversal of the sex of hens and cockerels. But his lecture this year dealt chiefly with goats.

A case was known to him, he said of a goat which had won prizes when an immature female and which came later to assume male characteristics and in behaviour was a male.

"I believe," he said, that an animal possessing the function of the female can undergo such a complete transformation as to function as a male.

CANADA'S TRADE TENDS TO EXPAND

Report Shows That Imports Are Decreasing and Exports Increasing.

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press.)—The tendency of Canada's trade to expand, her exports to increase, and her imports to remain about stationary, or decrease, at present, is shown in the summary of Canadian trade covering the first half of the fiscal year, issued by the Department of Customs and Excise yesterday.

The first six months of the fiscal year closed on September 30th last. On that day, the grand total of Canadian trade stood at $759,374,880, or $37,664,156, more than in the six month period which ended September 30, 1921, when it totalled $721,710,724. When the figures for the month of September of the present year are compared with those for the same month in 1921, an increase of $13,857,005 is shown. In the month of September alone this year, Canada's trade totalled $133,252,691, as against $119,395,686 in 1921.

PAUL'S EARTHLY POSSESSIONS

"The singer who has a fine note in her voice may blaze in diamonds; the speculator who make a lucky venture in the stock exchange, or the distiller who manufacturers some horrible intoxicant, may, in a year or two have his carriages and his palace, his title and his estate. But the thinker who has raised the aim of nation, may die unnoticed, and the poet who has enriched the blood of the world be left to starve. Paul pours out his life a libation on God's altar in agonies and energies for his fellowmen. He cleanses the customs, he brightens the hopes, he purifies the life of men. He adds for centuries to the untold ennoblement of generations, and what is the sum-total of his earthy reward? What is the inventory of all his earthly possessions as he sits upon his prison floor? Just "the cloke that I left at Groas and the books and the parchments." (See also 2nd Timothy, chapter 4, verse 8.

Talk with the boys and girls, regularly
By Long Distance

"Hello, Mother! How are you all? Your voice sounds just as natural as if you were sitting beside me!"

Long Distance is so satisfactory that in an increasing number of homes a regular weekly talk with the boys or girls at College or Schools at an appointed hour, (often at Station-to-Station rates) has become an established habit.

There is a feeling of contentment, of satisfaction, when you have actually talked with the absent ones that proves worth many times the small charge for a Long Distance message.

After 8.30 p.m. the evening rate on Station-to-Station calls is about one-half the day rate.

Try it.

Let's Change Our Garments to the Tune of Whistling Winds and the Snap of Frosty Twigs Underfoot

Let's Don the New Coat with the Collar of Fur or Cloth, and Pay Little Heed If It Snows or Blows

It has been a great pleasure to assemble all these beautiful garments and it is an even greater pleasure to show them. They are smart beyond words. Superior talent must have designed them, and certainly expert sewers put them together. From the highest to the lowest there is not a mean looking garment in the entire collection, that encompasses dozens and dozens of styles, colors and materials. Priced as low as $19.75 and up to $120. Plenty of intermediate prices.

Seal Brown Velinette Model at $118

Luxurious is the proper word to describe this handsome wrappy model of seal brown velinette. The sleeves are just what you would expect in shape, wide and straight, but the surprise comes when you note the beautiful silk embroidery workings done in brown to match. Heavy tassels adorn the back and fall from beneath the folds of the sleeves. The new side-front closing is displayed to advantage. Its crowning glory is a deep collar of plucked beaver. Lined with seal brown Canton crepe. Price, $118.

Utility Coats English Models $25 to $37

Inexpensive garments, yet swagger and weighty. All well tailored with single or double inverted pleats down the back, patch and pouch pockets, belt all around, leather buttons. An assortment of handsome tweed mixtures in a variety of plain and heather tones.

A Swagger English Model at $37.50

One would never confuse this model with a cheaper garment. The velour is so fine, the seams so well finished and the general lines so excellent that a single glance is sufficient to determine its worth. Besides the patch pockets are two slashed breast pockets. Raglan sleeves and leather buttons. A beautiful lovat shade.

Stubley's English Chinchilla Coats, $62

Mannish garments these, but oh, what lovely warm materials, and how swagger, too! Heather mixtures of green and brown shades, with raglan sleeves, patch pockets, belts and welted seams. The quality of the chinchilla and the tailoring certainly maintains the fine reputation of English fabrics and garments.

THE MATERIAL IS OF VELINETTE and the color is an elk tone, but it is the collar of genuine plucked beaver that will immediately captivate your fancy, and when your eye travels below the collar along the graceful flaring lines of the back, with its cording of the material edged with blue and gold stitching all forming a narrow panel that terminates before it reaches the waist, then your captivation is complete. The pretty sleeves with their gathered cuffs held in with a band of the material, stitched with blue and gold and finished with tassels, are thrown in for good measure. Full lining of Skinner's satin. Priced at $119.

THE LOOSE ENVELOPING LINES of the Rappaport model are splendidly exemplified in this garment. The maker gives the material the fitting name of suedine and the color is a clear taupe shade that harmonizes with the deep collar of lynx. The sleeves are on the mandarin order with a small opening at the wrists and pointed flare cuffs, split and faced with navy blue and a half cuff of the lynx. The back is plain except for the lower portion where panels are formed by navy blue braid worked in scrolls. The narrow tie belt can be arranged inside or out. Fully lined with Skinner's satin. Priced at $118.

IF YOUR FANCY TURNS TO NAVY BLUE, and preferable something in a light navy tone, then this model of Ramona will hold much charm for you. All its loveliness is capped with a deep collar of mole. The back is formed by side pleats and the deep loose cuffs are prettily turned-back in a novel fashion. Fully lined with light grey Canton crepe. Priced at $95.

FOR THOSE WHO WEAR BLACK, by choice or circumstance, there is a delightful garment of black broadcloth with a collar of black seal. It is expertly tailored. Its principal trimming is numerous straps about one-inch in width, that start upward at the hem to a height of about twelve inches —some more, some less—where they are finished with pointed silk darts. This continues completely around the back and extends part way on the sides. Fully lined with dark grey satin. Priced at $69.

IF $52 IS YOUR PRICE, then here is a model that will satisfy your pocket-book, and also your ideas of style. The material is a lovely fawn-toned duvetyne and the collar is of natural opossum. The full back that descends from beneath the collar is trimmed with panels of silk stitching interspersed with buttons. A cross-over belt is arranged in front and the cut-in pockets show to advantage. Fully lined with floral silk.

Beautiful Model in Elk Colored Suedine $79

The maker selected elk colored suedine for this model and the result is quite pleasing. French beaver shawl collar and cuffs give it both dignity and warmth. A novelty trim appears on the four seams of the skirt. It is a serpentine-like effect of raised cords of the material itself. A narrow string belt restricts the fullness at the waist. Priced at $79.

O. S. Size Coats at $52

Large size figures will be pleased to know that we have a suitable model at such a favorable price. Choice of navy or brown in English velour. Made with a loose back and belted all around. The back is relieved by two groups of cording, one on each side and six to a group. Collar and cuffs of beaverine. Narrow string belt. Sizes 42½ and 44½.

For the Stout Figure— A Model at $59

There is a pleasing gracefulness about this model. It is designed for the woman who requires a size 42. The material is sand duvetyne. The back is panelled by side pleats. The pockets are a novel inside arrangement and trimmed with large buttons of self material. A deep French beaver collar envelopes the neck. Narrow belt goes all around, fully lined with satin de chine.

Great Choosing from from $42 to $47.50

The materials are fine quality velours and duvetynes. Every garment is fully lined and interlined and all have beaver collars and cuffs—some in convertible and some in lounge styles. Loose, flare and regular sleeves predominate. A fine range of shades, ranging from light fawns to dark browns. Sizes 16 to 44.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, Oct. 18.— (Canadian Press.) — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows: Demand 4-4456; cables 4-4481.

CASH GRAIN.

MONTREAL, Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press.)—Export trade in Manitoba spring wheat here yesterday was quiet owing to drop in demand but there was some business in the local cash grain market.

The flour market was without special feature. There was no change in the millfeed situation and the tone of the rolled oats market was firm. Prices are steady under modertae demand for baled hay. A very firm feeling prevails in the egg market with prices fully maintained. Potato prices are up five cents to ten cents per bag. Business was somewhat quiet and demand limited in the butter market. The tone of the cheese market remains very firm.

EGG MARKETS.

OTTAWA, Oct. 18.— (Canadian Press.)—A good many States eggs continue to arrive. Some of these are being bought at the present market level which is very favorable considering the prices ruling in this country and other stock is that which is being held to the account of Canadian importers. To-day's wire from Chicago describes that the market is dull and weak. There seems to be a feeling there that prices must materially drop before a healthy movement can be created. The export movement of storage firsts continues and it is said that exports to date are within about 3,500 cases of that of last year.

Toronto market unchanged.

Montreal firm, specials 53 to 55, other grades unchanged.

Winnipeg country prices unchanged, jobbing storage extras 39 to 42, firsts 35, seconds 29 to 30.

Saskatchewan markets firm. Receipts of fresh practically nil, storage jobbing 30 to 32.

Alberta and British Columbia markets unchanged.

Prince Edward Island country points 30, retail Charlottetown 32.

New Brunswick country points straight gathered 38, extras 45, jobbing St. John extras 52, lower grades 42.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press.)— Receipts 3,500 cattle and calves, 300 hogs and 60 sheep and lambs.

The undertone was decidedly weak on the cattle market yesterday and all classes and grades moved under a poor enquiry with buyers bidding generally weak over Monday's close.

Medium to good handyweight killing steers weighed up around 375 to 4.50; a few good butcher cows made 3.00, while good feeder steers ranged between 3.50 and 3.75, with a few choice making 4.00.

The hog market was steady, selects fed and watered 9.00.

A few lambs on sale were about steady at 9.00 to 10.00.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.— (Canadian Press.)— It was a bull market in wheat to-day, notwithstanding temporary setbacks due to a decline at Liverpool. Demand here broadened out after gossip spread that foreigners had failed to provide for their December and January requirements and were just starting to do so. The market closed strong, 1 1-4 to 1 3-4c. net higher with December at $1.15 3-8 to $1.15 1-2 and May $1.13 1-2 to $1.13 3-4. Corn gained 2 1-4 to 2 3-4 and oats 1 1-8 to 1 5-8 and 1 3-4c. GOUIN EXPECTS A BIG POPULATION

He Also Plans to Remain in Power at Ottawa For Ten Years.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—"We are going to remain in power for ten years at Ottawa; at the end of that period, there will be a census, and if we cannot show a population of from twelve to thirteen millions in Canada you will have ample reason to change the government, and we shall deserves to leave."

It was after first warning that he was about to commit an indiscretion that Sir Lomer Gouin made the above statement yesterday in an address before the Montreal Women's Liberal Club.

Speaking of the role of women in politics, Sir Lomer declared it to be the soothing element in the strife among men. "She should be the mediator and should watch out for wisdom and justice in everything."

He thanked the women for the fact that the province of Quebec had declared itself unanimously in favor of the old Liberal party and attributed that result in large part of their eloquence.

Referring to the immigration problem, he said that the best solution for an increase of the population and for the filling of the gap caused by the hundreds of thousands of lives lost in the war was a sane immigration policy, the energetic combatting of infantile mortality and a higher birth rate.

He claimed that the biggest task now facing Canada was the unification of races.

Collinwood, Ont.—"It is with pleasure that I write this note of commendation. I suffered with muscular rheumatism for three years and have been completely cured of same by taking a few packages of Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery after doctors' medicines failed to do any good. I am now free from all signs of rheumatism for which I most heartily thank Dr. Pierce and his wonderful medicines." Mrs. Kerwood Cook, Box 464.

HAVE YOU A COUGH?
This is of Vital Interest to You

Woodstock, Ont.—"My husband always speaks a good word for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and we both feel that he owes his present good health to this splendid medicine. Bronchial pneumonia, as a child, left him with chronic bronchial trouble and it just kept getting worse every year even though he doctored and tried every remedy recommended to him. Some nights he would cough so hard I used to be afraid he might die before morning. Last fall his mother advised him to try the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and from the first few doses he improved. It is just a year now and he seems to be entirely cured of all bronchial ailments." Mrs. S. M. Greer, 27 Sydenham St.

WILLIAM ROBB WON CLAIM AND COUNTERCLAIM IN SLANDER SUIT

Acquitted of Charge Laid by George A. Elliott of Dummer, and is Awarded $1900 and Costs.

DOUBLE VICTORY

William Robb of Norwood, defendant in the slander action instituted by George A. Elliott, a Dummer township farmer, secured complete satisfaction from both Judge and jury in the disposal of the case this morning.

This morning His Lordship addressed the jury reviewing the proceedings, and the verdict was returned in a little more than an hour.

MAYOR TAYLOR

speakers were of the opinion that discrimination against foreigners in such instances was lacking in a proper Christian spirit, and might in time constitute a national menace. Mrs. W. C. Morrison, of Sudbury, whose experience with foreigners, after being invited to come to this country to do the hard work, "for, you wouldn't have a gold, or a silver, or a nickel mine in Canada to-day, if it wasn't for the foreigners and the work they do," should not be asked to contribute a share of their taxes towards a Government grant which would benefit only the British-born citizens. "Such a thing would start dissension and party strife, and should be considered carefully."

Canadian Mothers.

The resolution, which did not specify particularly "needy" mothers, but said only "Canadian" mothers, was regarded by many of the delegates with disfavor. Mrs. Morris, speaking as president of the Ontario Provincial Command, considered it an unfair discrimination against citizens who, in many cases in her experience, were just as clean and hard-working, sometimes more so, than the British-born woman. Mrs. Morris was of the opinion that needy families did not require any encouragement along the line of having larger families, because usually the needy families had the most children, and as for the young people who were anxious to make a home first and have children after, she did not see the need for subsidizing them either. There were two extremes in families; the extreme that brought too many children into the world without having the means to provide for them properly, and the extreme that took such great care to provide for them beforehand that later, probably, all interest in raising a family was lost. In her experience, help was never lacking from many sources, in the case of prospective mothers unprepared for emergencies. Churches, hospitals, doctors and charitable societies weer always ready to assist in any way. Asking if any of the ladies could give an experience that was otherwise, where assistance was lacking in such need, the answer was "Not in Canada."

Mrs. V. H. Hare, of Fort Erie, was of the opinion that Canada should not be made, "like too many other countries," a place where grants were possible for everything, where people might come simply to depend on the Government in every emergency.

Put to a vote, the resolution saw only two auxiliaries as supporters, all other delegates present voting against it.

Luncheon to-day and to-morrow will be served by the local branch of the Ladies' Auxiliary in the ladies' rooms at the G.W.V.A. hall.

SALTS FOR KIDNEYS BETTER THAN DRUGS

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water— you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations so clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure ;makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what become of your kidny trouble and backache.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT HAS BEEN CONCLUDED

News of Apsley and the District—Salmon Trout Return to Spawning Beds.

APSLEY, Oct. 18.—The A.Y.P.A. Lawn Tennis Tournament was after many postponements concluded on Friday. The mixed doubles final was won by Miss Myrtle Windsor and Rev. C. Spence who defeated Roy Brown 6-4; 6-1; the last named player taking the place of George Carr who defaulted through absence In the singles Rev. C. Spence was victor, beating G. L. Spence in the semi-final 6-3; 6-5; and in the finals defeating Roy Brown 6-0; 5-6; 6-1.

Salmoon trout are coming up to the spawning beds in great numbers in Trout, Long and Jack's Lakes.

They seem quite indifferent to the lure of the angler's baits, spawning evidently being a serious business with them and taking all their attention.

A REFUGE CENTRE.

PHILIPOPOLIS, Bulgaria, October 18 (Canadian Press). — Within the last six days this city has become the great refugee centre of the flood of exiles from Eastern Thrace, suddenly begun last Friday, and since then the stream has been continuous.

Arrivals are principally Armenians, who fled in panic at the first news of the impending return of the Turks. Many were robbed en route by Thracian bandits, and few have more than sufficient supplies for two or three days.

A hastily organised relief committee has sent an urgent appeal to Constantinople for aid from the Near East Relief and the American Red Cross.

CANADA'S PARTICIPATION.

OTTAWA, October 18 (Canadian Press). — The extent of Canada's participation in the British Empire Exhibition to be held in London in 1924 will be decided at this afternoon's meeting of the Cabinet, it is expected.

When the members of the Mission placed their memorandum before the Council last week, asking that Canada take part in the Exhibition, it was decided to ask the Hon. W. S. Fielding, who was in London, to look into the matter at that end, and make a recommendation.

The report from Mr Fielding, it is understood, has been received, and will be before the members of the Cabinet to-day.

VELVET FROCK.

A black velvet gown of unusual beauty has a draped skirt, lined with supple royal blue satin revealed by the drapery. The upper part of the frock is heavily beaded in blue-matching the lining.

ALWAYS THE SAME ALWAYS THE BEST

How to Make Home-made Bread in an Excelling Class by Itself.

Every housewife, to say nothing of her family, glories in home-made bread, when the flour available stands in the premier class for its making. And that housewives in Peterborough may have a select flour which not only never disappoints but surprises in results which excel, the Quaker Oats Co. of Peterborough are manufacturing a high-grade flour peculiarly adaptable to baking bread at home.

"Quaker Flour" is the name and Quaker reputation stands behind this product, in producing which nothing is left to chance. Only perfect wheat grains are selected, and before passed as OK it must produce under test bread perfect in size, flavor, color and wholesomeness before marketed for sale for baking perfectly delightful bread and also cakes that are irresistibly inviting.

Lovers of the best home cooking will consult their own interests by reading carefully the advertisements of Quaker flour running in The Examiner, and then writing the Quaker Oats Co., Peterborough, for their own baker's recipes for home-made bread, supplied without cost.

SEES ANOTHER FIGHT COMING IN NOV. 1923

Coal Users Are Warned to Lay in a Stock Once This Coming Winter is Over.

A local business man sufficiently interested in the coal situation to go into the matter, while in Montreal a couple of weeks ago, sent the following to the Examiner as his view of the situation.

"Coal in Montreal is now quoted at a premium of $5.00 per ton or based on a price of $13.50 per ton at the mines. The Pennsylvania commission have their inspectors throughout the border states making sure that no export of coal by water takes place until the United States has a better supply. It is expected that some lake coal will be moving Canada-ward in a couple of weeks with independent operators seeking a price of about $5.00 per ton more than the business would warrant under ordinary conditions.

It is anticipated that the real struggle will come in November, 1923, when the present agreement expires as the mine operators are determined that wages shall come down and during next summer after April prices are fixed— a supply will be offered for following season's need in order that a fight to the finish with the miners may take place at the expiration of present agreement. The public will be warned next April that they must then look towards getting in their 1923-24 supply as it will be too late if left until the winter.

While this does not make matters easier for this coming winter it partially explains the present delay in the forwarding of Canada's supply of hard coal.

It has been figured that 20 carloads of copper are used to carry a telephone message from New York to Chicago.

IN MEMORIAM,

On the Sudden Death of Mrs. D. E. Eason.

What words can tell, the grief and pain
That wrung our hearts that awful day,
When first we learned that she had passed,
Forever, from this world away.

And, O, in most appalling form
Of swift, relentless, seathing, flame
Sudden, as falls, from cloudless skies
The lightning flash, the summons came.

Soon death brought merciful release
From brief, but bitter agony.
A fond farewell, to one most dear,
And then, from suffering she was free.

Oh, can it be, that we shall see
Her happy, smiling face, no more,
That all our days, of social joy,
And pleasant intercourse are o'er?

Her home of love, the blest abode
Life, bright, with future promise shone,
One hour, and on death's sable wing,
Life, light and love for aye are flown.

Why thus life's sun, in dark eclipse,
Should sink ere noon, we cannot tell,
But this we know, that God is good,
And doeth all things, wisely, well.

When all the power of reason fail,
To make His hidden mysteries clear,
The voice of Revelation speaks
Sweet words of comfort, hope and cheer.

He doth not willingly afflict,
Nor grieve His children, here below,
His loving hand will never cause,
One needless pang, one tear to flow.

Her earthly mission was fulfilled,
The appointed task, completed, done,
Not her's to toil till close of day
Till full reward and rest was won.

With her the radiant sunshine seems
Forever from one dwelling fled.
Unsolaced by her loving smile,
Her dear ones, must life's pathway tread.

But the image of a friend so dear
Can never from our memory fade,
Still in true hearts, she lives the same,
Although in silent churchyard laid.

Dear friends, a last fond tribute pay,
In flowers fair of beautuous bloom,
That to sad hearts a message brings,
Of life, and love, beyond the tomb.

A solemn warning to us all.

Is taught by her untimely fate,
Mortal, prepare thy God to meet
While open still stands, mercy's gate.

And calm, and peaceful be her sleep,
On flowery banks of Little Lake
Until the Archangel's trumpet sound
The dead, to endless life, shall wake.

God comfort those most near and dear,
With Heaven's own balm, relieve their pain,
And bring them home, at last to Thee
Their loved, and lost, to meet again.

HARD TIMES VISITED THE AZORE ISLANDS

LIBSON, Oct. 18.—(Associated Press)—Living condition in the Azore Islands are very bad, and the outlook for the Islanders is most gloomy, according to Jose Rebello de Bettencourt, a journalist of the islands who has recently come to Lisbon.

The chief cause of the trouble is that foreign ships have virtually given up putting into the island ports for repair and supplies. Days and days pass at Ponta Delgada and Fayal, and no ship shows up. And things ashore are going from bad to worse. The ships do not come principally because the local authorities succumbed to the temptation of profiteering. Meat has been, and is sold today, to residents at one escudo a kilogram. But the Town Hall authorities have a monopoly in the sale of this commodity, and they have fixed the price of foreign ships at tweny escudos a kilogram. American and other captains have been instructed by the owners not to replenish at the Azores unless compelled to do so, and furthermore, these vessels now carry larger supplies of preserved meats. Hence they give the Azores a wide berth.

The cost of living in the island has advanced greatly. The regulation against the export of cattle has brought cattle breeders to poverty, and many farm tenants have been compelled to relinquish their holdings to the owners.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED—

You call on a new acquaintance before inviting her to your home to any social function.

You attend to certain duty calls, regardless of how much you may disregard merely social calls.

You call before and after a funeral in the family of a dear friend, and after the birth of a child and when a friend announces her engagement.

These are recognized obligations.

CONCERT AND DINNER BROKE THE RECORD

Annual Event By Presbyterian Church, Lakefield, One of Genuine Excellence--Sumptuous Repast

PERSONAL MENTION.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 18.—The annual dinner and concert given by the Presbyterian church in the Memorial Hall on Monday evening proved a record breaker as regards attendance and general excellence. The ladies spared no pains to provide a sumptuous repast, and the programme committee followed suit with a splendid entertainment. Miss Harrison of Peterboro gave two solos, Miss Alma Stinscombe rendered two readings, while Master Ashton Fife of Peterboro a lad of about two years of age, took the house by storm with his reading and recitations.

The local talent varied from the little folks to grown-up contributors. Miss Eva Hendren and her little brother Jack rendered a duet and Jack also contributed a recitation. Master Douglas Smith, a popular favorite, also gave a solo. Miss Cullen, Mrs. Burrows and Mrs. S. S. Sutton and Dr. J. C. Smith all sang solos, which were much appreciated. Rev. P. L. Jull who acted as chairman in his usual efficient manner, made a few fitting remarks and introduced the various contributors.

Lack of Appetite

When Due to Indigestion, Acid, Sour, Bloated Stomach, Is Restored By a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet After Meals.

When there is indigestion and the stomach does not seem to relish food it is a great mistake to starve or to use stimulants to force appetite. The best way is to woo the stomach back to health by giving it the help it needs, the alkaline effect that arrests acidity, prevents gassiness, belching, sour risings, flatulence, pressure that seems to crowd the heart and such distresses due to indigestion. Chew one or two of the large, white tablets after eating, no water needed, and the stomach settles down to restful digestion, you feel eased and comfortable and you get the good of food. You now tackle pie, cheese, pickles, sausage or anything you like without fear as you have the means to prevent the distresses arising from indigestion. Get a 60 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to-day of any druggist.

TWO PERSONS LOST WILDS OF MICHIGAN

HOUGHTON, Mich., Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press.)— E. L. Sheldon, an instructor in mathematics at the Michigan College of Mines here, and Miss Loretta Williams, Public school teacher, are believed lost in the forests of Northern Michigan in Keweenaw county. Searching parties composed of students from the college left yesterday morning to reinforce parties that went out the previous day and last night. Keweenaw county is on a peninsula and the most northerly point in Michigan. The northern part of the county is densely wooded. Sheldon and Miss Wiliams left here Sunday for Lake Fannyhoe to hunt partridge. The snow which started to fall Monday afternoon, continued all Monday night and adds to the fears felt for their safety.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

STANDARDIZED SCHOOLS ASKED

Celebrated General Electric Expert Favors This Type of School.

SCHENECTADY, N.Y., Oct. 18. —National supervision of American school system is advocated by Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, celebrated consultant engineer of the General Electric Co.

Such centralization, he believes, would raise educational standards far beyond what they are to-day and make possible a thorough education for every child.

"In basic principles," said he, "it is my opinion that American educational institutions are operating along the right lines. But they are crude in their methods. This is perhaps because they are new—only a generation or possibly two generations old."

Dr. Steinmetz is well qualified to criticize schools. His parents endowed him with an extensive education. His education in German schools and colleges was, as a matter of fact, his only asset when he arrived in New York as an immigrant in 1889.

Studies Schools.

Here in Schenectady, a city of nearly 100,000, he has several times served on the school board. His natural keen interest in educational affairs has been given a personal trend by the school experiences of his two grandchildren.

The doctor has never married, but he has an adopted son. The son grew up, married and it is with the son's family that Dr. Steinmetz makes his home.

"American schools should all be placed under national control," continued the doctor, as he leaned across the desk in his library, "even though they be paid for locally. Then schools in one state would be on a par with those in another. Graduation from any high school would admit a student to college without regard to credits or the necessity for entrance examinations.

"Consider the subject of history as an example. A pupil selects American history because that gives him one credit. He chooses ancient history because that gives him another credit. As a result he learns nothing of history between the fall of Rome and the landing of the Pilgrims. Yet he and his parents and teachers are satisfied because he has acquired two credits. Everybody seems to forget that education, rather than credits, is the real reason for going to school.

The widely heralded "play element" in education is not wholly approved by Dr. Steinmetz. Although favoring anything that will develop and hold the interest of pupils, he says:

"When we first get the public school products at the General Electric, works, we often find that it takes two or three years for them to acquire concentration and industriousness—if they acquire it at all. Children educated to do everything by play would have a hard time adapting themselves to hard work.

"The important thing to keep sight of is that schools primarily are run to supply education and not to enable students to get credits. Centralization under federal control would make American schools what they should be — the best in the world."

SANDY TELLS WHY HILLCRESTS LOST

Too Many Individual Players in Athol Gow's "Hand-Picked" Aggregation.

The mystery now is "What happened to Athol Gow." Athol made life wearisome for the most of us telling in the Toronto Star just what a wonderful outfit this Hillcrest team was. He took their first defeat by Belleville very much to heart, but the second one knocked him out altogether. It may be possible to gather a team together in Toronto some day that will have a chance in Central League company, but it will not be in the season of 1922.

Galt and Belleville will not fight it out for the Provincial championship, the first game to take place in Galt today and the return at Belleville on Saturday.

So many people remarked: "why we didn't think Belleville had a chance against that hand picked team of Hillcrests." Hillcrest's victories this year have been due to their superior fielding and their ability to bat, rather than any outstanding performance by Canon Ball Scott and when the Hillcrest team bumped up against the mysterious Mr. Williams, their batting didn't count for much. Individually the Hillcrest team is stronger than Belleville, but that Belleville team works just like an old machine every player fitting into his place.

The victory affords one of the best lessons in the benefits of co-operation and once more proves that individual cannot resist the mass. Jack Williams, the hero of the day pitched a team to victory at Valcartier camp during the war. His brother was his battery mate and his father the chief rooter. They were all in one unit, but Jack lost his battery mate in France.

TARRED AUTO TRACKS INCREASE THE SPEED.

MILAN, Oct. 18.—(Associated Press)—The Italian system of tarring the surface of automobile racing tracks, invented in 1901 by a civil engineer, Guido Pimini, has been described by Senator Silvio Crespi, President of the Italian Automobile Club, as the best in existence from the point of view of the speed obtained.

During the Grand Prix of the Autumobile Club of Italy, run recently at Monza, a driver reached an average speed of 90 miles an hour in bad weather, while at Starsbourg similar cars did not surpass 80 miles an hour under perfect conditions. The Monza track had been treated in the Rimini manner, while the other had not. Signor Rimini builds his roads of cement and then applies a thick layer of tar.

Some Sidelights On World Series

By BILLY EVANS.

In the world series the Giants and the Yankees the Giants were supposed to be much weaker in pitching. This alleged weakness failed to develop the members of the Giants' staff more than held their own.

* * *

In doping out the chances of the contenders none of the experts laid any stress on the hitting of the pitchers. It was contended that the pitchers would dominate the series, but through their pitching, not hitting.

* * *

As a matter of fact the hitting of the Giants' pitchers was as important to the success of the National Leaguers as the actual hitting. In two of the four victories score by the Giants the ability of the National League pitchers to hit started a rally that won the game.

* * *

McQuillan, according to the National League averages, has a mark of considerably less than .200, yet it was McQuillan who made possible the four-run rally that beat Mays in the fourth game of the series.

* * *

With the Yankees leading 2 to 0, in the fourth game, Catcher Synder of the Giants opened the fifth inning with a single. Mays "grooved" a fast one to McQuillan and he doubled to the left field bleachers, sending Snyder to third. Three more hits followed, scoring four runs, enough for the Giants to win, 4 to 3.

* * *

On the next appearance of McQuillan at the bat Mays worked carefully on him and struck him out on three pitched balls. He swung feebly at three subway curves and looked like the worst hitter in the world. Yet his two-base hit just about decided the issue in the fourth game.

* * *

It is tradition in baseball that a pitcher should never throw a slow ball to a pitcher at bat. Pitchers are usually weak hitters, so it is regarded as the height of folly to toss a slow one and give them a chance, since careful pitching will dispose of them in easy fashion.

* * *

In the third inning of the third game Waite Hoyt, with one strike on Scott, threw him a slow one and Scott singled to centre. That hit started a two-run rally, enough to win the game.

* * *

In the final game of the series Joe Bush had all kinds of trouble pitching to Artie Nehf of the Giants. In his three appearances at the plate Nehf walked twice. It is regarded as a tough break to walk a pitcher. Bush was up against it twice.

* * *

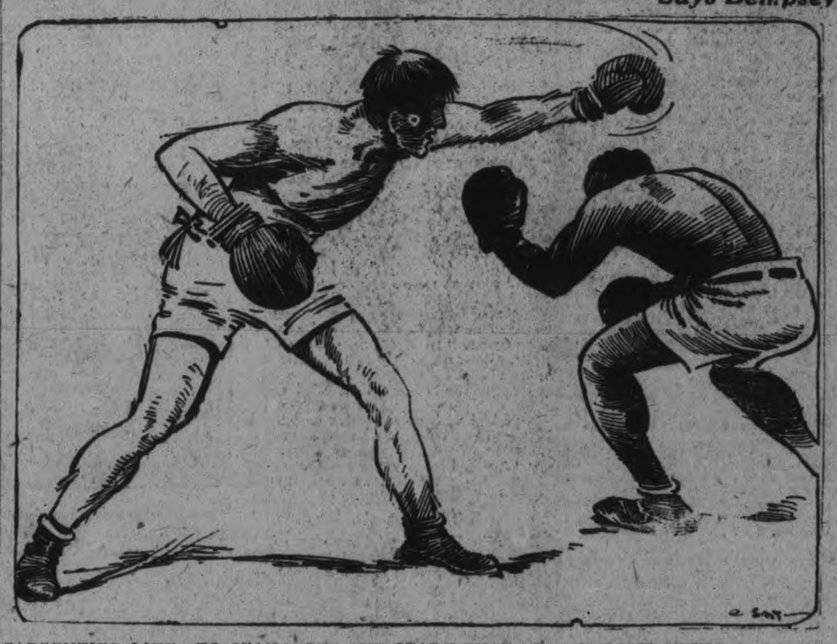
Not only did the Giants' pitchers twirl good ball, but they also made themselves decidedly helpful at the bat. Little was expected for them in that department.

* * *

On the other hand it seemed as if the Yankee pitchers worked rather carelessly with a pitcher up and dug their own graves.

That's How to Handle Chaps Like Siki

—Says Dempsey



CARPENTIER LIKES TO STAND OFF AND START THAT LONG RIGHT SWING.

By BILLY EVANS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—"Either Siki is quite a fighter," said Jack Dempsey, "or else Carpentier is through or he entered the ring against the Senegalese in poor condition.

"I'm inclined to the last opinion."

Dempsey is a great ball fan.

Next to boxing he likes his baseball.

It was baseball I started to talk to him about, but of course the conversation drifted to the Carpentier-Siki encounter.

"Carpentier," said Jack "is a fine chap and I felt his defeat keenly.

"I thought Siki would prove a set-up for him.

"He used poor tactics in playing constantly for Siki's jaw.

"The only way to beat those fellows is to get in close and hammer away.

"Carpentier likes to stand off and start that long right-handed swing."

Just at present Jack is taking a keen interest in a young heavyweight who may oppose the champion for his title some day.

I refer to Floyd Johnson, an Iowan.

Johnson is much talked about in New York because he has scored five knockouts, though none of his victims was a fighter of any great class.

I saw the young Iowan box three rounds with Dempsey recently, in which Jack coached him constantly.

Then Dempsey threw on his bathrobe and acted as Johnson's second, while the latter took on another heavyweight. During each rest the champion pointed out to his protege the mistakes he had made in the preceding round.

Jack is a mighty busy man. It would be hard to find a parallel in the fight game for his generosity in coaching his almost-recruit. Champions, as a rule, are stingy in dishing out advice. If Johnson gets anywhere he will have much to thank Dempsey for.

JACK RENAULT IS AFTER THE MONEY

Matched to Box Tunney But Cancelled the Bout on Account of the Low Percentage Offered.

NEW YORK, October 17 (Canadian Press). — Although Jack Renault is a comparative newcomer in the heavyweight division, he apparently has mastered the financial phase of the boxing business, declares a local sport writer in discussing the cancellation of Renault's bout with Gene Tunney as a result of the Canadian fighter's dissatisfaction with his share of the purse.

Renault, who acted as a sparring partner for Jack Dempsey, was matched to box Tunney at Madison Square Garden next Friday night, and there was considerable interest in the meeting.

But Renault in some manner learned the percentage which had been promised to Tunney, and was chagrined to see that it was very much larger than the allotment to himself. The Canadian quickly notified the Garden management that he would not box unless he received as large a percentage as Tunney. This was refused, and Renault cancelled the bout so far as he was concerned.

As the Garden people could not get anyone to meet Tunney on short notice, they were compelled to call off the affair and substitute Sid Marks and Charley White.

Renault will not be permitted to box in this State until such time as he fulfills his engagement with Tunney.

Eddie is at present in St. Paul, Minn, but will be here within the next two weeks.

Inside Dope on How Centre Beat Harvara

By BO McMILLIN.

Football fans were stunned last fall when the wires flashed the 6 to 0 defeat of Harvard by Centre College.

The defeat of the great Harvard eleven by insignificant little Centre was the big upset of the 1921 football season.

I happened to be lucky enough to carry the ball in the play that scored the lone touchdown of the game. I will always carry with me the memory of that play.

"How did you score that touchdown?"

"How did Centre manage to defeat the great Harvard eleven?"

Those two questions have been fired at me hundreds of times during the past summer.

If Centre had defeated Harvard in 1920 it would not have been such a great surprise, as many football fans believed we had a chance.

Harvard defeated Centre that year, 31 to 14. The game, however, was not nearly as one-sided as the score would indicate. Only in the final minutes of play did Harvard [illegible] of the Crimson was too great.

[illegible]ore of the 1920 game, a [illegible] of football fans expected Harvard to run rough-shod over us. The 6 to 0 victory came as a great surprise.

Now for how I scored that famous touchdown, and the dope on how Centre put over the big thrill. I attribute Centre's victory to three things:

First—By securing "Tiny" Thornhill, a former University of Pittsburg star, who is well schooled in the Warner system of football which Centre uses, who is an efficient line coach in every respect, and who was well liked by the boys. Along with him were added a few new linemen which made our forward wall strong enough to withstand the Harvard attack.

Second—Instead of using an open attack as we had been doing all season, and as we did in the Harvard game in 1920, I resorted to a driving game, always kicking before the fourth down.

This was a great surprise to the Harvard team as they had been coached against our open game and were only playing six men in their line of defense.

We only used three forward passes during the entire game in comparison with twenty odd in the battle of 1920.

Third—But most of all do I attribute our victory to the team spirit and co-operation that was lacking in the Harvard game the year before. (This team spirit I will cover in one of my later articles.) In that game the fellows were begging not to run with the ball, but to be allowed to block the tackle or end, etc., as the case might be.

It was this spirit of self-sacrifice in begging to interfere by my teammates that enabled me to make the run that eventually won the game.

The only score of the game happened just after Bartlett made a daring running catch and return of a Harvard punt.

Harvard was penalized 15 yards for piling on, putting the ball in our possession on their 35-yard line. I called time out, gathered the boys around me and said:

Every fellow went back to his position as though he was inspired. Snowday asked for the privilege of playing the position where it would be his duty to block the tackle. Armstrong was to block the end. Roberts was to lead outside tackle with me carrying the ball.

Every fellow did exactly what he was supposed to do. I followed Roberts off tackle, reversed my field, Gordy cut down their right halfback and I ran onto a touchdown. Wonderful interference on the part of my teammates made possible the run that beat Harvard.

Hoppe After Old Title

HOPPE.

Willie Hoppe, former world's billiard champion, will attempt to regain his 18.2 balkline title at the International tournament to be held at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York, next month.

Some time ago it was announced that Hoppe was out of billards for two years, certain of the rules under which he was required to play being unsatisfactory to him. His manager explained that, among other things, he couldn't afford to have his tours interrupted to defend his title.

Nevertheless, the first entry received for the coming tournament came from Hoppe and no qualifications were included with it relative to regulations, the impression being given that the ex-champion is prepared to accept the rules as he finds them.

Sherbrooke to Enter the Canadian League.

SHERBROOKE, Que., October 18 (Canadian Press). — Indications are that Sherbrooke will become one of the links of the Canada Baseball League next year.

The question has been considered for some time by the local baseball magnates, who had another conference with Joe Page, president of the Canada League, while he was in town last night.

Mr. Page stated that the Canada League would not beg Sherbrooke to come into the circuit, but said that the League officials were anxious to have Sherbrooke a member.

Therefore the decision is up to the local officials, and it is likely that a meeting will be held shortly and a decision reached on this matter

RULES OF MANY GAMES WILL BE IN ONE VOLUME

O.A.C. Will Distribute One Copy of Book Free to Each School.

The Ontario Athletic Commission has arranged with the A. G. Spalding Co. to place under one cover the rules of baseball, (indoor and out), lacrosse, hockey, football, tennis basketball, soccer, volleyball and handball. The commission will distribute one copy to any public or separate school in the province free on application to the commission office, 46 Richmond Stree West, Toronto. Any pupils desiring copies for themselves may secure them from the publishers.

The commission is undertaking to distribute 10,000 copies of this publication free of all cost, one to each school. Obviously to the commission cannot undertake to send copies to any but the teachers, to be uesd as books of reference for their respective schools. Likewise only those schools thinking it worth while to ask for copies of the book of rules will get them.

The idea of having under one cover the ruels of practically every game played in the schools fills a long felt want, and should be a great boon and convenience to teacher and student.

Local public school will no doubt avail themselves of the opportunity of securing copies of the rules as it will be very valuable in conducting all branches of sport.

YALE EXPECTS TO HAVE STRONG TEAM

Defeat By Iowa Is Laid to the Fact That Several of the Regular Players Were Out of the Game.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., October 18 (Canadian Press). — Despite the defeat by Iowa last Saturday, Yale football circles are optimistic about the rest of the season, and expect a strong comeback in the next few weeks Poor work by the tackles and the necessity of using a makeshift backfield because of injuries to the regulars were offered by football headquarters as the chief reasons for Saturday's defeat

Captain Jordan was back in uniform yesterday, and went through a signal drill with the Varsity His return and the probable return of O'Hearn next week are expected to strengthen the Varsity for the Army game

In yesterday's practice Lovejoy replaced Landis at centre

Statements from Yale football headquarters commented on criticism that had been directed at the coaching system, and vigorously upheld the regime of Tad, and held that with anything but a makeshift team he would have defeated Iowa.

SPORT GOSSIP

John McGraw and Ty Cobb are the only two major league managers who direct what style ball shall be thrown by their pitchers. McGraw gives the signals from a seat on the bench, while Cobb flashes them from centre field.

A number of American fight fans who saw Battling Siki knock out Georges Carpentier at Paris have returned and brought with them little enthusiasm for Siki. Most of them seem to think there are a score of heavyweights in this country who would easily defeat Siki.

Bill Tilden, by the great tennis that he has played this year, is entitled to first place in the ranking list. This is the third time that Tilden has won such high recognition in the tennis world. The runner-up unquestionably belongs to William Johnston of San Francisco.

Bill Klem of the National League is the authority for the statement that "Reb" Russell of the Pittsburg club is one of the most valuable players that has broken into the National League in years. Russell, according to Klem, gave the Pirates the punch that sent his team on its way to a long winning streak late in the season. Russell is the former White Sox pitcher who suffered a lame arm and took to the outfield.

Radio Helps Map Making

EDMONTON, Alberta.—Surveyors are mapping the MacKenzie River district in Northwest Canada by radio.

Equipped with small radio receiving sets, the men penetrate into the unexplored regions of this territory and ascertain their exact locations by the use of these instruments. The radio set has been found to increase the efficiency of their work.

In mapping out the surrounding lands, surveyors have been depending upon calculations from the differences in local and standard Greenwich time. By taking observations of the stars with his surveying instruments the map maker is able to calculate his local time. This he would compare with Greenwich or some other standard time so as to derive from this his exact geographical position.

Old Methods.

Where telegraph was available, the surveyor would get his standard time by wire from the nearest large city. From this difference in time he would calculate his distance from the known point. But in cases where the men have had no means of communication they have taken along high-grade watches or chronometers keeping Greenwich time.

After a long, hard trip, even the chronometers would err for the difference of about a minute from the exact time. A minute's difference meant an error of several miles in their calculations.

That is why radio is being depended on now for a more accurate survey of this district. It has been found to assure a more accurate location of the surveyor's position than any method used heretofore.

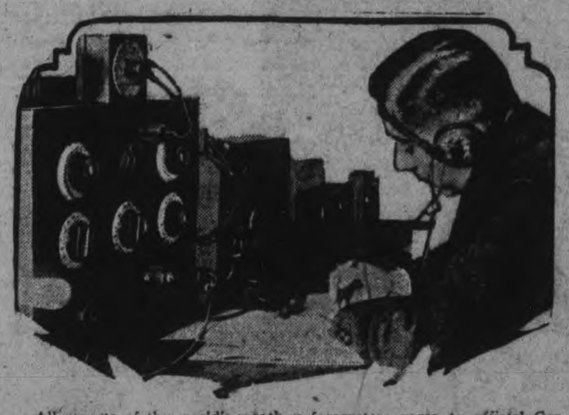
New Way.

By the radio method a surveyor first ascertains his local time. Then he sets up his receiving set and tunes in on some broadcasting station from which he can receive the Government time signals.

Knowing the location of the broadcasting station, the map maker calculates the difference in time between that place and his locality. He finds that the time in Ottawa, for instance, is so many hours, minutes and seconds ahead of his time. Then, by some calculations, according to certain formulas, he learns exactly how far distant and in what direction he is from Ottawa.

Error in calculations of this sort, it is believed, will be reduced to such an extent that longitudes will be determined with almost certain accuracy. Instead of a difference of miles there may be only an error of some 50 or 100 feet.

GERMANY GETS WORLD WEATHER



All reports of the world's weather forecasters come to official Germany by radio. This is part of the receiving equipment of the huge Berlin station which receives reports from London, Paris and other important centres. Later, from the transmitting end of the same station, a summary of these reports are broadcast to radio fans in Germany.

Canada Expects To Have Three Million Buffalo in Fifteen Years

Shaggy Monsters Who Roamed the Western Plains in Hoards Once Dwindled to Four Calves, From Which Present Herd Developed.

The great waste plains of Canada are to be stocked with the bison, or buffalo, and also with a new animal—a cross between the buffalo and the yak. The undertaking, which is far-reaching in its effect, recalls the romance of the world's greatest herd of buffaloes. Less than twenty years ago, the number of pure-bred buffaloes living in captivity in the Dominion of Canada could be counted on the fingers of four hands, and it was the opinion of many naturalists that the buffalo had passed away forever. Today Canada has 6,000 head of these shaggy monsters of the plains, and they are increasing so rapidly that the herd is expected to total 50,000 by 1924, and to reach the three million mark in fifteen years' time.

It was in 1908 that the Canadian Government secured the famous Pablo herd of buffaloes. It owes its origin solely to four calves, two males and two females, that were saved in 1875 from slaughter by an Indian. Several years later they had increased to about a dozen head, when they were purchased by an illiterate but shrewd Mexican half-breed, Michel Pablo. He turned them loose on a great reservation in Mexico, where they thrived and increased. In 1907 the United States Government decided to throw the reserve open to settlement. This meant that the buffalo had to be displaced. Pablo offered them to the American Government, but they were so slow in making up their minds that the Canadian Government forestalled them, purchasing the whole herd, or as many of the animals as could be caught and transported over the border, at £40 a head. All told, 716 were thus secured.

The buffalo were placed in a special park in Northern Alberta. It is 15,875 square miles in extent, being the largest enclosure of its kind in the world. It is entirely fenced by galvanized wire, 75 miles long and 9 feet high, in the construction of which 1,700 miles of wire and 25,000 posts were requisitioned. The park is also protected from fire by a strip of land plowed each year forty feet wide, twenty on either side of the wire. This vast region contains rolling plains, plentifully dotted with lakes and well wooded—an ideal habitation for these shaggy creatures.

Today the herd numbers 6,000 head, and their increase is now so rapid that the present range, immense as it is, will soon be inadequate. Recognizing this, and desirous of doing something practical with this valuable herd—for all told the Canadian Government has sunk £400,000 in their buffaloes—they have formulated a daring and original scheme. They are crossing the buffalo with yak, and also with domestic cattle, in the hope of producing a new beef animal which will thrive without attention in the northern territories of the Dominion. Even the northern parts of the Prairie Provinces are too cold in winter for ordinary domestic cattle, unless shelters are provided and the stock artificially fed. But the buffalo will thrive in these regions, and also in the great plains still farther north. He needs no shelter and is capable of foraging for himself.

The idea of crossing the buffalo with domestic cattle with a view to obtaining a new beef animal is not new. Many farmers have tried it, particularly M. Boyd, of Ontario. He built up a herd of such hybrids, known as "cattalos," and when he died in 1915 the Canadian Government purchased twenty of them and transported them to the plains of Alberta. To the delight of the authorities, they were found capable of standing the severe winters, without shelter or assistance. But in order to obtain a still stronger stock yak were imported from Asia, and between the buffalo, yak and cattalo a suitable offspring will undoubtedly be obtained. But the chief aim is to obtain an animal that carries a high percentage of meat upon its back, and this the new hybrid does. As a test of meat quality the officials recently sent samples of meat from a fully matured cattalo bull to twenty-five householders. This was accompanied by cut of ordinary beef. Sixteen of the householders declared in favor of the cattalo. If the animal had been young the percentage would, no doubt, have been higher, pure bison meat being as tender and nourishing as young beef.

The placing of such herds of buffalo and their hybrids on the great northern plains is certainly an experiment of far-reaching effect. It will mean first that the world's supply of meat will be augmented with virtually little cost, for the ranges over which the animals will roam can easily be reached by a splendid system of waterways. Furthermore, it is proposed to place the animals under the supervision of the Royal Mounted Police and to permit sportsmen, on taking out a license to kill one bull. This will mean a new source of revenue to the Government. Thus has the buffalo, which one time was so near the extinction stage, came back as a servant to man.—Harold J. Shepstone, F.R.G.S.

ADVERTISING FOR WIFE IS NOT NEW.

Getting a wife through advertising was employed as a method in colonial days. This is an advertisement from the Boston Evening News for Feb. 23, 1759:

GET READY FOR THE CHASE.

Special Train For Hunters.

The open season for hunting deer and moose in Northern Ontario is rapidly approaching. South of the French and Mattawa Rivers Nov. 5th to Nov. 20th inclusive; north and west of these rivers, Oct. 25th to Nov. 30th inclusive. North of the Transcontinental Railway line the season is from Sept. 15th to Nov. 15th inclusive.

The Canadian National Railways traverse the finest hunting territory in this country. This fact with their special and regular train service makes "The National Way" the premier line for the hunter. The hunting grounds are so vast there is game for everyone.

The selection of grounds is a most important matter and one which requires careful study. The territory reached by the Canadian National lines north of Parry Sound is already a favorite one, but the new country east and west of Capreol is as yet comparatively little known to the hunter and should, therefore, be highly attractive to the follower of the deer and moose.

The Canadian National Railways are providing special train service, which, with regular trains, will meet all demands. Special trains will be operated as follows: Leave Toronto Union Station 11.15 p.m. Oct. 31st for Capreol and intermediate points, and 11.15 p.m. Nov. 2nd, 3rd and 4th for Key Jct. and intermediate points. The usual ample accommodation of sleeping cars, baggage cars and coaches will be provided.

The Annual Hunters' Leaflet issued by the Canadian National Railways is now ready for distribution, and may be obtained on application to any agent of the Company, or write General Passenger Department, Room 607, Royal Bank Bldg., Toronto. 5d-18-21-25-28-30

BREWERS

The home brewer, making beer and wine in his cellar, is technically as much a violator of the Volstead act as the bootlegger peddling "white mule." The home brewer, of course, chloroforms his conscience by imagining that he operates under the wing of an unwritten law.

Find a way to make the country absolutely bone-dry for 90 days and you'll get action on prohibition, one way or the other. A final and definite decision is next to impossible as long as prohibition is on a half-hearted attempt at weaning.

WAGES

Wages of factory workers in New York state average $24.77 a week apiece says industrial commission's report.

This is, within a few cents, double the wages paid in 1914 when the war was getting under way in Europe.

Economists say that New York factory wages are a national weather-vane. Are they right?

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

You will remember that a woman travelling alone dresses inconspicuously. A dark gown or suit is most appropriate and jewels and picture hats are decidedly out of place.

Likewise, a woman conducts herself with dignity and a certain aloofness. While it is permissible, on long trips, for fellow passengers to become friendly, one's conversations with strangers should be impersonal.

TOM MEIGHEN IN GEORGE ADE PLAY

Combined Talents of Star and Foremost Humorist Result in Unusually Entertaining Picture.

Thomas Meighan in a Paramount picture by George Ade, "Our Leading Citizen," is the feature attraction at the Capitol for the last three days of this week. In this picture the combined talents of America's foremost humorist, George Ade, and the eminent film star, Thomas Meighan, have resulted in one of the most entertaining presentations of the present season. Wholesome, clean, amusing, with a dash of thrill and a charming love interest, it has been very successful wherever presented.

Thomas Meighan is supported by Lois Wilson and Theodore Roberts, the grand old man of the screen, and a well-balanced cast. In this picture Ade brings to the screen the wholesome, humorous type of story that everybody wants. And he could not have found a man to interpret his hero better than his friend, Thomas Meighan.

Alfred Green, who directed Mary Pickford in "Little Lord Fauntleroy," is responsible for the directorial work on "Our Leading Citizen," and he has done an intelligent and clean-cut job.

A Snub Pollard comedy that is a real laugh-producer and Pathe News complete the usual well-balanced Capitol programme.

AT THE ROYAL.

WILLIAM RUSSELL HAS ANOTHER FINE PLAY

There's a fine picture at the Royal Theatre and will be shown for the last time to-night. William Russell is the star in the Fox production "A Self-Made Man" Some of the big punches in the film are a boxing match, a trained bear who "swings a wicked mitt", and a lively mix-up between the star and one of the other characters The love story is not of the sugar-water or mushy brand but is the sort that makes the spectator wish to be one of the principals. It is a great tale for real folks There is plenty of comedy, some fine photography, and a well-picked cast. The director apparently did not overlook anything that would add to the entertainment value of the photoplay.

William Russell goes through the picture on high, with all six cylinders running like clockwork His is no lollypop portrayal. When he moves he radiates vigor. Renee Adoree portrays the sweetheart bewitchingly

"HUNKY DORY"

To understand the inwardness of the accompanying photograph it must be told that Sir Harry Lauder and Sir Thomas Lipton, made a bet before leaving England at the same time, on different ships, as to which would arrive in New York first.

Sir Thomas Lipton won and though Sir Harry Lauder has a certain Scotch reputation for clinging rather cannily to money he looks quite cheerful just after paying his bet, when this photograph was taken.

In the picture Mr. Macdonald Watson, chief comedian and author of "Hunky Dory" which will be seen at the Grand, Thursday night, October 26, is showing Sir Harry just how much money he could have made if he hadn't lost his bet to Sir Thomas, and invested it, instead in a good bond drawing 6 per cent interest. Judging by the smile on his face this doesn't worry Harry Lauder particularly; maybe he is thinking of the money he will make on his tour of America this season.

Harry Lauder originally wanted to play the chief role in "Hunky Dory" but failing in that was not content to see the play once. He saw it seven times during its successful run at the Apollo Theatre, London and liked it better each time. He predicts a successful tour in Canada, because, to quote him "it is breezy and clean and true to life." It is rare for one great artist to admire another, but Sir Harry is unstinting in his praise of Mr. Watson's great characterization in his delightful comedy which will be seen in this city.

REFUGEES IN FEAR OF TURKS

Gather at Rodosto Waiting For Ships Which Do Not Come.

RODSTO, Thrace, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press).—This town has a jumping off place in the Greek evacuation of Eastern Thrace.

Twenty-eight thousand panic-stricken refugees are gathered here all dominated by the same fear of that Turk that swayed refugee crowds in Smyrna three weeks ago. Everybody believes that the Turks are almost at their door, and nothing can reassure them.

The general belief is that Kemalists will arrive simultaneously with the British troops of occupation and every refugee hopes to put a long stretch of water between himself and Rodosto before that event.

The whole town and all its extra population have abandoned any pretence of performing normal duties, and have gathered along the gravel beaches, waiting nervously for ships which do not come.

It was rumoured that Belleville would give Williams a rest for the game in Belleville and use Mallen, their second string pitcher, to-day, but Manager Gerow, however, decided to use the Indian star, Mills, of course, doing the receiving. PRESIDENT OF C.W.L. TENDERS RESIGNATION.

A meeting of the Catholic Women's League took place last evening at St. Alphonsus' Lyecum. Miss M. A. O'Connell presided. Miss Mary Lonergan recording secretary, read a letter from the president of the society, Mrs. G. H. Popham, tendering her resignation on account of her coming absence from the city, as she intends to spend the winter in the south. The election of a president was left for a later date.

A report on the convention of the Catholic Women's League of Canada recently held at Winnipeg, was read by the delegate sent by the local branch (Miss Margaret Heffernan) who gave a very interesting and comprehensive account of the activities of the League during this meeting.

Arrangements were made to hold a tea next week at St. Alphonsus Lyceum. During the evening, Miss Lucille Doris rendered a much enjoyed instrumental selection.

A LONG FELT NEED SUPPLIED.

Commencing Friday night of this week, Mr. A. G. Bentley will hold a weekly Bible teaching class in Gospel Hall, making a complete study of the church Epistles, taking them in chronological order, beginning with first Thessalonians, this being the first of all the Apostle Paul's writings. FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

Sterling—4.43⅛.

(By Stuart P. West.)

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 18.—The two most important incidents in the markets to-day were a further sharp advance in sterling exchange and another rise in cotton, which carried prices above the 23 cent level, that is, the highest of the year.

Drawing towards $4.48 sight drafts on London were less than 4 cents in the pound under the high figure of last June. The upward movement had a two fold significance. First, it was the natural relief that the immediate financing in connection with the $50,000,000 payment on the British war debt was out of the way, and second, it was a recognition that having assumed regular service of this debt after having balanced its current operations in the International trade, there is no longer any serious obstacle to the return of sterling to pre-war party.

The rise in cotton prices to the best they have been in 1922 was especially interesting in view of the recent recovery of 15 cents a bushel in wheat prices. Together they mean much for the purchasing power of the agricultural districts and therefore have a powerful bearing upon the entire business outlook for 1923. It would have been better, of course, in the case of both cotton and wheat if the improvement in prices had been brought about by increase in foreign and home demand rather than through decrease in the prospective supply.

The day's stock market as a whole, was simply a repetition of the type of market now grown so familiar; individual stocks were moving in opposite directions, where interest was constantly going out of one group into another and where price changes in consequence were extremely confused. A market of this kind only means that professional operators are simultaneously selling some stocks while buying others, and that the stocks being sold are made to look weak, while the stock being bought appears strong.

As a rule the high priced industrials, shares, in which the public has little interest which are mostly in control of wealthy investors and speculative capitalists, were the sort of stocks most favored.

Speculative excitement over the Mexican Oils was sustained at a high pitch by the statement of the president of these companies while no plans for distribution of treasury assets had been perfected, they had been under consideration for some time. With this encouragement speculative Wall Street continued to indulge its imagination regarding other companies which might be in a position to distribute stock dividends, and this led to a general taking up of high priced industrial specialties. Meanwhile the rest of the list was a good deal unsettled and after the first hour or so was inclined to sell off.

MINING STOCKS.

TORONTO, October 18.—Dome Mines and Teck Hughes kept up the interest in an otherwise quiet mining market.

Dome advanced to $40.00 and to $40.25, a new high record on the Toronto stock exchange and in New York.

Teck Hughes opened up 2½ points at 95, later reacting to 93½.

Wasapika was the most active issue traded in, and ranged from 18 to 17.

Beaver declined 1½ points from an opening of 34.

West Tree at 16¼ was practically unchanged. The market indicates that it is merely waiting for a leader to take it into new high ground.

BLIZZARD IN MONTREAL.

The telegraph ticker service was interrupted this morning by a severe blizzard in Montreal, Lower Quebec generally, and Wesern New York State.

SPECULATIVE-INVESTMENT COMMENT.

Looking over the list of current rates of earnings, it is important not to miss the fact that many leading companies are earning present dividend rates two and three times over; and it is an old Wall Street saying that "earnings make prices." Furhermore, the prospect is favorable to expansion, because volume of trade is still below normal but shows a strong tendency to enlarge.

"If ever there was a market which demonstrated the fallacy of individual control it is the present one," says a well-known source. "Offhand, it is possible to recall the names of perhaps 20 men in the financial district who carry lines of from 150 to 250,000 shares each. A half dozen probably carry double that quantity. There are an equal number in the uptown offices and a still greater number of merchants whose names are unknown utterly to the financial community, who deal in large blocks. In the larger cities outside New York there are men whose lines are fully as large as those carried here. There isn't a professional operator in the Street who could make a dent in these lines of his own accord. Forget personalities and study conditions in an axiom truer today than ever before in the history of Wall St."

There is persistent gossip in prominent quarters of favorable dividend action by St. Louis & Southwestern.

THE Rental Value AND Earning Power OF MONEY

are two different things. Are you satisfied at a small return when, with safety, you might make a good interest rate and have the speculative side as well. At present MINING SPECULATION is uppermost. If you choose with discretion you will make money quickly. Ask your Broker for advice.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of my dear sister, Clara Maggie Childs, who died Oct. 18th, 1918:

In loving memory of days gone by
And a sigh for a face unseen,
A constant feeling that God alone
Knows best what might have been.
What would I give to clasp her hand,
Her cheery face to see,
To hear her voice, to see her smile
That meant so much to me.

We think of you in silence
And your name we oft recall,

But your photo on the wall.

Lloyd George And His Government Resigned To-Day

LLOYD GEORGE AND HIS COALITION GOVT. STEP DOWN AND OUT

Unionists in Caucus This Morning Repudiated Coalition Government and by a Vote of 186 to 87 Decide in Favor of Appealing to the Country.

THE PREMIER'S RISE WAS AN ADVENTURE

A "Flash" message to the Examiner at 11.20 to-day reads that Premier Lloyd George, of Great Britain, has resigned as head of the Coalition Government.

This action by the Imperial Premier evidently followed repudiation by Unionists in caucus this morning of his administration. By a vote of 186 to 87 the members at this caucus declared in favor of going to the country as a united Conservative party.

REPORT CONFIRMED.

LONDON, Oct. 19.— (Canadian Press.)— Official announcement of the resignation of Premier Lloyd George was made this afternoon.

The resignation of Viscount Peel, Secretary of State for India, was also announced.

CABINET MEMBERS RESIGN.

LONDON, Oct. 19. — (Canadian Press.)— Several of the Unionist junior members resigned from the Cabinet immediately after the Unionist meeting this morning. Those included Stanley Baldwin, President of the Board of Trade; Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen, Minister of Agriculture and Fisheries; Lieut.-Col. L. C. M. S. Amery, Parliamentary and Financial Secretary to the Admiralty; Sir Phillip Greame, Minister of Overseas Trade; Sir John Baird, Under Secretary of State for the Home Office; and Col. Leslie Wilson, Joint Parliamentary Secretary to the Treasury, and Chief Unionist Whip. Captain H. D. King, another of the Unionist Whips, and Colonel Alberta Buckley, Assistant Unionist Whip ,also resigned.

Announcement of the Government's resignation was made by the Central News and up to 4.23 o'clock this morning no official or other announcement of it appeared.

Has King Accepted?

After a brief audience with King George this afternoon, Mr. Lloyd George returned to Downing Street, where he received a miners' delegation, but according to Frank Hodges, who headed the delegation, Mr. Lloyd George said he could not consult them as Prime Minister since he had resigned. Members of the miners' delegation said Mr. Lloyd George had told them the King had accepted his resignation.

Outlasted All Others.

Lloyd George outlasted all statesmen who have guided great nations through the world war. In the turmoil of readjustment that followed that conflict, he kept his seat at the steering wheel while other lost their leadership. Three men with whom he sat at Paris as the "Big Four" of the peace conference were toppled over. Premier Orlando, of Italy, was forced to resign in June, 1919; Clemenceau, the French tiger, was cast aside in the following January, and two months later the Senate of the United States refused for a second time to ratify the peace

Clothiers See Pants With a Corset Effect

CHICAGO, Oct. 19. — The correctly-attired man of the next few months will wear trousers with a corset effect, delegates to the National Clothiers' Convention asserted there yesterday. They exhibited models to prove it. A pliable belt permanently attached to each side of the trousers and drawn around and fastened in front gives the corset effect, belts and a topcoat provided with an effective yoke, will be popular, the clothiers said.

GAVE ADDRESS TO DELEGATES

Last Night's Session of the Ladies' Auxiliary Convention—Mr. G. N. Gordon Was the Speaker

The visiting delegates here in conection with the convention of the Ontario Provincial Command of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the G.W.V.A., were entertained last evening with a pleasing entertainment in the main hall of the G.W.V.A. rooms, the programme arranged by Mrs. R. J. Devey, treasurer of the local branch, Mr. Harvey Staunton, president of the local G.W.V.A. branch, occupied the chair, and G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., opened the programme with a well worded address, expressing whole hearted appreciation of the assistance rendered the country by the Ladies' Auxiliaries to the G.W.V.A., and wishing them every success in the furtherance of their splendid work. Mr. Gordon referred to the larger problems which confronted the members from time to time in the progress of their work; the cases involving lapses of morality, the disputed rulings of the Pension Board in matters where disability through war service was disputed; the difficulties surrounding the lives of young girls engaged in industrial work in the big centres, the many considerations which came up constantly, that required the womanly perception, the feminine word of advice or sympathy. The speaker referred to the great legislative changes of recent years in matters relating to ways and means of living; in child welfare; in protection of young women in industrial life; in things that made for the well being of the people at large. He also alluded to the days when any sort of man, whether illiterate or moral or otherwise, had an inalienable right to the vote, whereas the most enlightened woman in the community, was denied a voice in public affairs. The time has also come he said, when a man who voted in a certain way, because his family had always voted so, might be worthy of being placed in a museum as a curiosity.

Mr. Gordon concluded with a sincere wish that the deliberations of this conference might be profitable and assist in encouraging the carrying on of the work which was an important part of the duties and obligations of the woman of to-day.

The programme, which was greeted with applause, was as follows:

DAVIS HILL IS SENT TO PEN. FOR 2 YEARS

Magistrate Langley Adjudges Him Guilty of Having Poisoned Sister-in-Law's Cow.

EVIDENCE CLEAR

In the County Police Court this morning Magistrate O. A. Langley pronounced a sentence of two years' imprisonment in the Kingston Penitentiary on Davis Hill, for cattle poisoning.

In the Magistrate's address to the Court this morning, he made a brief sketch of the whole case, explaining his reason for convicting the prisoner.

Outstanding Facts.

The outstanding facts of the case were, His Worship said. that the cow was poisoned on Friday night, September 29, or early on Saturday morning, by a mixture of Paris green, arsenic of lead and arsenic of copper, given to the animal by a drench. The cow was found dead on Saturday morning by either Davis Hill or May Hill, having spots of poison on it in different places and also showing signs of having choked. The case was reported to the magistrate by Davis Hill and to the police station by May Hill, was followed by the arrest of Davis Hill by Provincial Constable George E. Cookman.

Evidence Clear.

At the trial the evidence given by May Hill pointed to the accused. She told of a quarrel between Davis and Russell, and about her attempts to keep accused away from her home. May Hill also voiced her opinion that Davis poisoned her cow for vengeance against her. She also stated that she saw him take the poison from the package and start off with it; and furthermore that she knew that Davis was aware that she saw him.

The evidence given by Russell Hill was in contradiction to that of his wife, and was of very little use to the Magistrate in making his decision. Russell's statement, His Worship contended, that he had sold the cow to Davis, proved to be unfounded, as there was no written agreement between the two men or known of by anyobody else before the trali .

The evidence by other witnesses was not gone into fully said the Magistrate, as it had little bearing on the case.

Another Case

Eighteen months ago a resident of this city, who had been ailing for some time, had three X-ray examinations made and was told that his Gall Bladder should be drained and his Appendix removed. He had had a severe attack of Gall Stones, requiring a hypodermic, and his heart was so weak he would frequently fall upon attempting to rise after lying down.

Instead of the operation, which would have cost him between two and three hundred dollars, as well as much suffering and loss of time, he took a three months' treatment of Gallagher's Blood Purifier and the Kidney Remedy; has had no return of the trouble, has been working steadily and has remarked to the writer that he has not felt better in ten years. This man's name and address will be furnished anyone interested.

A three months' treatment for Rheumatism, Gall Stones or Gravel costs only seven and one-half dollars. Is vegetable in composition and is beneficial to the whole system. The Gallagher Remedy Co., Limited, Peterborough.

MADAME FAHEY AT GEORGE STREET CHURCH.

An event of outstanding importance is the recital of Madame Lugrin Fahey, to be given to-morrow night in George Street Church. Her brilliant soprano voice, pronounced by critics to be one of the finest of our generation, has delighted and thrilled vast audiences in New York, Chicago, Toronto, and other large centres. Her programme, as published in The Examiner recently, includes many well-known favorites. Peterborough is indeed to be congratulated on the visit of such an outstanding artist.

"Let George Do It" Seems To Be Spirit of Many Local Citizens

Unless Financial Aid is Forthcoming Quickly One Section of Ontario Will Be Slated For a Lot of Hardship—Blizzard Sweeps Over the Fire Stricken Territory Around Haileybury

A blizzard swept over Haileybury during the early part of the week, with the wind and snow howling across the fire-swept spaces in a forty-mile gale and the biting cold adding to the already heavy sufferings of the fire victims. With but little shelter and scantily clothed, the hardships to which these heroic Canadians have been put can easily be imagined, and only prompt and generous aid from communities who have escaped the horrors of fire and storm can alleviate their present sufferings and help them through a winter which will be none too easy at the best.

Peterborough has in the past ever been among the first and most generous to come forward with aid to the sufferers, but in this case, with the results of one of the greatest calamities in the history of the Province spread before them, many of the citizens of Petrborough seem to view the sufferings of their fellow-Canadians with a spirit of absolute indifference.

Warm clothing, to combat the rigors of winter, and money, to aid in the re-establishment of the devastated homes, are most urgently needed, and yet Peterborough's contributions rank among the smallest in Ontario. The cash contributions have totaled about $80. Think of it, $80 from a place the size of Peterborough! Contributions of clothing have been a little better, but not nearly up to the mark they should be and would be if the people of Peterborough were willing to give freely to aid the sufferings of their neighbors.

Contributions can be made through The Examiner, the Fire Department, the Red Cross and similar organizations in the city, and all contributions will be duly acknowledged. If any who wish to contribute clothing are unable to take it personally to any of the collecting points, a telephone message to that effect is all that is necessary and a messenger will be sent to get it.

Now is the time to give, and give freely, if we would do the most to aid the fire sufferers and remove a big blot from the fair name of Peterborough.

LEON TROTSKY DONS UNIFORM OF RED FLEET

Russian War Chief Gives Reds a New Thrill—Makes a Epeech and Refers to Stinnes.

REDS STILL WEAK

MOSCOW, Oct. 19.—(Via Tribune Wireless).—Leon Trotzky, the Russian Minister of War, appeared here clad in an admiral's uniform as commander of the rejuvenated Red fleet.

He was garbed in a blue serge uniform with brass buttons and his appearance in his new role was dramatically staged in the Ballet Theatre before 5,000 young men and women members of an organization known as Communist Youths, which prepares the younger generations for membership in the Third Internationale. This organization has been given the guardianship of the navy.

Shortly after the arrival of a naval guard of honor a sailor addressed the audience, following which the navy's flag was presented. No sooner had the flag been placed in the middle of the stage than Mr. Trotzky, looking very young and smartly clad, entered.

Conscious of His Uniform.

For a few minutes there was the wildest enthusiasm, comparable to a Republican national convention. There were yells, applause, cheering and singing, the climax of which occurred when a band played the Internationale. Mr. Trotzky and every one present stood and saluted the Red colors.

After the Internationale, Mr. Trotzky sought to gain silence and then he began speaking amidst the noise.

Conscious of his new uniform, Mr. Trotzky declared it was the first time in forty-three years that he had worn it, although he was accustomed to khaki. He then launched into a patriotic appeal for the fleet, which punctuated frequently with, "Watch the Red navy. Watch the Red navy."

Calls Stinnes German Dictator.

After defending Russia against charges of militarism Mr. Trotzky took a few shots at the French and Germans, saying that one of the reasons that Russia needed a fleet was to prevent a repetition of the French entering the Black Sea and reinforcing Whites, as was done for Gen. Wrangel's ill-fated army.

"Germany is pointed out as a democracy," said Mr. Trotzky, but it is really a dictatorship. After years of reparations discussions, when the climax comes, the French deal with Stinnes, the dictator, and not the people nor the Reichstag.

Mr. Trotzky, however, did not try to overrate Russia's strength.

"Let us not deceive anybody," he szid. "We are still weak and we must continue to strengthen ourselves."

$100,000 OR LOVE? WELL, CUPID WINS

Girl Breaks "No-Marriage" Pact With Father, Elopes

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Her father's promise of $100,000 if she remained unmarried until she was 30, was an inducement to Josephine Kryl, for six years, but the idea of another six years—well, the idea didn't last after she met Paul Taylor White, a music composer of Boston. A message signed 'Mrs. Paul Taylor White' announced that Josephine had broken her pact with her father.

Six years ago Josephine, then 18, was a promising violin student under the tutelage, of Ysaye, and her sister, Marie then 16, was an accomplished pianist. Their father, Bohumir Kryl, himself a noted musician, had great ambitions of careers for his daughters, so great that he exacted the same promise from each—to remain single until 30—when $100,000 each would be their reward.

The rule was so rigid that no young men were to be entertained in the Kryl home.

Last week Josephine who had signed contracts for European appearances this winter with various symphony orchestras, said she had an appointment with a dentist and left the Kryl residence. Her messages from Boston was the first word her father received since.

GRAND JURY AT LAKEFIELD.

The Grand Jury motored to Lakefield this morning to inspect the County House of Refuge. Yesterday they visited the local public institutions, and will probably complete their duties this afternoon.

THE EVIDENCE PRESENTED IN EVANS CHARGE

Question of Negligence Explained by the Crown —Boy's Body Was Badly Battered Up.

DOCTORS CALLED

That he did unlawfully kill Orlan Boyler on the night of July 10th last, was the indictment to which George Evans, known to his friends and to the Peterborough hockey crowds of a few years ago, as "Banty," pleaded not guilty in the assize court this morning.

Accompanied by Nelson Roddy and Grover Halpin, the accused, driving a stripped car, struck the boy in front of his home on the road east of the Locks bridge as he was bringing in the cows at nine o'clock for the night, Mrs. Boyler, who heard the crash of the impact from the lawn, picked up the crushed and broken body from the roadside a few minutes later.

The public gallery was comfortably filled by many of Mr Evans' friends when the case was called. He is defended by Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C.

Question of Negligence.

Mr. George A. Hutchison, K.C., of Brockville, who has been assisting Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K.C., during the assizes, briefly reviewed the facts of the case to the jury before Mrs. Hattie Boyler, mother of the deceased boy, was called. Mr. Hutchison said that the issue in this case was whether the accused was guilty of negligence in driving his car when the fatality occurred.

Mrs. Boyler said she had sent the boy to herd the cows at 7 o'clock in the evening.

"When I heard the town clock strike nine I called to Orlan, who was with some children down the road to come home. I saw him with the cows opposite Mr. J. J. Howden's gate. He was on the side of the road, not on the travelled part. It was just at dark. There is a light at our gate and one at Mr. Howden's."

Witness said the grade of the road shut out her view. She heard the children talking and next noticed the light of an automobile approaching from the city. It appeared to be running at high speed.

"I heard a crash and jumped to my feet," Mrs. Boyler continued. "I spoke to the boys and asked them if all the cows were in. They told me the car had struck a stone near the big gate toward the east side of our house. I said the accident was down near the little gate to the west side of the house. As I turned to go back toward the little gate I saw the body in the ditch on the left hand (north) side of the road."

To Mr. Hutcheson, witness said the body was found some distance up the road from the point where she heard the crash.

"Whose body was it?" Mr. Hutcheson asked.

"Orland" was the reply, in a lowered voice.

Mrs. Boyler said that she had last seen the boy on the right side of the road.

Dr. J. B. Mann.

Mr. Hutcheson asked that the medical evidence be put in next in order that the doctors might be free to attend to their duties.

Dr. Mann said that he had performed a post mortem examination of the body and described at length the injuries. The left thigh was crushed and broken, right thigh fractured, neck broken, bruise on the back, cuts on lips, jaw fractured, scalp wound on left side of the head and the scalp laid bare, skull crushed above left eye, with a wound about four inches long, skull broken above left ear, one eye missing.

"There was no appearance that the wheels had passed over the body," said Dr. Mann.

"From the condition of the body, what would you think caused the injuries?"— "It must have been a very violent blow."

"Having respect to the fact that the boy was struck by a car, what would you say as to its speed?"—"I should say the car was travelling at excessive speed to cause those injuries."

"Have you seen other motor car injuries?"—"Not very many."

Continuing, Dr. Mann said he saw the accused at the police station about 10.30 on the night of the accident. Dr. Raymore Scott was also present. Mr. Evans was brought into the room and sat between the

ENQUIRY CONCERNING PROCEEDS THE SCOTS GUARDS BAND TOUR

Matter Was Opened Up at the Convention but Was Not Pressed— Delegates Had a Drive Around the City.

TODAY'S SESSIONS

This morning's session of the convention of the Ontario Provincial Command of the Ladies' Auxiliaries to the G.W.V.A. opened shortly after nine o'clock, with the president Mrs. W. R. Morris, in the chair. The morning session was interrupted from ten to eleven o'clock by a motor drive around the city, provided in cars supplied by Mrs. C. Perry, Mrs W. R. Morris, Mrs. J. Johnston, Messrs. W. E. Conway, R. Fair, G. A. Gillespie A. Mowat, W. E. Massey-Cooke. The Peoples' Chimes,played by Mr. R. J. Devey, rang out also in their honor this morning for the space of fifteen minutes.

In order to give official recognition and evidence of their desire to further a good work and to help with an expression of moral support, the sum of $25 was voted by the ladies this morning, as a donation toward the drive of the Navy League. A larger sum was impossible of donation, owing to the small amount in the treasury, but it was felt that the sum donated would act as an evidence of good will and interest. Mrs. W. C. Morrison of Sudbury, made an appeal for the Navy League, speaking of the position in which wives and orphans of many of the navy men now found themselves. The men of the navy proper were pensioned, with their wives and dependents, but the men of the fishing fleets, the men in the mine and the merchant fields, were outside the pension funds altogther and it was these men, said Mrs. Morrison, who had taken the worst risks of the waters in the war days, when they knew that at any moment they might be blown to pieces Without them "our boys would not have been fed, nor could they have fought like they did".

Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Joseph Mills also concurred in these opinions, the latter remarking on the interest taken by the I.O.D.E. in Navy League matters.

First to Help

Col. T. J. Johnson was a visitor to the hall this morning, and extended his congratulations to the ladies on the work of their Auxiliaries. "There are no friends to the soldiers like the Ladies' Auxiliaries", said the speaker, 't'hey were one of the first to help the soldiers, and they are not

YANKS HUNTING KELLY, THE SPY

The Story of How Landis Landed on Skylarking Ball Club, and Players' "Pal."

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.— The inside story of why Judge Landis walked into the dressing room of the New York Yankees at Fenway Park, Boston, early in the season and delivered his now famous lecture to the players for gambling and skylarking, was made known today for the first time.

It all revolves around an individual known only as Kelly, who insinuated himself into the confidence of the players, ate with them, traveled with them, skylarked with them, and when he knew enough to hang them, figuratively, passed along his information to his employers.

His employers were the New York American League Base Ball club and Kelly was a private detective. He joined the club from nowhere in Chicago during the second western trip the team made and immediately proceeded to make himself a jolly good fellow. Nobody knew him and apparently nobody cared, for Kelly was a racing handicapper second to none, handed out live tips right and left and was a bright little sunbeam in thinking up ways to spend a dull evening.

Kelly and Cheer.

From city to city, the ball club went and with it went Kelly, radiating cheer and good will. So accurate were his tips that one player cleaned up enough money to buy a new car and the rest of them did very well, indeed. On one occasion, by way of divertisement, he organized a trip to a middlewestern brewery and after the party had imbibed, quite at variance with Mr. Volstead's beliefs, Kelly had the players lien up for a picture with flowing steins held high.

Meantime the thoughtful Kelly had mentioned his belief to the players that two newspapermen, traveling with the club for the first time, were in reality detectives, hired to watch the players. This proved annoying, but hardly a serious deterrent to the junket in progress, which by the way was the one in which the Yankees lost eight straight ball games and almost the pennant.

A very fine time was being had by all when the team reached Boston. Then the denouement.

Then It Happened.

It was after the first game there that Judge Landis walked into the dressing room, unannounced, and delivered his message of good cheer, naming dates, places and incidents with such accuracy that the players knew that they had been sold out by someone.

Even the fact that not a few of them were fined more or less heavily was secondary to the realiaztion that they had harbored an informer.

Suspicion for the moment rested upon the two baseball writers, but when it was pointed out that the pair in question attended ball games and nothing else, the players began to look elsewhere.

By the way, who was Kelly? Also, where was Kelly? Nobody knew the answer to either question. They are just as much in ignorance now ,although they would like very much to have a few words with him.

With the arrival of Judge Landis, Kelly stepped right out of the picture and has not been seen since.

SAYS ANLICANS SHOULD TAKE THE NEXT STEP

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press.)—Bishop Williams of the Anglican Diocese of Huron in a statement to the Free Press last evening replying to the reported statement of Rev. W. J. Clarke, moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, that the next step in consumnation of church union should come from the Anglican body, said that it would be a great pity if so important a matter should fall through because misunderstanding as to who should take initiative.

THE BRITISH COALITION GETS ITS DEATH BLOW

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press.)—The Lloyd George coalition received its death blow at the hands of the Conservative Party when Conservative members of the House of Commons and government ministers at their meeting in the Carlton club to-day voted by 186 to 87 to appeal to the country as a Conservative party. This creates a situation of greatest political confusion and uncertainty the country has known for many years. The next move certain to be made will be the resignation of Austen Chamberlain and his associates, Lord Balfour and Lord Birkenhead, from the cabinet. It is expected Prime Minister Lloyd George will then present his resignation to the King and advise His Majesty to summon a Conservative leader to form a Government. This course would be taken because the Conservatives have the largest number of members in the House of Commons. The Conservative leader expected to be picked for the task is either Andrew Bonar Law or the Earl of Derby.

DEBT CONFERENCE POSTPONED TO AN INDEFINITE DATE

British Felt Meeting Might Be Premature and Would So Run Risk of Failure.

VITAL QUESTION.

PARIS, Oct. 19. — (Canadian Press.)—The postponement of the proposed conference at Brussels on reparations and inter-allied debts, the date of which had been fentatively set for December, is foreseen in well-informed quarters here. The British Government is urging delay for two reasons—the first, that the meeting would be premature, and run the risk of failure, and the second, that the political situation in England was making it increasingly difficult to arrange in advance the plan for consideration of such vital questions as the cancellation of debts and the reduction of the German indemnity!

France has not yet made known her views on the suggested delay, but it is believed she will not oppose the fixing of a later date provided it be well understood that the conference has not been abandoned.

HONORABLY FREED OF MURDER CHARGE

Verdict of "Not Guilty" Rendered in the Case of Merrick Drummond, Charged With the Death of His Sister.

OTTAWA, October 19. Canadian Press. — Merrick Drummond, of Goulborne Township, who was arraigned at the fall assizes on a charge of murdering his sister, was honorably acquitted shortly after 6 o'clock to-night when the jury after being out for seven minutes returned a verdict of Not guilty, and Justice Lennox a few minutes afterwards honorably discharged the prisoner.

Throughout the trial Crown witnesses failed in any way to establish any definite evidence or circumstance connecting the accused with the death of his sister.

Merrick Drummond during the course of the afternoon session took the stand in his own defense and denied the efforts of J. A. Ritchie, K.C. the Crown prosecutor, to attach any blame on to him.

CONTRADICTORY EVIDENCE IN THE REGENT THEATRE CASE

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Clemence Seek $2,500 Damages For Injury Suffered By Mrs. Clemence in a Fall in Balcony Aisle.

HER HIP BROKEN.

Where witnesses for the plaintiffs said it was so dark they could not see their friends immediately in front of them, witnesses for the defence said there was light enough for any person with "good eyesight" to read a paper, during the hearing of the case of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Clemence against the proprietors of the Regent Theatre, Hunter Street, in the Assize Court on Wednesday afternoon, in which plaintiffs asked for $2,500.00 damages for injuries suffered by Mrs. Clemence, who broke her hip in a fall on 11th December, 1920, in an aisle of the gallery.

Another point of disagreement in the testimony was the statement of Mrs. Clemence and her friends that she fell at the bottom of the stairway, while the evidence presented by the defence positively asserted that the accident had happened on the fourth step.

Mr. George Schneider, secretary-treasurer of the proprietary company known as Schneider-Rishor, Limited, declared that the lighting system of the Regent was the best of Peterborough's film houses.

Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., was solicitor for the plaintiffs, and Mr. Joseph Wearing for the defendants.

The defence was closed, except one witness, at six o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the case was adjourned until 9 a.m. to-day.

On Saturday afternoon, 11th December, 1920, Mr. and Mrs. Clemence, accompanied by Mrs. Clemence's brother, Mr. Samuel Allison, and her sister, Mrs. Sarah Blythe, made a theatre party of it at the Regent. They decided to sit in the balcony, and on reaching the floor level upstairs Mr. Clemence struck a match to get his bearings, according to his testimony.

"I couldn't see any lighting at all up there," he continued, "and I don't know how we got down to where we sat."

Witness said he groped along the seats and finally chose a place about half-way down the aisle. The party remained there a short time, and then decided to move further toward the front of the gallery. They passed through the seats to the outside aisle, and while descending it Mr. Clemence, who brought up the rear, heard a noise in front of him, from which he quickly realised that his wife was hurt. He recrossed through the seats and asked the manager to turn on the house lights, but this was not done. He immediately summoned a doctor and an ambulance

Mr. Clemence testified that he couldn't see anybody upstairs.

"If there were any lights I would have seen them," he replied to Mr. Wearing.

"Did they have the 'dimmers' on?" asked Mr. Wearing with an upward sweep of his arm.

The Court Room lights were all switched on, although it was early in the afternoon.

"You don't mean those up there," commented Mr. Justice Middleton. "I dont know why they leave these on all afternoon."

"Because you are in the Electric City, my Lord, and we like to let you see that we have lots of electricity," was Mr. Wearing's prompt explanation.

Mrs. Clemence said she fell at the bottom of the stairs, at what was termed a cut-off step at the floor leading to an exit. It was also stated that the average drop of the stairs was 6¼ inches, but was increased to 8¼ inches in that last step.

Permanent Disability.

Dr. G. S. Cameron testified that he had attended Mrs. Clemence at the Regent. When he went upstairs it was dark, and he had difficulty in finding his way. The exit door was opened, and let in light where Mrs. Clemence lay.

"Mrs. Clemence was suffering great pain," Dr. Cameron said. "I thought she had a fractured hip, and at the Nicholls Hospital afterwards I found that she had. It was a fracture of the neck of the large bone entering the socket of the hip."

To Mr. Gordon witness said he believed Mrs. Clemence had developed a permanent injury. Dr. Moir and Mr William Comstock were also called at this stage of the hearing.

Walks With Cane.

It was adduced that Mrs. Clemence had been confined in the hospital 116 days, that for a year and a half she had to use crutches, and now required the support of a cane in walking.

Wouldnt Approve It.

Mr. Wm. Barry, architect, said it was never good form to vary the height of steps in a staircase.

Referring to a small wooden model of the balcony aisle, and pointing to the "cut-off" step at the bottom, Judge Middleton asked: "If you were employed by the city and sent out to inspect that and see if it was safe to the public, would you have passed it"

Mr. Barry: "I would not, my Lord."

House Well Lighted.

Mr. George Schneider, secretary-treasurer of Schneider-Rishor, Limited, said that the lighting of the Regent Theatre was entirely in accordance with the regulations of the Act applying to moving picture houses.

"We have more lights than any other theatre in the city," he said. "There are six 'dimmer' lights in the ceiling of eight candlepower each, whereas we were required to have only eight candle-power. That is just over the gallery. We have not only 48 candle-power in that part, but also three exit lamps of eight candle-power each. These lights are on during every show. We installed that system because we thought it best. It did away with side wall lamps. The walls were white, and the entire lighting system had been approved by the theatre inspector.

Witness explained that Mr. Head, the manager of the theatre at that

CLAIM ADVANCED PICKED MEN WILL ATTEND MEETING

An Emergency Meeting of National Unionist Association Called — May Split With Lloyd George

MANY RUMORS.

LONDON, Oct. 19.— (Associated Press.)—The only new feature in the political crisis yesterday was the development of dissatisfaction on the part of the Conservative peers and the rank and file with the alleged picked character of the proposed Carlton Club meeting to-day. There is increasing resentment over the limitation of the meeting to members of the House of Commons and the exclusion of the Conservative peers, it being contended that such a meeting would fail to be representative of the Party as a whole.

Moreover the meeting is regarded as an attempt to forestall the annual conference of the Conservative Party in Mid-November; hence the Executive Committee of the National Unionist Association, called a special meeting yesterday, Sir George Younger, chairman of the party presiding, and unanimously adopted a resolution instructing the committee to summon forthwith an emergency conference of the party. This emergency meeting is more likely to reveal the complete extent of the split in the Conservative Party over the question of Mr. Lloyd George's leadership than is the Carlton Club meeting.

Political activity is unabated and gossips concerns the possibility, should Parliament be dissolved, of holding general elections on Armistice Day, November 11.

CITIES WILL ASK A TAX REDUCTION

Delegation Will Meet Hon. Jacques Bureau to Protest the New Receipts Stamp Tax.

OTTAWA, October 19. Canadian Press. — A deputation organized by the Union of Canadian Municipalities and representing the principal cities and towns of the Dominion, will wait upon Hon. Jacques Bureau, Minister of Customs, on Friday next, and submit to him reasons why municipal corporations should be exempt from the new receipts stamp tax.

The deputation will be introduced by H. B. McGiverin,—one of the Ottawa members.

The prospective enforcement, as from January 1st next, of the new tax on receipts is causing concern to Canadian municipalities, it is said. The tax will cost some of the larger cities from eight to ten thousand dollars a year, the contributions scaling down according to the size of the municipality.

It is said that representations against the enforcement of the tax, insofar as the municipalities are concerned have poured into the Union of Canada Municipalities with the result that the deputation has been organized to meet the Minister.

If the tax is enforced all municipalities will have to place a two cent stamp on tax receipts for ten dollars and over.

TWO VESSELS AGROUND.

MONTREAL, Oct. 19.— (Canadian Press.)— At a late hour last night the Norwegian steamer Modica was still aground near the Imperial Oil Company's wharf in the East End of the St. Lawrence, where she stranded Tuesday evening at the conclusion of a voyage from Blyth. The barge Linden is also aground at a point about one mile above the signal service station at Bellmouth, having stranded yesterday afternoon as the result of a guest of wind.

It is expected both vessels will be refloated to-day.

PRICE LEVEL DROPS DURING SEPTEMBER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press.)—The average level of wholesale in September, the Department of Labor reported yesterday, was about 1 1-3 per cent. lower than in August. The index number, representing comparative levels of 404 different commodities, dropped from 155, as determined in August, to 153 in September.

Fuel and light materials were chiefly responsible for the reduction, having dropped ten per cent. during the month. Farm products, building materials, textiles and clothing all showed small declines.

A. Y. P. A. CONVEN. AT ST. CATHERINES

Bishop Clark, of Niagara, Asks Support of All Young People in Observance of the Lord's Day.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press.)— The question of whether the church was going to have the support of the young people in observing the Lord's Day was squarely put before 300 delegates of the Dominion Anglican Young People's convention yesterday by Bishop Clark of Niagara. His Lordship stated that the church of England has no black list of things which are prohibited on Sunday, but trust the people. In a standing vote as to whether the A. Y.P.A. would assist in Sunday observances, the reply was unanimously in favour.

The Bishop stated that when amusements are wholesome, safeguarded with purity, modesty and expediency, the church is satisfied. All lawful things are not expedient. The Bishop went on record as being strictly against dances and raffles for the purpose of raising money for church purposes, either on the church premises or in any other building. He has nothing against dancing, but the churches should be careful that they do not offend members of the church who have a tender conscience so that the church may lose much more than it gains.

The matter was left in the hands of the resolution committee and the committee will bring in the resolution this morning.

The funeral service, held at the family residence, was conducted by Mr. White of Lakefield and Mr. Gilchrist of Peterborough. Many friends and acquaintances from Lakefield, Peterborough and surrounding district followed the remains to Lakefield Cemetery, where interment took place.

The late Mrs. Nugent had personally received the Lord Jesus Christ and rejoiced in the fact that when the Lord was pleased to take her then she would be with Him forever.

Enter on their rest above.
When their words of love and cheer
Fall no longer on our ear;
Hush! Be every murmur dumb,
It is only "Till He Come."

ALL PASSENGERS SAFE.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press.)— All the 247 passengers have been safely transferred from the Clyde steamer Lenape to the steamer Araphoe and efforts to float the Lenape which went aground Tuesday are continuing, according to the United States wireless station at Anastasia Island. Two large lighters have arrived to assist in the operation and a large tug has been requested.

The Lenape went aground during a fog early Tuesday, several miles north of the mouth of the St. John's River. The Lenape was bound to Jacksonville, from New York.

LADIES WILL SEEK TO SEPARATE THEMSELVES FROM MEN'S DIVISION

It Is Claimed That Many Branches of G.W.V.A. Failed to Function Properly — Public Dances Are Frowned Upon — Progress of the Convention.

ELECTIONS TO-DAY.

Yesterday afternoon's session of the convention of the Ontario Provincial Command of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the G.W.V.A. was opened with an address of welcome from T. Tooms, M.L.A. Mr. Tooms spoke of the personal touch accorded the homes and lives of returned veterans by the work carried on by the Ladies' Auxiliaries, and congratulated them on the splendid achievements of their societies. He alluded to some of the natural advantages of Peterboro, to the diversity of industries carried on here, and to the contented working population, concluding with a reference to the gradual return to normalcy in working and living conditions going on here as elsewhere in the Dominion, and with a hearty wish for success in the work of the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Morris, presiding, read a telegram from Mrs. E. N. Frederick, president of the local Auxiliary, now living in Toronto, expressing her regret at being unable to be present.

Secretary's Report.

The secretary's report was read by Mrs. B. J. McLeod of Peterboro, and the treasurer's report by Mrs. Ford of Toronto, both disclosing a satisfactory condition of affairs in the Provincial Command. The treasurer's report showing a balance on hand of $218.94, it was decided to contribute the sum of fifty dollars towards the expenses incurred by the Dominion Command in carrying on the investigation, now under way, into the working of the Pension Administration for returned men. Mrs. V. H. Hare of Fort Erie suggested that a donation be made towards the relief of fire victims in Haileybury, but the constiution, it was discovered, does not allow of money being diverted from direct purposes of Auxiliary work. Applause greeted the report of the Stratford delegates to the effect that a dance was under way there this evening, from which all funds realized would be used for the fire sufferers.

Mrs. Morris recommended to the consideration of the members the announcement that "The Veteran," the official organ of the G.W.V.A., with a subscription price of $2 per annum, would be supplied to any members of the Auxiliary, applying through the secretary of the branch, for the sum of $1 yearly.

A Separate Charter.

Recommendations made by the executive at their meeting yesterday included the taking of steps to secure a charter of its own for the Ladies' Auxiliary. This met with the unanimous approval of the meeting, not one dissentient voice being heard in the lengthy discussion [illegible] introduction of the resolution. The "red hot [illegible] discarded which was a weapon held in the hands of the masculine order of the G.W.V.A. and might be rammed at any time down the throats of the women was alluded to by one of the speakers. The feeling of the meeting seemed to be that so many of the men's branches in various centres were failing to function properly through one cause or another, whereas the women's work would continue to increase as the years went on, that an independence of feeling was absolutely necessary for the ladies.

The charge was made by one member that the men had absolute control over funds collected through the efforts of the Ladies' Auxiliaries and might use them as they saw fit, but this was contradicted by another speaker.

Mrs. S. Simons of Brockville reported that the men's organization in that city had practically ceased to exist, except in name, but that the women were still carrying on as valiantly as ever in their particular branch of post-war endeavor; Mrs. C. Kirby of Riverdale (Toronto) branch, reported that the men of the G.W.V.A. there had threatened to disband the Ladies' Auxiliary, willy-nilly, because the latter requested the return of some of "the two hundred dollars we loaned them. That was only part of all the rest of the money we have helped them out with." Another source of grievance was the assistance sought by the men's societies in different centres from women who had done war work, but were not members of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Information Lacking.

Mrs. Morris reported on the difficulties encountered by her on different occasions, when her efforts to obtain some clear working knowledge of the inter-relation of the G.W.V.A. and the Ladies' Auxiliaries, from the men of the former, met with no success whatever.

TO REVISE THE MOTOR VEHICLE ACT FOR QUEBEC

New Law Will Be Modern and is Expected to Result in a Revenue of at Least $2,000,000 Annually.

REVISE OTHER ACTS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 19.— (Canadian Press.)—A writer in the Montreal Gazette says:

An entirely new revision of the Motor Vehicles Act of the Province of Quebec will be laid before the legislature by the Hon. Jacob Nicol, Provincial Treasurer, at the forthcoming session of the legislature, which opens October 24. The result will be a modern, up-to-date law which it is intended will operate smoothly in connection with the collection of a revenue of around $2,000,000 annually from automobiles.

The Cities and Towns Act is also up for revision and this will deal with new conditions that have arisen in the province in the last twenty years. The revision is aimed at lessening in the number of applications by municipalities for amendments to the general law, caused by the antedated requirements of the present law.

The legislature will meet with five vacancies in the legislative assembly and three in the legislative council. In the lower house the counties not represented are St. Hyacinthe, Napierville, Rouville-Chambly and Rimouski.

KINGSTON LADY IS 101 YEARS OLD.

KINGSTON, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press.)—Frontenac County's "grand old lady," Mrs. Darius Smith, celebrated her 101st birthday yesterday at her home in the village of Collins Bay, near here. She was born in Wilton, Ont. and lived in this district all her life. Her recollection of interesting bits of local history is very vivid.

Mrs. Smith is the widow of the late Darius Smith, who was for many years inspector of lighthouses on the St. Lawrence River. She has three daughters, twelve grandchildren and thirteen great grand children.

Her memory goes back to the early days when there was forest all about Wilton and when wolves howled in the big swamps. Mrs. Smith declares that she is quite well although her eyesight and hearing "are not quite as good as they used to be."

ARMISTICE DAY.

The public is under a debt of gratitude to the Great War Veterans' Association for making it possible to observe in a suitable manner the anniversary of Armistice Day.

The holding of a memorial service and the decoration of the cenotaph are tributes to the memory of Peterborough's soldiers who gave up their lives in which the citizens shou'd be eager to co-operate.

The efforts of the Great War Veterans to arrange a programme worthy of the historic significance of the occasion should be seconded by the whole community, and the movement should have the support of the people generally in order that its success shall be assured.

It has been suggested in connection with the parade of returned soldiers that so far as possible the Veterans should be grouped according to the units with which they fought overseas.

Men would march once again with the comrades with whom they tramped over the cobble stones in France.

A parade arranged on these lines, and with a full muster of the city's veterans, would constitute a splendid addition to the programme that is being arranged for Armistice Day.

AN URGENT APPEAL.

If the extent of Peterborough's sympathy for the Northern Ontario fire sufferers were to be measured by the amount of cash that has been subscribed, this city would appear to have a heart of flint.

Thanks to the Red Cross and various church and other organizations, large supplies of clothing and other necessaries have been furnished, but in the matter of cash donations, Peterborough is far down on the list.

It is true that in many other communities a lead has been given by the municipal councils, who have lost no time in passing grants to aid the unfortunate people of the northland.

So far the local Council has done nothing in this respect, nor has any sign been given that the City Fathers recognize that a cash grant would not only be of great assistance but that the fact that the Council passed such a grant would be helpful in drawing attention to the fund and in providing an incentive to citizens generally to subscribe.

Large amounts of money are needed at once to relieve the distress in the north. Cold weather has set in, and the condition of many of the people is pitiable. There is danger of an outbreak of influenza and pneumonia to add to the plight of the homeless.

Peterborough has never failed to respond to a genuine call, and the appeal of the people of Northern Ontario is one that should move every heart and open every purse.

It is true as never before that "he gives twice who gives quickly."

THE LADIES' AUXILIARY.

The annual meeting of the Ontario Provincial Command of the Ladies' Auxiliaries of the G.W.V.A., which has just been concluded in Peterborough, calls attention to the services that have been rendered by this organization on behalf of returned soldiers.

The local Auxiliary has been of great service to the men who fought, and the members have been untiring in their efforts to further the interests of the veterans and their families.

The women of the Auxiliary have never wearied in their work. They have looked after relief efforts, visited the sick, kept in touch with the needy and have been ready at all times to lend a helping hand to every movement designed to assist the returned soldiers.

Peterborough owes much to its G.W.V.A. Ladies' Auxiliary, and doubtless other centres have had the same experience.

It is hoped that the visit of the delegates to Peterborough has been of benefit to them and that the work of their organization will be carried on with fresh interest and zeal during the coming months.

TAXATION PROBLEMS.

Dr. H. L. Brittain, of the Citizens' Research Institute, who addressed a meeting of representative citizens in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, spoke of the neglect of the study of taxation questions, which had resulted in many anomalies and uneconomical methods, says the Hamilton Spectator. Popular attention, as is natural, has been concentrated on the matter of expenditures; the way in which the money is raised to meet these expenditures has not received the attention it deserves. "To discover some way in which people might be forced to pay according to their ability to pay was the crux of the taxation problem," said Dr. Brittain. That problem has certainly not yet been satisfactorily solved. The burdens are not equally distributed, and there are opportunities for the individual to escape his fair share of them, just as there are impositions of too exacting a character. Speaking of the business tax, for instance, the lecturer showed that a man suffering a loss of $10,000 a year in his business operations would have to pay just as much as the man who might be reaping a profit of $10,000, provided the value of the property was the same in both cases. This is obviously wrong, especially in view of the fact, vouched for by Dr. Brittain, that assessment commissioners of the province differ widely in their interpretation of their duties.

Adding the Dominion and municipal debts together, Dr. Brittain estimates that every family in the country is saddled with a burden of no less than $2,750. How to support these onerous obligations and, above all, how to prevent them increasing, is a question which is of absolutely vital concern to every taxpayer in the country. Yet the interest evinced is only meagre. If the burden can be diminished and its weight be more equitably distributed over the community, by co-ordinating the various tax-collecting agencies, Dominion, Provincial and municipal, and thereby introducing a more uniform system, avoiding existing duplication, as well as ensuring the contribution of every individual taxpayer, with a reduction in the cost of administration charges, such a reform should surely be enthusiastically acclaimed. The matter is at least well worth serious study. The movement now under way by the municipal research bureau for a more thorough and more general consideration of taxation questions ought to receive the grateful support of the public. It is time the people took a hand in the solution of these questions; for it is not until general interest has been aroused that any improvement can be hoped for.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

One touch of winter makes the whole world shiver.

"Only rare diplomacy can save Government," reads a newspaper heading. And, according to some authorities, diplomacy has been rare enough in handling some of the Empire's problems.

With cars and gasoline dropping in price, it looks as if the old warning, "Watch your step," will take on fresh meaning for pedestrians.

The Turks are wrathy over Lloyd George's speech. In that respect they occupy the same position as Lord Gladstone.

The call of the Northland just now is the call to help the homeless and suffering fire victims.

"Mistaken for a deer" headings will soon begin to make their appearance in the daily newspapers.

THE MYSTERY MIND

Arthur B. Reeve and John W. Grey

"They'd land on this side sure," deduced Randolph. "It's quite a bit more paddling to the promontory and the farther end of the bay. If they tried it I doubt they would make it before we got here."

Dupont handed him the binoculars. "You look, Bing I'm still trembling."

Randolph repeated the careful examination of water and land. "They guessed we were after them," he hazarded, finally. "They probably made right for shelter and hid the boat."

Dupont drew and inspected his revolver. "Let's skirt the shore, keeping under cover and looking for footprints or other signs."

"I"—Randolph hesitated—"I think we ought to hurry back to the plane, Bob. We left it unguarded. If anything happens to that we're gone. No food, no supplies, not even a boat to get back if we do rescue Violet."

Dupont was impatient, knowing his companion was right. But an inspiration came to him suddenly.

"I'll go alone, Bing You hurry to your plane. If they attack you take the air and don't come down until you see me in the middle of the clearing. I'll join you by night. If I don't return by then you hurry to the rubber station where you have lights for a night landing, and arrange to be back with help by daybreak."

The adventurer, dubious, finally acquiesced. Dupont heard him hurrying over the trail which they had broken through the trees. Then the hypnotist, conquering his excitement as he settled to his task, began the arduous work of threading the fringe of the forest so as to see and yet not be seen, in that manner skirting the bend of the bay toward the lake.

Occasionally he stopped to use his glass. He kept his weapon in hand; he sought to keep every faculty alert, so as to avoid surprise. Twice he paused for a full five minutes to listen to the sounds of the wood. Perhaps an hour passed without result. In that time he covered the distance almost up to the rocks which marked his farther goal.

All at once he saw before him in a little clearing above a tiny strip of beach the form of a man crumpled up and evidently unconscious. At second glance he recognized the Strangler. He stopped dead, in suspicion and distrust, wondering just how to account for the presence of this one of the band, unable to understand the absence of the others, the lack of some sign of their whereabouts.

In his travel in the tropics he had learned to place reliance upon his sense of hearing, unusually acute for a civilized white. When no sound came to him other than the normal noises of the solitude he stepped into the open cautiously, approaching the unconscious figure. Leaning over, he discovered that the Strangler was living, was breathing naturally. He found the abrasion upon the man's head where the blow had struck. Then his startled glance was revealed, clutched firmly in the two hands of the man, the portrait of Stuart Steele, which contained the map to the secret treasure of the devil worshippers. Hardly willing to credit his eyes, he started to unclasp the death-like lock of the fingers. As he did so some faint distant murmur caught his ear, warning him. He slipped back into the shelter of the trees quietly.

After some time Renard and Vera appeared from the further side of the open space. Immediately he wondered at the whereabouts of Violet and Evil Eye. He determined to watch and shadow this pair.

Try Doing Next Week's Washing with Rinso

Find out for yourself why hundreds of thousands of women say that they could not face another wash day without it. The two easy steps below will save you hours of back breaking rubbing.

First: For each tub of clothes dissolve a half a package of Rinso into a little cool water until it is like thick cream, then stir in two quarts of boiling water. If the water is hard, or the clothes extra dirty, use more Rinso.

Then, pour into tub—of cool or lukewarm water. Mix well. Keep adding the solution until you get a rich, lasting, soapy suds, even after the clothes have been put in. Do not pour the Rinso direct from the package into the tub.

Soak the clothes for one hour, two hours, overnight, or as long as convenient. Then rinse to remove the loosened dirt, until the water runs clear. Hang them out to dry.

There's no rubbing—no boiling. Rinso is not a washing powder, but a scientific combination of pure cleansing materials that loosen and dissolve the dirt from even the heaviest pieces. It soaks clothes clean in a few hours without injury to a single fabric.

IF YOU USE A WASHING MACHINE

Follow the regular directions given here. Soak the clothes. Then, before operating the machine, add fresh Rinso solution using the same amount of Rinso as you used for soaking. No other product is needed when Rinso is used.

Sir,—In to-night's paper I see that you have a report that the women of Britain shall have the opportunity of having their first vote.

Please allow me to contradict that statement, as I myself had a vote in the last election, which will be five years ago in December. I voted for Sir Robert Horne for the Hillhead Division of Glasgow, Scotland. So it will be no new experience for the women of the Old Country to have a vote.

LEGISLATURE WILL AID HOMESTEADERS

Bill Will Be Brought in Giving Relief to Farmers Who Have Suffered From Causes Beyond Their Control.

EDMONTON, October 19 (Canadian Press). — Legislation will be brought down at the next session of the Federal Parliament regarding a proposal for granting extra homesteads to those farmers who have been unable, on account of continued drought conditions or other reasons for which they are not themselves responsible, to make good, according to the Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, who arrived here yesterday.

In case it is decided to grant the extra homestead, Mr. Stewart said, the Provincial authorities will be given the responsibility of stating who should be given the opportunity of moving.

The legislation will be aimed at alleviating conditions in Southern Alberta, where farmers in the drought area would be assisted to get on lands in the north, where they could make a living.

RADIO CONCERT AT ALL SAINTS

St. John's A.Y.P.A. spent a very enjoyable evening last night listening to a radio concert in the Parish Hall, thanks to the courtesy of Mr. J. M. Greene, who was kind enough to loan the association his six stage receiving set and loud speaker. The concert was quite a treat to the members and the music was appreciated all the more in consequence of an enlightening address by Mr. A. B. Gates on the subject. The association is also indebted to Mr. Cranfield, who operated the receiving set. Programmes were heard from Buffalo, Rochester, Springfield and Pittsburgh. The latter station was tuned in for the large part of the evening and classical music of Handells was received very clearly. Toward the end of the programme dance music came through with sufficient clearness to permit a few dances.

LADIES WILL SEEK

The threat made by the G.W.V.A. that it had authority to withdraw its support at any time from the Auxiliaries was regarded by the speaker in the nature of a joke, as, according to her, the shoe was usually on the other foot when the question of support came up. "We are in a peculiar position, a sort of unrecognized step-child of the G.W.V.A." said Mrs. Morris, "but as long as we are doing the work we are organized to do, in the best possible way, we need not worry about being disbanded." The resolution that the necessary steps be at once taken to discover if a separate charter could be obtained for the Ontario Provincial Command, under which all local auxiliaries might function, was passed unanimously, all arrangements for same to be left to the sub-executive.

Minor Amendments.

Some minor amendments to the constitution then came up for consideration, working out from the proposed desire for a separate charter. To enable the Ladies' Auxiliaries to function separately, it was decided to change the wording of the title of the societies from "the—Ladies' Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A." to a wording which would read "the —branch Ladies' Auxiliary to the G.W.V.A.," thus giving every local society the status of a branch of the Ontario Provincial Command, rather than that of a adjunct to the masculine organization. The wording of the constitution "to work in conjunction with the members of the G.W.V.A." was changed to read "to work in conjunction with the members of the G.W.V.A., if, or where, such exists."

Lower Age Limit

A recommendation of the executive that "a clause be added to the constitution that applicants for membership be not under 18 years of age", was amended to read "sixteen years of age," with the further rider that such members of sixteen years of age be not admitted to office until they reached the age of 21 years. This amendment finally carried by one, with thirteen delegates voting for it, and twelve against. A somewhat spirited discussion which elicited some strong expressions of opinion arose on this point. Mrs. Greenway of Toronto, first vice-president, was one of the strongest advocates of the sixteen year age limit, saying that although some girls of sixteen appeared nowadays to lack the proper sense of values, such was not the case in every instance, and young blood was needed to carry on the work of the organization when older members were forced to drop out. Other members supported this contention, regarding it as an evidence of proper spirit that young girls of this age should take an interest in more serious-minded work. Mrs. C. W. Morrison, of Sudbury, Mrs. W. R. Morris and others, were strongly against such youthful interest, considering eighteen the lowest possible age which young girls should be admitted. The discussions that necessarily arose out of the work of the society of an intimate and personal nature were not fit for tender ears, and might be related outside also in a manner to do injury to the work of the organization.

The Public Dances.

The public dances which are a part of the social life of the G.W.V.A. were not the proper place for a girl of school years to spend her time was another contention, Mrs. Morris quoting to the words of the school authority who declared that one of the most prolific causes of failure in school work by students was the number of social activities indulged in by pupils. Although membership in the Auxiliary might be regarded as a worthy work, the speaker considered that the desire of a young girl of sixteen to be engaged in such activities with a group of older women was slightly out of place, and she might better be occupied with the school work which was now obligatory up to the age of sixteen years, anyway.

Mrs. Morrison of Sudbury made one more strong appeal for further consideration, saying that it would be a terrible thing if any Auxiliary "was responsible for even one girl's downfall", a comment which called forth a certain amount of indignant rejoinders. Finally, the question, put to a vote, passed the majority of one for inclusion of girls of sixteen, with the foregoing rider.

The Election Today.

Mrs. Morris spoke of the election of officers, to take place today, when the officers automatically, as is the custom, are replaced or renominated, and spoke of her desire to lay down the reins of office, on account of the calls on her time and attention from other, if not more important, at least more pressing activities.

At the luncheon served the visitors by the local Auxiliary, a very interesting letter, received by Mr Conroy, Toronto, of the District Command executive, and read by Mrs. E. Ginn, of Toronto, reported the placing of the colors worked by ladies of the Toronto District in the cathedral at Wakefield, England, and described the ceremonies in connection therewith. Mrs. R. Bugg, vice president of the local Auxiliary, gave an account of two visits made by her to the auxiliary in Winnipeg, and Mrs. Joseph Welsh gave an interesting description of here recent visit to the War cemteries in France.

A FALSE ALARM.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 19.—During the threshing yesterday afternoon fire broke out in the stacks of straw on the farm of James Brady, 1st concession, Seymour, the neighbors quickly gathered and by heroic efforts managed to save the barn from destruction as a heavy wind was blowing. The stacks were situated about 30 feet from the buildings and by cutting them with wire, and dragging it away, a serious conflagration was averted. About 100 willing hands answered the call for help.

False Alarm

At 12.03 p.m. the firemen respond ed to a call from Kelly's coal yards, the new combination fire truck, driven by Chief C. Davidson made a record run making the yards in exactly two minutes and twenty-seven seconds from the time the call came in. While this call turned out to be a false alarm turned in by boys, it might be stated that the Volunteer Fire Brigade is right on the job when the bell rings.

time had not turned on the main lights because he feared that the sudden interruption might alarm and create a panic among the three hundred children who were downstairs.

Mr. John Miller, electrician, who installed the Regent's lighting system(explained it in detail, and corroborated Mr. Schneider's opinion of it.

On Fourth Step.

Emile Baumer, moving picture operator at the Regent, said that his attention was attracted to the accident when he heard a noise in the gallery. He looked out of the projection room, and noticed that some person had fallen on the fourth step under a fan. He stepped back into the machine-room, and when he looked out again Mrs. Clemence had been carried down to the exit platform.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Gordon, Mr. Baumer insisted that Mrs. Clemence had fallen on that fourth step.

"The dimmers were on in the gallery ceiling,' witness said. "The manager puts them on first and I go over them before I go upstairs. These lights are controlled by a special key that is kept out of general reach near the switch. When the manager turns them on, he hangs the key up till the show is over."

Mr. Baumer asserted that any person with good eyesight could read a newspaper in the front row of the gallery when the "dimmers" are on.

Mrs Reeves, who lived until recently at 92 McDonnel Street, said she frequently visited the Regent, and on the Saturday of the accident was sitting in an aisle seat of the fourth row of the balcony. She swore that Mrs. Clemence fell opposite that row. She heard a moaning, but did not investigate it.

"I didn't know there was a serious accident until Mr. Head told me afterward," witness said, and also averred that the balcony was lighted as usual, and any person of good sight could see to read a newspaper in the front of the balcony.

Mr. Allison, Mrs. Blythe, and Dr. Lacey were also examined.

UNFOLDS DETAILS OF A SETTLEMENT SCHEME.

TORONTO, October 19. Canadian Press. — Unfolding details of a prodigious national land settlement scheme, which his association hopes to inaugurate in the near future, Sir John Willison, president of the Western Canada Colonization Association, told a representative meeting of Toronto business and professional men last night, that the great need of Canada to-day was a large army of agricultural workers. It was essential however that care should be taken in selection, and care of the immigrants once they decided to leave their native shores.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

THIEVES BUSY IN PORT HOPE

Other Lake Shore Towns Suffer—Chicken Houses and Clothes' Lines Are Robbed.

PORT HOPE, Oct. 19.—Port Hope has an unenviable reputation as the headquarters of a carefully organized gang of petty thieves. Possibly in time those who are or have been engaged in this nefarious work will develop characteristics that will qualify them for more extensive depredations. So far these thieving operations have been mostly confined to chicken coops and clothes lines. But even in this respect the depredations have entailed serious losses upon the owners. It has been with amazement and horror that housewives have looked upon empty clothes lines. The loss of the weekly household washing is no small item for even the well-to-do. And it is a very considerable consideration to the ordinary housekeeper. In not a single case so far as we are aware of did these petty thieves leave a trace whereby they could be tracked. This proves that the guilty parties had already developed the cunning and shrewdness of professionals. In connection with the other principal phase of this prevalent crime in this neighborhood, that of chicken stealing, the offence has assumed such proportions that it can no longer be allowed to go on as an occurance, simply to be dealt with by the municipal police in this district. For two or three years these chicken thieves have carried on their operations apparently just as it suited their own sweet will and pleasure. In the surrounding townships and in the town almost weekly, raids have been made upon hen houses with absolute indifference as to whether the coops contained the most ordinary barn yard fowls, or highly pedigreed stock. There is little doubt but that they all reached a common market. Probably the biggest raid by these local thieves was that which was made upon Mr. Lewis Clarke's premises a few weeks ago, when four hundred valuable fowls were stolen. Among them 40 pullets which Mr. Clark held at $35 each. It was discovered that these were sold at a chicken market for $1 each, and no doubt have long since passed into chicken stew. Many of the sufferers from these depredations were the happy possessers of fowls equally as valuable. This whole business has become such a public scandal as to merit action by the Provincial Police. While none of the towns along the lakefront have suffered quite so much in this matter as Port Hope and its immediate vicinity, there have been serious losses all along the front from Pickering to Belleville. And the local police have been handicapped in their efforts to solve the mystery surrounding these organized depredations. It is surely up to the Attorney-General's department and General William's provincial police to get a move on in this matter. We deserve the protection of the guardians of the law. It is quite evident that only by the prompt assistance of the provincial force is this gang of local thieves and their coadjutors outside going to be broken up. We hope that no time will be lost in this matter engaging the attention of the authorities in Queen's Park, Toronto.

Pending detailed official advices from officers who made the seizure, comment as to the probable attitude of the Washington government was not available last night.

ARCTIC EXPLORERS GLAD TO BE HOME

Hardship and Disappointment Their Portion.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(Associated Press)—The explorers who accompanied the late Sir Ernest Shackleton in the Quest, and they readily confess their delight at being home again. They have been absent one year, and hardship and disappointment have been their portion.

Since the death of Shackleton in the Antartic last January, the explorers have been led by Captain Frank Wilde. He believes important scientific results have been secured, and says these soon will be officially recorded.

In sixty-nine eighteen south the party achieved a record for longitude. They believe they were then near land, judging from appearances, as the water was shallowing rapidly. The fault of the ship was that she was not powerful enough to combat the ice. She was well equipped and had plenty of food, so that she could have carried on for some time had she had the necessary power.

J. Q. Rowett, who financed the expedition, was the first to greet the survivors of the Quest on their return, and he congragulated the men on their efforts and the overcoming of almost unsurmountable dificulties after the death of Sir Ernest.

The donning of heavier wraps calls for the wearing of hats with wider, sweeping lines for many figures, and close fitting ones for others. These specially trimmed hats have been prepared to meet this anticipated desire.

Stylish, picturesque, becoming to most women, beautiful in every detail, and, best of all, only one hat of a style, to give individuality to every wearer.

A number of model "Paradise" Hats from a celebrated New York and Chicago maker. They have wonderfully smart lines and display the touches of master designers and preparers. Also a goodly number of "Gainsborough" models that are noted for their smart and distinctive lines and arrangements of trimmings.

YOU'LL NOTE that many of the hatter's plush are combined with seal or mole; also that much metal is used either by way of trimming for an entire shape; one of black plush exemplifies this prettily. It has an adornment of gold metallic, conventionalized grapes and is a demure droop shape. The metalic feature is again worthily displayed by another entirely of gold cloth, except for the garland of brown velvet leaves that encircles the crown. Of course, metallic does not hold complete sway so there are others in warm reddish tones ranging from bright tangerine to dull red browns and gradually toning down to shades of toast and seal brown.

Some Inklings of What's What.

A delightful poke shape has a crown of tangerine velvet with silver stitching and interpersed with diamond-shaped motifs of black silk embroidery. The edge is finished with seal. Ribbon streamers complete it.

A medium sized poke has a crown and brim of black Hatter's plush with wide coral ribbon draped around crown and bowed at side. The ribbon is embroidered with a bird of variegated plumage. The facing is silver cloth.

A Gainsborough model with just enough droop to the brim to make it a poke shape. The crown of nut brown velvet is relieved by large flowers ranging in shades from fawn to toast. Faced with toast colored duvetyne.

A little toque has a brim that comes up perpendicular from the face and drops away to pointed sides, thus nearly describing a crescent. The edge is trimmed with a band of mole. It is of tangerine velvet.

How lovely! A Gainsborough model of black velvet with the edge decked with black velvet wings. It, too, is a poke.

MILLBROOK METHODISTS WIND UP 40TH ANNIVERSARY OCCASION

Tea on Tuesday Evening Was Largely Attended Despite Bad Weather — Millbrook News of Interest.

PERSONAL MENTION.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 19.—The annual tea given in connection with the anniversary of the Methodist church, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, was held on Tuesday evening, and though the attendance was not quite as large as usual owing to a number of other events occurring on the same evening, yet a large percentage of those present had motored in from outside points, and the total receipts were nearly $200. The basement was appropriately decorated with autumn leaves, the tables looked very attractive, hollowed out pumpkins making unique flower baskets, and everyone reported being well waited upon, and having a most appetizing and substantial supper. The Victoria College Quartette, who were to have furnished the major portion of the programme, motored from Toronto, and unfortunately, owing to tire trouble and bad detours, did not arrive until nearly ten p.m.

At the request of the pastor, Mr. R. W. Clarke, of Weyburn, Sask., a former townsman, whom all were pleased to have the pleasure of meeting once more, occupied the chair. In his opening remarks, Mr. Clarke gave a most interesting and comprehensive survey of the legislation put through by the recent General Conference which he had, for the eighth time, been attending as delegate, his first experience being in 1890. Rev. G. S. Gervan and Rev. William Buchanan also made addresses, and solos by Mrs. W. R. Widdis, of Peterborough, whose accompanments were played by her daughter, Miss Margaret, were much enjoyed and heartily encored. The readings, vocal selections, including solos, duets, quartettes and instrumental numbers with piano and clarionet, given by Messrs. Agnew, Walker, Brown and Cayley, who compose the Victoria College Quartette, were all good, and though owing to the lateness of their arrival, the audience was naturally tired, yet every number was encored, and the generally expressed opinion as people passed out was "they were well worth waiting for." It is hoped that Millbrook may have the opportunity of hearing these entertainers aagin under more favorable circumstances.

Mr. G. W. Sayles, in his usual capable manner, acted as auctioneer for the considerable quantity of baking which was left from the supper, and the funds were augmented by the good prices obtained from this manner of disposing of roasts, cakes, pies, etc., which had not been cut upon.

Got Second Prize.

On Thursday of last week at the international plowing match held at Lindsay, Mr. L. H. Winslow, of Cavan, was successful in carrying off second prize in the horse plows in stubble class, open to all who had never won a prize in anyopen class; there were eighteen entries, and five prizes were given. Mr. Winslow is being congratulated upon his good record in an event where so many competitors were entered. Mr. R. J. McCamus, of Cavan ,and Mr. Winslow both competed on Friday but were disqualified by the judges because the plows they were using were not up to specifications recently arranged for by those in charge.

A Social Evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Stinson opened their beautiful home on Centre street on Monday evening for a literary and social meeting of the Epworth League of the Methodist church; it is somewhat interesting to note that, by action of the General Conference, the historic name "Epworth" has now been discarded and the title "Young Peoples' League" substituted instead. Selections from the works of America's popular poet, James Whitcombe Riley, both in readings and song, were given by a number of the members, and afterwards games and contests, with dainty refreshmetns served, brought a very enjoyable evening to a close. A hearty vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Stinson for their hospitality was moved by Mr. Irwin Hatherly, seconded by Mr. W. G. Hetherington, the warm applause which followed signifying the approval of the motion by all present.

"Children's Day."

A special "Children's Day Service" was held in the Anglican Sunday School at 3 o'clock on Sunda yafternoon, Rev. Joseph Wilks being the speaker for the occasion, and delivering a most interesting and helpful address.

Held a Sale.

The afternoon tea and sale of home-made baking, under the auspices of the Women's Institute, held on Saturday afternoon, Mr. J. McBride kindly giving the use of his store for the occasion, though not on a large scale, was still quite a successful event, everything being disposed of in good time. Mrs. T. Ingram, Mrs. L. Morton, Mrs. H. Armstrong and Miss E. Grandy were in charge. The proceeds will be used to purchase bulbs for the Institute members.

Appeal From North.

Such a prompt and generous response was made to the appeal from the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church for clothing, bedding, etc., for the relief of the fire sufferers in Northern Ontario, that one or two boxes were packed and sent off on Wednesday afternoon. As further supplies are still coming in, another bale will be sent on Friday, and again, if possible, on Monday or Tuesday of next week. The Aid wishes to thank all who have so kindly given necessary garments, and other useful articles for those in such dire need.

Dance in Armouries.

The dance held in the Armouries on Monday evening, under the auspices of the G.W.V.A. was a very enjoyable and well-attended event. Music was furnished by Gliddon's orchest,ra and apparently everyone present so thoroughly enjoyed the evening that all are looking forward to the next time when the Veterans will entertain in similar manner. DRIED WATERMELONS GOOD EATING ALL THE WINTER

ROSTOV, Russia, Oct. 19.—(Associated Press)—Russian peasants faced by the need of conserving their food supplies, have developed a method of drying watermelons. They make a light string net for each melon when it comes from the field, and hang it in a dry and dark place where it will not freeze. They are eaten in the winter months, and are said to retain their flavor and juice to a remarkable degree.

Call Money ... 4½ per cent.

By Stuart P. West.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—To-day's stock market was a jumble of sharp advances and equally sharp declines, occurring simultaneously in individual stocks. These movements were so entirely the result of special causes that they meant little as an expression of Wall Street's judgment regarding the general situation.

There was in fact nothing in the news of the day calculated to have much effect upon the course of prices. Resignation of the British ministry did not come as any great surprise. It did have some unsettling effect upon the London market, and United Kingdom bonds were down a point in New York. Possibly too, it was this which stopped the advance in sterling exchange. But a parliamentary election in England under present conditions, while it may cause some uncertainty in financial circles abroad, cannot conceivably have any terrors for investment capital.

The most remarkable single incident of the day was the rise in the tax exempt Liberties 3 1-2's not only far above their previous high for the present year, but to their very highest for all time. This advance, accompanied as it was by transactions of such magnitude, might have been a consequence of the extraordinary oversubscription to the new Government loan. It possibly represented the investment by institutions and wealthy individuals of funds which were intended for employment in the new 4 1-4's, but missed out in the allotment.

Speculation in the oil shares was suddenly chilled by a violent and quite unexpected break in Pacific oil. The published earnings have shown the dividend barely earned, and yet the magic name of "Standard Oil," in connection with the company has led at times to the most extravagant predictions of what the shares would ultimately be worth. The report that the company needed money for development work and would therefore have to omit dividends, was commonly believed.

Besides the oils there was enough other weak spots to keep the market considerably unsettled. The Republic Iron and Steel report for the third quarter showing a small deficit as against the surplus for the preceding three months led to a more or less successful general attack upon the steel group.

PRICES IRREGULAR.

NEW YORK, October 19. — California Packing declared regular quarterly dividend of 150.

New York.—Prices moved irregularly in the early dealings reflecting same influence which were at work last hour Tuesday. Sharp advances occurred in Mexican Pete and Corn Products while Studebaker and Baldwin were heavy. Rails were stimulated by the demand for freight cars which exceeded supply by 141,252.

MARKET UNSETTLED.

NEW YORK, October 19. — Distinct Weakness in several stocks unsettled the general market in first hour. Pacific Oil was subjected to professional pressure because of the speculative gossip questioning permanency of present dividend. The stock broke to new loan on move at 51 1-4 while Davidson was depressed to 1922 low at 37.

Selling of the latter was attributed to disappointment over the failure of Silicagel process to produce big returns which appeared in prospect earlier in the year.

RAILS BELOW VALUE.

The railroads of the United States are now reported to be loading the greatest number of general merchandise cars in their history.

The significance of this fact has not been generally appreciated, according to the way it is being ignored by active investors.

In the first place, this information is concrete evidence that the transportation act is a practical success, for it has enabled the carriers to come back.

In the second place, notwithstanding the strike, and many regulatory and other handicaps imposed upon them since the return of the roads to owners in a deplorable condition, the managements have succeeded in achieving a plane of high efficiency never before reached, judging from this news.

Notwithstanding all this the transportation companies are still unable to handle the great volume of traffic offered.

Deductions from these basic features cannot fail to convince the impartial observer that railroad securities are selling far below intrinsic value at present levels.

LIVE STOCK MARKET ITEMS.

Stock of companies whose earnings are showing increases are reflecting purchases by insiders at rising prices.

The buying of N. Y. Central is reported to be taking consideration of a dividend increase and the realization of large profits from the Reading segregation.

What is termed "excellent buying" is referred to in well-informed quarters as taking place in U. S. Steel.

Circulation of certain information suggests that strong pool is expecting higher prices for Industrial Alcohol.

ACTIVE INVESTMENT OPINION.

We regard the market situation as constructive and believe that many opportunities for profitable commitments will continue to be available for investment and speculative interests, during the coming weeks.—Paine, Webber & Co.

Reactions do not go far because insiders buy stocks whenever they sell off. The whole market is rounding out in its forward development and it would take slightly more than a point further advance in railroad stocks to indicate a broad and active market.—Hornblower & Weeks.

We would advise the retention of a long position in the equipments and the steels with particular emphasis on U. S. Steel and Bethlehem.—A. A. Housman & Company.

The recognized price of hard coal at the mines seems to suggest the anthracite group such as Reading, Lackawanna and Lehigh Valley, as logical leaders of a big market.—Clark, Childs & Co.

We are of opinion that the outlook is favorable from the investors' standpoint, that allowance should be made for frequent reactions, but an ultimately higher level seems assured.—Thomson & McKinnon.

Attention is called in conservative quarters to the point that the stock dividend movement—enlargement of capitalization—while creating a bullish market condition for the immediate future, must be carefully weighed as regards the more distant future because of the fact that to assure dividends on the increased capital, it will be necessary to maintain and probably increase the amount of business done by the enterprises

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U.S. Government and 35 leading universities, and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odour, smoke, or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, F. S. Johnson, 246 Craig Street, W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

STRONG APPEAL FOR NORTHERN SUFFERERS.

That unless a continuous supply of money and supplies was forthcoming keen hardships would be endured by the people who lost everything in the Northern Ontario fire zone, is the report brought back by Dr. C. Dr. Hodgetts reports that relief arrangements have been well systematized in the north. Peterborough is expected to give her share in contributing to the relief fund. Lucan and C.G.E. To Play Here Saturday---Other Sport News

LUCAN TO PLAY C.G.E. HERE ON SATURDAY

Opening Game of Series For the Intermediate Championship Will Be Played at Riverside.

A FAST GAME.

Saturday afternoon will see what will probably be the final game of the season at Riverside Park when the C.G.E. nine will stack up against the Lucans of London at 2.15 o'clock in the first game of the three-game series to decide the Intermediate O.B.A.A. championship.

The Lucans are no mean aggregation, for they emerged from a sudden death battle royal with the Hamilton Beavers yesterday, holding the long end of a 4 to 3 score, and the Western Ontario championship. The Lucan team was playing on its own diamond yesterday but nevertheless any team that can put the Hamilton gang out of the running has to play a first class brand of baseball.

The C.G.E. boys have shown a consistently high class brand of ball all summer. Starting in the local city league they swept all before them and went through all the elimination contests with ease and success till they crashed up against St. Aidans of Toronto last Saturday for the toughest game of the season from which they emerged victorious with the score of 4 to 3. Their consistent playing ability to stand the pace set by their opponents won this contest for them for they played a steady game from start to finish while St. Aidans started off at a clip that they could not stand and blew up in the eighth.

The two teams for Saturday will be as evenly matched as can be expected though the locals will have the advantage of the home grounds. Frost, who was the successful twirler last Saturday is expected to do the mound work again for the Electricians and his battery mate will be Bob Ross.

The game is scheduled for 2.15 o'clock. The officials have not yet been appointed and will be announced later.

The second game will be played in London on Wednesday and if a third game is necessary the time and place will be announced later.

Jack Williams Has Refused Pro. Offer

Jack Williams, the Belleville southpaw amateur pitcher is reported to have turned down an offer of Knotty Lee of $350 a month to report to the Toronto International League Club in February of next year. Williams has decided to remain in the amateur ranks and to make his permanent home in Belleville.

CAMPBELLFORD MIDGETS LOST

Orangeville Will Play Off With St. Catherines on Saturday Next.

TORONTO, October 19 (Canadian Press). — Orangeville should worry about its future in lacrosse. Tom Henry trotted out the Dufferin Midgets at Scarboro Beach yesterday afternoon, and they defeated Campbellford 18 to 4, earning the right to play St. Catharines in the final for the Midget O.A.L.A. championship here on Saturday.

There was no doubt as to the ultimate result of the tilt from the first. Orangeville team, which is a husky, rangy, well-drilled lot of kids, smothered the Easterners from the first, leading at the end of the first period 5 to 0.

It was 9 to 0 at half-time and 13 to 1 when the game switched around for the last twenty minutes of the play.

Orangeville had more speed than their opponents, and passed the ball with a snap that puzzled the Campbellford defence, and their home bored in on the nets in a way that could not help but get goals.

Brawley at inside showed himself to be particularly clever, his tricky stick-handling and shooting getting him the majority of the goals.

BLUENOSE ON THE WAYS.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 19.—The Canadian schooner Bluenose, here to defend her honors as champion of the North Atlantic fishing fleets, went on the marine railway yesterday for a final overhauling preparatory to the first race of the championship series on Saturday.

The Gloucestserman Henry Ford, the challenger, bent on a new sail, and probably will go on the ways today.

TO RE-ARRANGE TEAM.

According to Montreal reports, "Shag" is to re-arrange his McGill team and intends to adopt an entirely new style of play for the Varsity game on Saturday. That is usually interpreted as a sign of weakness. However, the local collegians expect a hard game and will not take anything for granted. Coach Maynard and Capt. Hobbs will put their best team on the field and will have no excuses if beaten.

The Good
MAXWELL

ENTIRE TRIBE OFF THE RESERVATION, AFTER SCALPS ON THE GRIDIRON

By ARTHUR WELLER.

MARION, O., Oct. 19.—Natives of Manhattan are right.

Redskins still terrorize the region of Ohio.

Whoever'd have supposed that, within a stone's throw of the home of President Warren G. Harding, pow-wowed a powerful tribe, formed on a union basis by premier members of other tribes, all over everywhere!

Yet 'tis true.

Fourteen miles from Marion a coterie of chieftains, averaging about 200 pounds apiece, and possessed of ravenous appetites, makes its home.

What's more, the season has now arrived for this formidable aggregation to sally forth, hunting scalps.

And a sight they are, too, when they take the war trail!—all done up in hideous orange and maroon—the colors of the Oorang Indians in the National Professional Football League.

Gathering from all parts of the United States, the redskins have been gruelling daily at LaRue, under the leadership of Jim Thorpe, one of the greatest all-round athletes the world ever has known.

The National Football League of 20 teams includes, besides the Oorangs, such elevens as the Chicago Cardinals and Bears, Minneapolis, Cleveland, Buffalo, Milwaukee, Rochester, N. Y.; Columbus, O., and various others. Some of these the Oorangs have yet to meet on the field of battle this fall.

It is believed that never before in the history of professional football has such an organization of Indian stars been assembled as Jim Thorpe's.

Thorpe himself, a sensation of the Olympic games at Stockholm, is still engaged actively in more than one form of sport. After a successful baseball season in the Eastern League he autoed to LaRue to assume command of the tribesmen gathered there.

Besides Thorpe, two more former captains of Carlisle are included in the lineup—Joe Guyon and Pete Calac.

Walter Camp considered all of these three as members of all-America elevens a few years ago.

Other members of the team are: Attache, of last year's Sherman College team; Long Time Sleep, of Haskell University and the Flathead reervation in Montana; St. Germaine, of Carlisle and Yale; Boutwell, Sanook, Downwind, Busch, Lone Wolf, War Eagle, Running Deer, Strongwind, Big Bear and Thunder, all former Carlisle men.

The squad mascot is a pet coyote, brought from Montana by Nicholas Lassa, better known as Long Time Sleep.

It's a playful tribe, even when at work. Wrestling matches and long runs are the regular thing. It means nothing to the Indians to make a jaunt on foot into Marion and back, a distance of 28 miles. The warriors eat but twice a day. Practice begins at noon and continues until evening, and it's then that the redskins have their second meal.

The training camp and the clubhouse in which the Indians live is on the Oorang Airedale kennel farm of Walter Longo, chief sponsor of the eleven

Co-ordination's the Thing Most Football Aspirants Haven't Got, Yost Shows

By BILLY EVANS.

There would be a great many more good football players if more men that try for varsity eleven had co-ordination.

Many candidates for football teams know what they should do, but they cannot make their arms and legs do the things demanded of them.

Coach Yost of Michigan told us, while watching his squad practice, that he was trying to teach certain players co-ordination.

"Their minds and limbs don't work together" explained the coach.

At that particular moment the various players would start running at an angle. The coach would yell "Reverse." The players were supposed to go in the opposite direction Some did it almost instantly when the command was yelled; others hesitated before turning. Some hesitated longer than others.

"Watch the boys for a few minutes and you will see what I mean," said Yost.

We watched and the meaning was apparent. It was a struggle with some to change the action of the body when the mind willed the change after the command was heard.

Much of the preliminary work of this varsity squad was occupied in going through exercises invented for no other reason than to develop co-ordination.

"Over here I'll show you a tackle" said the coach. "This boy is big and strong and bright. He knows exactly what a tackle should do and he can answer almost any question you ask him about tackle play, but watch him!"

At this particular moment the candidate's team was on offense. The boy's hands rested on his knees while the other tackle's hands were up.

"Get your hands up or you'll get hurt" yelled Yost.

The order was twice repeated before the tackle's hands came up. Then they were dropped again. The order was repeated. Again they came up but before the ball was snapped they were down again.

A defensive lineman crashed into the tackle. His hands started up just before the impact; too late.

The ball changed hands. The tackle, naturally, went on the defense.

The opposing quarterback called for a play against this tackle's side of the line. The tackel noted the runner start in his direction. He shifted his feet in opposite directions, was knocked sideways before he could regain his balance, but managed to regain his feet.

Th runner was passing by. The tackle lifted neither hand to stop him. Suddenly he whirled, flung his body at the runners and managed to catch him by the ankles.

"You see" reamarked the Michigan coach, "he knows all the time just what he should do but he lacks co-ordination and he can't get his arms and legs to working as fast as his mind. It takes him too long to telegraph his orders to the limbs. If he had co-ordination that boy would be an All-America tackle as sure as he lives. He has everything but co-ordination."

So, each day, the candidates that do not respond rapidly are put through a program of exercises carefully planned to develop co-ordination between mind and body.

HOLKE OF BOSTON SURE OF HIS JOB.

The Boston Braves' showing in the National League was one of the distinct disappointments of the season.

Owner Grant says he intends to give Boston a winner, and will make a clean sweep, if necessary.

"On only one position have I definitely made up my mind, first base. Holke will play that position." So says Grant.

Which means that Holke is the only one of the Braves who is sure of his job.

Holke came to the Braves from the New York Giants. It is said McGraw always has regretted making the trade.

Holke swings from either side of the plate. He is a left-handed thrower.

40 YEAR OLD BOXER TRAINING IN GERMANY

BERLIN, Oct. 19.—(Associated Press)—Only one boxing title remains unoccupied in Germany's pugilistic world. The ownerless title is that of welter-weight champion and a holder is expected to develop for it during the coming winter. The other champions are as follows: Fly-weight, Erich Kohler; bantam, Urban Grasz; feather, Kurt Sasse; light, Richard Naujocks; middle, Kurt Prenzel; light-heavy, Walter Bukszum; and heavy, Hans Breitenstraeter.

"Phenomenon" Volkner, a boxer who has passed his fortieth year, is in training to contest the bantam-weight title. At the same time that he meets the champion Grasz, it is planned to have the bill include two other title-holders, Naujocks and Breitenstraeter. Opponents for the latter two men have not yet been definitely selected.

KILLIFER GAVE THE CUBS THEIR CHANCE

Secret of His Success Is That He Looks After the Greenhorns on His Team.

By BILLY EVANS.

The Chicago Cubs' showing was one of the big surprises of the National League 1922 campaign.

Given little or no consideration at the season's start they always were in the running. They faded a trifle during the last month, but their showing, as a whole, was a tribute to Bill Killifer's managerial ability.

Killifer whipped a young club, with only a few veterans to steady it, into a formidable aggregation.

If Bill ever had a fault it was modesty. He gives his team all the credit. "The boys, not the manager make the base hits and score the runs" he says.

Recently I bumped into Killifer, congratulated him and asked him the secret of his success. His reply was like him. "Aain't none" he said, but when you tie him down he continues:

"I broke in with the St. Louis Browns in 1909. Jimmy McAleer was manager. I was a green kid from Texas. The old boys buffeted me around. They wouldn't let me catch, practice batting or do anything. In plain words, they didn't want any greenhorns on the club.

"I went my way, like othe youngsters. I was fired, but came back. And when I came back I said to myself Bill, if ever you become manager your're going to look out for the youngsters.

"I became a manager, and I decided that the kids on my club were going to develop. They have."

MOTOR CYCLE POLO HAS MADE BIG HIT.

The latest novelty is called motorcycle polo, but it is really motorcycle football. It is played by three polo riders on motorcycles—a goalkeeper and two forwards. An oversized football is used. The riders chase the ball on motorcycles and kick it through the goal. Toronto benzine bugs tried it out at the Toronto Motorcycle Club's field day out the highway the other day and it went so big that the game is to be introduced to the general public at the Ontario championship meet at Exhibition track Saturday afternoon. Four teams will play.

FIRST GAME OF LITTLE WORLD SERIES FOR ONTARIO'S TITLE

Belleville Won From Galt Before An Attendance of 5000 Fans Yesterday —Weather Was Bitterly Cold.

SCORE 7 TO 5

GALT, Ont., October 19. Canadian Press. — In the first game of the little world series to decide Ontario's baseball championship, Belleville yesterday afternoon won from the Terriers at Dickson Park, before a crowd of five thousand people, by a score of 7 to 5.

While Jack Williams, the Verona Indian, and conqueror of the Hillcrests, added another scalp to his belt, this one he got was a gift by the locals in the ninth innings, giving their visitors four runs and the game. The Terriers fought gamely in their half, and with one run and 2 on bases, and none out, their chances of redeeming themselves looked good, but for once they failed in a pinch, two strike outs and an easy grounder blasting their supporters' hopes.

It was a slow game, taking two and a half hours to play, and the players because of the chilly weather were unable to keep warm, even though a tent with four stoves in it was provided for their use.

The Indian southpaw pitched a nice game, allowing only seven hits, and he had ten strike outs to his credit, but on the afternoon's performance the locals should have won as they made their hits count while the visitors ran into all the breaks that were going.

Wilbur Kress for Galt turned in a game that was good enough to win almost any time.

The crowd was a remarkably large one for the weather conditions prevailing, hundreds motoring many miles to see this game, and others coming by train. Men and women were to be seen wearing fur coats, and they were then not comfortable, there being a biting northwest wind.

Cars were parked on the grounds at 8 o'clock in the morning and by 1.30 the grand stand was filled.

Galt started off strongly with one out in the first; Wilkinson and Graham singled, and both took an extra base on W. Mills' heave to centre field. Wilkinson scored on an infield hit and Graham came home on a wild pitch.

In the second the locals added two more; G. Himes opened with a single and galloped home on Wilbur Kress' triple. Kress counted on Groves' infield hit.

QUEEN'S MEN THINK WORM HAS TURNED

Kingston Paper Says Charges of "Professionalism" Are the Result of Jealousy.

The Kingston Daily Standard, under a heading, "Queen's Football and Professionalism," has a lengthy article. In part it is:

"It is a matter of satisfaction that certain Toronto, Montreal, and Ottawa newspapers—whether writing upon their own initiative or prompted by university men who should have known better, we cannot say—have for the moment, at least, ceased their irresponsible and wholly unfounded charges of 'professionalism' in football by Queen's University. We do not know what has caused them to change their tune and cease their vapourings—unless, indeed, it is the belated discovery (which they could earlier have made, had they been so disposed) that there was not a scintilla of evidence to support their charges. But, whatever the cause, the change is none the less welcome, and we can only trust that it may be permanent.

"For years Queen's has fought an uphill fight in the Inter-Collegiate Rugby Union against universities, which by very reason of the greater number of their students, had an overwhelming advantage to begin with. Year after year Queen's went into the fight, beaten before she started—but she went in, and she stayed in. Her teams might be beaten, but the spirit of Queen's — never! And so, season after season, she bobbed up smilingly—and went down smilingly. With her it was The Game that counted, not the result, and always she lived in the hope that the day would come when she would come into her own, as in those days when the university was put on the map in football and in hockey.

"And now 'The Day' that we all have looked for seems to be at hand. And because it is—and for no other reason apparently — we have been treated to whines and snarls from outside and the bugaboo of 'professionalism' has been paraded throughout the Dominion. And all, forsooth, because Queen's is at last coming into her own.

"And then what? Only this, that last year Queen's for the first time in her long career brought in a great director of athletics in the person of George Awrey, who knows the game of football from Alpha to Omega, and that under his skilful tutelage she committed the unpardonable crime of almost winning the Inter-Collegiate championship and frightening dear old 'Versity and McGill out of a few years' growth.

"And after that? Only this, that the wonderful new fighting spirit of Queen's and the inspiration of Awrey attracted a nineteen-year-old 'professional' from Ottawa and a 23-year-old 'professional' from Toronto—to wit, Thomas and Batstone. As though Queen's had never before attracted sterling players from these cities! As though these men had committed, shall we say, lese majeste, by passing 'Varsity on the one hand, and McGill by on the other!

"We have not an unkind word to say of 'Varsity or McGill, and we do not for an instant believe that the responsible authorities of either university have had to do with this newspaper campaign of false and cruel charges. But we do say this, that Queen's in sport to-day is no longer the under dog — and this whether she wins or loses the championship—and that it will be well for both 'Varsity and McGill footballers, should defeat come to them, to take pattern after the Queen's of the old days—the Queen's that, smiling in her defeat, extended the hand of goodwill to her conquerors."

LUCAN TEAM IN THE FINALS

LUCAN, October 18. — The Lucan Irish nine qualified to meet Peterboro in the finals for the intermediate championship of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association today by defeating the Hamilton Beaver Trucks in a sudden death game by the score of 4 to 3. The cold weather and the snow flurries not only kept the spectators away, but made it extremely difficult for the players.

The Beaver Trucks, who played errorless baseball, however managed to score but one earned run off "Lefty" Weir, whose support wobbled at times. Outfielder Bradley of the local team will go down as a hero in the eyes of the town as he saved the game by spearing a long high fly that the wind carried, ending the contest with a Hamilton man on the third base.

"Lefty" Weir twirled well, and of the five hits secured off his delivery three were bunched in the fourth for one run when Campbell and Massi followed each other with doubles and then Bradley's relay to Hindmarsh cut Massi off at the plate on Sharfntz's single. Bases on balls and misplays enabled the Beaver Trucks to get single runs in the eighth and ninth. Weir also figured largely in the run getting of the Irish nine. His liner in the fourth with the bases loaded, and with two out gave Lucan the upper hand, two runs scoring on the hit. Barnes then followed with a single, scoring the third run. Weir opened the seventh with a single, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on Barnes' second bingle. Robertson's change of pace baffled the Lucan batters to some extent while Weir pitched by far the better game. The score:

Hamilton .. ..0001000011—3 5 0
Lucan ....00030010x—4 7 4

Robertson and Campbell; Weir and Crawley.

FANS SHOULD SUPPORT C.G.E.

Jake Solomon Urges Peterboro Enthusiasts to Turn Out Saturday.

Sporting Editor,
The Examiner:

Dear Sir,— Peterborough fans have a chance on Saturday afternoon to see an Ontario championship final, when the Lucan team, who have cleaned up Western Ontario, will meet our own General Electric team in the intermediate series. It is to be hoped that there will be a very large crowd out on Saturday to support the C.G.E., for bringing the Lucan team is an expensive proposition and the Canadian General team in fact has been under heavy expense all season.

To win the intermediate Ontario championship would be a big honour for Peterborough, and the C.G.E. team, who have already played four rounds in the series, deserve the support of the fans upon the showing they have made.

Hoping to see a real championship crowd out on Saturday.

Yours for sport,
Jake Solomon.

THE EVIDENCE

doctors about two feet from witness.

"There is no question that there was an odor of liquor on his breath," Dr. Mann testified.

"Had you a conversation with him?"—"Yes."

"What did he say?"—"I can't recall accurately. I didn't think it would be admissable as evidence and I made no effort to recollect it."

"I remember it was admitted that he was driving the car," Dr. Mann said.

"If he had been under the influence of liquor what would have been the effect of the knowledge that he had caused a death?"—"It would have the effect of straightening or sobering him up."

Mr. Gordon — "You knew what you were there for? The Chief told you he wanted you to observe whether there were any indications of Evans having used liquor?"—"Something to that effect."

"Did you notice that the room smelled of liquor?"—"No."

"You didn't know that a large quantity of liquor was stored there?"—"No. I didn't notice it."

"Did the odor you noticed indicate within what time the liquor was taken?"—"Within a few hours."

Dr. Mann said that some drinkers might retain the smell of liquor on their breaths for twenty-four hours. He said that fortunately his practice had brought him few alcoholics.

To Mr. Hutcheson he gave the opinion that from the injuries to Orman Boyler he didn't think it possible that they were caused by a car travelling only 20 miles an hour.

HIS SPEECH AT WOMEN'S CLUB FRIGHTENS MEIGHEN

Star of "Our Leading Citizen" Found Task Quite Nerve Racking

The hardest task he ever faced, according to Thomas Meighan, Paramount star, confronted him during the filming of "Our Leading Citizen", his latest Paramount picture. In fact, it made him so nervous that he did not regain his composure for a week.

And what do you suppose it was? Not jumping off a hundred foot cliff; carrying a leopard on his shoulder or struggling with a mob of infuriated ruffians. No.

It was to make a speech before a woman's club. It wasn't a real club, either, but just a screen gathering in one of the scenes from "Our Leading Citizen" which will be shown at the Capitol Theatre tonight.

"I was nervous", the star admitted, "and when Alfred Green, the director, told me to talk to these women, I felt tongue-tied. Finally I launched forth into a diatribe concerning a subject that is pretty close to my heart. The speech was supposed to be an argument in favor of a public playground in the town. That made it relatively easy. But I'm still shaky."

In common with many other players, Mr. Meighen hates to make speeches before his friends as coworkers nor can he explain this curious antipathy His wide stage experience, preludes the possibility of ordinary stage fright.

AT THE GRAND.

THE "DUMBELLS" FAREWELL.

Captain M. W. Plunkett's world-famous "Dumbells" will play a farewell engagement of two days at the Grand Theatre, commencing on Friday, Oct. 20.

The entertainment which they are presenting on this goodbye tour is absolutely new and entire different from anything which they have offered here before. The title of the new show is "The Dumbells' Revue of 1922," and it was first presented at the Grand, Toronto, last spring and continued there this fall until the boys had established a record of 34 weeks in that city in less than three years.

This new revue had never been played in Ontario prior to that time, therefore, it will be found to be entirely new to local theatregoers. The personnel of the "Dumbells" organization has remained practically the same throughout their three years in Canada. There have been some minor changes from time to time, boys have dropped out for one reason or another, and been replaced by others, but these changes have passed unnoted because of the fact that the boys whom one remembers from season to season, because of their outstanding abilities, have been retained at all times and are still with the show.

The "Dumbells" are now playing a very limited farewell tour of Ontario before they go to Montreal preparatory to crossing the Pond for "Blighty."

They are booked to open their London season in December, and as a world-tour of the British possessions is contemplated following their English engagements, it looks like they would be away from home for a long, long time.

Good luck, "Dumbells."

REMARKABLE FILM NOW PLAYING ROYAL THEATRE

John Barrymore in "The Lotus Eater"—Now on the Screen.

"The Lotus Eater," a novel by Albert Payson Terhune and one of the most unusual and original stories ever written, has been transformed into a motion picture by Marshall Neilan, and with John Barrymore, the famous actor, as the star, will start a three-day run at the Royal Theatre to-day, to-morrow and Saturday as an Associated First National attraction. The titles were written by George Ade.

Barrymore plays the part of Jacques Lenoi, who was born in a villa on the Mediterranean, while his father was travelling the seven seas in search of health. Returning suddenly, Lenoi, Sr., discovered his wife in a compromising situation. Taking the lad with him, he set out again in his yacht.

Broken by his marital woes, the father ages quickly and the realization comes to him, when the boy is seven years old, that death is not far off. To shield the boy from his own bitter experience, the father compels Jacques to promise him that he will not leave the yacht until he is twenty-five years old.

Educated by private tutors, Jacques does not leave the yacht until the appointed time. Landing in New York, he hurries to the office of his father's attorney, and there meets Madge Vance, young and pretty. It is a case of love at first sight with both. There is a romantic courtship and a hurried marriage on his yacht.

But the father's fears are realized, for clouds appear on the domestic horizon. Jacques, broken hearted, leaves for a dirigible trip over the Pacific Ocean. He is compelled to dive into the ocean when the food and fuel give out, and lands on an island. Then begin a series of strange adventures—and in the end, Jacques finds the love for which his unsophisticated heart yearns.

Stop "dosing" rheumatism.

It's pain only. St. Jacobs Oil will stop any pain, and not one rheumatism case in 50 requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating St. Jacob's Oil right on the tender spot, and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain and distress. St. Jacobs Oil is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappoints and never burns the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from the aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache and neuralgia.

PRESSURE ON LUNGS CAUSED BY GAS

Often a dull, full feeling in chest is caused by gas from undigested food pressing upwards towards lungs. Sometimes gas presses on heart and is mistaken for heart trouble. Simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adlerika, expels gas and stops pressure almost INSTANTLY in many cases. Removes surprising matter from BOTH upper and lower bowel which formed gas and poisoned stomach. Adlerika is EXCELLENT to guard against appendicitis. McDermid & Jury; and E. L. Payne druggists.

PARK LEAVES GONE.

The smoke of the funeral pyres of the summer's leafage in Victoria Park blew across Murray Street for a while this morning, screening St. Paul's Church and the nearby schools. The law of ashes to ashes was fulfilled in this duty of the caretaker, and what the earth gave to the summer's beauty and the theatric setting of concert evenings it will receive again when the ashes of the leaves are scattered.

POLAND TO ADOPT NATIONAL CURRENCY.

A Complete Reform in Finances Has Been Announced.

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 19.—(Associated Press.) — A complete reform in the existing finances of Poland has been announced by Finance Minister Jastrzebski.

His programme includes a monetary readjustment to be effected in from three to five years. Also he would increase and simplify taxation. The time has arrived, M. Jastrzebski declares, for the establishment of a Polish national currency. The unit is to be the zloty. The treasury has at its disposal 100,000,000 gold francs for industrial aid.

The minister's tax programme involves a general increase in taxes particularly land taxes, which he proposes to increase 20 times.

Despite the many difficulties which the nation has faced, industry has been successfully revived and is now buoyant. Although the printing of money resulted in depreciation, it nevertheless made possible the award of credits to manufacturers and agriculturists, and it permitted state aid in the matter of tariffs and rates for the benefit of the poorer classes.

It now remains necessary only to establish gradually a gold secured currency and this the state now is in a position to do.

DAVIS HILL IS SENT TO PEN.

The accused's evidence was given in a straight forward way, declaring that he had bought the said cow last June and was waiting until her calf was weaned before taking it to his own place. He denied firmly many of May's statements, and explained that he had retired at the time he was said to be seen by May take the poison.

Need Strong Man.

The veterinary surgeon, who examined the cow after its death, stated that she had been drenched with a poison. He also said that it took an exceedingly strong and experienced man to conduct such an operation. When asked if a small woman could do it he stated that it would be utterly impossible.

Another important fact mentioned by Magistrate Langley was that the time May declared Davis was away from the house would be sufficient for him to drench the cow with poison. Ont the other hand the time mentioned by Davis that May was away from the house was not long enough for her to have committed the deed.

In conclusion, Magistrate Langley stated that the evidence, when weeded out, left two important facts on which he condemned the accused. Only a strong man could have administered such a drench to a cow. Davis Hill had the required strength for doing it, and then it was undoubtedly impossible for a woman to accomplish such a task. Also, the woman was not away from the house long enough to do it, while Davis was said to have been absent for some time. Davis also had knowledge that he was not wanted at Russell's house, but still remained around the place. On the above ground His Worship found his judgment.

SKIPPER DID ALL HE COULD TO SAVE SHIP

HAMBURG, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press.)—The Maritime court which has been conducting an investigation into the foundering of the German steamer Hammonia, off Vigo, Spain, last month, yesterday exonerated the ship's command, declaring that the skipper did all in his power to save the vessel.

In the findings honorable mention was made of the rescue of more than 500 passengers by various British warships.

GIRL WINS FAME AS ARCHITECT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—Miss Helen E. Findlay is the youngest woman architect in the west; perhaps the youngest, full-fledged, in the United States. "Full-fledged" is used advisedly, for the California state examination is severe, and the fledgeling architect who passes it creditably is promoted thereby, without any doubt or question, right out of the provisional into the regular professional class.

Miss Findlay holds a first-class certificate from the state board.

An architect must be both an artist and an engineer and Miss Findlay has proved her competency as fully in the one of these branches of her calling as in the other.

The youngest? Well, how old? Not old enough to make it likely that Miss Findlay minds telling, but "not above 24" is what she says.

ENQUIRY CONCERNING

through yet" Speaking of the present agitation against militarism, he remarked that it did not come from those who had served and suffered in the war, but from those stay-at-homes who profited by it, and it was not suffering and loss of life that they were opposed to, but the fact that the war had to be paid for partially by them

The convention this morning considered the advisability of adopting a form of initiation, most of the members being unanimous in the opinion that such a form was necessary, in order that women might not enter lightly into the obligations on plea of ignorance It was decided to outline a simple form, without any unnecessary formality, the sub-executive to see about arrangements for printing and issue

A telegram of good wishes from E. Ginn vice-president of the Parkdale (Toronto), branch of the G.W.V.A. was read, also a wire from Stratford branch, announcing net proceeds of $100 from a dance held under the auspices of the Stratford Auxiliary last evening, for relief work in Haileybury Both telegrams received hearty applause

Several considerations of moment to different branches came up for consideration The case of a woman who returned her badge with a declaration of disapproval of her branch's methods, but still considered herself a member, was decided finally by Mrs. Morris, who regarded the return of the badge as equivalent to resignation, and instructed the branch to return fees to this member and strike her name from the rolls

The question as to whether a non active member might belong to two auxiliaries at the same time was answered in the negative

The Undesirable

Experience of several branches in treating with undesirable members gave a somewhat humorous turn to the proceedings According to one harassed president, her society is bombarded with applications from a woman whom nobody wishes to admit, but whose moral character is unimpeachable, and therefore whose application must be considered from time to time. Another auxiliary has a member who was described as "a Scotchwoman with a loud voice and aggressive manner" who insists on attending meetings and literally bawling the presiding officer down, when ever the fancy strikes this incorrigible member, who also has an uncomfortable habit of referring in personal terms to any member with whom she is not friendly at the moment. Mrs. Morris' advice in the first instance was for those member who did not wish to admit the undesirable member to state their reasons decisively, while in the second case, the only remedy, a somewhat desperate one, was to disband for a month, re-organize and repect application of the unruly lady. The example of the Stratford auxiliary, whose president reported the use of three black balls in the balloting against any undesired applicant was not considered the proper procedure, as the blackball was often used in an improper manner. "Discretion and good feeling, even discretion and a really Christian heart, do not always go hand in hand", said Mrs. Morris.

Poppy Day

With regard to Poppy Day the president said that the ladies were not satisfied last year with the source from which the flowers were obtained, but this year, she understood, conditions were better Mrs. E. Ginn for Parkdale auxiliary in Toronto, reported that poppies to be sold there were being made by returned men and their dependents, both in the factories that manufactured them and in private homes Mrs. Morris quoted "The Veteran", which said that poppies were being made largely by returned sfoldiers in hospital, and by soldiers employed by firms functioning in Canada.

Mrs. W. C. Morrison of Sudbury asked that the meeting pass a motion to the effect that 11th of November be reserved strictly for "our Canadian returned men" and that other organizations should not be allowed to interfere on this day. This was carried, and left to the sub-executives to deal with. References was made to the purpose for which the funds raised by the sale of poppies is used, it being understood that it was devoted to relief work done by the G.W.V.A.

Scots Guard Band

Mrs. Morrison of Sudbury here asked of other socities had been able to collect the share coming to the G.W.V.A. from the money realized on the Scotts Guard Band tour through Canada. "We in Sudbury have never got a cent yet."

Reference was made to the desire of the Dominion Command that the sale of poppies should be made, not just a common tag day, but a permanent memorial to commemorate the meaning of Armistice Day.

It was decided to hold the next annual convention of the Command in Toronto, the invitation from Sault Ste. Marie being thankfully received also, but the distance considered too great for the majority of the members.

During the luncheon hour to-day served in the prettily decorated ladies' room with Hallowe'en fancies in orange and black making a striking arrangement, a dainty gold service badge, enamelled in the Auxiliary colors, was presented to Mrs. W. R. Morris, the president, by Mr. W. T. Wadell of Sault Ste. Marie as a token of respect and esteem from the ladies and a recognition of services rendered by Mrs. Morris in the interests of the organization. Mrs. Morris replied in suitable terms.

treaty. Not long afterwards the party of Woodrow Wilson was defeated at the polls.

After others had been put aside in their countries, Lloyd George became the most prominent figure among all men of the world engaged in public life. His rise was an adventure in politics and filled with much romance.

Miners relating their experience, said Mr. Lloyd George received them smilingly and asked their business and that Mr. Hodges replied: "We have come to see the Prime Minister."

"Well, gentlemen I have to inform you that there is no Prime Minister," replied Mr. Lloyd George. "I have just seen His Majesty and tendered my resignation, which His Majesty accepted."

He was born in Manchester, Eng., 59 years ago, son of a Unitarian school master, who died when David was an infant. He was adopted by an uncle, a Welsh shoemaker, and with limited education he entered a law office. Marrying when young he invaded the political field and for 18 years he represented Carnavon as Liberal Memember of Parliament. His rise to fame was rapid. His ascent to a place amongst the mighty started when Asquith became premier in 1908. Next year in the great "Budget" battle, "the little Welshman" routed the once powerful House of Lords. With the coming of war he as Chancellor of the Exchequer brought about reforms in taxation which placed new burdens on the wealthy classes.

During the war he became Minister of Munitions and following loss of Kitchener at sea he was appointed Secretary of State for War. He turned the industries of Britain into vast munition factories, raised an army of 3,500,000 men and organized five million "war workers," provided for the construction of four millions tons of shipping, transferred big estates into truck gardens and hospitals for recuperation, and brought about conscription.

When Mr. Lloyd George tendered his resignation to the King this evening he advised His Majesty to summon Andrew Bonarlaw, Conservative leader, to form a new cabinet.

REJOICING IN DOWNFALL OF LLOYD GEORGE

London Press Says Effect Will Be Beneficial Everywhere, Making for Return to Normalcy.

COALITION DEAD

LONDON Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press.)—Newspaper comment this evening rejoices in the fall of the Lloyd George ministry. The Times believes the effect will be beneficient everywhere, and says the country wants to return to normal ways of life. The Morning Post regards the resignation as a considerable victory won in the interests of the country.

"Coalition is dead and gone, "Unwept and unsung", says the Daily News. "And the first feeling of men of almost all parties will be one of relief", The Westminster Gazette declares Coalition had been a thorough imposture and looks to the country" to carry us back to cleaner, sincerer politics."

VICTORY FOR FRANCE

PARIS, Oct. 20. —(Canadian Press.—The dominating note in the French press comment on the resignation of the Lloyd George cabinet in England is that the change cannot fail to make negotiations for a settlement of Europe's problem easier. To the majority of papers it is looked upon as victory for France".

Andre Tardieu, famous writer of the Echo De Paris, is one of very few writers who does not rush into ecstacies over Lloyd George's fall. "It will be the vogue of the moment no doubt" he says. "To say that the departure of Lloyd George is a success for France, but prudent people will take time to judge."

Le Matin shows bitterness in its vivid comment and says that Lloyd George destroyed many noble things that exist among people, friendship, honesty and confidence. "Lloyd George" says its parting shot "France hopes never to see you again."

LORD CURZON RESIGNS

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press.)—It was announced to-day that Lord Curzon, Foreign Minister has resigned in a letter to the loyd George Government and that Lord Lord Derby has undertaken to serve in any capacity under the premiership of Bonar Law.

WILL HE SUCCEED?

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press.—Thes generally accepted belief that Bonar Law will be able to form a cabinet had already been largely discounted to-day on the stock exchange where price movements of British gilt edged issues were narrow but upward. Other sections of the market were quietly cheerful.

SWORD IN HAND.

LONDON, Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press).—"My sword is in my hand," was the keynote of the farewell address of Premier Lloyd George to a great throng which gathered at St. Pancras Station to-day as he left for Leeds, where he delivers an address to-morrow. "I thank you," he said, "for coming to cheer me on my pilgrimage. The burden is off my shoulders, but my sword is in my hand."

HAS TAKEN PETERBORO TWO WEEKS TO DONATE THE PALTRY SUM OF $133

Cash contributions to aid the fire stricken refugees of the north have shown a slight improvement in the past two days, but are still far below what they should be. The grand total of Peterboro's offerings last night reached $133.

First news of the terrible holocaust reached Peterboro on October 5 and it has taken a city of 25,000 two full weeks to raise a paltry $133.

Many of us read with awe and wonder the annals of of our forebears who came to this country to find a nation in a wilderness. The work of these pioneers and the hardships which they met and overcame have been the topic of many a thrilling story. Their labot and their suffering made Canada what she is today and form the foundation for the Canada of the future.

The wonderful and undaunted spirit shown by the men and women of Haileybury and the towns and villages of the vicinity in returning to their fireswept homes to wrest a living from the land made temporarily barren by the mighty forces of nature and to hold with a true Canadian grit and dogged courage the outposts of the nation is conclusive evidence that the mighty spirit and faith of the pioneer is not yet dead in Canada. These people represent Canada's best and strongest shall we stand by with folded hands while the ravages of winter send them to an early grave?

If we do shall not their blood be upon our heads?

The Examiner, the Red Cross, the Fire Department and other organizations in the city stand ready to receive contributions of cash or clothing which will be forwarded immediately to the scene of the disaster and all contributions will be duly acknowledged. Those who have articles to give and are unable to deliver them personally need only telephone any of the various organizations and a messenger will be sent. Warm winter clothing for men, women and children and money to help rebuild the homes are most urgently neeeded.

ALD. CROWE EXTOLS INDUSTRY OF LOCAL FIRE DEPARTMENT

Commends Industry of City Firemen as Worthy of Emulation by the Police Force.

SHORT WEIGHT BREAD

local store four ounces short in weight, that the police are not rigidly enforcing the bread, and some other city ordinances, were among the 'plaints of Ald. Crowe in Council last night.

But he extolled the local Fire Brigade as busy bees of the first water, always looking for work, he said, and he emphasized their remarkable energy in collecting clothing for Northern Ontario fire sufferers; also in saving the city at least $8 by putting into the Fire Station 42 tons of coal in six and a half hours.

Ald. Crowe here went on to regret that he did not see the police emulating the firemen's example, and he thought they might at least strictly enforce this municipality's by-laws. Further, he would like information as to exactly what control Council has over the police department. Understanding that the amended Act provided that police estimates should be submitted to Council for approval he was not clear as to the relative position of Council and the Police Commissioners were those estimates not approved of.

A Joker Somewhere.

City Solicitor Widdifield replied that the amendment referred to by Ald. Crowe might be interpreted by five different people in five different ways, and the Act should be redrafted, in his opinion.

Ald. Crowe—"That is to say, there's a joker in the pack." (Laughter).

Ald. Phelan concurred with Ald. Crowe's views. "The Act provides that the Police Commissioners shall submit their estimates to Council for approval, but in event of Council's disapproval, no provision is made for subsequent action.

The City Solicitor here advised that the local Provincial member, Mr. T. Tooms, be asked to interview the Attorney-General on this matter, when he might send the question to the Court of Appeal for a ruling.

This advice was adopted by Council.

Seek Legislation.

In the above connection, W. H. Doherty, clerk of St. Thomas, wrote Council seeking its participation in a movement by municipalities to secure, if possible, legislation at next session conferring on municipalities greater control of their own police forces. It was hoped, the communication read, that the views of all cities could be obtained, and some common ground of agreement for coordinated action reached. This was referred to the Legal Committee.

FAVOR CANADIAN METHOD SQUEEZIN

Cuban - American Club May Adopt Similar Means of Getting the Berries.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press.)—Success of parmuluel machines at the Canadian tracks is given as one of chief reasons for the desired announcement here of the Cuban-American Jockey Club to eliminate the bookmaker from its track in Cuba. Announcement made by Frank J. B. Ruen, general manager of the club, says that at the next meeting an increase in number of betting machines "to exclusion of bookmakers" and elimination of big stake races in favor of overnight handicaps are to be salient points of the club's policy this winter.

"I have looked carefully into racing situation in Kentucky, Maryland and Canada," said Mr. Ruen, "and I am satisfied that popularity of the sport in these places is based on the machines. This is particularly true as applied to Canada."

To produce a complete automobile it requires labor in accessory plate glass, fabric, metal and other mills, also in mines, farms and forests.

WAS ERNEST EDWARDS A SUICIDE, AND IF SO, BECAUSE HE COULDN'T GIVE HIS FIANCEE A GOOD TIME?

Letter Obtained by Chief Newhall After the Preliminary Hearing of Mrs. Edwards and Filion Said to Have Influenced Grand Jury.

Three days before Ernest Edwards was found dead in the yard of his home on the 9th concession of Dummer he wrote a letter to the girl in Norwood whom he loved, and who was engaged to him. Some considerable time after the preliminary hearing before Police Magistrate Langley of the charges of murder against Mrs. Emma Jane Edwards, his mother, and Abe Filion, for which they were committed to trial, this letter came into the possession of Chief Newhall.

When the Grand Jury on Tuesday afternoon were considering the Crown's case againset these prisoners who had been kept continuously in custody since early in May, the letter was submitted as an exhibit and is reported to have weighed heavily with the jury in reaching the verdict of no bill and the consequent discharge of the two prisoners by Mr. Justice Middleton. That the Grand Jury attached much importance to the letter is presumed from the fact, as conveyed to the Examiner that only five or six of the Crown's witnesses were heard. It is stated that expressions used by Edwards indicated his intention to take his life, although several other opinions have been heard to the effect that the letter as a whole may also be given other interpretation.

It is a pathetic document of affection, release and an undertone that sounds of despair. With the general lack of evidence against the two prisoners, the Grand Jury are said to have regarded the appended epistle to the girl who is now living in Peterborough as the key to the tragedy and mystery of young Edwards' death, and the finding of his body in the barnyard on the mid-April Wednesday afternoon two days after he was seen alive at his home by his mother and sister.

April 9th, 1922.
Norwood, Ontario.

Dearest Friend,—Just a few lines or you'll think something has happened to me. Well, I'll tell you there is one way. Things have been very rough this week. They haven't been going my way at all.

I asked mother if she thought I could have the horse for the night and she said the horse wouldn't stand the drive, so I just got a little sore. But they got up this morning and they both went for a drive some place. I don't know where they went. They wouldn't tell me yesterday, but they needed the horse so I would know what to do. But no they wanted to be dirty.

So I was thinking the way things were going that we would have to part for a while for I know Verna [illegible] anything, and if they don't stop bothering me I will never [illegible]. I think I will pull away some of these days. I wouldn't stop around here. Now I want to go so far that it will take ten dollars to send a postage stamp.

Yes X this is hard to do, but it can't be helped. I have no way to give you a good time. I know you have been used to a good and I would like to give you a good time, but everything goes against me. I don't know what is the matter, but don't forget Dearie, I always loved you and always will. I don't know what I'll do. Life isn't worth living without you, so if you ever hear tell of somebody missing why don't be worried.

But I hope the next fellow you get will be good to you and use you good and give you a good time. I would if I could, but I can't. I am going to kill that damn Filion if he ever says any more to me.

I hope his damn horse dies on the road with him and him with it, and will it be all right if I was to keep the ring for a while. I'll never part with it. I will say it belongs to the girl I love and I won't be far out by saying that. You know if I couldn't go with a girl right and give her a good time I wouldn't go with one at all. I know I am not giving you a good time so please don't get mad at me will you. We might meet some place else and things might be better. I will close.

There was something I forgot. My poor old dog got tired of us looking at him and he went away and died, so I thinks that's what I'll d owhen a dog will. It's time we all did something. What do you say. I got on the old wheel to-day and went for a little ride to pass away the time. It's awfil lonesome here to-day, I'm near dead.

I don't know how you are, but I hope you don't feel as bad as I do. When I get through with the wheel I'm going to take the axe and break it to hell.

You're the only girl I love.

ERNIE.

HARMONY BETWEEN THE TWO NATIONS

Withdrawal of Warships on the Great Lakes Marks a New Epoch in History.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press.)—Removal of four naval vessels which have constituted the naval defence of the United States on the Canadian border will give "greater importance to the moral vaule of this unarmed border," says the tribune to-day in commenting editorially on the steps taken to revise the Rush-Bagor treaty of 1817.

Modern history has shown no other instance of such an arrangement on the border between two great nations. Peace that has already endured for over a hundred years has every prospect of enduring forever, for this withdrawal of the last ship of war on the boundary symbolizes the drawing together of Canadian and American people even closer than before."

THE CONVENTION CAME TO CLOSE

Handsome Wreath Placed on the Cenotaph on Murray Street.

The second annual convention of the Ontario Provincial Command of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the G. W. V. A. closed yesterday afternoon with a brief but appealing little ceremony. The visiting delegates had thoughtfully provided a handsome wreath of entwined oak leaves to place on the cenotaph on Murray Street, and, with a few words from Mrs. B. J. Greenaway, of Toronto, a short prayer and a hymn, this was done before the ladies departed for their trains.

Election of officers occupied the attention of the convention during yesterday afternoon's brief session, the list of returned officers appearing in last evening's paper. The re-election of Mrs. W. R. Morris to the presidential chair was by a popular and unanimous vote of the meeting.

A motion that this convention be listed with the railway companies, to obtain benefit of reduced fares, was referred to the sub-executive to deal with.

Referring to a talk given at the Provincial meeting held last week in Toronto, when the members were addressed by Mr. Stevenson, of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, on the subject of adoption of children of soldiers who are looked after by the Commission, Mrs. Morris asked if anything had been done along this line. Members reported the adoption of six children following this address, a very gratifying result.

During the luncheon hour, Mrs. Morris spoke of the Illegitimacy Bill and of different aspects of child welfare work taken up at the Toronto meeting last week.

The discussion that came up during the convention with regard to giving a grant to Canadian women to encourage motherhood, which was finally negatived by open vote, brought up a consideration of the treatment accorded needy wives of soldiers. Expectant mothers who come under the care of the Canadian Patriotic Fund are given an allowance of $35, which is a material help at this time. This fund functions throughout Canada, except in Toronto and York County. The whole workings of this system were fully explained by Mrs. Morris during the discussion on the subject.

A STEADY DEMAND

Genuine bargains that are easily recognizable are responsible for a remarkably successful shoe sale at the Leader Shoe Store, 291 George Street. The steady stream of buyers show that all are getting real satisfaction. Such values as men's medium dress boots, reduced from $4.50 to $2.98, is a favorite. A special lot of ladies' sample shoes, in good variety, worth $6 to $8, and selling at $1.98; Boys' $3.50 school boots, at $2.49; and ladies $4.50 Oxfords for $2.98, are other extra good snaps. Walk a block to 291 George street, and save a few dollars on your shoe needs.

INQUIRY INTO THE DEATH OF DR. NORMAN ALLEN AT TORONTO TONIGHT

TORONTO, October 20 (Secial to The Examiner). —At the Morgue to-night, before Coroner J. H. McConnell, the reports of the medical experts called in by the Crown to inquire into the death of Dr. Norman Allen at St. Michael's Hospital will be submitted.

Keen interest is being taken by the medical profession in the investigation.

The reports are expected to express positive opinions as to the death of Dr. Allen, whose demise was due to tetanus.

Dr. H. H. Detweiler and Dr. W. L. Robinson are the experts retained by the Crown. Both were given sections of the wound made in the operation on Dr. Allen, and asked to determine if the wound was sterile, or if not, and if the catgut used in connection with the operation caused any infection.

Under orders from the authorities of St. Michael's Hospital, Dr. William Magner is making independent investigation. Dr. I. H. Erb, of the Hospital for Sick Children, is also making experiments in connection with the death of T. P. Seymour, who died from tetanus at a Hospital, and whose death will be inquired into by a jury, presided over by Dr. G. W. Glendenan.

CITY COUNCIL VOTES $500 TOWARD RELIEF OF FIRE SUFFERERS

Will Make Donation Either in Cash or Goods as the Distressed Themselves Prefer—Opportunity to Get High Grade Blankets at Cost.

TO ACT AT ONCE

Five hundred dollars in cash or goods, whichever those affected prefer, was the grant by the City Council unanimously voted last evening toward relief of sufferers from the devastating fire in Northern Ontario.

When raising this question, Ald. Stocker took occasion to report that Canadian Woollens had offered to sell the city high-grade blankets at cost for relief purposes. Blankets, he thought, with winter so near, would be peculiarly acceptable to the fire victims, and he visioned with pleasure this city forwarding them 200 or 300 pairs.

Let It Be Cash.

Ald. Turner had seen these blankets in question, which he appraised as exceptional cost value at $4.20 the pair, plus stamp tax.

Mayor Taylor inclined to the grant being in cash. Belleville, he said, had voted $300, and some municipalities as much as $1,000.

Ald. Phelan—"They know themselves what they most want better than we do. Send them the money."

Ald. Crowe here advocated a cash grant of $500, while Ald. Gainey suggested that the Clerk telegraph the Relief Committee, enquiring just in what shape the grant would be preferred.

Ald. McIntyre—"Vote a specified amount and let the committee spend it to the best advantage."

Ald. Hamilton saw an advantage in the Canadian Woollens' offer of blankets at cost price, but Ald. Phelan had an idea that the fire sufferers themselves might need other goods worse than blankets.

The conclusion finally reached was to, on motion of Ald. Gainey and Crowe, pass a grant of $500, leaving the Mayor and Ald. Stocker, chairman of the Board of Works, to ascertain from the Northern Ontario Fire Relief Committee, Toronto, whether the donation shall take the shape of cash or goods.

A LOCAL VIEW OF POLITICAL CRISIS

Mr. J. H. Burnham Cannot See Any Permanency to Coalition Governments.

Commenting upon what the cable calls the smashing defeat of the Coalition Party in Great Britain yesterday Mr. J. H. Burnham remarked to the Examiner: "So it will be with all coalitions as it has been with that in Canada and has not transpired concerning the British Coalition Coalitions formed for the war were taken advantage of in both countries by the chief office-holders to put in a claim for keeping tight hold of office. But they and those who were looking for the crumbs were the only ones who approved of them. In the case of Lloyd-George it is a pity. He was worthy of providing a better fate for himself than he did provide. As for Austen Chamberlain and his threat to Labour it is silly. That man must take himself seriously."

"I hope the party in Canada will notice that Bonar-Law declines to accept the Premiership until he calls a convention to decide if he is his party's choice as leader or not."

There were 879 women studying medicine in the medical colleges of the United States last year.

JURY AWARDED MRS. CLEMENCE $1,500 DAMAGES

Verdict in Suit Against Regent Theatre—Government Inspection Not a Guarantee in All Respects

COSTS TO PLAINTIFF.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Clemence were awarded $1,600 and costs from Schneider-Rishor, Limited, proprietors of the Regent Theatre, on Thursday afternoon, in the verdict recorded by the jury in the Assize Court that dealt with this case. The jury fixed the amount of damages, and Mr. Justice Middleton disposed of the question of costs.

Plaintiffs had sued for $2,500 as relief for the pain and injury suffered by Mrs. Clemence in a fall in a gallery aisle of the theatre on December 11, 1920.

Mr. G. N. Gordon was plaintiffs' solicitor.

After a long deliberation, the jury came in with a question for His Lordship as to whether damages should be assessed against the owners of the theatre in view of the fact that it had been inspected and passed by the Government inspector. Some opinion apparently obtained among the jurors that the Government was liable and therefore should be called upon to pay the plaintiffs.

Mr. Justice Middleton replied that every theatre is directly responsible to its guests. Their proprietors are not freed from liability by Government inspection. They must go further than that. It should be decided whether the theatre has provided a reasonably safe place for its patrons. The patron is entitled to that, and is not to be told that the Government inspector had passed the house.

"Inspection by the Government's official is not a guarantee of safety by any manner of means. It sets out merely the minimum requirements," His Lordship explained. "Such inspection deals with essentials. It sets out the things a theatre must have. The inspector doesn't look to see, for instance, whether the chairs are good or not. Again, everything may appear satisfactory to the inspector, but a six-inch hole might develop in the carpet and a patron trip on it and fall. Government inspection doesn't touch that kind of thing, but it does say that adequate fire protection shall be provided, and certain lighting standards are demanded in order that there may be no immorality or no undue flirtations among the patrons."

The jury in this case was composed as follows: H. S. Hogg, E. P. Cuffe, V. W. Lancaster, Ed, Sargent, F. J. Burgess, Cecil Wolfe, Wm. A. Lavoie, Frank Grady, John Matchett, W. S. Morrison, Chas. Finn and Herb. Knox.

MOTOR COLLISION ON GEORGE STREET

Two Cars Came Together in a Friendly Embrace—Drivers Uninjured.

A motor collision, in which a roadster, No. 168-480, owned and driven by Fred W. Case, manager of the Imperial Oil Company, came off distinctly second best in an encounter with a light delivery truck, owned and driven by J. Nazimok, fish dealer, George street, took place at 10.45 this morning, at the corner of George and Hunter streets. The roadster coming north on George street, collided with the fish waggon going south on George street, when the latter made the turn to go east on Hunter street. The delivery waggon from all appearances, suffered no damage beyond the shock to its more or less fragile contents, on their way to sundry Friday dinner-tables, but the larger car presented a sorry spectacle, with the rear portion of the left running board smashed by the impact, which evidently drove it back against the curb, and resulted in a damaged left wheel, a smashed right rear wheel, and axle. Neither driver was injured.

Eyebrows Betray Character

By MARIAN HALE.

Paris recently held a contest to find the woman with the most perfect pair of eyebrows.

Mademoiselle Myrtle May won the first prize because of the extraordinary length and slenderness of her brows, while the alluring quality of her dark, oriental ones won second place for Mademoiselle Estelle Gresso.

Thousands of girls were in the contest and thousands were eliminated because they had followed the present fad of plucking or shaving the eyebrows to attain the slender penciled effect.

The artists who judged the beauties said this practice destroyed the natural beauty of the eye, and took away the character from the face.

Mrs. Martha Schaffner, head of the beauty parlor of the Pennsylvania Hotel, New York, who studies women from all parts of the country says that plucking the eyebrows has ceased to be a fad, but has become an established practice.

Takes From Character.

"Practically every woman we treat has her brows shaped into the line she prefers. I will not say that this destroys the natural beauty of the face, but it does take away a little of the character.

"You can tell much about a woman's disposition and natural tendencies by studying the eyebrows," she continued.

"When I see a woman with heavy, clearly marked eyebrows, I know she has physical vigor and exceptional powers of observation and perception.

"Thin eyebrows tell me a woman is physically weak and vascillating in her opinions. She'll never take a firm, decided stand on any matter and stick.

What Smoothness Shows

"Even smooth hair indicates evenness of thought and orderly mental habits.

"When each hair seems to have a different idea as to direction the owner is apt to be erratic, temperamental and moody.

"Full, bushy eyebrows proclaim the genius, particularly if there is considerable width between the eye and brow.

"Arched eyes are paradoxical—they seem always to be asking a question, but in reality they are taking everything on faith, believing implicitly what is told to them. They usualy lack a sense of humor, and are seen as followers rather than leaders in thought.

Treacherous Sign.

"A treacherous nature is often betrayed by eyebrows drawn down on the inner corner toward the nose, following a waved line over the eye.

"Bushy eyebrows, slightly curling, are frequently outward manifestations of an irritable nature and a hot temper. The owner is usually very positive and opinionated and often intolerant.

"Love of argument registers itself in the brow drawn down on the outer corner.

"Perhaps one reason women pluck their eyebrows is that their characteristics may not be too easily read. They all love to create mystery, you know."

Fishing Boats Are Ready For International Race

Bluenose Took a Trial Spin Over the Course Yesterday—Henry Ford on the Ways For a Coat of Paint

HOWARD SEIZED.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., October 20 (Canadian Press). — Returning just after dark from a trial spin over the forty-mile course which fishing schooners representing the United States and Canada will follow in the International races, commencing on Saturday, Captain Angus Walters, of the Canadian defender Bluenose, announced that his vessel was in perfect trim for the contest, and that the weather yesterday was "made for the Bluenose." Throughout the run, a stiff wind held from the northwest.

A few minutes behind the Canadian boat as she slipped down the harbour for the course just after noon, was the schooner Elizabeth Howard, out of New York.

The Howard, defeated by the Gloucester schooner Henry Ford in the elimination races here last week, went over the course here yesterday to tune up for a brush with the Boston schooner Mayflower to-day.

The Mayflower, debarred from International competition by the trustees of the Cup, will train with the Howard for her special race with the winner of the International series, to be held two days after the main series ends.

The United States Cup challenger, Henry Ford, which went on the ways yesterday for painting as soon as the Bluenose was hauled off, will try out the course to-day, it was announced by Captain Clayton Morrissey, her skipper.

Both the Ford and Bluenose were measured yesterday by Evers Burtner, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, assistant to Professor George Owen, designated by the International Committee to do the work. The measurements will be announced to-day after a meeting of the Committee.

In her new paint, and her rigging as it will be in the Saturday race, Captain Walters said the Bluenose yesterday handled perfectly, and showed she was ready for the race of her life.

The Ford was expected to be ready for the water early to-day. In addition to her coat of paint the schooner had her mainsail lengthened to fit her lower boom.

BOSTON, October 20 (Canadian Press). — The schooner Elizabeth Howard, registered in New York, but fishing out of Gloucester, which was the principal contender with the Henry Ford for International challenge honours in the races last week, was libelled in the Federal Court yesterday on a claim of $4,657.

The Standard Commercial Export and Finance Corporation of New York claims it advanced that amount in 1918 to pay claims resulting from salvage of the schooner after she sank at Booth Bay Harbour, Maine.

William M. Howard, of New York, the owner, filed a bond to cover the amount of the claim, thus releasing the schooner so she can engage in tuning up to-day with the fisherman Mayflower.

DAVID LLOYD GEORGE WHO GUIDED THE DESTINIES OF ENGLAND THROUGH THE MOST TRYING PERIOD OF HER EXISTENCE GOES INTO THE WILDERNESS

Unionist Withdrawal From the Coalition, Which Was Decided Upon Yesterday at the Carlton Club Meeting, Brought About the Resignation of "the little Welshman"—Andrew Bonar Law, a Canadian By Birth, Is Asked By the King to Accept the Premiership—Unionist Party Must First Elect a Leader.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(Associated Press).—After holding the office of Prime Minister through seven of the most critical years of British history—three years of war and four years of reconstruction — David Lloyd Geoge went into the wilderness yesterday.

This was the description in his Manchester speech of his position of the Unionist wing of his followers should desert him. Unionist withdrawal from the Coalition was decided upon yesterday by the meeting which Austen Chamberlain had called at the Carlton Club and which was attended by the Coalition members of the House of Commons and a handful of Lords who were enrolled in the Cabinet.

The vote was 186 to 87 against the Chamberlain policy of pledging the Party to sustain the Coalition and in favor of a general election to confirm its course. The meeting was followed by a succession of swift events which carried the Coalition Government into outer darkness.

Andrew Bonar Law will put on the Prime Minister's mantle for a short term of office. The King summoned him to Buckingham Palace late last evening and invited to form a new government, which Mr. Bonar Law will undertake, although the state of his health, which compelled him to withdraw from public life a few months ago, makes it a risky venture.

Must Elect Leader

Before Mr. Bonar Law can form ally accept the premiership, however a meeting of the Unionist Party must be held to elect a new leader to carry out the policy to be decided by caucus; this meeting will be held within a few days, when Mr. Bonar Law will be chosen.

Between the Carlton Club meeting and Bonar Law's visit to the King it was a seething afternoon of rumors and of group gatherings among the political factions. Austen Chamberlain first visited the Prime Minister's official residence in Downing street, as had been expected, to offer his resignation; several Under-secretories and the chief Coalition Unionist whip, Lieutenant-Colonel Leslie Wilson had already informed the newspapers that they had resigned and within two hours, Mr. Lloyd George was in possession of the resignation of practically all the members of the cabinet. He then drove to the palace to tender them to the King.

Mr. Lloyd George advised the King to summon Mr. Bonar Law, and according to custom, this was done. While Mr Lloyd George exhibited cheerfulness to the few who saw him and cheered him on his journey to the palace, he could not but feel deeply the verdict that he no longer commanded the support of the majority of the Unionist Party which for the past few months had furnished the strongest material for his Cabinet.

Bonar Law a Sphinx

It was Mr. bonar Law, more than any other man, who influenced the Unionist caucus to secede from the Coalition. He had been a Sphinx whom the rank and file of the Unionist were waiting to hear. He is a serious and unemotional man, with a quiet manner. His opinion that it was more important to keep the party together than to win the next election, and "whether by his own fault or the force of circumstances Mr. Lloyd George has lost the confidence of the country", decided many votes. There was also a strong feeling in the party that the Chamberlain plan, which gave the party's destinies over to the small faction representing it in Parliament, was not a fair device.

The last straw which weighed in the scales was Newport election, in which a straight Unionist candidate won on a platform of opposition to the Coalition and all its works, although the politicians thought the Labor Party had a safe prospect in that constituency.

Mr. Bonar Law will probably have Lord Curzon for one of the pillars of his Cabinet. Curzon remained away from the caucus yesterday, but sent a letter of protest against the exclusion of the Lords.

Unionist Party Split

One result of yesterday's upheaval is a split in the Unionist Party, which makes its fortunes doubtful. A strong group of the old Cabinet Unionists remain true to the leader, Mr. Chamberlain, the Earl of Balfour, Lord Birkenhead, Sir Laming Worthington-Evans and Sir Robert Stevenson Horne follow Mr. Lloyd George into the wilderness, and many workers in the party ranks are likely to go with them.

Last night the solemn precincts of the old grey Carlton Club, which has witnessed many scenes of history-making in its time, afforded the London crowd, which never fails to express its sentiments towards notabilities, a distinct scene of excitement. The Earl of Balfour, who had only to walk around the corner from his house was one of the fortunates who got nothing but cheers. Mr. Chamberlain was loudly hooted when he appeared, from a feeling that he was not playing the game. Two or three lesser lights also proved unpopular Some hothead loudly and repeatedly cried: "Judas", as Birkenhead ascended the steps.

The Sheep and the Goats

Club attendants stood on the steps to separate those who had cards of admission and those who tried to force their way in, standing on their rights as members. There were half a dozen of these belligerents including Lord Chaplin, one of the oldest Unionists and one of the oldest members of the club.

Some compromised by entering the lower floor; others retired after exchanging warm remarks with their club-mates among the ticket holders. A meeting of the Charlton Club to discuss the rights of members is on the slate for the near future

Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Chamberlain presided respectively over meetings of the Coalition Liberal and Coalition Unionist members of the Government, discussing future policy Mr. Lloyd George will make his first speech as "Ex-Premier", to-day at Guild Hall on the occasion of London's official welcome home to the Prince of Wales, but he is expected to reserve his real political manifesto for Saturday's meeting at Leeds.

Victory for Younger

Yesterday's events may be regarded as constituting a great victory for Sir George Younger, who upset Lloyd George's plons for a February election and has now been the cause of his resignation. Mr. Lloyd George will continue to hold his seat of office to carry on current business until the new government is formed.

The part played by Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin at the Carlton Club meeting has brought his name into great prominence, and it is thought he may be Chancellor of the Exchequer in the new Conservative ministry. He has been president of the Board of Trade and Parliamentary Private Secretary to Mr. Bonar Law.

A point of considerable interest in the new situation is the fate of the Irish Constitution in the British Parliament. It is not yet known whether Mr. Bonar Law, in the event of schedule in the formation of a Conservative ministry, will decide upon an immediate appeal to the country, or whether he will attempt to carry on the government and pass needful Irish legislation. If he adopts the latter plan there will be no difficulty in getting the Irish Constitution ratified, for, although the "Die-Hards" who are mainly responsible for yesterday's developments, are strongly against the Coalition's Irish policy, it is said that they will not attempt to disturb the settlement already made under the treaty.

Mrs. Lloyd George, addressing a political meeting in London last night, said that her husband's health and spirits both improve when he is engaged in a fight—it is like a tonic to him.

"I am always pleased when there is a fight going on", she declared, "because he gives me far less trouble."

Tribute to Lloyd George

Thirteen Unionists members of the late Government, including Mr. Chamberlain, Lord Birkenhead, the

Bonar Law is Asked To Form a Ministry

LONDON, October 20 (Associated Press).—A Court circular issued last night, in announcing the resignation of the Prime Minister, says:

"The Honourable Mr. Lloyd-George was received in audience by His Majesty, and tendered his resignation as Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury, which the King was graciously pleased to accept. The Right Honourable Mr. Bonar Law was received in audience by His Majesty this evening."

Mr. Bonar Law explained to the King that he was not in a position to accept the invitation to form a Cabinet, as at the moment the Conservative Party was without an official or recognised leader. It would be necessary, he said, to summon a meeting of the Unionists of both the House of Lords and the House of Commons to accept his (Bonar Law's) policy and elect him as leader of the Unionist Party before he could undertake the responsibility of forming a Conservative ministry.

It is understood this meeting will be held either on Sunday or Monday next.

CROWN'S EVIDENCE COMPLETED IN CASE AGAINST GEORGE EVANS

Witnesses Related in Detail Circumstances of the Killing of Orman Boyler By Evans' Automobile on July Evening.

SAY SPEED EXCESSIVE

The trial of George Evans, accused of manslaughter rested yesterday evening at six o'clock with the conclusion of the Crown's evidence. Half way through the afternoon the proceedings were interrupted while the jury were taken to the scene of the fatality on July 19th last at 9 p.m. in which Orman Boyler, the nine year old son of George Boyler, was struck and killed by an automobile driven by Evans. Mr. George Hutcheson, K.C., of Brockville, assisting Crown Attorney Hatton, K.C., is conducting the prosecution, and G. N. Gordon, K.C., is counsel for the defense.

Dr. Raymore Scott.

Dr. Raymore Scott, who was examined at the resumption of the trial Thursday afternoon, testified that he was present in Chief Newhall's office about 10.30 o'clock on the night of the fatality.

"The Chief told us to stick around," witness said. "Mr. Evans came into the room. He was close enough for me to detect the odor of alcohol on his breath. I felt his pulse. It was a little fuller than normal, but that was perhaps due to the excitement of the experience he had been through."

Mr. Gordon—Would you say that alcohol had been taken within four or five hours?

Dr. Scott—I presume that he had a meal.

Mr. Gordon—Don't presume, doctor. This is manslaughter. Would alcohol be perceptible on a man's breath a day after?—Yes, but the odor would be different.

Judge Middleton— Did the odor you smelt indicate that a meal had been taken?—I wouldn't like to say.

Mr. Gordon— What you saw of Evans there was nothing to indicate that he was intoxicated?—No.

Was it the front or the back of the boy that was struck?—His left side I think.

Did the car have a buffer? —I think it had.

That would explain the fractured thighs?—Yes.

Dr. Scott said he had examined three or four persons killed in motor accidents. One of them in London was a boy of sixteen. He had been run down by a car going at a speed of 20 miles an hour, but the injuries were not so many as in this case.

"That boy was twice as old as young Boyler," said Mr. Gordon.

Orman Boyler was nine years old.

To Mr. Hutcheson witness said he believed Evans had taken the liquor on the day of the accident.

It was suggested that it might be the smell left over from two per cent. mild imitation beer; what do you say as to that?—Two per cent. would have the smell of stale cider. It wasn't that.

What was it?—It was the odor of alcohol.

Mr. Gordon—Do you say that you can distinguish between the smell of 2 1-2 beer and other liquor six or eight hours after being taken?—Yes. If any odor at all can be detected.

And if Dr. Greer and Dr. Young say that one can't distinguish between these odors, you disagree with them?—Yes, if there is enough odor to detect.

Alphonse Coughlin.

Alphonse Coughlin, who was examined next, said that he was a farmer living in Otonabee about a mile and one half from the city. He was driving home in a buggy on the night of the accident. As he drew opposite J. J. Howden's lot he noticed the light of an automobile coming behind him.

"I was a few feet west of Mr. Howden's gateway when I first noticed the light," witness said. I heard the engine. It was making a roaring noise. I pulled off the road on the right side into the gateway at Howden's.

Mr. Hutcheson— What did you notice about the speed of the car?—I thought it was about 50 miles an hour.

Did you see the occupants of the car?—No.

Did you hear anything?—I heard a crack like a stone hitting the car.

Witness said there was a light near the spot where he heard the noise. It was about opposite Boyler's small gate. The tail light of the car was a little west of the light when witness heard the noise as of the car hitting a stone.

Mr. Coughlin said he drove on to-

REBUILDING THE NORTH.

The Ontario Government has a great responsibility in connection with the reconstruction of Haileybury and other centres wiped out by the recent fire.

What measure of assistance should be given by the province?

It has been suggested that Ontario should assume the municipal indebtedness of the destroyed towns.

500 men have volunteered to rebuild their establishments in Haileybury if there is an assurance from the Government that assistance of this kind will be furnished.

If a considerable portion of the municipal indebtedness is not removed from the shoulders of the citizens it is difficult to see how the great burden is to be assumed by those who want to continue to live in Haileybury.

And yet would the province be justified in establishing a precedent in so far as the indebtedness of a municipality is concerned.

The whole matter should, if it has not already done so, early engage the attention of the Cabinet. What has been done by the Government has been in the way of temporary relief, necessary of course, but having little bearing upon the larger question of the rebuilding of the destroyed communities.

Some assurance from Queen's Park is necessary to inspire confidence in the men of the north.

MR. CRERAR'S TROUBLES.

Lloyd George is not the only political leader who is finding the going rough at the present time.

Hon. T. A. Crerar, chieftain of the Progressive party, is another leader for whom there seems to be trouble gathering fast.

Mr. Crerar's predicament is caused by the suggestion of a possible fusion between the party of which he is the head and what has been called the Progressive wing of the Liberal party.

The plan is not popular among Saskatchewan Progressives, and they are losing no time in showing their hostility to the scheme.

The Progressive secretary for the Province declares that if any such alliance is made the majority of Progressives in the West will consider they have been sold out.

The vice-president of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association gives it as his opinion that a working agreement between the two parties would be the beginning of the end for the Progressives.

In Alberta the feeling seems to be even stronger.

For instance, the Stony Plain local of the United Farmers of Alberta has called upon Mr. Crerar to resign, charging that he is seeking to destroy the identity of the Progressive party, that he refused to lead the Progressives as an opposition party in the House, and that he is associated with a grain company and not in favor of the formation of the Wheat Board.

So far the Progresssive leader has refused to discuss the recent developments, and his comment on the situation is being awaited with interest.

MRS. MORRIS HONORED.

Congratulations are due Mrs. W. R. Morris, of Peterborough, upon her unanimous re-election as president of the Ontario Provincial Command of the Ladies' Auxiliaries of the G.W.V.A.

The fact that no name was submitted in opposition to that of Mrs. Morris indicates that her value as executive head and her deep interest in the movement have been realized and appreciated by branches all over Ontario.

Mrs. Morris was one of the pioneers in the formation of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and her unanimous mandate to "carry on" is a tribute to what she has been able to accomplish.

Her activity on behalf of the Peterborough branch has been duplicated in the Provincial Command, and under her leadership the Ontario body has, as The Examiner pointed out yesterday, developed into an organization that has been of splendid service to returned soldiers and their families.

It speaks volumes for the Auxiliary's desire to continue their work that an effort is being made to obtain a separate charter in order that should the G.W.V.A. itself cease to operate the Auxiliary may still go on looking after the welfare of the families of the men who formed Canada's overseas army.

The success of any movement usually reflects the energy and ability of those at its head, and, viewed in that light, it is evident that Mrs. Morris's leadership has contributed largely to the splendid showing made by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

AN IMMIGRATION SCHEME.

It is recognized that Canada's greatest need is a large increase in population, or, in other words, a stream of immigration of the right kind, filling up the vast tracts of vacant lands in the West.

The placing of an adequate number of settlers on the land means not only great benefit to the West but it also means much for the whole Dominion.

It means a larger population to help assume the heavy burden of taxation.

It means the eventual wiping out of the National Railway deficit.

For Peterborough and other manufacturing centres it means new and large markets for their products.

For these and other reasons that readily suggest themselves, the plans of the Canadian Colonization Association should receive the hearty support and co-operation of the whole Dominion.

It already has the co-operation of the Federal and Imperial Governments and of the National and Canadian Pacific Railways, and Premier Drury has promised, on behalf of the Ontario Government, to do whatever is possible, so far as the province is concerned, to assist.

The scheme in its broad details is simple and yet far-reaching. It is proposed to form a national colonization and land selling agency to populate the 26,000,000 acres of unoccupied land in Western Canada, all less than fifteen miles from a railway, with selected farm immigrants, chiefly from the United States and Great Britain. The Association hopes to be able to induce the owners of these unused lands to offer them for sale to immigrants on an extended payment plan.

The chief difficulty that presents itself in these plans is in persuading the owners to list their lands for sale.

Many of them have been holding their property for speculative purposes, and unless they are forced by a stiff tax on unoccupied lands to abandon their purpose they are likely to continue to hold the land.

Originally the Colonization Association intended to ask for legislation covering such a point, but it has been abandoned.

Perhaps for the success of the scheme it would have been better to have pressed for such a measure.

At all events, however, the proposals seem to be thoroughly in the national interest, and should have whole-hearted support throughout the Dominion.

TARIFFS, TRADE AND DEBTS.

The new American tariff has now been passed by Congress and ratified by the President. Forebodings have therefore become facts, no further concessions or amendments are for the moment to be looked for, and we are reduced to the hope that it may not prove as disastrous to trade as it threatens to be. The new bill imposes higher duties on almost all imports, and on some it imposes duties so high as to be admittedly prohibitive. Among these are imports of cutlery, and the result may be a heavy blow to the trade of Sheffield, which is already passing through a difficult crisis. Woollen goods and some types of cotton goods are also to be so drastically taxed that trade in them must be most seriously hampered. The general tendency of the tariff is to inaugurate a period in which the foreign trade of the United States will be restricted, while an attempt is made to give American manufacturers a monopoly of the home market.

The United States are clearly entitled to enact any tariff laws they please, and to conduct their trade and their industries on whatever lines seem good to them. If we were to criticize the tariff as a tariff it would be because we are free traders, and on economic rather than international grounds. It is obvious that if we, and the rest of the world, cannot sell what we make to the Americans, we cannot buy from the Americans what they make and wish to sell to us. If we did buy without selling, and if the Americans sold without buying, the process would quickly and automatically be brought to a standstill by the movement of the exchanges. The value of the dollar is comparison with other units of currency would soar into the clouds, and American goods would become so expensive in every country outside the United States that no one would be able to afford to buy them. In these latter days we have learned something about the delicate machinery of the exchanges, and our experience is enough to prove to us that a movement which might make a Ford car as expensive as a Rolls-Royce is by no means impossible. It is an iron law of economics, which no action of Congress can change, that the country which will not buy will soon find itself unable to sell.

If, however, the Americans were to determine that they would rather become self-sufficing, the result would be their own affair, and the rest of the world would be compelled to try to adjust itself to the new situation. But in the abnormal circumstances of the present that is by no means the only issue involved. We owe the United States a large sum of money, and we are on the point of arranging to pay it in annual instalments. We cannot pay it in gold, and if we could the Americans would be unlikely to welcome any attempt to do so, for they already possess more gold than they need. We can only pay, therefore, in goods and services. Unless America will let us send her our manufactured goods, and carry for her on the high seas, not only shall we be unable to buy anything from her, but we shall also be unable to pay her the money we owe her. In this matter the Americans have no choice, for they cannot compel us to perform the impossible. We mean to pay them if they wish us to and if they will let us, but we cannot if they will not let us. It is quite conceivable, therefore, that the Fordney-McCumber tariff may turn out to be one of those propositions which reduce themselves to the absurd.—The Westminster Gazette.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Lloyd George is down, but it is not safe to call him out.

The Little Welshman is not yet ready to drop out of political life altogether, and he may come back.

Ralph De Palma, famous motor car race pilot, has been sent to jail for speeding. He was only travelling seventy miles an hour, and no doubt considered that pace merely loafing.

The cost of living dropped twelve cents a week in September, according to statistics. It'll take a lot of those drops to make an appreciable difference in the family budget.

With everybody claiming credit for bringing peace in the Near East, it is a natural question to ask, "Who was in favor of war?"

Noting that Sir Lomer Gouin predicts that Canada will retain the Liberal Government for ten years, and in that time will achieve a population of 12 millions, the Ottawa Journal remarks that Sir Lomer's native province will probably contribute rather more than its share to both these ends.

A price-cutting war among motor car manufacturers is now prophesied. It will soon be as cheap to ride as to walk, and a great deal safer.

A MAN'S PRAYER

When I lie down at night
Make me not prey to thoughts that fear the light;
Let not remorse, or shame, or doubt, or dread,
Have right to any place about my bed.

When I rise up at morn:
Give me a slate clean as the day, new-born,
Whereon to write, this day, a record fair,
Unshamed though all the world shall see it there.

When that I trudge with burden of the day:
Grant me good friends to cheer me on my way,
With whom my commerce shall be clean and true,
Taking not more, nor giving less than due.

Till, on that journey I must make alone,
All unafraid, I face the Great Unknown.

DAUGHTER WAS WEAK AND NERVOUS

Mother Gave Her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with Happy Results

Cobourg, Ontario. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me for my daughter. She had trouble every month which left her in a weak and nervous condition with weak back and pain in her right side. She had these troubles for three years and frequently was unable to attend school. She has become regular and feels much better since she began taking the Vegetable compound and attends school regularly."—Mrs. John Toms, Ball St., Cobourg, Ontario.

Every mother who has a daughter suffering from such symptoms should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It is prepared from roots and herbs, and can be taken in safety by young and old. It has been used nearly fifty years, and many women owe their good health today to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THE MYSTERY MIND

Arthur B. Reeve and John W. Grey

Renard he would have recognized at once, but Vera was so changed that he was less ready to credit her here as a woman than he had been through his glass from the airplane. Both saw the Strangler at once. They rushed to the man and in an instant detected the canvas in his grasp. No scruples seemed to actuate the couple, for Renard, taking a knife from the pocket of his tattered trousers, forced the fingers of the unconscious gangster. Vera rolled the picture, attempting to slip it into her blouse, but at the demand of Renard she surrendered it to him and helped him tie it about his waist, next to his skin and beneath his clothes.

The painting hidden, Renard turned to the Strangler, kicking him viciously. Vera, glancing around, suddenly exclaimed aloud, pointing with one hand at Dupont's footmarks, clutching Renard's arm with the other.

"Look Shoes New shoes"

"From the airplane," the fox muttered, loud enough so that Dupont heard.

Vera whispered something to her companion, then ran swiftly back into the woods in the direction from which the two had come. Neither of them had glanced toward Dupont. He felt safe; he decided that for the moment they did not intend to follow his trail. Since he could not circle the clearing swiftly enough to pursue Vera, he remained to watch Renard.

The fox made several attempts to rouse the Strangler. He cuffed the head of the man, knocking it from side to side. He kicked the unconscious form again and again. Meanwhile the minutes passed.

Suddenly Dupont caught a breath behind him, but too late. Slim arms of steele locked his, and Vera's voice, triumphant, called to her companion in the clearing.

"Made it Made it Come on and tie him, and remember his eyes"

He was bound with torn bits of the Strangler's clothing. Though he struggle he found the girl's strength above anything he had ever known, and it was useless. These two devotees of the Devil God, who had carried a heavy boat around every waterfall and rapids upon more than a thousand miles of the upper unnavigable Orinoco, bore him without an effort for nearly two hours.

At a sandy island in the broad delta of a minor stream emptying into the lake Evil Eye was waiting. Out in the open sun stakes had been driven, and a huge gourd affixed on uprights in a fashion Dupont could not understand. The preparations were not fresh, for the sand had drifted and the wood dried as though from several seasons.

Without audible direction from Evil Eye the other two placed Dupont upon his back on the ground, lashing arms and ankles and head so that any movement was impossible. Then the old priest went to the river and with a bit of Indian basketwork filled the gourd, which now was directly above the hypnotist's head. In an instant the victim understood. The water torture

A drop fell upon his forehead, somehow comforting and cooling in the heat of his exposed position. After an interminable interval another drop fell in the same spot. Now it was no discomfort. But before the dried shell above would empty itself he would be driven insane; then death would follow. The constant repetition of the slow deliberate dripping of the water on one certain spot was fatal to a living being.

"Evil Eye was preparing that for the Strangler," Vera volunteered, bending over, still enjoying the memory of her single-handed capture. "We'll be back with him by the time you're through."

Dupont heard the echo of their departing footsteps in the sand beneath his head. He began to calculate, mentally, the chances he had for life. He blessed the fact that he was tied out in the open, so that Randolph would see him from above. He wondered if he could last until morning.

At the funeral service in memory of the late Reginald Clark on Sunday in Bethel Church, Rev. G. F. Weir, in extolling the exemplory life led by deceased, said his work and clean conduct were worthy of emulation in the community. The young man, he added, had been a great influence for good.

Ernie Batten sang "In That Upper Garden." There were many beautiful floral tributes. A number of the pupils from deceased's school occupied two seats near the front. Immediately after the service the funeral cortege proceeded to Campbellford for interment.

Women's Institute.

At the Women's Institute last Thursday Miss Ferena Cooper, Secretary, was appointed delegate to the convention in Toronto on November 23, 24 and 25. The young ladies gave their reasons for attending the Fall Fairs. Every one spoke of seeing the crowd and meeting people one seldom met elsewhere. Fancy-work, flowers, poultry, baking, etc., were also given among other reasons. One older woman spoke of Chemong Fair, and another of the benefit of public speaking and singing. Others laid particular stress on community singing and on the cattle, especially some Herefords which had been shown at several Fairs.

BAILIEBORO HAD AN ANNIVERSARY.

Followed By a Supper on Monday With Another Supper Billed For Wednesday.

BAILIEBORO, Oct. 18.—The anniversary services, which were held in the Methodist church on Sunday morning and evening, were both a great success. Possibly on account of the rain during the morning the crowd was not as large as it was at the evening service.

Rev. W. T. Wickett, of Tyrone, who was a former pastor of this church, conducted both services, which weer very much appreciated by the congregation and a message was left for all who were present which will not soon be forgotten.

Special efforts were put forth by the choir to make the day a success.

Rev. R. M. Patterson conducted the services at Tyrone in Mr. Wickett's absence, taking the regular church service in the morning and addressing an Epworth League rally service in the evening.

The new lighting system was installed for the occasion, which proved to be very satisfactory, and a great improvement over the former lights.

The following Monday evening a fowl supper was held in the Tuxis Boys' hall. The supper commenced at 5 o'clock and the crowd continued coming until 8.30 o'clock.

There was an abundance of everything to supply even more than were present, and after the entertainment a quantity of the pies and cakes were disposed of by auction, and an abundance was left over for a social which will be held on Wednesday evening in the Tuxis Boys' hall. Hector Jewison acted as auctioneer, very ably filling the position, and at the conclusion of the sale the crowd showed their appreciation by singing "For he is a jolly good fellow.

The crowd came from both far and near, some from Peterborough, Port Hope, Millbrook and the local Presbyterian and Anglican friends turned out exceedingly well.

After the supper a good entertainment was provided in the Methodist church. Those taking part in the programme were: The Bensfort orchestra, composed of Miss Elva Emberson, Messrs. Harold Moncrief, Wilber Wood, Lawrence Finney, Jas. Wood, Clifford Emberson, Mrs. (Rev.) Thos Dodds, gave the larger portion of the programme and delighted the audience with her readings and solos. Keith Barnard also rendered several vocal solos. Rev. W. T. Wickett, who preached the anniversary services, remained over for the supper and gave a splendid address, stating the pleasure that it afforded him to be present at a social and to meet his many friends that he made while on the circuit. Rev. R. M. Patterson took the chair and also gave an amusing talk which suited the occasion.

WALES TURNS TO SOCIAL MATTERS

Anxious to Investigate Important Problems First Hand.

LONDON, October 19 (Canadian Press). — Now that the Prince of Wales has brought his series of visits to the Overseas Dominions to an end, except the prospective visit to South Africa, which is not likely to occur in 1923, he is anxious to turn his attention seriously to various social matters of outstanding importance in this country. He has been considering social problems rather deeply, according to a correspondent of the London Daily News, and is anxious to investigate them at first hand. He will probably spend a good deal of time thereat next year.

The great amount of good that King Edward VII. was able to do as Prince of Wales is recalled by the present Prince of Wales, in the way of lending support to all objects that had for their purpose the uplifting of the masses of the country as a whole, and he feels that in the career of his grandfather he has a worthy example to follow. He will certainly do all that is in his power to work along the same lines.

The Prince always has had the cause of the working classes at heart, as he has shown on many occasions. He has already discussed this problem with several members of the Government, as he realises that this is at once a vital and pressing matter.

As he has so often declared in his public utterances, the cause of the ex-service men is one that lies very close to his heart, and he would like to see these men more generally employed than is at present the case. He knows, however, that this question is surrounded by many difficulties, and that in particular it would be a manifest injustice to dismiss women wholesale from the industrial life of the nation to be replaced by former sailors and soldiers.

Other things being equal, however, His Royal Highness is most anxious that no one who fought for his country should be left without employment. He has set a good example in this direction as an employer of labour himself, and at his farms on Dartmoor and elsewhere a large proportion of his workers are ex-service men.

The Prince has taken a leading part in promoting the British Empire Exhibition, which is to be held at Wembley Park, near London, in 1924, and recently, when he visited the Exhibition site, he made particular inquiries as to the number of men who were now engaged on the work, and how many would be engaged before it was completed. He expressed satisfaction on being informed that a large number of men previously out of work were then employed in preparing the Wembley Park for the great Exhibition.

MOULDED SALMON WITH PEAS

(By Bertha E. Shapleigh)

1 pound salmon, freed from skin and bones, 1-2 teaspoon salt, few grains of pepper, 1 1-2 cups of thin cream or top milk, 2 eggs, and slight grating of nutmeg.

Put salmon, after removing skin and bones, through the meat chopper. To this add seasonings, eggs slightly beaten and cream. Turn into a buttered mould, set mould in a pan of water, and bake until firm, about twenty minutes. Remove from mould and serve with one cup cream sauce to which has been added one cup cooked peas.

If this is baked in a border mould it is pretty to serve the peas in the centre and sauce around the fish.

CROWN'S EVIDENCE COMPLETED

ward home and passed Evans' car several hundred yards beyond Boyler's. It had drawn upon the right side of the road in front of Mr. Snowden's house. One man was in the car, another behind it, and a third man was back down the road.

Witness averred that the car followed a straight course up the hill in front of Boyler's.

Detective Meagher exhibited a rough diagram indicating the comparative location of points mentioned in evidence, together with the actual measurements.

Inspector Reid testified that he was on duty at the police station on the night of the accident. The accused in reporting the affair said he didn't see the boy until he struck him.

Mr. Hutcheson—Did you notice any odor of liquor? —Yes. I was standing beside the table and Evans was sitting in a chair. I could smell liquor off him.

Mr. Gordon—You're not a judge of alcohol are you?—I've smelt a lot of it.

Evans seemed disturbed and depressed?—Yes.

He expressed his sorrow to you? —Yes.

Chief Newhall.

Chief Newhall said that the accused reported the accident to him at the police station.

"I didn't know anything about it then. Evans told me was driving the car at a speed of about 25 miles an hour. He said the boy appeared suddenly just before the car struck him."

When he heard the boy was dead, the Chief told the accused that he didn't want to hear anything more.

"I sent for the doctors and when I heard them coming up the stairs, I sent Evans into the next room. After conversing with the doctors, one of them said he would like to see Evans. I told them not to ask him anything about the accident."

Chief Newhall said that a policeman had sat behind the wheel of Evans' car and it was found that the top of the wheel was on a level with the top of his face.

"He wouldn't have the view of an ordinary driver in the position he sits," witness said, explaining that the seat on the stripped chassis was lower than the usual seat level.

"I smelt liquor from him several times when he was speaking to me," the Chief replied to the prosecutor.

"It has been suggested that you had a wonderful supply of liquor near where Evans was sitting in your room. What do you say as to that?

"There was no liquor in my office when Evans was there. There was some stored in a little room directly across the police court room. Two brick walls were between it and where we were."

Grace Turner.

The Crown next called a number of the children who were on the road near Boyler's that evening. Grace Evans, aged 16, said she watched the car as it came from up the road from the Locks bridge.

"It seemed to zig-zag on the road. It didn't go into the ditch on each side, but almost. I watched it until it passed, and it was going all of 40 miles an hour."

Witness said that as it approached where she and her companions were standing on the road near the top of the hill at Boyler's, one girl stayed as if "petrified."

"I went to pull her out of the way and the car just brushed past me. In front of Boyler's it seemed as if a bundle was thrown away from the car."

Mr. Hutcheson — Did you know what that bundle was? No.

What was the sound of the noise you heard?—It was a dull sort of crash.

Witness said she saw three men on the car and recognized Mr. Evans driving.

To Mr. Gordon she maintained that the automoible had zig-zagged across the road about ten times. She admitted that at the inquest she had failed to pick out Mr. Evans among those present, although it was pointed out to her that he was only five feet away from her.

Mr. HutchesonWhat seemed to be the trouble that night (of the in? quest)?—I didn't seem to be able to place him at all.

Relating to Mr. Gordon her experience in fast driving witness said she had gone for a motor ride in Toronto several years ago with a friends out Queen street beyond Sunnyside. For about an hour the car had registered 4 omiles an hour.

"That's fast for a busy highway," Mr. Gordon remarked. "If you continued at the rate of 40 miles an hour that must have brought you to Hamilton.

Miss Turner said they turned off the main road.

Hazel Payne.

Hazel Payne, 16 years old, told of having been down near Mann's mill with the other young folks. They left Orman Boyler near Howden's gate to bring the cattle home.

"When we got up the road Mr. Boyler was chewing the boys for hooking apples. I saw the car come over the bridge, but I didn't pay any attention to it until I heard the crash. When it passed us it was going quite fast to what the rest of cars travel at."

Witness said she picked up a chain that had dropped from the car and gave it to one of the men when he came back. It was not a tire chain, but a "kind of log chain." The boys picked up several caps near Boyler's woods at the top of the hill.

Mr. Hutcheson — Do you know how the caps got on the ground? — No.

Returned Cap.

Herb Payne, 14, one of the boys who had been "hookin' apples," said he gave a cap to the man who walked back to where the accident occurred. He picked it up the road opposite the edge of the woods after the car had hit the rock at Boyler's big gate.

John Edwards, 15; George Snowden 13; and Leo Burke, 12, gave corroborating evidence.

When little Burke estimated the speed of the autmobile at 40 miles an hour, Mr. Gordon objected at "these children giving opinions of speeds they know nothing about."

"It's positively hair-raising in a case as serious as this," he protested.

Witness admitted having no experience in fast driving.

Before adjourning at six o'clock last night Mr. Evans was admitted to bail on four sureties of $2,000 each by himself, Arthur Blade, Jas. Aikey and W. J. Poulson. The arrangement was made summarily, the three guarantors in the audience responding to Mr. Gordon's request and taking an oath to forfeit their bond in the event of the accused failing to re-appear for the continuance of his trial.

DAVID LLD. GEORGE

Eorl of Balfour, Sir Robert Horne, Sir Laming Worthington-Evans and Lord Lee, sent a manifesto to the Press last night paying tribute to Lloyd George's invaluable services to the country and protesting against the decision of the Carlton Club meeting as unwise and ungrateful to Mr. Lloyd George. They declare they will refuse to carry such a message to the Prime Minister!

All the election machinery is ready the moment the signal is given for an appeal to the country. The new House of Commons will be the smallest since the Act of Union between Great Britain and Ireland, as the setting up of the two Parliaments in Ireland withdraws Irish represen tation from Westminster The present House of Commons consists of 707 member, but the new Parliament will have only 615 members.

Very noticeable at the Carlton Club meeting was the divergence of views among the Conservatives with regard to the policy to be pursued to ward Labor, Mr. Bonar Law being imbued with none of the fears expressed by Mr. Chamberlain concerning the possible advent of a Socialist-Labor Government.

John Robert Clynes, Labor Leader, in an interview last night said that all the plans and preparations of his party were complete and ready for a general election at any moment. He added that the resignation of the Government was the only proper thing it had done in the last three years and now, as always, the Government had acted on compulsion.

What I Have Learned in 47 Years Practice

I HAVE been watching the results of constipation for 47 years, since I began the practice of medicine back in 1875. I am now 83 years old, and though from time to time the medical profession makes some wonderfully interesting experiments and tests, the fundamentals of causes and relief in this particular ailment are unchanged.

But the people take greater interest today in their health, in diet, exercise and the drinking of water. Constipation, however, will occur from time to time no matter how one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. I believe in getting as close to nature as possible, hence my remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It is made of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. Children will not willingly take bitter things. Laxative Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written me to that effect.

Over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin are now sold every year, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world. I say family laxative because all in the family can use it with safety. It is mild enough for the infant in arms, effective in the most chronic constipation of an adult. The formula is on every package.

Recently there has been a new wave of drastic physics. Calomel, a mercurial that salivates and loosens teeth, has been revived; salt waters and powders that draw needed constituents from the blood; coal tar disguised in candy form that causes skin eruptions. In a practice of 47 years I have never seen any reason for their use when a medicine like Laxative Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping, and without shock to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It lowers your strength 28 per cent, hardens the arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope but go to a druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. It is a generous-size bottle. Take a teaspoonful that night and by morning you will be well. The cost is only about a cent a dose. Use Laxative Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, piles, indigestion, loss of appetite or sleep, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

ABOUT ENSILAGE CORN.

Choose Best Varieties For Live Stock Fodder.

The highest grade of corn silage is made from those varieties of corn that produce a large proportion of grain in the total weight of crop. Large growing southern varieties of dent corn that give an immense green weight of fodder per acre will as a rule produce a very poor silage under Ontario conditions. Many dairymen prefer flint varieties of early maturing dents for silage purposes. From such a rich sweet silage can be made. The weight per acre may not be nearly as great as with the late maturing large growing dents, but when the silages are compared on the digestible dry matter basis the smaller growing earlier maturing dents and flint have the advantage.

Use Corn Ripening Some Ears

The experience of the past has shown that only such varieties as will ripen at least a few ears should be used. In early years of silo experience in Ontario the practice was to grow big corn. Little attention was paid to the grain yield; much poor silage resulted from the twelve to fourteen-foot stalks that went into the silo without the very necessary two pound well glazed ear. Hard experience has demonstrated that there is more milk, beef or butterfat in a cubic foot of silage made from corn that would husk out one hundred bushels per acre, than from a corn crop that consits of big juicy stalks only.

The Best Varieties.

Golden Glow, Essex Dent, Wisconsin 7, Baily, North Western Dent, Compton's Early, Longfellow, Salzer's North Dakota and King Philip are varieties well suited to Ontario conditions. These varieties will ripen in the southwestern counties of Ontario, and they will generally reach the roasting ear state over the greater part of the dairy section of the Province. The greatest part of the dairy section of the Province, the greatest quantity of digestible dry matter is to be obtained from a corn crop when it has reached the condition to cut for husking, ripe enough to complete maturing in the shock. Another advantage in growing the earlier maturing varieties is that such can be ensiled early in September and the land prepared for autumn wheat, an important factor now that the European Corn Borer has become a menace to corn growing.

Frozen Corn Preferred to Immature

The freezing of corn after it has reached the denting or early glaze stage does not materially injure in so far as silage making goes. It is always advisable to run the risk of frost, rather than ensile the corn in an immature state.—L. Stevenson, Sec. Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto.

DELAY NEGOTIATIONS ON WAR DEBT ISSUE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—The resignation of the British Cabinet yesterday is expected here to delay the opening of negotiations looking to the refunding of $47,450,000 British war debt to the United States. MARRIAGE A LA MODE.

The jeweled wedding ring has supplanted the gold band in certain circles over her, but among the Irish peasantry there is an impression that a marriage is not legal without the use of a gold ring.

In parts of Ireland are men who keep gold rings for hire when the bridegroom is too poor to buy one. In some places the ring is retained by the priest and used for many ceremonies.

RADIO NEWS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Radio amateurs with the old-fashioned spark sets have recorded a financial victory.

Radio dealers are offering to sell each of these "spark hams" a complete radio outfit of the modern kind, at wholesale prices!

The reason for this is that the dealers who have an interest in broadcasting want to eliminate the interference they have been getting from the spark sets of the older amateurs. There is no law against spark transmission, so the only way out of the difficulty was to propose an enticing bargain to the amateurs.

Interference from spark transmitters has been almost as bad as static in this district. To make their broadcasting programs more enjoyable, dealers have decided the only way out was to induce spark amateurs to relinquish their sets for the modern tube sets. Their part in affording this change would be the sale of apparatus to such amateurs at wholesale rates.

Although this plan is proposed only for the sixth district, it may be applied to the whole country if it proves satisfactory here. It is subject to general accoetance by the amateurs, say the dealers.

Radio may be the mans of averting train wrecks.

Experts are already working on the possibilities of wireless in the saving of lives and property along the way. Their idea is to invent a system of signalling by radio which would be asbsolutely fool proof.

Entire elimination of the human factor is the ultimate goal and radio may be a step toward it. A signal sent out from a stalled train could be caught by the engineer of an approaching train in time to avert a collision.

This is possible at present with the semaphore system, but experts believe radio warnings will make it foolproof. If the engineer for some reason disregards a radio warning some sort of radio-controlled apparatus may be used to stop the train before it is too late.

APPLY SULPHUR ON YOUR ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night.

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation ,soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

FREEMARTIN HEIFERS.

Twin calves—both in the same sex—will breed with just as much certainty as though they were born singly. When twins are born male and female the female is known as a freemartin and is usually sterile. There have been cases where freemartins have conceived, but they are rare. Probably not over one out of 100 will breed. It is just as unusual for the bull of male and female twins not to breed.

PRINCE OF WALES COLLECTING PEARLS

And Gossips Have It That He's About to Wed.

LONDON, October 19 (Associated Press). — The fact that the Prince of Wales is collecting pearls for a necklace has furnished another topic of absorbing interest for discussion over the tea cups, and there are flutters in the hearts of those interested in the royal matrimonial plans.

It will be remembered that Lord Lascelles did exactly the same thing before the announcement of his engagement to Princess Mary. But even with that precedent, it is not safe to assume that any exciting news will follow the revelation of the Prince's interest in such matters, for pearl collecting among the English nobility is a time-honoured occupation.

Many priceless collections of pearls have been owned by Englishmen in the past, but very few of them are intact at the present time. The Duchess of Devonshire still possesses the famous Devonshire pearls which were collected fifty years ago at a cost said to have been 80,000 pounds.

The Duke of Buckingham, during the reign of Charles I. was able to collect the most famous pearls then in England, but at the time of the Commonwealth they were taken to Paris and sold to various dealers there.

Matching pearls in the present day is a hard task, and, of course, it requires much time and infinite patience. All the markets of the world have to be searched, and each pearl must be considered in relation to all the others in order to form a perfect necklace.

POST OFFICE NEWS

OTTAWA, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press).—In pursuance of the Postmaster General's policy to study modern appliances with a view to their adoption in connection with Post Office work, if deemed advisable, sanction was recently given for a demonstration before officers of the Meter Department for a postage meter machine, and the question of approval of this particular style is now under consideration.

The machine, which is driven by a small electric motor, prints an impression on each letter, signifying that, say $1 postage, has been paid, also showing the date and hour at which the letter was prepared for mailing. If desired, it also seals the letter in the one operation. Connected with the printing die is a small, ingeniously devised mechanism which records the number of letters stamped postage paid. This recording device is called the postage meter and is under the control of the Post Office. It is set to record the number of letters specified in a contract granted on payment of the amount of postage involved. When this total is reached the device locks automatically and will print no more impressions until reset at the Post Office. The main portion of the machine may, however, continue to be used for sealing envelopes if desired. The machine operates at a speed of approximately 250 pieces per minute and stamps letters of varying size and thickness.

The benefits to be derived from the use of such a machine by business concerns which send out a large letter mail or which use the mails to a considerable extent for advertising may briefly be summarized as follows:

1.—Postage being paid in cash, there is no necessity to purchase large quantities of postage stamps.

2.—No loss of postage through stamps falling off letters due to excessive moistening of stamps by office staff.

3.—Time saved in closing letters.

4—More expedious treatment at Post Office, as letters or circulars when so mailed are immediately ready for sortation and despatch.

The man who claims he took cold bath all last winter may have to do it this winter.

MARGARET DAVIS ENDS REBELLION AGAINST DISHRAG

Kitchen Chores Easier Than Barn Chores — Hated to Wash Dishes.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—None other than Tom Mix was the lure that gave Margaret Davis her big adventure, three days as a boy, and a cow hand, too, according to her story to her pastor, the Rev. W. H. Tope, of the Lamon Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church.

Of course, "Huck Finn" and "Treasure Island" might have inspired her with the ambition to be a boy and to have the adventures and fun that little girls never have, she thought. But, anyway, she was sure she wanted a life on the open farm or ranch, and she just knew if she applied for work as a girl she would be put in the kitchen.

Hated to Wash Dishes.

The little girls who crowded around the Davis home at 734 North St. Louis Avenue to welcome Margaret home told one little thing that Margaret neglected to recall, that she always just hated to wash dishes. She was always quarrelling with her cousin over whose turn it was to "do the dishes."

Margaret told her pastor she was glad to be home, and that she never, never, would leave again.

"And I suppose I shall always be a girl," she said somewhat ruefully.

Bravely Attacks "Chores."

Her hair cut boy style, the heavy shoes, rough trousers and shirt, aided by a cap, had for a time deceived Fred Backhaus, a farmer near Roselle, Ill., as to her sex, and he gave her a job as general chore boy. Bravely she attempted to milk the cows and tend the horses, preliminary to becoming a great cowboy, "just like Tom Mix."

Police, relatives and friends were scouring the country for her, fearing she was dead or kidnapped, while she was beginning her apprenticeship as a boy and a cowhand and, perhaps, as a future screen hero (not heroine). Saturday night Farmer Backhaus discovered her secret and notified the police.

"Margaret is still a good girl," said the Rev. Mr. Tope. "She left home alone, perhaps because of movies and adventure stories, but there is not a stain on her character."

SHE CLEARS CITY OF ALL RED TAPE

ST. PAUL, Minn.—The wheels of justice have been sped up to an amazing degree here, and St. Paul has been made overnight into an unhealthy place for criminals—because a woman accepted a challenge.

Constance Curry, superintendent of a ward neighborhood house, was drawn for grand jury service.

"I'm glad of it," she said. "I believe speedy justice and less red tape will crush the crime wave."

The grand jury organized. Miss Curry was made foreman.

She knew nothing about grand jury methods. But she considered she had been challenged, so she used her own ideas.

Cases of 17 gangsters were before the jury. Six were also held on charges of storming a jail in the heart of the city, and freeing a member of their gang. Delay in indictment made this possible, Miss Curry argued.

Miss Curry became grand jury head at 10 a.m. Six hours later, the grand jury had been organized, heard 50 witnesses and returned 67 indictments against the gangsters on several counts.

The action came so quickly that three confessed and within 12 hours were sentenced to prison for robbery. The district attorney caught the spirit, arraigned the remainder that afternoon, and is rushing through their trials.

Meantime, St. Paul is unusually free from crime, following several months of repeated gang outrages.

EUROPE'S BURDEN IN SUPPORTING ARMIES

Thousands Being Trained to Arms in Southern States.

ROME, October 19. Asscoiated Press. — The armies of the vanquished in the world war have been reduced to 100,00 men for Germany, and 30,000 each for Austro-Hungary and Bulgaria, according to the newspaper La Epoca, which has collected statistics on the military strength of various countries in Europe from official sources.

The paper calls attention to the immense number of soldiers who are being trained to arms in southern and eastern Europe. In the Balkans where the spark that brought about the conflagration was ignited the record is particularly high, it declares. Greece with a population of 6,500,000, has an army of 300,000 men. Jugoslavia, bellicose by nature and tradition, and surrounded by neighbors who do not love her, has an army of 80,000 men, a heavy burden on her scanty finances. Rumania and Czechoslovakia, haunted by the fear of Bolshevism, and surrounded by enemies and uncertain friends, keep up each an army of 200,000 men; while Poland, new to liberty and independence, and hating bitterly her former masters, Germany, Russia and Austria, pauperizes herself to keep on a war footing 300,000 soldiers.

The nations have to face the menace of Bolshevist Russia, La Epoca continues, with her 1,600,444 German trained fighters. France comes next to Russia with an army of almost 900,000 men, while England and Italy whose home populations are about equal in numbers, have respectively armies of 340,000 and 220,000 men. These large bodies of soldiers withdrawn from the industrial life of their countries, are a constant danger to the peace of Europe, and an almost intolerable burden for the impoverished nations that have to support them.

THE TEACHERS OF HALIBURTON MET

Mr. Madill of Peterboro Normal School Gave an Address.

HALIBURTON, Oct. 19. — The teachers of the district met here last Thursday and Friday in their annual convention. A good full programme was carried out. Very good papers were read, but the discussion was rather limited. One thing noticeable was that a number of young men were present, where only one or two would be noticed a few years ago.

Mr. Madill, B. A., of the Normal School at Peterborough, was present at the convention and gave a splendid talk on "Aims and Value of Nature Study," on Thursday afternoon. In the evening in the town hall he gave an illustrated lecture on "Playgrounds and School Gardens."

The teachers decided to try next year to hold rural school fairs in several places in the Inspectorate, and so interest the children in the work of the farm.

The officers elected for 1923 are:

President—Mr. H. Knight.
Vice-Pres.—Mr. Campbell.
Secretary—Miss Liggett.
Treasurer— Mr. N. Q. McEachern.
Auditors — Messrs. Freeman and H. H. Clarke.
Delegate to O. E. A.— Mr. E. McElwain.

The teachers gave a voluntary contribution of over $27 to those in New Ontario who suffered loss in the great fire.

Why a woman's skin needs TWO creams

YOUR skin demands very different care at different times.

To give it the proper care you need two entirely different creams—one for protection, one for cleansing.

One

Wind whips the natural moisture out of an unprotected skin and leaves it rough and dry. The burning effect of the sun is very similar. Unless you protect your skin it will become permanently rough and coarse.

The kind of cream you need for this is one that holds the natural moisture in the skin and acts as an invisible shield against exposure. This is Pond's Vanishing Cream. Delicate, soothing, it is absorbed the instant you smooth it on your face, and contains no oil to reappear in a shine.

Moreover, this cream gives your skin a smooth, velvety surface that makes it look its best at a moment's notice and holds the powder on for hours.

The other

For thorough cleansing you need a very different cream—one made with oil. Nothing but an oil cream will reach deep into your pores and remove the fine particles of dirt that have bored deep.

The cream with just the right amount of oil for a thorough cleansing is Pond's Cold Cream. Smooth it on your face and neck every night and after every dusty trip. It removes the ground in dirt that ordinary washing cannot reach. It is so fine it cannot clog the pores.

These creams are sold in jars and tubes of convenient sizes at all drug and departmental stores at 50 cents each. They contain nothing that can promote the growth of hair. The Pond's Extract Co., 123A Brock Ave. Toronto, Canada.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

DON'T STAY GRAY—HERE'S AN OLD-TIME RECIPE THAT ANYBODY CAN APPLY

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to it's natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

JESSIE TUCKER, BAILIEBORO, GETS A PRESENTATION.

Presented With Fountain Pen and an Address By Fellow-Pupils—News of Interest.

BAILIEBORO, October 20. — On Monday afternoon the teacher and children of Bailieboro Public School presented Miss Jessie Tucker with a handsome fountain pen.

Jessie, who has for some time been a faithful student in this school, is leaving the village in the near future, and an address to her was read by Miss Kathleen Bateman, and the gift presented by Master Keith Barnard.

After the presentation a social time was spent, lunch and candy being provided by the children.

No Coal Yet.

Snow and cold winds on Wednesday made the people in this vicinity begin to think of their empty coal-bins. No coal has as yet been secured, and in many homes where this fuel has always been burned, the sheds are filled with wood. Some, however, are still living in hopes that coal may be procurable before real cold winter weather sets in.

New Wrapper From the Far East Envelopes Figure Like Problem Play

By MARIAN HALE.

The old-fashioned wrapper long since has gone out of fashion.

Trim little house dresses with gay chintz and queer floral applications have made us forget how unsightly this particular type of house gown was.

But a new wrapper has come into our lives, come by way of Paris, where it learned how to be very smart. It must have originated, though, in the Far East—it is so subtle and feminine.

This new type of garment literally wraps around the figure and, like the problem play, the ultimate solution is an individual matter.

This is the season of sophisticated clothes. No woman wants to look like her neighbor. Manufacturers can't make a different model for every individual, hence the wrapper costume, which every woman may manipulate to suit herself.

It's Flexible.

The skirt to your new frock may look just like a straight piece of material, weakly adhering to an inner belt. But when you learn how to manipulate it you may look like Cleopatra, or a goddess, or whatever type you aspire to.

Sometimes there are snaps or invisible fastenings to aid you in your operations, but more frequently it is simply a trick you must learn for yourself.

With the wrapper frock, the lining becomes most important, for it is likely to be in evidence frequently.

Coats and Capes Follow.

Coats and capes of the more dressy type nearly all follow the general plan of wrapping. Many of them are caught up with buckles or ornaments, but in other cases there are no fastenings, and a woman holds her cape to the lines she desires with her hand.

The newest kimonas wrap about the figure, and sometimes wrap quite tightly—if the figure warrants it.

These costumes suggest the uncorseted figure, but in nearly every instance there is a girdle or boned foundation of some sort.

The husband who found his fingers all thumbs when he attempted to join the hooks and eyes on his wife's frocks should welcome the new styles.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED—

You always present the man to the woman in an introduction and mention her name first, except in cases where the man is very distinguished or holds some very high position.

For instance, if you were presenting a woman to the president or to a prince or high dignitary of a church you would mention the man's name first.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash poisons and toxins from system before putting food into stomach.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities in the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food taken into the stomach nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins, which are absorbed or sucked in the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which suck only nourishment.

A splendid health measure is to drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons from the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the alimentary canal before eating more food.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside bathing.

DEGENERATION FROM MUCH PROSPERITY.

Means Gradual Elimination of the Middle Class.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 19.— (Associated Press.)—Prosperity is a bad thing for a race because it is one of the first steps toward degeneration, is the opinion of Professor Herman Lundberg, head of the Race Biological Institute at Upsala, Sweden, and well known for his investigations into eugenics and racial biology. Prosperity brings with it the gradual elimination of the good old middle class, the professor declared in a recent address on this subject, and this in any country is a sure sign of decay. "There is grave doubt," the speaker continued, "whether a people really gains any profit when millions of money begin to pour into the country. Experience, past as well as present, shows that when wealth is suddenly increased it brings endless new needs. Luxuries are demanded, lassitude sets in, and the interest in work and production falls off. Women begin to avoid maternity. All of these processes, beginning in the middle and upper classes, gradually work downward and in time destroy the race. Thus they are as much a menace to a country as a powerful political enemy."

The professor approves of birth control, however, especially among the less desirable elements of a country's population, and he believes that the reproduction of a race should be limited, as far as possible, to those who are "well born." He is stoutly opposed to the mixing of races, and gives this as one of the reasons why populations in larger cities tend to degenerate, except in so far as racially replenished from the country districts.

"Europe is decaying, not only as a result of political cataclysms, but also because of a misconception of racial hygiene, and a failure to counteract the forces of degeneration. A strong middle class is necessary for the racial health of a people. Increasing industry and trade make it possible to feed a larger population, but at the same time brings about a serious change in the structure of society. A new middle class is formed, to be sure, but it is of poorer substance. Meanwhile there is numerical gain in both the upper and the lower classes, especially the latter. In time the working class becomes the largest, and underneath this comes a layer of human trash."

Just what political measures, if any, should be taken to safeguard racial vigor and purity, Professor Lundberg does not suggest, saying that such suggestion would naturally fall outside the province of a scientist.

Harvesting Root Crops

Roots crop should be taken up before the weather becomes too wet and disagreeable in the fall if in any quantity. It is slow work at any time, and becomes much more so under cold damp conditions. Lift the roots with a digging fork and twist off the tops, putting them in piles and covering with the tops. If a large area is to be lifted, and one is expert with a sharp hoe, he can very quickly remove the tops, but they will not keep quite as well. The roots should be ploughed out, throwing them as much as possible on the top. Bins with slatted sides and bottom should be used for storage where possible, as this gives the roots a chance to sweat. If the storage room temperature is above 40 deg. F., cover them with sand. Carrots should not be deeper than two feet in a bin, others may be four feet. Where cellar storage is not available use pits. These should be three feet wide, two or three feet high and of any length. Run the pits north and south where possible and have them on well-drained ground. Put a layer of straw on the ground and cover first with straw six inches deep, then six inches of earth, and as the frost gets harder cover with fresh strawy manure. Have ventilators every 15 or 20 feet, as all roots sweat in storage. These may be filled with straw during cold periods.

All roots should be as free from dirt as possible when put in storage. It is often advisable to leave a few days in small piles so that at the second lifting any adhering will be moved.—A. H. MacLennan, O. A. College, Guelph.

WITNESSES FOR EVANS DENY THAT SPEED WAS EXCESSIVE

Conclusion of Manslaughter Trial Resulting from Motor Accident Was in Sight at Noon Today—Accused Said He Had Only a Bottle of "Two Per Cent."

GOES TO JURY THIS AFTERNOON

The end of the Evans trial was in sight at the noon adjournment at 12.30 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. G. N. Gordon had completed his address to the jury, and upon resumption this afternoon there remained the summary of the Crown's case by Mr. G. A. Hutcheson, and finally Mr. Justice Middleton's statement of the law involved and his general charge to the jury.

The presentation of the evidence for the defense consumed the whole morning. One important point brought out was Mr. Hutcheson's statement that the Crown did not allege that the accused was intoxicated at the time of the accident in which the boy, Orman Boyler, was killed. And Mr. Gordon indicated his objective with the intimation that he hoped to prove to the jury that the fatality occurred as a result of George Evans turning out in the road to pass one of the Boyler cows, and while his attention was thus diverted the boy was struck before Mr Evans had a chance to see him until the car was right on top of him.

Mr. Evans Called.

George Eavns, the accused, was called to the stand first this morning with the opening of the case for the defense. Under examination by Mr. Gordon, he said that he was in business as a motor repair and garage man, was married, had a family of four children and was 32 years old. On the 10th of July he received a telephone message from Provincial Constable Stratton to go out to the Lindsay road to repair a car that was in trouble. Finishing the work about four o'clock he decided to go on to Lindsay, where there was a ball game.

Mr. Evans explained that he required a car in his business to drive out for repair work. The steering wheel came about across his eyes. He had bought the car from Mr. Kendry, but it had been since rebuilt.

Had Two Per Cent. Beer.

After the ball game Evans lunched at a restaurant.

Mr. Gordon—What did you have to drink?—I had some two per cent. beer.

Did you have a bottle of beer?—I believe I did.

Did you have any spirits that day? Nothing that day.

On that night?—No.

After driving home with Grover Halpin, accused later was passing Halpin's garage and saw Halpin and Nelson Roddy. He picked them up and drove to the Locks bridge, intending to return through Ashburnham by way of Downer's Corners.

Did you notice anything as you drove up the hill at Boyler's?—Not till I came to the horse and buggy.

You drove to the left to pass it?—Yes, it was on the right side of the road.

See any other objects?—A cow on each side of the road.

Evans said he turned toward his own side of the road, but as there was a cow there he had to keep to the centre.

Did you stay in the centre going up the hill?—Yes.

Well, you were proceeding up the hill and what happened?—I hit this object. I didn't know what it was then.

Mr. Gordon — It was the little boy?—Yes.

Evans said he didn't know what happened then. "I believe that was a little boy, Grover" he called to Halpin.

Going back to Boyler's house they found that the body had been carried into the house. Halpin advised that Evans report to the police and they immediately drove back to the city.

Non-Glare Lights.

Referring to the lenses of his headlights, Evans said they were a non-glare kind as required by the Government.

What is the result of those lens? Mr. Gordoin asked.—It breaks up the light. You don't get a beam.

Can you see as well in the distance?—You cannot.

Accused said that as the car started up a hill the lights lifted with it.

What was the reason you didn't stop at once after the accident?—I don't know. I was excited, I guess.

Was Not Intoxicated.

What do you say as to intoxication in two or three bottles of two per cent beer?—I wasn't intoxicated.

Did the beer have any effect on you?—No.

Evans named various families in Peterborough whom he had driven, including Judge Huycke's and Mr. Gordon's. He had also driven for police officials, ambulance, fire truck and others.

Mr. Gordon — What was it that made it possible for the boy to be injured without seeing him?—I saw the cattle and the buggy, but I didn't see the boy. I remember seeing a straw hat just above the radiator.

Where do you think the boy was on the road?—I think he was walking behind the cattle toward the left side of the road.

Was Twice Fined.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hutcheson, accused admitted having been in trouble twice on account of driving and was fined on each occasion.

"And a few weeks before the accident the police begged you to stop driving so rapidly"—Yes.

Evans said the car had a 50 horse power engine and could probably do 45 miles an hour.

You would not be surprised if it would travel faster?—No.

If you knew the lens were not strong the question comes up as to how you should conduct yourself at night?—Yes.

Evans said he went up the hill on the ordinary high gear.

Did your cap fall off up the hill?—No, Halpin's did, but I don't know why.

Anything happen that would cause Halpin's hat to fall off?—I don't know.

Did any chain fall off the car?—I don't know.

You had only one bottle of beer that day?—I'm not sure. I don't remember. I met several people in Lindsay and might have had one or two.

To Mr. Gordon accused said that the chain picked up in the road after the accident was used as a tow chain. It might have been on the running board beside the box.

Mrs. Gordon Wyatt.

Mrs Gordon Wyatt was called next.

"You are the lady who rang me up early this morning?" Mr. Gordon asked.—"Yes."

You said you could give certain testimony here and you thought it was your duty to tell it?—Yes.

Witness said she was driving with her mother and sister down the hill at Howden's about 8.45 o'clock that night. Four or five children were playing there.

They wouldn't get off the road. I turned to the left side and, as I passed, one boy ran out in front of the car. The others laughed.

Mr. Hutcheson protested that there was no evidence that Orman Boyler was in this group.

Mr. Hutcheson—Did you see any cows there then?—No.

Dr. T. W. H. Young.

Dr. Young declared that the speed of 20 or 25 miles at which Evans said he was driving was sufficient to cause the injuries found on the boy. "Even less speed than that might have caused them," he said.

Mr Gordon directed his examination to the effect of two or three bottles of two per cent. beer on a man, but Mr. Hutcheson interjected the information that the Crown did not contend that Evans was intoxicated.

"My position was made plain in my address to the jury. There would be only the inference from what occurred coupled with the fact that there was a smell of alcohol on his breath.

Dr. T. N. Greer.

The evidence of Dr. Greer, coroner, supported the foregoing opinion that the injuries to the Boyler boy would have been caused by a car running at 20 miles an hour.

Mr. Justice Middleton—The injuries were consistent with either 20 or 40 miles an hour?—They were quite consistent with a speed of 20 miles.

Were they inconsistent with 40 miles?—No.

Dr. Greer added that it was only fair to say that the speed of 20 miles would produce the injuries found.

Arthur W. Blade.

Mr. A. W. Blade, former police sergeant, said he held a chauffeur's license for ten years. He considered that George Evans was the best automobile driver in Peterborough.

The lenses on this car, which witnss had driven, tended to reduce the range of vision from the driver's seat. There was now under consideration, he volunteered, a change in the standard of automobile lenses.

Mr. Hutcheson —If Evans knew he couldn't see an object with those lights until he was right on top of it, what was his duty in the matter of care?—Knowing him as I do, I think he would be using care.

Mr. Justice Middleton—The question is whether those lights called for extraordinary care?—I think it would.

Or let the boys take their chances on the road? —No, I don't think that?

Sketching the position of the bumper on the car Mr. Blade offered an explanation that the boy was struck on the legs by the bumper body above it, was thrown back against the radiator and the headlight and then to one side, probably over the fender.

Grover Halpin.

Grover Halpin, who was driving with Evans, said the boy seemed to "pop up in front of the car."

"I didn't see him until just before he was struck. George said, "Grover, I think I struck a boy." The car was stopped at the woods up the road."

Witness explained that his cap was brushed off as he leaned toward the starter ,after the car was stopped and Evans got out to walk back.

Mr. Halpin said he had a bottle of beer at supper in Lindsay. He and Evans had one apiece.

Mr. Hutcheson— You were just going on a joy ride?—Yes.

Mr. Gordon protested that this term had a different significance in the minds of many people.

Mr. Hutcheson—I meant that it was a joy ride because they had no business object.

Witness denied that the car had bumped into the stone in front of the big gate at Boyler's. The chain that was picked up was handed to Mr. Halpin, but the didn't hear it fall out and couldn't say it belonged to the car.

Mr. Gordon— What do you estimate the speed of the car was going up that hill?— Between 20 and 25 miles an hour.

Nelson Roddy.

The third occupant of single seat on the stripped chassis was Nelson Roddy, who saw only the horse and buggy and one of the cows. His evidence did not differ materially from that of the preceding witnesses and brought out no new point. Mr. Roddy said he was wearing a Panama sailor hat. It didn't fall off, nor did he have to hold it on his head during any part of the ride.

They're Just as Businesslike as Men, Says Mary J. Winfree, Who Knows

By MARIAN HALE.

MARY JANE WINFREE.

"Housewives today are running their homes just as efficiently as men are running their businesses," says Mary Jane Winfree.

Her position as secretary of the Continental Trust Company of Washington, D. C., where she teaches hundreds of women to keep their accounts and balance their check books, gives her a good vantage point from which to form her judgment.

"And all this talk about women being unbusinesslike and their overchecking and underdepositing and making themselves a nuisance generally for cashiers is all without foundation," she continued. "Women learn simple banking principles in an amazingly short time.

"Today women pay their grocers, butchers and tradespeople by check. They run their homes on a budget plan and balance their accounts down to the last five cents if it takes five hours.

Women's Accounts Harder.

"Women's accounts are really much harder to manage than men's, too, because they involve small amounts and small checks, while men work in larger figures.

"Labor-saving devices for the home have done more than anything else to make women efficient, because they have given them time to catch up. While the electric washer is getting the dirt out of Johnny's rompers his mother has time to do her bookkeeping and find out where the household money is going and why."

Miss Winfree's unique position in the banking world, shared by not half a dozen others of her sex, is the result of her business policy of asking no favors, but always doing some little service that will put others under obligation to her.

Can Translate Finance.

She knows stocks and bonds and investments sometimes have to be translated into plain English for those who do not speak the language of finance.

Her willingness to act as interprefer makes most of the women who have accounts at the bank prefer to do their business with "Miss Mary." And many a wise-looking man, after a consultation with a wise-looking banker, comes to her afterward to say:

"Now what did he really mean by it all?"

The old prejudice against promoting women to executive positions in banks is rapidly evaporating, she says.

"The only reason for it is because men can't help regarding women employes as merely temporary—bridging the time between school and matrimony.

"I started as a stenographer 14 years ago. I believe stenography is the best wedge a woman can employ to get into the banking business. A really good stenographer is bound to attract attention anywhere —she is so rare.

"There is an unlimited opportunity for women to render service in banks, and there are more and more positions opening for them as they are ready to fill them."

TRINITY EXTENDS WELCOME PASTOR

Pleasant Evening Provided by the Members of the Congregation.

A very pleasant welcome was extended by the congregation of Trinity Church to Rev. A. J. and Mrs. Langford on Wednesday evening last.

Mrs. R. J. Wolstenholm, president of the Ladies' Aid, and Mrs. A. F. Lane, president of the Women's Missionary Society, received with the pastor and Mrs. Langford, after which the following programme of music and addresses was carried out:

Instrumental (two numbers) — Greene Quartette.

Piano solo—Master Walter Townsend.

Vocal solo—Miss Murray.

Vocal duet—Mrs. Kitney and Mrs. Doig.

Short addresses of welcome and greeting to the minister and his wife were given by Mrs. Fallis, Mrs. Wm. Lytle, Mrs. Bookhout, Mr. R. F. Downey, Mr. J. M. Greene, Mr. Fred. Preston, Rev. Mr. Greatrix, and Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P. Rev. Mr. Langford replied.

Light refreshments were served by the ladies, and altogether a very enjoyable evening was spent, and anticipations for a very successful year's work in Trinity.

The largest swinging bell in the world is one in a Catholic church in Cincinnati, Ohio. The bell weighs 15 tons.

INVITE TENDERS SNOW PLOWING NOT DAY LABOR

Conditions Here Preclude Removal of Snow and Slush Otherwise Than by Contract.

COUNCIL MEET

Understanding that the City Council had tentatively agreed on having the snow and slush removed from the sidewalks this winter by day labor as a measure of relief for the unemployed, Ald. Crowe at first protested in council last night against Ald. Stocker's proposition that tenders be invited for this work as usual.

Ald. McIntyre also did not see why every district could not be covered by day labor as well as the business section.

Ald. Stocker's objection that this plan would not be feasible was firmly endorsed by Engineer Parsons, who contended that it would be impossible to get men up at 3 o'clock in the morning for an odd day's work at snow plowing, when wanted. While Ottawa was snow plowed by day labor, he pointed out that conditions were different there than here, the men being corporation laborers the year round. At the Capital when turning out at 3 o'clock, they did so in conformity with conditions under which they are steadily employed.

Ald. Crowe here complained that contractors in the past had not removed the slush as well as snow. He would like to see a clause in future contracts sufficiently binding to assure the walks being cleaned of slush under penalty of declection.

Council fell in line with Ald. Crowe's views in this respect, and on motion of Ald. Stocker, the Engineer was instructed to invite tenders for removing the snow and SLUSH from offthe sidewalks.

Bad Drainage.

On motion of Ald. Gainey, the chairman of the Board of Works and the City Engineer, were instructed to look into the matter of bad drainage in front of James McGraw's property on James street.

Roof Leaking.

Ald. Gainey reported that the tenant of the old Rapid Tool building, now city property, complains that the roof is leaking. He said he thought it was up to the city to repair this roof for a tenant paying rent, or else come to some agreement by which the occupant do the work and charge the cost back to the city.

This matter went to the property Committee for immediate attention.

Repair Hunter Street

Ald. Gainey and Stocker moved that the Engineer be requested to fill all the holes in Hunter street, as far as Rogers street. Carried.

Band Instruments.

Finance Chairman Ald. Phelan wanted the matter of paying insurance on the 93rd Battalion's band instrument cleared up. These instruments were loaned the G.W.V.A. band on the understanding that they keep them insured against fire. But the Vets and the 57th Rangers bands now being amalgamated he understood that the premiums, now past due, had not been paid, and he asked the council to have this matter of responsibility for insurance adjusted.

The Mayor said that the insurance policy only covered those instruments while kept in the G.W.V.A. Hall, and Ald. Crowe pointed out that they are now distributed among the different homes of the bandsmen.

On motion of Ald. Hamilton and Stocker His Worship and Ald. Crowe will report on this issue.

Expects Damages.

S. F. Medd, solicitor for Carrie D. Whitlow, notified Council that his client had suffered personal injury caused by the defective state of a grating in the sidewalk on the south side of Simcoe street, opposite the property of Frank Montgomery.—Referred to the Legal Committee.

A Nuisance.

Property owners petitioned against the unsatisfactory conditions existing on the south side of Weller street, from Monaghan Road to a point opposite 555 Weller street, during the spring freshets. They asked that a catch basin be installed at the bottom of the steep incline to obviate the nuisance. This went to the Board of Works.

Extension of Highway

Re the proposal that the Provincial Highway be extended to the Kawartha Lakes at Burleigh Falls, Hon. F. C. Biggs will be in this city and go over the proposed route immediately after October 23. Leon Fraser, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, wrote Council to this effect and asked for civic co-operation in welcoming and entertaining Mr. Biggs.

The Mayor and Ald. Turner, chairman of the Legal Committee were appointed to meet the honourable gentleman at luncheon and go over the proposed route with him.

That Union Station

Regarding the establishment here of a union station, G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P. wrote that he had opined to Mr. Grout general superintendent of the C.P.R.) that the time is perhaps opportune for such a station as soon as he could make such representation to the Canadian National Board. Such representation will be made after the tour of inspection, to commence immediately, has been completed. Referred to the Railway Committee.

Members of Mothers' Allowance Committee

John M. McCullough, on behalf of the Mother's Allowance Commission, notified Council that the following have been appointed members of the local board. Sydney Whatley, F. H. Dobbin, Mrs. Joseph Knox, T. J. McMurray Mrs. M. C. Hardie. This was received as satisfactory.

A Warning

John R. Corkery on behalf of the Roman Catholic Episcopal Corporation of Peterborough wrote asking that the city take all necessary precautions in constructing the new sewer on Romaine street to prevent a subsidence of soil in the vicinity of the church. Should there be any subsidence of soil there is every reason to fear that the foundation and walls of Sacred Heart Church and residence will shift and probably cause a collapse. Should an injury be sustained by these buildings, the municipality will be held responsible and liable for damages. This went to the Board of Works.

Welsh Coal

Understanding that the coal requirements of this city are not being met by local dealers C. S. McAllister for Llewellyn Merrett and Price Cardiff, Wales, in a communication offered the city of Peterborough a high grade smokeless coal at $12.20 per gross ton, c.i.f. Montreal, in cargo lots. This coal is claimed to be higher in grade than that from Pennsylvania, during the past few years and delivery is guaranteed before navigation closes on orders placed at once. Referred to the Fuel Committee.

There were present Mayor W. H. Taylor, Aldermen Harry Gainey, Joseph Crowe, Walter Stocker, James Hamilton Mel. Turner and Nagel Phelan.

A machine for mincing microbes is used in the research laboratories of St. Paul's Hospital, London. The microbes, which are invisible to the sight, are cut into bits and used in the making of antitoxins.

TAKEN FROM JAIL SHOT TO DEATH

Father and Son Had Been Convicted of Manslaughter.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., October 20 (Canadian Press). — Two men recently convicted of manslaughter in Benton County last February were taken from the County Jail at Camdon early this morning, and shot to death in a vacant lot 200 yards from the jail.

The prisoners, Ed. Hartleyand his son, were held in connection with the murder of Connie Hartley, the nephew of Ed. Hartley.

SHELTER NEEDS A NEW BUILDING

Recommendation Included in Report of Grand Jury.

After the reading of the Grand Jury's report on the inspection of the Government and County owned institutions, Chief Justice Middleton expressed his many thanks to the jurors for the care they had taken in making this report. He expressed pleasure in learning that so many of the public institutions were satisfactory, and in the case of the Children's Shelter and the House of Refuge, he would visit them himself and see that the proper authorities made amendments at once. This report, stated His Lordship, emphasizes the need for inspection trips by Grand Juries.

To His Lorship Chief Justice Middleton presiding:

October 19, 1922.

We the Grand Jury beg leave to report as follows:

We visited the jail and would reccomend the kitchen to be painted and the woodwork of the jail be repaired and the woodwork and the floors painted. The Judge's private room and library be supplied with a suitable hat rack.

We found St. Joseph and Nicholls Hospital in first class condition.

We also visited the House of Providence, St. Vincent's Orphanage, Isolation Hospital and Protestant Home and found every one satisfatcory.

We visited the Children's Shelter and would recommend a more modern building be erected as we consider the one there not suitable for a public institution, as it is an old wooden structure and in case of a fire loss of life would be liable to take place.

Next we went to the County House of Refuge and found the conditions anything but satisfactory. The plumbing should be put in a sanitary condition. The rooms were very cold, the inmates were apparently suffering from cold, especially in the women's ward. The ventilation was bad and not conducive to health. We think the basement should have a coat of paint and the kitchen should be put in a sanitary condition. We would also recommend a special room for the sick. The male inmates of this institution should be provided with clean clothing.

Hoping this report is satisfactory to Your Lordship.

Signed on behalf of the Grand Jury.

T. H. Hooper, Foreman.

A RUGBY GAME HERE TOMORROW

Excelsiors and Belmonts play in the City League at the Oval at 2.30 to-morrow afternoon. This is the first game of the second half of the series. Excelsiors, champions of the first half, are called to meet their strongest opponents, and a good game is assured.

This will be an opportunity for the fans to get a line on the O.R.F.U. players, as most of them will be in action.

The executive had made plans to take the Intermediate O.R.F.U. team to Kingston for an exhibition game with Limestones, but Kingston could not secure grounds. However, exhibition games with out-of-town teams will be arranged.

Peterborough will likely be called to meet the winners of the Argo-Strathcona group in two weeks.

CHARGED WITH MURDER ARE DECLARED INSANE

TORONTO, October 20. Canadian Press. — Miss Annie Oldham, and Mrs. Julia Currie, against whom indictments of murder stand, were declared unfit to stand trial on account of insanity by juries under Chief Justice Meredith here to-day. They were returend to the hospital for insane. In each case the charge of murdering an infant was preferred.

Call Money—4½ per cent.

(By Stuart P. West)

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 20.—(Special).— In none of the markets to-day was the price movement particularly significant. Such slight uneasiness as had been shown Thursday regarding the resignation of the British Cabinet and the change of British politics seems to have disappeared.

At all events United Kingdom bonds recovered the advance in Sterling Exchange was resumed and the English security market itself was better. The collapse in the German mark continued, carrying the rate down to 213—one-hundredths of a cent. This came logically enough on the heels of the latest Reichs bank statement showing all previous weekly records of paper money inflation eclipsed. For the week ending September 30, the circulation item rose 26 000,000,000 marks. The next week 27,000,000,000 The last week over 30,000,000,000 no comment is called for on such a showing, except that it will undoubtedly emphasize the demand for supervision of German finances by the nations interested in reparations payments.

The stock market, still wholly in the hands of the professionals went through another day of shifting sentiment and rapidly changing prices. At the outset, there was a good deal of hasty buying back of contracts put out for the decline Thursday. This demand sufficed to bring about a rally of a point to 2 points in some of the oil and other industrial specialties, which had been so weak the previous day.

For a while, too attention was directed to the railway list. The suggestion of a new reading segregation plan which would be agreeable to all parties led to active buying of Reading stock and the shares of other coal roads were sympathetically strong. Belief that the interstate commerce commission would approve of the proposed Northwestern Railway merger thereby undoing the Northern Securities dissolution degree of a decade ago, was expressed in a moderate rise in the stocks concerned.

But the demonstration in the Rails was short-lived and so was a little buying wave in the Copper. There was still a considerable parley among the trading contingents, which felt that recent manipulations in the high-priced industrials, based upon stock dividend talk, had been overdone and had weakened the market position generally.

Acting upon this view, the Motor stocks were sharply attacked as the afternoon began, and Studebaker, Chandler and the Pierce-Arrows all driven down sharply. Under this selling the whole market re-acted, losing a great part of the early recovery.

Important sources are calling attention to these features as justifying bullish operations in the stock market: (1) Freight car loadings are increasing (2) steel orders are expanding (3) equipment contracts are enlarging (4) retail orders are growing (5) exports are gaining in volume (6) commodity and goods prices are rising (7) bank clearings are greater (8) metal prices are going up (9) gold holdings are still piling up (10) profits are showing gain (11) commercial failures are diminishing (12) labor troubles are decreasing and (13) unemployment is disappearing.

Discussing the advanced level of prices a prominent interest says: "It usually pays better to buy stocks when dear than to buy them when cheap as a trading proposition; for when they are cheap it is because the public is out of the market, and then any rise is so painfully slow that one gets tired of waiting. When they are dear, on the other hand, it is because the public is buying enthusiastically, and at such times the market simply leaps forward after any considerable reaction. It seems both unnecessary and unprofitable to befool one's self with the idea that stocks are bargains."

We advise profit taking and caution in making new commitments for long accounts.—Wm. E. Lauer & Company.

ANOTHER DOLLAR FROM "A FRIEND"

Friends of the Northern Ontario Fire Sufferers Are Few and Far Between in Peterboro.

"One dollar from a Friend," reads a letter from a Peterborough mother residing on Rubidge street. The letter is in response to a call from the wilds of Northern Ontario for money and supplies to relieve the sufferings of those who were rendered homeless by the fire fiend. Peterborough needs at least one thousand such mothers to put the list into the four figures column. Perhaps the Biblical story of the "widow's mite" is not so well known here as in other places. Because you cannot give five dollars is no reason why you should not give fifty cents of a dollar. Read what the contributor of the dollar referred to above has to say and perhaps it will strike a sympathetic cord:

"I am enclosing a trifle for fire sufferers. I had felt I could not spare cash, but your special appeal last evening and this inclement weather has made me feel I must spare a little. I hope that there are a few hundred like me who perhaps cannot give much, but notwithstanding the smallness of the gift will not withhold it on that account for if 500 folks give $1.00, why you will have more to forward than you have now. May it be so, is the earnest wish of—

"Yours sincerely,

"A Friend."

GLOWING TRIBUTE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Offer Best Education Says Hon. Arthur Meighen

OTTAWA, October 20. Canadian Press. — Public School education in Canada has seldom received such glowing tributes as that bestowed upon it by the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, the former Premier of Canada, who officiated last night at the formal opening of York Street School.

The Public school was the best for the children, Mr. Meighen stated. His own three children had passed through the Public schools of Ottawa, he said, and if he had twice or thrice that number they would all attend the same schools.

DO OWN MILKING FOR BEST RESULTS

Illuminating Address Before Local Council of Women.

That one of the best methods of procuring flour for domestic purposes with its best elements retained is to purchase a small hand-mill, for a quoted price of about three dollars and fifty cents, and then do your own milling and grinding, was the reccommendation of Dr Wallace Seccomb, superintendent of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons in Toronto, yesterday afternoon, when he addressed the Local Council of Women on the subject of "The Effect of Diet on the Prospective Mother."

Notwithstanding the inclement weather, the meeting of the Council was well attended, and the ladies present listened with profound interest to the concise, graphically-worded address of the speaker, accompanied by a series of descriptive slides, with the machine in charge of Dr. M. A. Morrison.

Dr. Seccomb declared that the exponents of preventive dentistry aimed in the future to correlate their work with every principle of general better health for the nation, and based his talk principally on the effect of diet, not only on the teeth, but on the whole condition of the body, with reference particularly to the mother. In his address, the doctor stressed the good work done by baby clinics, saying "the real value of a country is not in its square miles, but in its square men and women."

Growth of Teeth.

The growth of the teeth is a gradual process, extending from a period five months before birth to the eighteenth or twentieth year in the adult. Slides showed the relative growth of the teeth, and of all other portions of the body in the first year of life as compared with later years, giving, in all instances, a larger and more important growth in this twelve months than in any later period. This showed the importance of the diet of the mother, to provide before birth for the child which has been termed a "calcium parasite" during its formative months, and during the year following, when proper diet has so much influence on its health and development. The case of the English woman encountered in Toronto, with only one tooth remaining in her own head ,and her baby entirely bereft of the necessary enamel to protect its own teeth, was referred to, this woman's diet consisting mainly of bread, tea and jam. Calcium and phosphate are necessary to prevent rickets, but the refining and manufacturing processes of food to-day tend to eliminate these elements from every day diet.

Interesting Tables.

Interesting tables were shown, giving the calcium content of different foods. Skimmed milk contains more calcium than the whole milk, on account of the proportion of fat in the latter, while buttermilk comes third. Four large dried figs are equal to one glass of milk in this respect, but it would take two large cauliflowers, or 78 to 79 whites of eggs, or 4 and one-third pounds of butter to equal the said glass of milk in this way.

Cooking injures the basic elements of almost any food, and raw milk and raw fruits and vegetables were recommended, in preference to the cooked varieties. Graham bread, whole wheat and bran were recommended instead of the white flour so much in use, a balanced diet was an essential to good health, and oats were considered the best cereal. To bake potatoes and then eat them, skin and all, was recommended as the proper thing, with as little water as possible used in the cooking of any vegetable.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded Dr. Seccomb for his interesting and instructive discourse, moved by Mrs. Jas. Kendry, seconded by Mrs. Jos. Wearing, and presented to the speaker by Mrs. A. Mowat, in the chair.

Public Library.

A report from November to March inclusive) was given, with very satisfactory arrangemetns made by the ladies in charge of the committee, with the Library Board of Management. Access to reference volumes will be permitted this year, with certain restrictions. Miss M. Archer will be in charge of monitors this year.

A letter from Miss Leta Brownscombe was read, calling attention to the advantages afforded by membership in the local Y.W.C.A., and Mrs. F. C. Neal directed the attention of the members to the concert to be given in aid of the Well Babies' Clinic at the Conservatory of Music Hall on October 27th, arrangements in charge of Mrs. M. H. Park.

Mrs. A. Stevenson spoke of the sale of tubercular fowl on the market ,and considered that Dr. A. Y. McNair should be asked to explain to prospective feminine buyers the signs of such disease. One lady reported having been adivsed by a certain authority to give such a fowl a "real good cooking," whereas 'a' good burying" was in her opinion the best possible method of disposing of it.

Disposal of Children.

Mrs. James Kendry brought up the question of the disposal of the children of Mrs. Emma Jane Edwards, just dismissed by the Grand Jury on a charge of having murdered her son. The speaker was of the opinion that these children, now under the care of the Children's Aid Society, should not be allowed to return to this mother and the home and companions she keeps. The money which the woman had been receiving from the Mothers' Allowance Fund was, in her opinion, the reason for the presence of objectionable characters in the Edwards' home, and the contention was made that this money should be used for the upkeep of the children only, in a separate domicile. It was thought by many who were in touch with the case that the allowance should have been refused this woman long before the tragedy occurred which brought her and her companion under the shadow of the law.

It was finally decided, by unanimous vote of the meeting, to authorize the sub-executive of the Local Council of Women to do all in their power to bring this matter to the attention of the women of Peterborough, to consult with the Children's Aid Society, the Social Service Council, the Ministerial Association and any other interested body, in an effort to keep the children from returning to the care of their mother, and to divert the money received from this allowance to their use only.

CLOTHES FOR THE BABY

Even styles for very small children change and the modern baby is likely to be clad in such garments as are sketched here.

The all-enveloping Baby Bunting robe is made of double eiderdown lined with silk. The tiny dresses are made of crepe de chine or sheer handkerchief linen with exquisite fine embroidery as their embellishment.

Undergarments are of materials to suit the season—flannel usually; and every wardrobe for a small baby has tiny knitted sweaters and hoods and leggings.

Fewer garments are used now and the necessary warmth is given by warmer materials. They are shorter, too, and altogether much more comfortable than baby's garments used to be.

PLAITED SKIRTS

Accordion plaited skirts in silk and satin are popular for wear with the new blouses that fasten low over the hips. Figured blouses or all-over embroidered ones seem the favorites.

GUEST ROOM.

Taffeta scarfs and spreads make the guest room attractive. Boquets of flowers of narrow ribbon appliqued on will ornament them beautifully. French knots are also effective.

He Says Power of Prayer Can Cure Dread Leprosy

ALBERTON, Mont.—Can the power of prayer overcome dread leprosy?

Is enduring faith as potent a remedy now as in the days when the Savior healed the lepers?

O. G. Willett, former state senator, and for five years a leper, insists these are possible. And although he has repeatedly been offered the famous Chaulmoogra oil treatment, effective in many cases, he steadfastly refuses it.

Even with state health officers saying there is every evidence of the dread disease progressing, Willett clings to his faith. All of Montana is watching with interest the outcome of his determination that divine power, not medicine, will cleanse his body of leprosy.

Was Prominent.

Willett, a Spanish War veteran, contracted the malady in the Philippines. He did not know this, however, until in 1917, after he had taken a prominent part in the Montana legislature session, and was rapidly rising in state affairs.

The stricken man elected to retire to an isolated ranch on the Missouri River near here. His bride of eight months refused to leave him and she shares his lonely life.

The state board of health and U. S. Public Health Service offered the Chalmoogra oil treatment. A divine healer, learning of Willett's keen study of the Bible and his firm faith in prayer, visited him about the same time and promised a cure.

"I would rather a thousand times fill a leper's grave than submit myself to a physician's care," was Willett's declaration. "I would as soon bow my neck to Baal as to submit to the god of medicine."

Refuses Cure.

Out in their lonely home Willett and his wife have carried on their prayers for divine assistance. Frequently representatives of the state board of health isit them to renew the offer of Chalmoogra oil. Each time the offer is refused.

Today, say these physicians, Willett is growing worse. But his faith in divine aid is burning as brightly as ever.

"The disease is progressing steadily," declares Dr. W. F. Cogswell, who as secretary of the state board of health has visited Willett from time to time. "He is growing worse, beyond a doubt. He realizes it, so does his wife. But the senator still does not feel disposed to take the treatment we are ready to give him the moment he asks for it."

The neighboring ranchers shout greetings and converse from a safe distance as they pass the Willett place. Supplies are taken regularly to them.

Radio News

CINCINNATI, O.,—Learn to cook by radio.

All that is needed is a radio receiving set—and the chance of being within broadcasting distance from station WLW here.

This unique use for radio was suggested to the owners of station WLW by a wife of an amateur who had been receiving its concerts. One morning, the report is, she picked up the receiver while her husband was off to work and tuned in.

All she heard was music reproduced from the piano and phonograph. And an occasional weather or market report.

That didn't suit her. So she thought of the only thing that would interest her at that time of day—suggestions for some appetizing dish with which to receive her husband in the evening.

The next day the manager of WLW got a letter suggesting that morning broadcasting programs include menu suggestions for housewives. He immediately got into touch with one of the leading caterers of the city, and arranged for the transmission of daily menus for the housewife radio fans.

Every monring at 10 o'clock, housewives in the broadcasting vicinity of WLW tune in on its 360-meter wave length and listen in. To please the variety of cooks the caterer has decided on broadcasting two sets of menus for each meal. Each is planned to suit the tastes—and, especially, the pocketbooks—of those who can afford it.

Whenever a special dish is included in a menu the recipe for it is broadcast. They are given out slowly and distinctly, so that housewives listening in can have time to take notes.

BRITISH EMPIRE EXHIBITION

The members of the British Empire Exhibition Mission who left England in January last, on a tour of Africa, Ceylon, Australia, New Zealand and Canada, are at present in this country. The object of the Mission is to interview Prime Ministers, Ministers of Agriculture of the various Provinces, and others relative to the holding of a British Empire Exhibition in England in 1924.

Specific points being taken up by the Mission include the following:—

The plans and general architectural treatment of the Exhibition in relation to Dominion pavilions. (The Mision have on view, complete sets of drawings and plans for the United Kingdom section, together with some models).

The nature and presentation of exhibits and suggestions from each part o the Empire for practical methods of developing its own raw materials and increasing inter-Imperial trade.

Proposals regarding Tropical diseases of human beings, plants, and animals; agriculture and forestry; and mineral resources.

The advantages given by the Exhibition to show the progress of settlement schemes.

The party comprises Major E. A. Belcher, Col. A. Christie and Mrs. Christie, and Mr. F. W. Bates. They are being accompanied by Mr. J. Bruce Walker, representing the Department of Immigration and Colonization of the Dominion Government.

MINERALS AND MINING INDUSTRIES

Canada possesses wonderful assets in her mineral resources, and their development will contribute in a large measure to the prosperity of the country. The success attending the opening up of the mines in Northern Ontario, British Columbia, and the work done in Manitoba has awakened public interest in the great possibilities of the future.

To convey some idea to the public at large, of the importance of our mines, the varied character of our mineral deposits and the remarkable possibilities of our undeveloped areas the Department of Resources of the Canadian National Railways at Toronto, has issued a pamphlet on "Minerals and Mining Industries," dealing with the physical features of the country, the various mining areas and the metallic and non-metallic minerals contained in the various provinces.

One of the instructive and interesting features of this work, is that it gives information as to the many applications and new uses of the economic minerals in the industries and arts. It also gives reference to various publications of the Departments of Mines, both Dominion and Provincial, bearing upon the subject.

HOW TO MAKE CHOWDERS OF MANY KINDS

By Bertha E. Shapleigh
Of Columbia University

Chowders, as we know them, are quite distinctively American, although European countries have fish stews. These stews are similar to the chowder known as New York or Connecticut chowder, in which many different vegetables are used and the whole flavored with thyme.

The New England chowder is made with potatoes, pork, onions, crackers, fish, and salt and pepper for seasoning. The chowder was a one-kettle dish, and should be such, always, as it saves the housewife many utensils, and is hearty enough to be a "one-dish meal."

When one lives inland and can not obtain fresh fish, corn makes a good chowder, and the recipe given below may be used, substituting two cups of fresh or canned corn for the fish.

New England Fish Chowder

2 lbs. fish, (haddock, cod, or whitefish)
2 inch cube fat salt pork
2 medium-sized onions, sliced
1½ teaspoons salt
Pepper
3 tablespoons flour
1½ quarts boiling water
1 pint milk
6 crackers

Remove bones and skin from fish, and put them into the boiling water and cook 20 minutes, strain. in the same kettle, try out the fat pork, which has been cut into dice, being careful not to brown the fat.

On this put a layer of potatoes, onions, and fish. Sprinkle with half the flour, salt, and a bit of pepper. Repeat until all material is used. Add water strained from the bones and skin. Cover, and cook until the potatoes are soft. Add milk, crackers which have been split or broken into large pieces, and when milk is hot the chowder is ready to serve.

With chowder serve crackers and pickles, or a tart, crisp salad.

Chowder, reheated is quite as good as when first served.

FACING FAILURE

"Concerning that matter of facing failure," writes A. G., "here is something that Eleanor Duncan wrote called 'The Failure.'

"She tells of wonderful patterns woven by a group of successful weavers and of one who worked in silence with faded threads and tarnished gold, but who nevertheless bent to his job, saying, 'Surely the Master set the task, and surely the Master knows.'

"'In bitter pain and heartbreak
He wove till his work was done,
And the Master of all the weavers
Came at the set of sun;
Then, as the others thronged him,
Showing their patterns rare,
The Master turned to him who had failed
And laid a hand on his hair.

"'Well done, well done, my weavers,
And rich shall your guerdons be!
But of all your beauteous patterns,
This one best pleaseth me;
For the Red of Courage, the Gold of Faith,
Are woven where'er a man
Looks in the face or Failure,
And does the best he can.'"

At The Theatres

CAPITOL—For the remainder of this week, Thomas Meighen in the great Paramount picture by Geo. Ade, "Our Leading Citizen."

ROYAL—John Barrymore in "The Lotus Eater." Also Christie Comedy, and balance of a Royal high-class programme.

GRAND—TONIGHT and Saturday —"The Dumbells Revue of 1922."

The popular Paramount star, Thomas Meighen, has the stellar role in a George Ade story, "Our Leading Citizen," at the Capitol Theatre for this week end. Although not as appealing a production as is usual with this actor, it is a likeable picture, in which the action warms up considerably in the last half hour or so. As Daniel Bentley of Wingfield, a young lawyer, who has more liking for fishing than for legal work, he lacks a certain amount of his usual force, or else the story is not quite fitted to his capabilities. There is something rather forced about the sudden rise to a position in Congress of a young man who who has always been dubbed "Lazy Dan" on a platform composed principally of the introduction of a supposedly sleepy country town of large municipal playgrounds and a marble-pillared community hall. But Meighen's art carries him through a somewhat inept tale, with a heroine whose charm lies mainly in her method of using her eyes, and her untiring pursuit of the rather phlegmatic Daniel. There is a short moment of thrills in the fight in which Bentley counts out the roughneck of a questionable pool room, and an interesting moment at the end when he assumes the platform, and ousts his political opponent. Otherwise the story, although worked out with plenty of detail, and all necessary adjuncts to a successful picture, lacks the punch which one associates with Meighen's features. Theodore Roberts appears in this in a good characterization of the lax-principled politician of the old school Snub Pollard contributes a comedy, flanked by a second laugh-producer in "The Egg," with the Pathe Review to round out the programme.

AT THE GRAND.

THE "DUMBELLS' SAY GOOD-BYE.

The farewell engagement of the ever-popular "Dumbells" company will take place in this city this Friday and Saturday, October 20 and 21 when Captain Plunkett's merry men will present their latest and entirely new show "The Dumbells Revue of 1922" for the first and last time here at the Grand Theatre.

This wonderful organization of Canadian soldiers has been the medium of untold enjoyment to the theatregoers of Canada during the past three years, and although every one wishes them the best of luck in London and on their world-tour, they will be greatly missed here.

The boys of the company have made rapid strides since the war, each of their offerings being miles ahead of their previous one—and they started out with a great show.

The new revue, which they will take to London for Christmas, is said to be infinitely superior to anything they have heretofore attempted.

The "Dumbells" are certainly record-breakers. Not only have they broken every house record in Canada in the matter of receipts, they have established a run of thirty-four weeks in Toronto in less than three years and they have scored a successful season in New York.

The personnel of the company has remained practically unchanged throughout that time. True, there have been minor changes from time to time; a few of the boys have dropped out for one reason and another, and their places have been refilled, but the stars of the organization those whom one remembers from year to year, have been held intact, despite the many flattering offers which they have received.

Their return to London, for the first time since immediately after the war, should prove an event of world-wide importance to the Empire.

CELEBRATED MINSTRELS ARE COMING

The minstrel fans of this vicinity will be pleased to learn that one of the very best and largest minstrel organizations on the road is to visit the city.

Possibly certain people have forgotten that they are minstrel fans because it has been so long since they had an opportunity to see a really first class minstrel. However, the fever of minstrel microbe will get them when the richly dressed parade of Harvey's Greater Minstrels pass over our streets at noon the day they appear here.

The amusement question has by some people always involved the "questionable amusement" question, but that theme is never aroused by the coming of a high class minstrel. Baseball games, a good circus and an up-to-date minstrel seem to be at least three forms of amusement which are never questioned by the most scrupulous.

Laughter, the creating of laughter, is the purpose of the minstrel, as well as the rendering of tuneful music and pleasing songs.

The minstrel man has been known form almost the beginning of this world's history and was well known by the writers of Biblical affairs. It is this very characteristic of the minstrel which makes it capable of appealing to all classes and when Harveys' Greater Minstrels appear at the Grand Theatre Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 23 and 24, there will be seen hundreds of people in the theatre who are not habitual theatre-goers. Matinee on Tuesday at 2.30.

SPORT NEWS

Two members of the Philadelphia Athletics' pitching staff established American League records for 1922 in the hurling line. Eddie Rommell hurled the most victories in the American League, 27, whil e Bryan Harris hurled the most defeats, 20.

Manager Ty Cobb of Detroit is strong for "Rip" Collins, who is to come to the Tigers next year in a trade with Boston. Collins has perhaps more stuff than any right hander in the American League, but has never been very successful. Lack of control, and a manager who could bring out the best that is in him, has had much to do with the failure of Collins to shine.
